Enthusiastic Campaign For Election Of Mrs. Bass Under Way

"Elect Mrs. Bass to Congress," was the slogan that got the campaign for the election of Charlotta A. Bass, editor and publisher of The California Eagle, to Congress in the 14th C. D., off to a grass roots running start last weekend.

The campaign was kicked off Saturday, September 23rd with a car caravan and leaflet distribution throughout the 14th Congressional District. The caravan ended up with a street corner meeting on Central Ave. and 43rd place. The parade was under way at 1 p.m., and proceeded from Vermont and Washington Blvds., around through the downtown area ending up on Central Ave.

The three thousand leaflets passed out along the route, were received with enthusiasm by the 14th C. D. voters, who are increasingly demanding more representation for the Negro people in all levels of government.

The congressional candidacy of Mrs. Bass in Los Angeles and Dr. W. E. B. DuBois as candidate to the United States Senate from New York, reflects a new high in the fight for Negro representation as a central factor in the fight for civil rights and complete equality.

Everywhere, during the weekend campaigning for Mrs. Bass, the people on the streets and in the churches were saying . . . . "it's about time we got together and elected someone to Congress who wil represent us. Negro and white soldiers dying for so called "democracy" in Korea, it's about time we got some real democracy for Negroes here at home."

During the street corner meeting, several people asked for the microphone to say a few words for Mrs. Bass. Others signed up to become active in the campaign.

At the Barbers and Beauticians Association of California convention Sunday, Sept. 24th, held at St. Paul Baptist Church, the delegates applauded warmly the remarks of Horace Alexander, 14th C. D. coordinator for the Independent Progressive Party when he said . . . "In many ways the principles of your Association are similar to the principles of the party I represent. Both of us are seeking the bettermen of our community. The election of Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass would be a great stride forward."

Meanwhile, the campaign committee for the election of Mrs. Bass has announced a series of campaign activities. A committee spokesman stressed that much of its energy will be directed toward bringing the campaign to the people by door to door precinct work.

Nobel Peace Prize Awarded To Dr. Ralph Johnson Bunche

OSLO, Norway. — The Nobel Peace Prize for 1950 has been awarded to Dr. Ralph Johnson Bunche, principal director in the Department of Trusteeship for the United Nations. Dr. Bunche, was nominated for the valued prize for his successful efforts in negotiating the armistice between the Arab and the Israeli states, which brought the war in Palestine to an end. He succeeded Count Folke Bernadotte who was assassinated during his negotiations.

Dr. Bunche becomes the eleventh American to win the Nobel prize, which was established by the late Alfred B. Nobel of Sweden who was the inventor of dynamite. The other American winners are: Cordell Hull, John R. Mott, Emily G. Balch, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, Jane Addams, Theodore Roosevelt, Charles G. Dawes, Frank B. Kellogg, Elihu Root, and Woodrow Wilson.

Among the 28 persons named for consideration for the Peace Prize are: Prime Minister Jawaharial Nehru of India, former British Prime Minister Winston Churchill, and General George Marshall.

Dr. Bunche entered the United States State Department in 1944. In 1946 he was assigned to the United Nations. In 1947 he resigned from the State Department and associated himself permanently with the United Nations.

REFUSED POST

Following his successful negotiation of the end of the Palestine conflict, Dr. Bunche was offered an appointment as Assistant Secretary of State by President Truman. He turned the high post down, giving as his reason his unwillingness to subject his wife and children to the jimcrow and discrimination of the nation's capital.

Floyd White Awarded $3369 In Shooting Affair

A sequel to the near fatal shooting nearly two years ago following a wedding party in October of 1948, was spelled out here last week in a verdict awarding the victim, Floyd White, $3,369.92 in damages, handed down by Superior Judge Carl M. Sheldon sitting in Department 16.

White, a truck driver for the city, was shot when he returned to the home of 70-year-old William Stevens where he also was a roomer, 1224 East 24th street, from the party they had just attended. The victim was shot three times by his landlord, who is also an employe of the city.

Police records at the time disclosed the shooting was a result of a jealous argument. During the trial, Atty. Earl C. Broady, appearing for the injured White plaintiff in the action, tore into the defense presented by counsel for Stevens, ripping it to shreds.

The award of $3,369.92 followed.

The SIDEWALK

By C.A.B.

I am devoting my column this week to a letter to the women of the United States, from the Women's International Democratic Federation. It is most moving in its appeal for peace.

I wish we could arouse the American women to this great need for peace. We in America have not seen the horrors of war, as the women of Europe have. They need not be told what World War III will mean. May America never witness such terror as Europe has seen!

LETTER TO THE WOMEN OF THE UNITED STATES

Dear Friends:

The women of the world address an urgent message to you.

The Women's International Democratic Federation is the largest women's organization in the world. This is because our more than 80,000,000 members in 59 countries are united in a common love of peace, in a hatred of fascism and brutality. We know that in this we share the feelings of all the women in the world.

Several millions of our members, whether they live in Poland, France, the Soviet Union, Italy, China or England, have felt on their own bodies the horrors of the bombardment of their cities, have suffered in concentration camps and have lost their loved ones in the fascist mass murders.

Therefore, it is our right and our duty to address ourselves to you, the women and mothers of America, who have fortunately, not suffered the tragedies we have known.

We ask you to join us in our fight against war, against aggression, against all armaments, and especially against the atom bomb, the most terrible of all weapons.

Today there is circulating throughout the world the Stockhalm Peace Appeal. It says the following:

"We demand the outlawing of atomic weapons as instruments of intimidation and mass murder of peoples. We demand strict international control to enforce this measure.

"We believe that any government which first uses atomic weapons against any other country whatsoever will be committing a crime against humanity and should be dealt with as a war criminal."

It is simple. It means exactly what it says. It calls upon the people of the whole world to forget their differences and unite against a genocide, a mass annihilation, incomparably worse than anything the world has ever seen. It does not favor any nation against any other. It says clearly that whatever government first uses the atom bomb shall be declared criminal of war. It calls for international control—which means in every country.

Already 350,000,000 men and women throughout the world have signed this appeal, including 2,000,000 in the United States, 15,000,000 in Italy, 12,000,000 in France and 115,000,000 in the USSR, including all the members of the government. The atom bomb cannot possibly be used against armies or military objectives, but can only be used, as at Hiroshima, for the hideous mass destruction of civilian populations.

The prospect of a world atomic war is so staggering that the mind can hardly encompass it. But already the menace of such a catastrophe has been brought nearer by the war in Korea, where thousands of women and children are dying agonizing deaths under a rain of bombs.

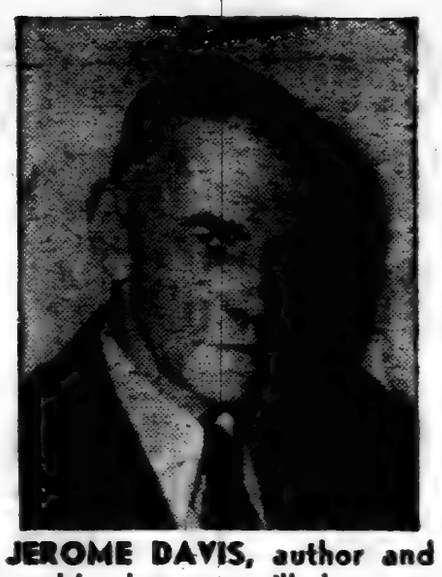
It is sons of American Mothers who have released these bombs. Your sons, to whom you gave life, whom you nourished and taught to be gentle and to love their country—have been led to commit these terrible deeds. And thousands of them have lost their own lives and become mutilated in this war.

But before they died, the American soldiers discovered that almost the whole Korean people were united against them.

"White-clad peasants who waved at us by day, became guerillas and shot at us by night." Most of the South Korean army deserted in the first week, says Hanson Baldwin. (N. Y. Times, July 1) Even children are considered enemies. John Osborne reports (Life Magazine, July 21) hearing an officer, telephoning from a command post, remonstrating with another officer: "My God, John! It's gone too far when we are shooting children."

Your newspapers tell you that America is fighting "communism" and "Russian aggression" in Korea. But not one single Russian soldier has been found in all Korea.

The Korean people are fighting for their national unity and independance, as your ancestors fought for yours in 1776 and in your Civil War.



The people of Asia are no longer content to remain colonial subjects of foreign powers. The Chinese have thrown off centuries of oppression, famine and corruption. The people of Viet Nam, Burma, Malaya and other countries are doing likewise.

Who is so naive as to imagine that these hundreds of millions of people have to receive "foreign orders" before it will occur to them to rise up against their miserable lives, their rags, their disease, their sores, their starvation? What woman can fail to understand that a mother's anger before the hunger of her children can become more powerful than all the bombers and machineguns in the world?

Hugh Dean, in the N.Y. Compas, which supports the American intervention in Korea, said (July 13): "The fact persists that U.S. armed forces are fighting to preserve the remnants of a government which more South Koreans are willing to fight against than to fight for. The government of Syngman Rhee is a monoply of determined rightists, a small-scale replica of the regime of Chiang Kai-Shek."

The South Koreans refuse to fight their brothers of the north because they want to be free of

Mrs. McCormick Released After Sheriff Arrest

Deputies from the Sheriff's antisubversive squad arrested Larue McCormick Monday and charged her with failure to register under the new county Communist registration law. Mrs. McCormick was booked at the Firestone substation on two counts of failure to register.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Stanley Moffat, Mrs. McCormick was released on $50 bail. Mrs. McCormick was the Communist Party candidate for Congress in 1938, and she has been that party's candidate seeking election to the Board of Education and State Senator.

Mrs. McCormick has been active in fighting against restrictive covenants and discriminations in the public schools in the southeast area.

Negro Attorney Fights Denial To Washington, D. C., Bar Assn.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—(CNS)—Attorney James J. Laughlin, a criminal lawyer who has long championed the rights of his people, began his fight anew this week when he attacked the District Bar Association and sought to have it oficially dissolved on grounds that it violates its charter by refusing to admit Negroes.

The Negro attorney denied membership was Aubrey E. Robinson, Jr., who insists he was denied "solely because of color," and inviolation of the Bar Association's 1920 charter. The suit argued that in obtaining the charter, the association "deceived" authorities in the belief that all lawyers in good standing would be admitted. The organization's charter could not have been obtained had the association admitted it would "excluded Negroes from membership" the suit said.

Attorney Laughlin has complained to the court that the association's committee on admissions and grievances had been improperly pocketing the $25.00 fee which every law school graduate must pay when seeking the right to practice here. (The committee is an essential of District court established to pass on admissions of candidates to the court.) Laughlin says the money should go to the U. S. Treasury.

A fighter for many years on these issues, Laughlin, also not an Association member, has been filing sporadically since 1942. The Senate Judiciary Committee is now investigating the conditions he insists are true.

Second Lt. Sentenced to Death, Truman Asked To Intervene

YORK, Pa.—A First Lieutenant, who reportedly refused to obey an order that would have carried him and 12 men to certain death, has stirred the sympathy and won expressions of understanding support from all over the nation. The lieutenant is Leon A. Gilbert, 32, who is attached to the twenty-fifth division.

WROTE WIFE

Gilbert revealed his plight in a letter to his wife, Mrs. Kay Gilbert, who is the mother of two children, and who is expecting a third. On August 5, Mrs. Gilbert received a letter from her soldier husband in which he wrote:

"I am now under arrest for not carrying out an order which would have led me and 12 others to certain death.

"I am in the most serious trouble that a man in Korea or any place for that matter may be in."

"If it would not have been for you and the children, I would have gone willingly but a man seems to place his family above all in these matters.

"I was wondering how you would do without me and how you would support the kids and knowing you are with child, the situation became out of control and I made the decision that may cost me my freedom for years."

On September 6, Gilbert was sentenced to death. He wrote his wife:

"Go to the president himself. This is really the worst that could happen, so please do everything in any one's power to at least get my sentence cut down."

CONGRESSMAN ACTS

Mrs. Gilbert was put in touch with Representative James F. Lind (D) of Pennsylvania by two attorneys to whom she appealed. Representative Lind went to the White House, and he conferred with Defense Department officials in the Pentagon building. President Truman reportedly will not act in the case until the findings of Military Board of Review are reported.

Meanwhile, Walter White, executive secretary of the NAACP has asked for an investigation of the 'psychological factors' in the case. Gilbert who formerly worked as a waiter, enlisted in the army in 1940. He saw action with the 92nd division in the Italian Campaign and he was honorably discharged as a second lieutenant in 1946.

Called back as a reservists in 1947, Gilbert was promoted to First Lieutenant and assigned in Japan. The couple's second child was born in Japan, from which country Mrs. Gilbert returned when the Korean war began.

Interest in the Gilbert case is sharpened by reports emanating from the Korean front suggesting that morale is low among the Negro troops because of a threat to break up the 24th infantry division, and because of reported unfair treatment accorded the Negro soldiers by white officers.

Wealthy Matron Society Leader Weds House Boy

DETROIT.—A 48 year old divorcee, wealthy and a society leader, who is the mother of two college age children by a former marriage, revealed this week that she and her 28 year old house boy had been married secretly last August 26.

The society matron, Mrs. Eleanor Sydnam Stahl, announced that she was moving form her $75,000 mansion to live in a hotel with her husband, William Tibbs, who is a steel worker. Meanwhile the couple purchased an $18,000 home that is being remodeled.

According to Tibbs, "It was love at first sight." His wife said it "came all of a suddend although we tried to discourage it."

The mother of the bridegroom was employed by the new Mrs. Tibbs for a number of years as a cook. The youth, who is a Negro, worked as house boy in his wife's swank mansion in the fashionable Grosse Pointe section of Detroit.

Following the wedding, Tibbs and his bride honeymooned in New York. Mrs. Tibbs wears an engagement ring that has a white pearl and a black pearl, symbolic of their union.

The groom announted that he would keep his steel mill job. "I have a wife now and I'm going to support her," he told reporters.

Dr. Hudson In Gotham For NAACP Meet

Dr. H. Claude Hudson, president of the Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Association of Los Angeles, left the city last Sunday for New York City where he will attend the meeting of the nominating committee for the national officers of the N.A.A.C.P. Dr. Hudson was selected to serve on this committee at the National Convention held in Boston last July. The function of this committee is to select members to serve on the national board of the N.A.A.C.P.

Trenton Six Petitioners Demand Bail

TRENTON, N. J.—Over 10,000 petition signatures demanding bail for the "Trenton Six," Negro defendants in the world-famous "Northern Scottsboro" case, have been presented to Attorney General of New Jersey Parsons by relatives of the men, the Civil Rights Congress has announced.

The petitions were presented by a delegation led by Mrs. Emma English, mother of one of the men and mother-in-law of another, and Mrs. Bessie Mitchell, her daughter.

The women explained that over a year has gone since the Supreme Court threw out the first trial verdict as "t'ainted with error," reversed the death sentence and ordered a new trial.

Georgia Laster Wins Award In UCLA Contest

Georgia Ann Laster, young soprano, and last year winner of an Atwater Kent Award, has been named as one of the winners in the annual young artists contest conducted by the University of California in Los Angeles.

Miss Laster, who is a teacher in the local school system, lives at 1689 Palf Lane. She is 23, and has been heard frequently in concert here. Considered by critics to possess a rich and promising voice, as well as an excellent sense of musicianship, Miss Laster will receive a cash award, and she will be presented in concert as a reward for being named one of the winners.

Others receiving awards are: Peral Kaufman, 18, a pianist, and Stanley Plummer, 23, a violinist. Miss Laster was chosen over a number of competitors.

Enrollment Up

In comparison to the 23 per cent overall school enrollment rise across the country, East Los Angeles Junior College has an increased enrollment of 47 per cent, according to Logan Hart, dean of admissions, this week.

Negro Vets Organize To Fight Racial Ban In Housing Project

low-cost tracts where Negroes are excluded

It is planned to enlist the American Legion and the NAACP in the anti-discrimination campaign. The tract against which the first efforts of the organization will be directed, is located on Compton between Wilmington and Central.

Evidence of discrimination in the project which is called "Sunkist Gardens," was reported from the experience related by Mack Lee, one of the members of the new organization. Lee applied for information regarding the purchase of a home in the project, and he was told to return in two weeks.

When he returned at the suggested time, a large sign had been posted. It advised: "Veterans, Apply now. Exclusive! Restricted!" In spite of the sign, Lee pressed his inquiry. He was told that the offer did not include Negro veterans.

It was pointed out in a meeting held by the veterans group last week that homes in Sunkist Gardens sell for $7500. This is within the price range of the Negro veterans. Homes in a nearby tract, from which the white vets are moving into Sunkist Gardens, are now on sale for $10,000. These homes are available without racial discrimination, but the price is beyond the reach of most of the veterans.

Challenge Georgia Governor's Dictum on White Pupils Only

ATLANTA—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, accepting Governor Herman Talmadge's challenge, this week filed suit to open Atlanta's "white" elementary and high schools to Negro pupils.

Following the Supreme Court decisions in the Sweatt and McLaurin cases, Talmadge announced that as long as he was governor Negroes and whites would not be permitted to attend the same schools in Georgia.

The suit, filed in the nUited States District Court here on September 19, asks the court to issue a permanent injunction "forever restraining" the Atlanta Board of Education from denying colored elementary and high school students, "the rights and privileges of attending public schools where they may receive educational opportunities, advantages and facilities equal to those afforded to white children."

Instituted in the name of 213 elementary and high school students, this suit is the second of its kind to be filed attacking segregation in the South in schools below he college level. The other suit is now ready for trial in Clarendon County, South Carolina.

CANINE BIPED. Mrs. Thomas Houston of 1244 E. 34th street, is the owner of a dog which produced a two-legged pup in a litter born several weeks ago. The two-legged dog is as happy and mischievous as most normal puppies his age, and seems not to have suffered any ill effects from being born minus his two front paws. The tiny canine is learning to walk upright on his two hind legs.

Stark, Tragic Realism Marks Story Of Ethel Waters' Life

Ethel Waters, one of America's great women of the stage, screen and radio, tells for the first time, through writer Charles Samuels in the October Ladies' Home Journal, a fearlessly frank story of her rise from the squalor of the slums to stardom.

The title "His Eye Is on the Sparrow" is taken from a Negro spiritual, a favorite of her grandmother who was the once source of strength and love in the actress' life as a child of the streets.

At the age of 13, Ethel Waters had been married and separated and was on her own. An illegitimate, unwanted child, she was shuttled about among hard-drinking, poverty-striken relatives in Chester, Pennsylvania, her birthplace, and in Philadelphia and Camden. She never lived long in any of the tumbledown, rat and vermin-infested shanties.

Thieves and habitues of the Red Light District and the other dead-end kids of her neighborhood were her friends. She learned to fight and steal and hold her own with an electrifying vocabulary of profanity, her one trusty defense.

Surrounded by vice, poverty and degeneracy with none to help, she began a slow, hard ascent from a scullery job at the age of 13, to big-time show business. Here too, began her search for God and her deep religious faith.

Today Ethel Waters' name blazes in foot-high letters from the Broadway Theater where she stars in The Member of the Wedding, a drama that won the Critics Award this year. It is merely the latest in a long succession of hard-won triumphs. In 1939 in Mamba's Daughters, she was the first actress of her race ever to be starred on Broadway in a dramatic play.

On October 3, Ethel Waters as Beulah raises the curtain on a new television show for ABC. And on her fiftieth birthday, October 31, Doubleday publishes her biography which appears in condensation in the October Ladies' Home Journal, the remarkable chronical of a magnificently courageous woman of talent, who has triumphed over insuperable odds.

The Presidential Veto and the Coming Election

President Truman vetoed the Mundt-Nixon-Ferguson bill, the bill that all the progressive forces in the country have been fighting for more than two years. It is the bill that has been called the police state bill, and that will undoubtedly turn the United States of America into a Fascist camp as Germany was. Or Italy was.

For following the presidential veto, both houses of Congress promptly passed this nefarious bill over his veto. And now it is the law of the land.

There are some people who say that's exactly what President Truman wanted. That he vetoed the bill ,knowing that Congress would nevertheless pass it over his veto, in order to make himself appear progressive in the eyes of the voters of the United States.

We won't argue that point. But we do say, and say it without any fear of contradiction, that IF —and this is a terribly big and terribly important IF—IF the Congress of the United States were as overwhelmingly progressive as it is overwhelmingly reactionary, every progressive measure that has even been advocated by the liberal forces of the country would have been adopted long ago. President Truman would not have dared to veto one. If he had, that bill would have been passed over his veto as promptly as was the Mundt-Nixon bill.

So, it's up to us, the voters, after all, and not to President Truman, to see to it that progressive legislation is adopted. The FEPC as well as the Mundt-Nixon bills. The national health program, as well as the laws that will send us to jail for daring to say the health of the people is important.

It is up to us to elect an overwhelmingly progressive Congress in the election, November 7. Given such a Congress it won't make a particle of difference Who the President is.

We here in the 14th Congressional District have an opportunity to send at least one member to that Congres who will fight to the last inch for what the progressive citizens of America want. Who will stand alone, as Ed Roybal did in the City Council, and vote NO on every thought-controlled bill that is introduced. Who is now known in America, and even in all the world, as a fighter for peace and democracy without a peer.

That candidate for Congress, you all know, is our own Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor and publisher of The California Eagle.

It is up to us, the voters of the 14th C.D. to see to it that she becomes a member of the next Congress, where her voice will really count.

The Psychological Approach

Drew Pearson, whose predictions of things to come are said to be 84% accurate, but which In Fact states are only 47% correct, came up with a brand new theory the other day in his column in The Daily News concerning the admission of the Chinese People's Republic to the United Nations.

Drew (which, by the way, is an abbreviated form of Andrew), said: "British Foreign Minister Bevin has been nursing a plan to get Communist China admitted to the United Nations through action by the General Assembly.

"Bevin has worked out his strategy with India's Premier Pandit Nehru. Both are convinced that, although Russia has been agitating for the Chinese Communists to be admitted to the UN, actually, Russia is dead against Red China joining the world organization. According to British intelligence, Russia hopes that by keeping China out, she can remain China's spokesman and appear to the Chinese people to be their one real friend.

Now, in the language of the man in the street, ain't that something?

The reasoning is almost too stupid to be accredited to any man of mature intelligence. In other words, if you want something badly, just pretend you don't want it at all, and you'll get it. We usually employ that sort of approach to a crochety old fellow, mostly in story books or in plays.

What Is the Answer?

Reports filtering back from the Korean front indicate morale is low among the valiant fighting men of the 24th Infantry Division. Rumors are flying thick and fast, all suggesting that the 24th will be broken up into non-combatant units.

In the early days of the Korean war, the 24th was in the front line, admittedly carrying the ball against tremendous odds, fighting a delaying action until United Nations men and materials could be assembled.

A jimcrow outfit, the 24th was in the full glare of the spotlight at a time when every success was not enough, and every failure was exaggerated a hundred times, yet the men of the 24th were hailed as heroes by correspondents and commentators.

Implicit in the segregated aspect of the 24th were the unfortunate events now occurring.

Implicit in the segregated aspect of the 24th were the unfortunate events now occurring. The evils of jimcrow and segregation are just as strong on the battlefront as they are on the home front. It was not to be expected that white officers and men, conditioned to keep Negroes 'in their place' at home, could give full credit to Negro soldiers for their courage and capability at the battlefront.

In order to maintain the myth of white supremacy, it is necessary to keep alive the fiction of Negro inferiority. The purpose is to establish white superiority, not on the basis of superior performance by whites, but on the basis of inferior performance by Negroes.

A retreat by white soldiers is reported, as 'a planned withdrawal,' or 'a strategic withdrawal,' or 'an orderly retreat.' When Negro soldiers carry out the same movement, they ar accused of 'running.'

The 24th has suffered heavy casualties. Men of that division have spent more than the usual number of days under terrifying and devastating enemy fire. They are fighting like true soldiers despite the senseless segregation that sets them apart. They left to fight and die from a land of jimcrow; those who are spared will return with their civilian status unimproved. Why is it necessary to maintain the bitterness and cruelty of race hate against men who are dying for a little of what others who revile them, will enjoy in abundance?

POTPOURRI

Proposition 10 Is Called "Roadblock"

Branding Proposition 10 as a "roadblock" to civilian defense in a strongly-worded statement condemning the measure, Gov. Warren said in a recent interview: "If we had an emergency situation that would drive a great many people from their homes and we needed emergency housing for them, it would be impossible to do anything until we held elections."

Referring at that time to the possibility of an A-bomb attack and the need for emergency housing that might arise as a result, the Governor said: "I think in these troubled times it would be a dangerous thing to handcuff ourselves by such a constitutional provision."

Vote NO on 10.

Alameda Bar Ass'n

The Alameda County Bar Association delegates to the state convention, which convenes in Los Angeles October 1st thru 6th, met Friday to consider resolution which this group will support. Among the delegates to the convention is John C. Henderson who submitted a resolution which deals with amending the Code of Civil Procedure to require a clarification of the word "appear" in the Summons which is confusing to the ordinary layman who takes the literal meaning and often appears in court within the ten day limitation, (particularly in cases where the amount is small and the services of a lawyer are prohibitive), rather than the legal meaning which requires the filing of some type of legal paper in the proceedings.

RAPHAEL KONIGSBERG

We Are the Experts

Too many of our fellow-citizens have the fixed idea that they don't know enough to have an opinion on various domestic or foreign issues. Too frequently the response to a request for support in election or petition campaigns is "Aw, what do I know about such things? I leave that to the experts. They know best."

For the moment we'll give the obvious retort: "Who are the experts anyway? Does getting rich or elected to office make them geniuses? Look at what a flop that 'great engineer' Hoover was. When you look at the mess they've gotten our country in—you'll call them everything but experts."

What we must understand is that this notion of "not knowing enough to have an opinion" is exactly the idea those who control our country want us to have—and spend millions every week to indoctrinate us with it. They want the average citizen to feel ill-prepared to deal with the key economic or political or social problems which affect our lives—so that he will not ask too many questions and leave things to the "experts" who will then run the country's affairs to suit themselves.

It's true, of course, that many of us were not able to afford all the education we desire. And more of us benefited little from the deliberately distorted facts and manufactured prejudices which pass for "education" in our schools. And all of us are affected by the propaganda with which the newspapers, magazines, radio and movies hit us in a never-ending deluge of what they call "public information."

All these factors are the 3-pronged weapon of those in power to keep us from being properly informed. And by trying to convince us that we're inadequate to understand and deal with the basic problems which affect us and our country they are trying to make us lose faith in ourselves.

Our counter-attack, therefore, must have the primary objective of regaining that faith in ourselves, this faith in our ability to control the economic and other factors which influence our lives, this faith in our right to the better world we can create.

A good way to start is by looking at the record of what we have done and what we've proved ourselves capable of doing—the record of our performance in events that really count, in, for example, the most important test Americans have faced since the Civil War: Democracy's fight against fascism in World War II.

Ask any G.I.—ask your son, your husband, ask yourself: Who won America's part in that war? The professional militarists or our citizen army? The answer: We, the citizen army! The military experts and the regular army hacks would have lost for America if not for us. The citizen army won on the battlefield—and the citizen army won on the homefront.

You who served at home, speak up! Was it the corporation executives who won the homefront battle, or was it the millions of patriotic workers in the factories and fields and offices? Contrast the big corporations' treasonous refusal to produce for the war until they'd been guaranteed enormous profits with our workers' high productivity and their contributions to management through the labor-management committees.

And equally important. The history of every nation in World War II—we dare not tire of repeating—shows that the traitors in every land were from the 'upper' class: the corporations executives, the generals and politicians, ehe 'experts.' While the saviors of every land were the working people like you and your family, the common people—who proved again they are the better people.

So, let us not be in awe of the hi-politicos and professors and executives—who speak for the monopolies which by their very nature cannot serve the people. Those persons aren't born with a monopoly of wisdom nor any genius for solving all America's key economic, political and social problems. Neither are they born with, nor do they ever learn, a compulsion to serve the best interests of the people and the nation.

We must understand that in tackling any basic problems, at least as important as—and usually more important than—specific information and technical know-how is a desire, a compulsion, to do that which helps the people most: a personal identification with the welfare of all the people, a love of democracy.

Our guiding principle must be: THAT WHICH SERVES THE PEOPLE BEST IS RIGHT. If it's a domestic problem—for example: How shall the nation's tax funds be spent?—all we need to know (as we do know) is that it will help us and America more if a much larger share than at present is spent for creating jobs by building homes and schools, for health care and for more education, for encouraging our writers, artists and musicians.

If it's a problem in foreign affairs: all we need to know is that our government should take that action which will help the people of other nations to liberate themselves and build democracy, such actions as will help prevent the anti-democratic gangs everywhere from existing, and will build peace.

When a specific issue arises about which we do not have the time to become informed, then we can turn to trusted leaders whose advice we can use as guides—people like the great scholar Dr. W. E. B. DuBois and the true representative Vito Marcantonio. With their help and our own decent instincts we will be equipped to form an intelligent opinion.

The people do know what makes up the good life. They know what democracy, decency, honesty, justice and brotherhood are. And with renewed faith in our powers and the unity of us all—we will be the masters of our destiny.

LABOR ON THE MARCH

When Will We Quit?

The handful of Negro pensioners who continue to front for the CIO must find their stomachs revolting time and again these days. Operating, as they do, with full knowledge that the CIO is in full retreat on the question of integration and fair play for Negroes, it must be rugged for them to have to praise where they would prefer to damn.

John M. Lee

Several weeks ago, Sonny Morrison, Packinghouse Workers' representative who is a member of the local CIO Council's Fair Employment committee, walked out of a council meeting after listening to a committee report that was a masterpiece of new-day Uncle-Tomism. Morrison said he was fed up with glowing reports on the CIO's phony position on Negro trade unionists, and he got a lot of rank and file support on that position.

The Council was stunned by Morrison's frankness. They had grown used to "yes men" who draw salary checks for the express purpose of putting Negro workers on record favoring gradualism or no movement at all in the direction of abolishing the dual-unionism philosophy that prevails in the CIO.

None of the local lightweights could take on Morrison as he is, by the bulk of the Negroes who remain in the CIO. It was necessary to import a lieutenant who would be expected to have sufficient prestige and persuasion to awe the Negro brothers into a state of concurrence with a situation that is to their detriment.

So it was that Bill Oliver, national chairman of the CIO FEP Committee, was trotted out at the last Council meeting. Oliver entered the sparsely-occupied meeting hall with all of his prestige ,and though the Regional Director of his union (UAW) was on the platform, there was no recognition for the man who had come out west to put the Negro brothers on the right track. He was escorted to the platform by a Negro functionary.

There were about a half dozen Negroes in the scant meeting, but this did not deter brother Oliver. He spent a full half hour praising the CIO for its goodness to the colored people, and he suggested that they be properly ashamed of themselves for not appreciating it.

This was nothing new, of course . . . this business of bringing in another Negro to refute a Negro who dared to speak out for equality. It is a device that has been in use since the beginning of slavery. It is one of the tricks that made slavery a going business.

....The contempt in which Oliver and the local CIO lightweights are held by the ruling dynasty of the CIO Council is evident in the importation of Bill Oliver. Any rank and filer will tell you that Morrison is right; that the renegade Communists and back-sliding liberals who lead the Negro wing of the CIO are too scared of losing their own hides to do much to protect those of their brothers.

No Negro in his right mind will pay any attention to the "Judas-Goats" who are attempting to lead the masses to the slaughter house. The very existence of a Fair Employment Committee in the CIO on local and national levels, is positive proof that there are inequities to be adjusted. Negro members in the CIO are not getting the full benefit and protection for which they pay their dues. The leadership in the CIO has no program for the advancement of Negro members, but it has a roster of "kept" Negroes who are ready and willing to defend that static position.

Living on past glory is a luxury that even the CIO cannot afford these days. And certainly, Negro trade unionists cannot consider small part advance ments as a guarantee for the future. The CIO is showing less and less interest in the welfare of the minorities. If it is the plan to abandon the Negro worker completely, then this part of the retreat should be carried without help from the Negro leaders in the CIO.

It is time to quit backing up as though we are less than other men. The hokum being spread by some Negro spokesmen that "we are being treated better over here, and are living better over here" than we could in some other country is sheer stupidity and far from the point. We are a part of this country ,a vital and historical part, and we don't know anything about any other country. And what's more, we shouldn't concern ourselves with the slavery in other countries, to the extent that we may again find ourselves in slavery in our own country.

Political Pot-Pourri

Women campaigners for Governor Warren's reelection now have a corps of almost 100 nonpartisan advisors representing every field of activity throughout Southern California, Mrs. Edward W. Raith, chairman of Women-for-Warren, said this week.

ABOLISH CROSS FILING

Thirty-five thousand petitions to abolish cross filing are now in the hands of volunteer workers in every one of California's fifty-eight counties, it is reported by John B. Elliott, chairman of the statewide organization having the work in charge.

Important in the movement to obtain signatures of registered voters are the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O. State and local organizations, the non-partisan League of Women Voters of California, the Democratic State Central Committee, a large number of elected officials, including many who were elected in the primary of last June by virture of cross filing; civic clubs, educators, leaders of public thought, and just plain citizens.

The Abolish Cross Filing organization is aiming at 250,000 signatures which would provide a good margin above the 127,920 needed to qualify the petition.

A 100-page brief was submitted last week by Isidore Englander, counsel for Andrew Dmytryshyn, at the deportation hearings which were resumed on September 18th, it was announced by the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born.

In addition to the brief, a great number of official documents were introduced in evidence at the hearings to support the position that the Justice Department is violating the Constitution as well as the deportation laws when it seeks to deport Andrew Dmytryshyn solely because of his membership in a fraternal insurance organization, the International Workers Order.

HIGH TAXES

"State and local taxes have increased since 1944 by the astounding sum of $900 million annually with little opposition from public officials and civic organizations, despite the fact that this trend ,if continued, threatens to bankrupt the state," James O. Stevenson, secretary of the United Taxyaers of California, declared this week.

"If chaos comes to California," he said, "it will come — not through repeal of the personal property tax as these forecasters of doom predict—but through the state's accepted policy of continually increasing the tax on the small homeowner and the wage-earners of the state."

Esther Murray, Democratic candidate for Congress, 16th District, applauded President Truman's veto of the so-called subversive control bill as "a courageous stand in defense of democracy and against our enemies at home and abroad."

Vice President Alben W. Barkley will be in Los Angeles for an open mass meeting at the Olympic Auditorium on Monday night, October 9. No admission will be charged.

The people also will have a chance to listen to the major Democratic candidates: James Roosevelt for Governor; Helen Gahagan Douglas, for United States Senator, and Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, for Attorney General. The Congressional and legislative candidates also will be introduced.

From Los Angeles, the Vice President will go north. He may be in Fresno Tuesday morning, October 10. He will be in the San Francisco Bay area that afternoon and evening. A mass meeting is planned in Oakland. From San Francisco, Mr. Barkley will go to Seattle, Wash.

"Road Without Turning"
By Rev. James H. Robinson
An Autobiography published by Farrar, Strauss & Co. 311 pages. (Available at Hugh Gordon Book Store.)
Reviewed by MARIANNE LEE

On the outskirts of Harlem, on 122nd Street and Morningside Avenue, there stands the Church Of The Master. It is as busy and crowded as the high, teeming tenements that face it, and as serene and thoughtful as the libraries in New York's great Columbia University which casts a shadow upon it on sunny days. Its minister has found an answer to the problem that for decades has been perplexing and frustrating the churches and ministers of the western world.

Life Story

The name of this minister is Rev. James H. Robinson, and "Road without Turning" in the story of his life. It is not the first autobiography by a leading Negro who sought the way to interracial understanding and cooperation, but it is certainly the first of its kind. No new day "Uncle Tom," and no preacher of political cultism and propaganda, Rev. Robinson makes it plain that the 16,000,000 American Negroes represent the potential for leadership in the struggle for freedom and dtmocracy.

Rev. Robinson begins his story with his childhood in the swamplands around a small Tennessee town and in the slums of Cleveland. He introduces his father, a devout and almost fanatical member of the Sanctified church known as the Campellites; and his mother, who was his constant guide and inspiration although she was desperately struggling again the final stages of tuberculosis. He tells some of the experiences he shared with his four brothers and sisters and with the various cousins and aunts and uncles who lived in the crowded Cleveland apartment.

Nationalism

With the continuity and dramatic pitch of a perfect novel, Rev. Robinson describes his youth in terms of his struggles against poverty and jim-crowism. He developed a fiercely nationalistic pride out of which grew an unfaltering contempt for bigotry—no matter where it is found. He craved knowledge, and searched for an answer to the many social contradictions and inconsistencies he saw around him. And so gradually he formed his decision to become a minister.

Almost singlehandedly, young James Robinson worked his way through college and seminary. He had little time for anything except work and study, but somehow he managed to rise to positions of student leadership, and to be aware of the political situations throughout the world.

For two summers he worked in a little community church near his hometown. There he learned that a minister must be close to the struggles of his people—and not above them—and that "Churches are best built by the ringing of doorbells rather than by great sermons." There too he began to formulate the blueprint for the church that someday he was to build.

No Gradualism

Rev. Robinson carefully observed the people around him, and he unflinchingly searched his own soul. He found a religion philosophy that scoffs upon "gradualism" in the emancipation of the Negro and other minority peoples. He decided to fight with all the means he, as

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Dear Mrs. Bass:

We, of the Westchester Club of the Independent Progressive Party are wholeheartedly behind you to run for Congress in the 14th District.

We hope you will accept this difficult task, and shall do all we can to help you in this campaign. We shall be available, in full force, to ring doorbells.

Sincerely yours,
Westchester Club,
Sylvia Sanders,
Corr. Sec'y

Dear Mrs. Bass:

I would like to add my voice to the many others who have expressed their enthusiasm at the possibility of your candidacy in the 14th Congressional District.

You are truly a "people's candidate," and I know for that reason, will muster and inspire an army of precinct workers—which I will be part of.

Hoping that you accept.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Miriam R. Becker,

Dear Mrs. Bass:

At this time of the year, Nu Sigma Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority pauses to think of those things for which we have reason to be thankful.

For the excellent publicity given us by your paper, we are always thankful, although we do not have the opportunity to express our appreciation as often as we would like. So we take this means of saying "Thank You" and to solicit your continued cooperation.

Yours very truly,
Florence Anderson,
Corresponding Sec'ty

My dear Mrs. Bass:

I urge you to run for Congress-when our civil liberties, our freedom, our very lives are on the verge of collapse—more than ever before do we need leadership and people to represent us who are not swaged by the current hysteria, and I feel that you are one who has the people at heart, one who will fight fearlessly as you have done in the past for the things that will really benefit us—obs, F. E. P. and peace. It is time, too, that the Negroes are more fully represented as is their right, and also time that here of all places in the world more women will have a voice in our lives and futures.

Yours for peace,
June S. Naiker.

ANSWER TO REUBEN BECKLES

Dear Mr. Beckles:

I have read your article printed in the Sept. 14th issue of the EAGLE, and, although I agree with you in most respects, I want to take issue with you in one instance and to re-emphasize the appeal you made for all people to join together to make their dreams come trhe.

First, the instance for which I wish to take issue. In one of your statements was a fragment which read "If you're white, you get it." This is not entirely true. To give some illustrations: The agricultural workers in the San Juaquin valley are not all Negroes. There are Mexican Nationals working there who were imported for that purpose. There are also white workers there who were share-croppers in the south in the years preceeding the last depression in the early 30's. Yet these people are living under the same economic conditions which deprive the Negro people of their livelihood. In certain industries and in many jobs not only Negroes but Jews are prevented from working. That is why there are so many who are professional people or small shop keepers. I have met and experienced this type of discrimination. As soon as it was discovered that I was of Jewish extraction I was dismissed from my job. I was discouraged from following certain courses of study when I was a student because of my background. Indeed, I have had physical struggles because of this.

The Mexican-American people, too, are deprived of job opportunities, a decent house in which to live, and a chance to express their social desires. They, too, are intimidated by trigger-happy cops, especially in this community which has the largest Mexican-American population in the country. Witness the Salicido killing at approximately the same time that Herman Burns was murdered, and, more recently, the shooting of Rudy Flores at the same time that Randolph Williams, Jr. was murdered.

There are reasons for all of this which must be made clear. The purpose of these acts is to divide and silence the people. They divide the people by saying to the white worker, "You are superior to all other people and you must not let them become equal." They say to the non-white worker, "You are inferior, therefore you do not deserve anything better." This pits one group against another which develops into such things as race riots such as those which occurred in Detroit before the war and in St. Louis more recently. Locally there was the "zoot-suit" riots and "rat pack" hysteria. The most famous of which was the rioting at Peekskill last year. They silence the people by saying to the worker striking for more pay, "Now look, there are other people who will work for less pay so if you want to keep your job keep quiet about higher wages." Such was the case in the waste materials strike last year when the bosses broke the strike by bringing in workers who would work for less pay. These tactics are used to prevent people from uniting to better their conditions.

This brings me to my desire to re-emphasize your appeal. Negro, Mexican-American, Jewish people and all people who are deprived of their livelihoods must join together if they wish to better their conditions. All of us are denied our civil rights so that if we wish to have true freedom we must all band together to fight for them. None of us benefit from war so that if we want peace we must unite to fight for it. Only when we unite we realize our desires. In unity there is strength so let us unite for peace, freedom, and abundance.

Yours for unity,

a minister, could command the causes and the people responsible for racial regregation and for economic and social insecurity and despair.

Putting his theories to work in practice, Rev. Robinson became one of the founders of the interracial Sydenham Hospital in New York; and of a scholarship fund for Negro students to study in white colleges and foreign countries, and foreign exchange students to study in Negro colleges. The staff, congregation, and activities of his church, the Church of the Master is representative of the interracial character of the community in which it is located.

Because of his interest in race relations Rev. Robinson has been suspected of "subversion," and he has also been asked to marry many inter-racial couples. He discusses inter-marriage in detail and believes that "race relations in America would be a great deal further along is so many whites did not labor under the misapprehension that race relations begin and end in bed."

With the humility-inspiring objectivity with which he reveals his personal thoughts and feelings, Reverend Robinson also discussed the role of the Negro church: "For centuries it has been the center of the Negroes' struggle for existence .

Sanctuary

Beginning with the days of slavery, it provided the inspiration that kept hope alive and gave sanctuary to the leaders of the slave revolts. . . . Although the fact is hard to accept, the magnificent work of the Negro church must someday come to an end. At its best, it is a Jim Crow arrangement and must eventually give way to The Church in place of the Negro church and the white church."

It is this marvelous objectivity as well as the remarkable life of its author that makes "Road Without Turning" a great work. It is a book to be read for its great human warmth and dignity. It should be read by all who think of Negroes as a lesser being, and it must be read by those who feel their patronizing association with Negroes is the ultimate in liberalism. And to those professional and lay church people who believe that religion and its expression, the Church, have lost their hold on humanity "Road Without Turning should provide the inspiration they so sorely need.

KINLOCH'S LETTERS

About Red Baiting, as apropos today as it was 7 years ago.

By JOHN S. KINLOCH

Now when a citizen gets himself all red in the face proclaiming that everybody in sight is a Communist and that these Reds are hell-bent to steal all our candy and punch and that we ought to drop everything right now — including the struggle against jimcrow and the Hitler Axis—to cope with the "Communist Menace," there is something cooking and confidentially, it stinks out loud.

Remember the familiar movie situation wherein the villain's got our hero hands-up. Quick as a flash, the hero yells, "Look out behind you!" The villain turns his back for a moment, and presto! everything is vice versa.

That about sums up the theory of red-baiting. It is a tactic of diversion. It is designed to snatch its victim's attention from the real task at hand. It would turn the people's march into a witch hunt with everybody looking up spooks behind everybody else's left ear.

If you're out to destroy international fascism, William Randolph Hearst will scream that this Communist fellow is the real danger. The war is a tray you carry on your shoulder. At the first shout, "Help! Communist!" you're supposed to drop the tray and dig for the nearest exit.

If you're dead set on smashing jim-crow unionism, THE LOS ANGELES TRIBUNE will tell you that's impossible just now, and if you make so bold as to insist upon the point, why the TRIBUNE pipes into a four-part quartet with Dies, Rankin and Pegler to proclaim that you are nothing but a Communist and everybody had better run, really.

It is true that red-baiting isn't what it once was. The old stories don't convince any more. Hitler has made them a drug on the market. Rank-and-filers have duly noted that the mysterious horrors of the Communist menace reveal themselves exclusively to native fascists like Dies or community Uncle Toms and the TRIBUNE garden weed variety.

However, the time has come when we must do more than rise above the red-baiters. They must be challenged at every step. We must expose their lies and the purpose behind them.

This is not in the interest of the Communists, who are, after all, a minority political party with scarce one hundred thousand members in the whole U. S. A. It is in the interest of the day-to-day struggle toward the nation's victory and the liberation of the Negro people. Just as the word, "N———r" is used to divide black and white working people, so the cry "Red" is used to divide the nation. Both are based on prejudice, illusion, hating and terrible images covered with dust in the rear attic of America's mind.

Well, let's examine this horrendous cry, "Red!" Let's take a squint at the spook department. There are reasonable folks in the year 1943 and goblins are out of fashion anyway. O. K. What about the Communists?

Communists believe that the means of production, factories, land, belong by right, to all the people of a nation and that private ownership of these means should be abolished. They believe in the absolute equality of all racial groups.

We may not agree with this economic theory. But there's nothing obscene about it. The thing can be mentioned in front of the wife and kids. It won't hurt 'em.

Since Pearl Harbor, however, the Communist Party has cancelled all proposals for immediate socialism in the United States as a contribution to national unity in the war effort. It supports the war one hundred per cent, wielding its influence to discourage war industry strikes and to expose half-baked revolutionaries who would disrupt America's home front in the face of Hitler's threat.

As part of its win-the-war program, the Communists actively support the American Negro's demand for full citizenship rights now.

Whether we like it or not, the fact that several million Communists have given their lives in this war is the principal reason that we are now upon the road to victory. Stalingrad saved civilization. The Chinese Red armies today are in contact with more Japanese troops than all the combined units of the United States Army and Navy. Communists throughout occupied Europe have led in the formation of underground organizations and have never joined the quislings or lavals.

In listing the purposes of this war, Joseph Stalin placed first: "Abolition of racial exclusiveness."

So, is it a disgrace to be a Communist?

Wendell Willkie answered that one when he asserted this week, "There is no act in my life of which I am more proud than my defense of William Schneiderman."

Schneiderman is a California Communist, whose citizenship case Willkie won before the United States Supreme Court a few days ago.

The object of red-baiting is to divide the people in their fight against fascism at home and abroad.

Remember, Rome, Berlin, and Tokyo were out to save the world from Communism. They did it with the devastation of Ethiopia, the destruction of France, the bombing of England and the infamy of Pearl Harbor.

Martin Dies is out to save the world from Communism. He does it with shielding the Ku Klux Klan and the attempted firing of William Pickens and Mary McLeod Bethune.

THE LOS ANGELES TRIBUNE is out to save Central Avenue from Communism.: It does so by deciding that the fight against jim-crow unionism at Calship, Western Pipe and Steel and Consolidated shipyards is "impossible" and that Negroes must "swallow the bitter pill" of a jim-crow auxiliary.

According to Hollywood, "Hiawatha" is just a lot of Red propaganda. The peace-pipe, says Monogram, is un-American. All of which gives new meaning to a headline observed in the commercial press: "L. A. Indians to hear Red warning." "Hiawatha," long a classic source of parody material, is the basis of several current attempts. Or, as certain film sources say it, movies are better than they're gonna be.

Tates Celebrate First Anniversary

On Saturday, Sept. 23, Earline and Wilbur Tate entertained and celebrated with a party which marks their first wedding anniversary. The popular couple was wed one year ago in a beautiful ceremony at Santa Barbara, Cal. and have enjoyed many happy days together.

The lovely Wellington road apartment was uniquely decorated in a Mexican motif. Complete with serapes, sombreros, and sketches adorning the rooms the decors helped to provide a picturesque atmosphere feeling of actually being south of the border.

Food and drink were in keeping with the theme. Tasty Mexican dishes were prepared and served by the host and hostess. The evening's entertainment was heightened by a Charleston contest which was really a "riot to watch" as it progressed. More than forty guests enjoyed the evening's festivities.

THE SUMMING UP

THE CALENDAR of past weekend events was full of activity and entertainment for many. The very unique afternoon "Cabaret" which took place at Eddie's Oasis this past Sunday deems special mention. The matrons of the Child Guidance League really took on new personalities when they entertained with a complete floor show which was very near professional rating. The costumes were colorful and very attractive, and the participating members performed with surprisingly good precision. Ouida Lehman was responsible for the very clever dance routines.

DELTA SIGMA THETA sorority undergrad chapters kept the ball rolling for the complete weekend with rushing activities. Friday night the UCLA and USC chapters presented separate affairs honoring new girls on the campii. Saturday night the two chapters joined forces to entertain at a mammoth joint affair held at the beautiful South Gramercy Place residence of Mrs. Lorenzo J. Cole. An after-party held sway with the men of Omega Frat as they played host to the rushees and actives of the popular sorority. Sunday morning was highlighted by an outing at Ferndale section of spacious Griffith Park as Nu Sigma, graduate chapter played hostess to the group.

THERE WAS A TIME when the popular tune "Saturday night is the Loneliest Night in the Week" was bordering on the top of the hit parade, but today this is no more. It can now be said that this is the liveliest night in the week, for many pick this particular night to entertain and be entertained by some genial host or hostess. This past sixth-day week night found the Tates, Earline and Wilbur, celebrating and entertaining with their First Anniversary Party. The many friends of the popular local couple showered them with useful and beautiful gifts. To top the evening of fun, a Charleston contest was held in which Benzell Graham excelled with surprising talent. Ruth Red and Samuel Glover also executed some fancy steps.

THIS LIVELY NIGHT was also chosen by the Sphinx Club of A Phi A Frat. Their contribution was an entertainment for all the Greek letter pledges of the various organizations under the heading of "Little Greek Reunion." All the Greek organizations were amply represented, and the Western Avenue locale of the Frat house was a scene of dancing, fun and merriment. . . .

"AND NOT A STONE'S THROW away," at the Alpha Bowling Club, the Lampados (Omega jledges) gave their "Auld Acquaintance Dance." This was the first of a series of dances to raise funds for the club's forthcoming Formal Dance to be held sometime near Thanksgiving. . . .

WE CERTAINLY enjoyed the hospitality of the members of the LOVABLE TROUBADORS Social Club as they presented their Patio Cocktail Party on the verfy same night, SATURDAY. Quite an array of fashionable after-five cocktail creations was displayed, of which Miss Tracy Young was chosen as the "best dressed" and most beautifully attired.

KAPPA OUTING

(THE GATHERING OF THE CLAN could have been the theme for the mammoth "Kappa Caravan" which was enjoyed by Kappa men and their company on Sunday past. Reseda Park was the setting for the annual picnic outing. Such sports as baseball and touch football was the order of the day. Scrollers designated to be on the scene really worked like 'little beavers' to keep the big brothers "Satisfied." Al Elliot, Lee Stewart, Rick Radcliff, Emmett Brady, Gerald Stevens, and Willie Collins lent their services well. A real out-of-doors day of activity was enjoyed by all that attended.

MID-WEEK HAPPENINGS

ON TUESDAY NIGHT, Sept. 19, Dorothy Duvall played hostess to a few friends with cocktails as the order for the evening. Guests included Hampton Hawes, Mattie Comfort, Freddie Threats, June Williams, and Richard Griffin, who will be inducted into the Armed Forces on Friday morning (tomorrow). With bidding a good friend adieu, it's a true fact that gaiety was the highlight of the evening!!

ANDRE and GLORIA VAUGHN were the perfect host and hostess on Thursday night, Sept. 21, when they honored Bill Slaton and Nellie Becker (now Mr. and Mrs. as of Wednesday) with a toast for future happiness. Champagne was the order of the evening. Also extending good wishes were yours truly, and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wevv. The newly weds spoke vows last evening in a quiet ceremony at the South St. Andrews Place residence of Dr. and Mrs. Blanchett. They plan to honeymoon in the quaint little town of La Jolla, Calif.

FUTURE GLANCES

WE WERE QUITE SURPRISED to hear of the recent marriage of USC Cinema student, and Scroller Bob Moore. The wedding reception will be held on Oct. 1 at 2292 West 23rd St. We're sure that Bob's many friends will be on hand to wish him well in his new found happiness.

KAPPA ALPHA PSI Frat will present Jules Haywood, International concert pianist, in a recital on Sunday, October 29, at the Philharmonic Auditorium. This should be one of the best entertainments of the season for Mr. Haywood is really an expert in his field, having recently returned from extensive studies abroad.

TO START THE CHRISTMAS season the women of Delta will feature Miss Dorothy Maynor in concert, also at the Philharmonic Auditorium. This should be an excellent starter for the bevy Christmas holiday activities that will take place during this month. So, look forward to it. Plan to attend.

WITH AUTUMN IN THE AIR, our focus turns toward that ever popular sport, Football. The Pacific Coast Conference games got under way on last Saturday afternoon between UCLA and Oregon, with the Bruins as the civtors. Understand that Dave Williams was really top performer for the mighty team. Friday night, (tomorrow) USC will meet the Universty of Iowa. We're sure that all eyes will be focused toward that mighty Trojan-Bruin match sometime in November. Yes, football is on its way with after game get-to-gethers soon to take the limelight. So guys and gays, get out your warmest suits and topcoats, your rooters caps and pom-poms, and get ready to join the fun.

PEOPLE AND SUCH

Ed Johnson, popular fellow, has just recently become the proud owner of a brand new forest green ford. The christening was Friday night past. . . .

New faces on the various campii are numerous. Over USC way, among those that have already become part of the social whirl of college life are Signora Howard, Delta from Talladega College, her hometown, Houston. She will become active with the campus chapter of the sorority. . . . Imogene Jean Fatherre, a very attractive miss with a real modern hair cut hails from Portland. . . . Opal Bordenae chooses a major in Clinical Technology . . . and Beverly Crump, daughter of Dr. Thomas Crump of Phoenix, Arizona, find college life enjoyable.

Ralph Wright has recently returned to the city from an extended vacation to points south and east. Welcome home is in order. . . . Shirley Williams, a real swell person, can be typed as one of the most dynamic personalities we know. . . . Gloria Baughn, Jessel King, and Ouida Lehman could really go professional in the dance world if we judge them by the "Sweet Georgia Brown" number that they performed on the floorshow of the Child Guidance League Welfare benefit on Sunday past at the Oasis Club. Their number really brought the house down.

Those good fellows of Omega Frat were real nice to the women of Delta and their rushees on Saturday night past. They can really keep a group well entertained what with such personalities on hand as Howard Morehead, "Chuck" Jones, Charles "Rock" Lindsay, Wins and Clyde Wright, Fortune Kelley, Ralph Kaufman, and Thomas Newsome. The guys really gave the gals a swell evening of entertainment. . . . Incidentally, Thomas Newsome and Tanice Fortier seem to be a constant twosome lately. . . Janice Fortier was all smiles as she talked of her recent engagement to handsome Winston Wright as she sported a sparkler on the third finger, left-hand. . . Many of us were glad to welcome Bernice Banks back to the city after spending the summer in her hometown of Portland, Oregon. . .. Congratulations are in order to the men of the Omega Frat who are now proud owners of a Fraternity House which is not too far from the A Phi A house. Now the question is, who will be next? A sorority?? We wonder??

Just can't get enough of listening to one of Billy Eckstien's latest numbers "The Show Must Go On." The words are really worth listening to. As deadline nears its mark here's auvoir, till next time. . . .

A LIFETIME PARTNERSHIP was formed Wednesday night when William Slaton, a bacteriologist and S. C. student, and Nellie Becker, daughter of Leslie and Nell Ocomy Becker of New York City were united in marriage at the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Blanchet, 1237 S. St. Andrews Pl. The Rev. L. L. White performed the ceremony A receptoin followed the wedding. Miss Becker is an occupational therapist. The couple are spending their honeymoon in La Jolla.

United Nations Festival Proves Successful

The second annual United Nations Festival sponsored by the Woodlawn Branch YWCA was held on Saturday, September 16, from 12 to 9 p.m. on the patio grounds. This event proved to be one of the most entertaining affairs of the year for the branch. It brought laughter to the adults and thrills and cheers from the teenagers as well as the little tots. More than thirteen countries in the United Nations were represented.

A very versatile and unique program was conducted throughout the evening under the supervision of the eminent personality, Miss Evelyn Burwell. The spirited music of Big Jay McNealy and his band, gave to the crowd the right zest that was needed to enter into the festival spirit. The impersonations of Windy Cook, left all hearts feeling light, and the thrill for the tots was the wonderful work of Willie Schmidt, the clown.

Booth uniqueness was the display of much time, effort and thought as reviewed by the crowd. Snooky Alexander with his caricature studies was kept busy throughout the evening. Much is to be said of the U.S.A. booth decorated with the model "T" Ford, donated by Les Kelly Co., this atmosphere along with the services of the booth made all feel at home.

Americans for Democratic Action will give a tea in honor of Helen Gahagan Douglas, United States Senatorial candidate, Sunday, October 1, from 3 to 6 p.m., at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Somerville, 2104 South Harvard boulevard.

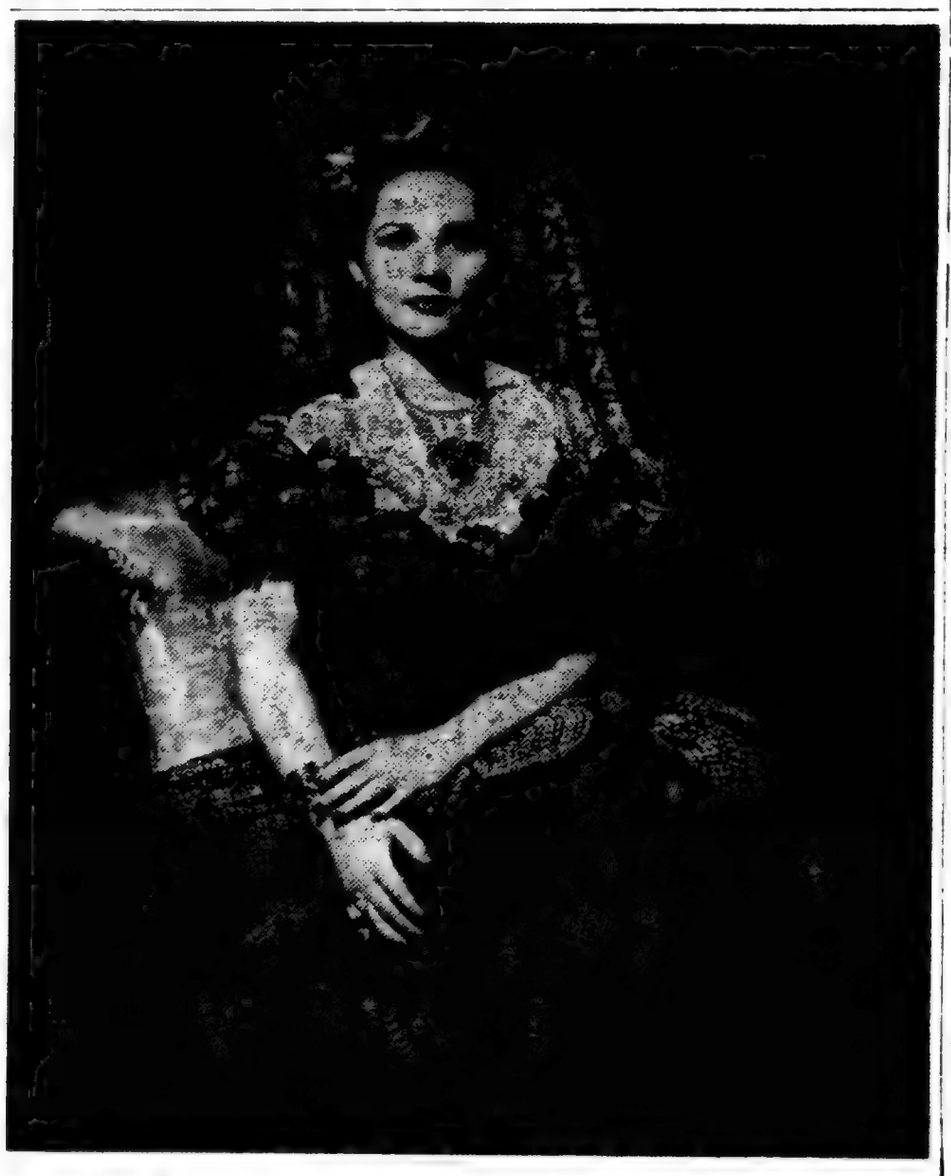
Taylor-Logan Marriage Vows

Mary Elizabeth Taylor and James Sidney Logan spoke their marriage vows in a double ring ceremony in the Trinity Baptist Church of Los Angeles, California. The Reverend Jonathan Caston officiated. Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Taylor, Sr., of Lecompte, Louisiana, and Mrs. Zeretta Logan of Natchez, Mississippi. The bride was lovely in a seed pearl-trimmed gown of white slipper satin and a finger tip veil with white satin coronet. She carried a single white orchid on a white leather testament with streamers of white satin ribbon and lilies of the valley. The only jewelry worn was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom. She was given in marriage by her father. Genevieve Redfud, sister of the bride, was matron of honor; she wore rose beige nylon net and slipper satin.

Attendants: The bridesmaids were Julia Ann and Marjorie Taylor, also sisters of the bride, Lois Weeks and Dorothy Browning, schoolmates. They wore rose and blue nylon net over slipper satin and carried nosegays of roses in contrasting shades. The flower girls, Yolanda Lyllye Redfud, Theresa Weeks and Brenda Bailey, wore white, yellow and pink organdy over satin; the ring bearers, Ulysses S. Jenkins Jr., and Duane Walter Redfud, nephews of the bride, wore white gabardine suits. E. J. Taylor Jr., was best man. Ushering were Clarence Bailey, Jack Sudduth, Leonard Walker and Albert Woolfolk.



The couple greeted their guests at a lovely reception in the home of the bride's sister, Genevieve, and her husband, John Walter Redfud.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. Roman Jones of Portland, Oregon; Miss Dorothy Browning of Fresno, California; Dr .and Mrs. Samuel Weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bailey, Mesdames Thomas Christian, Walter Driver, Hildulth Smith, Miss Lillian Antoine and Mr. Jack Sudduth of Berkeley, California.

The couple will make their home in Berkeley after a brief honeymoon. The groom is a graduate of the University of New Mexico, School of Pharmacy and is practicing in the bay area; the bride is a surgical nurse on the staff of the Children's Hospital in Oakland, California.

Child Guidance League Cabaret Huge Success

Local matrons who comprise the membership of the Child Guidance Welfare League really presented the public with an unforgetable social on Sunday, Sept. 24. The swank Club Oasis was crowded to capacity for the majority of the time alloted for the afair. The hours were from 3 to 7 p.m.

A feature highlight of the afternoon was the floorshow put on by the club members. Showtime was at 4:30 and 6:00, and both shows were performed with expert precision. Running approximately 30 to 40 minutes the show was real entertainment from beginning to end. A variety of numbers were presented which included a chorus girl routine, a tap number, a very lively rhumba, and a real rolliking jump number performed to the tune of "Sweet Georgia Brown." Brought to a close with a 'grand finale' the audience warmly accepted the offerings of the members with a tremendous round of applause. Proud husbands smiled in praise as their wives performed the numbers which were enjoyed by all.

Non-participating members in the floorshow lended their services in the check-room and on the door greeting their many supporters. The proceeds of the affair will be contributed to various welfare agencies to aid the program of less fortunate children. The girls are to be congratulated for presenting the public with entertainment unique and different. Ouida Lehman was responsible for the dance routines presented. Roy Loggins was Master of Ceremonies for the show. His winning personality kept the ball rolling at an even pace.

Mr. & Mrs. Social Club Dance Total Success

The Mr. and Mrs. Social Club presented its introduction dance on Saturday evening, Sept. 23, at the Elks Auditorium. The affair was a total success. The club theme was effectively carried out with the symbol of a heart, designed by Mr. Frank Wilson. The heart was made of maroon and gold, representing the club colors. Mr. Bill Goddard was M. C. for the evening. As the name of each couple was called, the wife stepped through the heart, while her husband waited to assist her to the platform and presented her with a beautiful wristlet of yellow rosebuds, designed by Mrs. Louise Collier. The invitations were designed in the maroon and gold club colors by Mrs. Rose Smith. Music was presented by Mr. Samuel Franklin and his orchestra. After the dance members adjourned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Jackson, who served breakfast and entertained the club and guests royally.

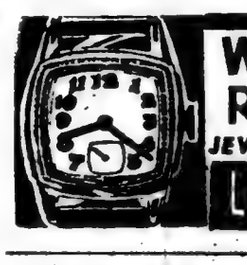
Julian Dempsey Shows Gowns In Beverly Hills Shop



Julian Dempsey, noted fashion designer, presented a Fall Fashion Show recently featuring his exclusive creations for daytime and evening wear. The setting for this extravaganza of fashion was a swank Beverly Hills shop of Interior Decoration managed and owned by Mr. Eric Bass. The quaint little Bedford Drive store was turned into a picture of sheer loveliness which was a perfect background for the breathtaking designs.

The show consisted of four acts which included casual gowns for afternoon wear featuring new tubular skirt lines. Quite a lot of black was presented for fall selections featuring imported fabrics of exquisite quality. Designs for evening wear presented drama in great detail which really struck the public's fancy. Fabrics of taffeta, tulle, and satin were main features. The gowns were cleverly labeled with names to fit the descriptions. Outstanding were the creations "Heaven Is Here" and "Feather Fantasy." To excell all others, the gown "Sleep Lily" was the highlight of the show. Gracefully modeled by Mrs. Ricardo Montalban, sister of Loretta Young, the gown was of black satin with a 'lily-like' bodice lined with pink. Black gloves were worn which were also lined with pink.

The original creations contributed to new silhouttes in fashion for fall and spring designs. The exquisite workmanship of Mr. Dempsey was shown in dramatically draped skirts, tubular skirt lines, and uniquely cut necklines.

This show was an enjoyable venture for Mr. Dempsey. He contributed a large part of his summer in preparation for the presentation in an attempt to give the public something new and exciting for autumn and winter wear. His work was not in vain, for the three showings of the fashion review were equally successful.

Spectators nodded in approval as they spent an unforgetable evening of "fashions with Julian." Many notables of stage and screen were on hand as well as style conscious socialites of Beverly Hills and Pasadena. and fashion magazine correspondents. Mrs. Frederick Runyon of the Pasadena-Independent Newspaper was on hand to report the event.

SHARPS & FLATS

By
ALBERT J. McNEIL
Music Critic of the California Eagle

A Thought for the Week
(A Paradox)

What does music mean to the Negro musical organizations in Los Angeles? What are we giving lip service to when we utter such phrases as "we will encourage a community symphony," "we must encourage young Negro musicians" or finally "we must encourb y providing opportunity?"

The musical anizations in Los Angeles ich form the nucleus for these no table enterprises are themselves weak and totally ineffective in a community now ready to accept a definite program of musical growth. We say almost authoritatively that if it were not for the social organizations of this area many outstanding musical presentations would never find a strong financial backing for performance. We concede then that the lethargic attitude on the part of many of our outstanding musical citizens is the direct result of the inadequate and selfish manner in which these organizations attempt to promulgate their goals. Each is at its associates' throat —each bent to destroy the other —and each has lost sight of its avowed objectives because of these external and internal influences. Is unit yan impossibility among intelligent people—so-called patrons of the arts? Yes, unity will be an impossibility in the cultural area here or any place as long a sthe musicians themselves are disunited. We have no one to blame but ourselves for short-sightedness and the lack of a real challenge.

"The Regeneration of Saul"

Andre Greene, young SC grad- student, presented his first musical prodigy Sunday afternoon in the eScond Baptist Church. Greene's work,in the form of a cantata based on the biblical happenings surrounding the conversion of Saul, was one of those continuous freel-flowing manuscripts which lent itself readil yto a compariosn with such works as Walton's Belshazzar's Feast or Villabos' Choros II. We hasten to add that we are not placing the work in this mature categor yof current choral masterpieces, but are using them primarily as focal points from which we hope to glean a satisfactory basis for criticism.

Ernest Toch's influence on the score was apparent, we felt many times, particularly in the first interludes played by the organ and the piano (John Herod, at the console and Veraneace Andrew at the piano). Incidentally, the accompanist, although somewhat hesitant at times, were convincing. The whole work lacked a definite stylistic consistency which we felt greatly aided in the destruction of the central unity of the opus. This discrepancy was amplified in the economic use of thermatic material in the choruses and arias.

We must commend Greene, however, for his understanding of the materials of music and his sincere effort to "please his audience" at the sacrifice of other things. This we are certain he did. We, too, hope sincerely that Angelenos will encourage new musician by a genuine unselfish support of his future excursions into composition. Through what media can young Negro musicians express themselves have through the church and its resources? George Comfort, baritone, as Saul displayed an obvious tendency to falt. We hope Comfort will make a sincere effort to remedy this fallacy before a serious impediment exists. Elihu Sloan, tenor, as Jesus made up for poor diction by consciously producing pleasing and well placed tones.

Appegios and Glissandos

Last week this writer was privileged to be present at the rehearsal of the community Rehearsal Orchestra. This orchestra has been in existence since March and has about 60 pieces. Its present conductor is Harry Hyams, and it has had as previous conductors, Percy McDavid, eminent Negro conductor, and Itzler Solomon.

The purpose of this orchestra is to give Caucasian and minority popular players the opportunity to play classical music. The brass and woodwind section in almost its entirety is filled by popular musicians. All the musicians are members of the musicians Union. It is rare that music of this type is explored in this manner and more types of music such as opera should be done in this manner in order to give musicians experience with great conductors.

The coming opera season will bring from San Francisco a new baritone. The fact that this company has a new baritone is of no importance, but the important factor is that this baritone is Chinese (remember a member of a minority). His name is Yi-Kwei Sze, and will star in "Andrea Chenier" on October 31. Lily Pons will be seen in "Lucia di Lammermoor" Nov. 1, "The Barber of Seville," Nov. 8, and "Rigoletto" at the final performance of the season Nov. 12. Giuseppe di Stefano will sing the tenor roles in all these operas.

Most American voices are pitched too high. In moments of excitement they become unpleasantly shrill. They also offend frequently by their loundness.

Usually it is not necessary to teach a child to make a noise, way. How to induce quiet is the real problem of most homes. The habit can best be created through either vocally or in any other the example of the parents. If their voices are harsh, loud, and shrill, their children will assume that this is normal and estimable. Soft, beautiful, refined voices are generally communicated from parents to their children ,and this is commonly accepted as a mark of class distinction. The speaking voice should be cultivated before the singing voice. One who sings well speaks well or should speak well.

Straining the voice should be discouraged at all times. There is no virtue in being able to sing loud or high, no matter what any teacher may say. Range is not important, but the thing that is important is the quality in that range.

APPEGGIOS AND GLISSANDOS

Monday at Chapman College, Inez Matthews, concert artist and feminine lead in "Lost in the Stars," opened the artist series. Miss Matthews sang songs by Calbers, Mozart, Schubert and as an aria, "The Willow Song" from Othello by Verdi. The concert, in the opinion of this writer, was brilliant.

Opening the Philharmonic season on Nov. 16, will be Kirsten Flagstad who will offer arias from Wagner and Beethoven.

Disabled Aid Bill Is Phony McLain Says

SACRAMENTO. — "Governor Earl Warren's $75 per month Bill to aid disabled persons is nothing but a phony," declared George McLain, chairman of the California Institute of Social Welfare, who appeared before the Assembly Social Welfare Committee to urge that the $75 formula now in the Old Age Pension Law be used in the Administration's Aid to the Disabled Bill.

McLain said that this Bill would encourage the disabled to think that they would get a full $75 per month, when actually the payments would be entirely at the discretion of the Welfare Department. This might mean that many of the recipients would only get $20, $30 or $50 per month, as the Welfare Department would be the agency to determine this amount.

Report of Fires

Official records of the National Fire Protection Association reveal that every 24 hours throughout the United States there are 740 home fires—30 deaths by fire—200 store fires—91 factory fires—8 church fires—7 school fires and 3 hospital fires. With such figures constantly increasing, firemen sometimes wonder if people are trying to burn themselves to death and destroy their personal possessions on the installment plan.

IT'S HI DE HO TIME—Yesereee! It's the King of Hi De Ho himself . . . Cab Calloway who will be the headliner at the Club Oasis tomorrow night.

Hi-De-Ho King At Oasis Friday Nite

Cab Calloway, with his new Cabaliers unit, composed of four leading musicians who have long been associated with the popular "Highness of Hi-De-Ho," will open a two-week engagement at the Club Oasis, 3801 So. Western Ave., this coming Friday, September 29.

After twenty years of white tuxedos and 20-piece orchestras, Cab has broken with tradition in the forming of the new small unit, playing relaxed easy music. The personnel of the group besides Cab includes Jonah Jones on trumpet; Dave Rivera at the piano; Milton Hinton, bass, and Panama Francis on drums. This group has been the nucleus of Calloway's band for several years.

The Hi-De-Ho King will continue to present his one-man riots, singing in the approved scat manner, his famous Hi-De-Ho" and his nimble dancing.

Moose Answers The Call

CINCINNATI, Ohio — Immediately upon finishing his recent sensational recording session at King Records in Cincinnati, Bull Moose Jackson packed up his men and his instruments and headed for the Coast for a series of triumphant return engagements. Last year Moose took the Coast by storm and from current indications he will do as big, if not bigger, on these repeat appearances.

Because of his tremendous popularity in that region, he will make a short appearance from October 10 to October 15 at Washington's swank Seattle spot, the Hazana Club which has featured the best in Jazz names for the past years.

Cootie Williams Sees Another Lush (Blues) Era That Is

PROVIDENCE — Cootie Williams, the great trumpet virtuoso and Esquire magazine's consistent choice for its All American designation, sees the coming of another lush era for delienators of the blues, coincident with the increasing tension of the war situation.

Cootie predicts that this new period of turbulent tenseness and chaos will produce more delineators in the mold of Bessie Smith, Clara Smith, Ma Rainey and the others.

Says Williams "Blues music is hard time music. Whenever there is troubled times, you'll find people singing the blues." He points out the rise of Eddie Vinson, whom Cootie discovered, Roy Brown, Wynonie Harris and other blues singers during the period of the last war.

New Nite Spot

NEW YORK, (IPS) — Harlem will get another caberet and this one is slated to be its most unique. Emilio Toyas, of Cafe Madrid fame, recently purchased the Lenox Rendezvous. Estimated price, $10,000. But Toyas who spends plenty of jack and gives the best is no slouch, so this Lenox Rendezvous slated for an early Oct. opening should be a smart affair. Band and revue is the proposed entertainment menu. It is located at 71 Lenix Avenue near the borderline at 114th St.

PRETTY PAT KELLY, Miss Gridiron Club of Southern California, will be rooting for her two favorite football teams this weekend in the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum. The S.C. Trojans open their season Friday against Iowa. The U.C.L.A. Bruins go after their second conference victory against Washington State Saturday afternoon. Pat will be in a predicament on November 25 when the Trojans and Bruins clash.

JEFFERSON HIGH SPORTS

Jefferson's Democrafs take the lid off the 1950 Football Fracas on Saturday night when the Varsity and Bee teame tackle a rugged Verdugo Hills team at the big Occidental College stadium up at Eagle Rock. Off their performance against Narbonne in Tuesday's scrimmage, the Democrats will be moving that ball plenty with the accent on passes to Rommie Loudd, rugged line play by "The Cat" Henry Patterson, and some speed on the part of two-year letterman Jack Casonhua, and slippery hips Jerry Drew.

This game will be an excellent opportunity for the high school fans in the community to get a close view of what the Democrat fortunes will be for this season. If you lack tansportation, a lime on the "5" car at Jefferson and Main will take you right out to the Occidental Stadium. By car the best route is to take Alameda north to San Fernando Blvd. and then over to Eagle Rock Blvd. to the stadium.

Bert Watson's Bee Busters look good again for about the umpteenth season in a row. Their game will start at 6:30. For a night of good, fast, exciting football, this double-header at Occidental Saturday night will fill the bill.

On the other fall sports scene: Coach Estel Johnson is busy getting his candiates for the all-City Cross Country Run in shape to bring home the bacon to Jeff. This is the sport that gave Lang Stanley his tremendous endurance. Most of the meets this year will be run off during the half times of Jeff's home football games. Larry Hanson's casaba crew is warming up that ole bucket for the biggest season yet. The girls' drill team is a wow this year! That's all. See you at Occidental Saturday night!!

Hawkeyes Will Have Organized Rooters Here

When the University of Iowa Hawkeyes trot out onto the Coliseum turf this Friday night to clash with the powerful USC Trojans, they'll be welcomed by an organized rooting section composed of ex-Iowans now living in Southern California.

The Gridiron Club has arranged for a special block of seats andis running a caravan of busses from four Long Beach locations, with police escort, for Friday's game. Iowa pennants are being supplied to all ticketholders in this area so their section will rival the USC rooters in color as well as enthusiasm.

ELAJC Huskies Seek Victory From Indians

Coach Al Hunt will send his East Los Angeles Junior College footballers out Saturday night for their twelfth straight victory. The opposition will be provided by the Indians of San Bernardino Valley college.

Hunt's Huskies opened the season last week with their eleventh successive win, a 41 to 7 rout of a well coached Chaffey eleven. San Bernardino opened the season two weeks ago by swamping San Diego Navy, 46 to 6, but last week bowed to the Pasadena City College Bulldogs, 39 to 13.

Because of their high score against Chaffey the East Los Angeles team is favored, but San Bernardino with a big squad, a new coach, and renewed spirit is in a position to catch the Huskies off guard.

Irish Bob Murphy Meets Rough Roy Miller In Stadium Friday

Irish Bob Murphy, San Diego's blond bombshell who has knocked out 42 of his 51 oponentts, and Roy Miller, a rough scrapper from Kansas City, clash Friday night at Hollywood Legion Stadium.

Murphy's lightheavyweight championship (California) will not be at stake inasmuch as Miller has not yet established residence in the Golden State.

Miller is a rugged, hard-to-handle midwesterner who has been in the ring with many good men, some of whom he has soundly whipped. During 1947 Roy had a splendid year, boxing 14 times and losing but once. The man who whipped him, Eddie O'Neill, was in turn beaten during 1948. It was in 1948 too, that Miller knocked out the high-ranking Artie Towne in seven rounds. He later lost to Towne by decision in 1949.

A good prelim card, featuring some of the finest young prospects in the Southland, is also on tap for Friday at Hollywood. The Semi-final pits Frankie Muche against Bobby Brewer, a six rounder at 139 lbs. Four four round bouts complete the bill.

Arkansas Lions Ready

PINE BLUFF, Arkansas — The Arkansas State Lions experienced a week of bad weather and a muddy field as kick-off time approached for the initial season opening game at Marshall, Texas, September 30, when the Bernard crew take off against Coach E. V. Rettig's Wiley eleven.

CHARLES WORLD CHAMP

Ezzard Charles is the undisputed champion of the world. The N. B. A. champ cinched his claim to the World Championship by decisively trouncing former World Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis in a 15-round slugfest in the Yankee Stadium Wednesday night.

Joe Louis, attempting to come back at the age of 36, carried the fight all the way and had his chance in the tenth round. Charles began to win decisively in the fourteenth round when he came within an ace of knocking Louis out.

There are 21 high school football captains on the 1950 University of Southern California freshman football team.

CALIENTE, OLD MEXICO—Double Regret, the five-year-old daughter of Double Heart—Brabble and second choice in the Mutuels captured the main attraction, name in the Honor of the City of Clemente. Laying close to the Pace set by Pretty Mary at twenty to one shot, the improved mare took over in the stretch and won going away by two lengths paying in the Mutuels $8.00. Foxlester a long shot was second and Club Life third. In the secondary, also named for a sister city called "The Oceanside" Quardoon, a six to one shot nosed out the hot favorite Safrano to pay in the Mutuels $10.40. The formplayers could only get back three choices to the charmed circle. The daily-double payoff on Top Tune, winner of the second race and Toney's Yankee, victor of the third, paid $46.40. Had Yebrom, a first starter, won the third race the daily-double would have paid $2556.40 although he was a fast closing second, three tickets were sold on the combination of Top Tune and Yebron. The quniela pay was 19.60. When Pass All and Battle Oak finished in that order. The $5,000 Public Handicapping contest nearly had a winner, one handicapper got as far as the sixth race, after missin in this race he picked the seventh and final race. The public will have another chance this Sunday to win the Pot of Gold. The consolation prize of $500 was awarded after the last race. First prize was $300, second $200. This Sunday general manager Walter C. Marty announced that a graded handicap for three year olds and upward will be the feature attraction. It will carry an added value of $1,500. Eleven other thrilling and exciting races will support the main event. Caliente will close for five weeks starting during the month of December. Over $200,000 will be spent for improvement at the track, stables and grounds. Managers Walter C. Marty and John Alessio are planning to make Caliente Track second to none.

GEORGE RAMSEY

Provident Hospital Classic Is Tennessee Vs. Wilberforce

Plans for Chicago's 1950 football game with a meaning—the first annual Provident Hospital Football Classic—takes further shape today with the opening of official game headquarters at 417 East 47th St., and the launching of ticket sales at a dozen outlets.

The game will bring together two of the nations top Negro elevens — Tennessee State and Wilberforce—under the arcs at Comiskey Park, Oct. 20. Proceeds will go to the nurses' training school at Provident Hospital, a vital Chicago institution.

Both teams regard the Oct. 20 clash as the biggest on their schedules with the title for the Midwestern Conference probably at stake. Last year Tennessee State won the conference championship with Wilberforce finishing second. In 1948 the teams finished the other way around when Wilberforce took the title ahead of their Tennessee rivals.

Tickets may be purchased by mail or in person at the 47th St. headquarters.

Trojans Open Grid Season This Saturday

College football, the King of American sports, swings into high gear in Southern California this weekend as the SC Trojans unveil their powerful 1950 eleven their second conference foe of and the UCLA Bruins tangle with the yet-young season.

Coach Jeff Cravath's Trojans, picked by many as the team destined to play in the Rose Bowl on January 1st, meets an important intersectional foe in the University of Iowa's experienced and rugged Hawkeyes on Friday night in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Coach Red Sanders' Bruins will be heavily favored to knock over the invading Cougars of Washington State College Saturday afternoon at the Coliseum. Forest Evashevski, in his first year as head man for the Cougars, has installed the colorful "Michigan" single wing and this promises fans that the boys from the North will put on a brilliant offensive show whether they win, lose or draw.

Bulldogs Score Win

HUNTSVILLE, Ala.—The well conditioned Bulldogs of Fisk University defeated Alabama A & M College 12 to 2 in a bruising game before 2000 sunbaked fans Saturday. The Bulldogs showed a rugged defense in scoring their win, offsetting the raggedness of their offensive game.

"If we are to be successful in preserving our natural resources, the sportsman must at all times be on the alert for the individual who threatens these resources, and not hesitate to bring such violations to the attention of proper authorities."—Wilbur Knudson, San Jose Mercury-Herald.

I'm very sorry about it, Yvonne. . . . It has been related by reliable sources that Thresa Matthews and Elverette Stewart are sweeties well, children you may rest assured, it's the truth.

FAUNTLEROY BLASTS RENT INCREASE BY ALAMEDA BOARD

Informed of the rent increase voted by the Alameda County Rent Advisory Board, Reverend

REV. FAUNTLEROY

G. Linwood Fauntleroy, Independent Progressive Party candidate for state senator from this county, commented:

"The recommendation of the board granting 25 per cent rent increases would be ludicrous were it not for the great hardships it will wreak on the lower income families in this area. How will tenants be able to meet this increase with prices rising and the threat of a wage freeze?

"One of the reasons given for the recommendation was that 'many landlords do not understand the procedure whereby they can secure rent adjustments as they are entitled to from the Area Rent Office.' It has been my experience that the vast majority of landlords around here could give the Area Rent Office advice on the ways and means of increasing rents.

"As a Negro I cannot fail to observe the fact that not one Negro serves on the Area Rent Advisory Board. How the governor could so flagrantly err is beyond my understanding. Is this a characteristic reflection of his general policy toward minority groups?

"I call upon the city councils of the East Bay and the Alameda County Board of Supervisors to demand that the Alameda County Rent Advisory Board reconsider its hasty action and hold a public hearing on the whole question of rent increases."

Baha'i World Faith

A new page in history is the subject on which Mr. Donald Witzel will address the public meeting of Baha'i World Faith to be held at Los Angeles headquarters, 331 South New Hampshire Ave., on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 1, at 3:30 o'clock.

The Word of God is revealed today by Baha'u'llah (a Persian name meaning Glory of God). The world religion which he founded is called the Baha'i Faith, and its purpose is none other than the creation of a world civilization. It offers to mankind a rebirth of spiritual life, together with laws and principles adequate to embody that new spirit in a universal, all-embracing World Order.

More than half the people killed in traffic accidents are on foot. A 3000 lb. auto versus a pedestrian yields only one result —DEATH. Drive as if your child lived on every street.

Dr. Bunche Is Product of Los Angeles

Los Angeles has a big stake in the Nobel Peace Prize award made to Dr. Ralph Johnson Bunche this week. Born in Detroit, Dr. Bunche grew up in Los Angeles. He graduated from Jefferson High School, and UCLA, At Jeff he was the valedictorian of the class of 1922.

At UCLA he was rated as a scholar, and he found time to play guard on the basketball team that romped home with three conference titles. His grandmother, Mrs. Lucy Johnson, who became his guardian at the death of his parents, lived at 1221 E. 37th Street.

COPY BOY

Working as a mess boy on coastal steamers, as a janitor, and a newspaper copy boy, Dr. Bunche showed the determination that won him many friends, and some financial aid when it was needed to further his education.

Following his graduation from Harvard University, Dr. Bunche, taught political science at Howard University. He found time in later years to continue his studies in England and South Africa.

the "democracy" imposed on them by the corrupt, bloody regime of Syngman Rhee.

Many of your own correspondents have told the truth about this regime.

Walter Sullivan, correspondent of the N.Y. Times in American-occupied Seoul, last January: "Many Americans are horrified by the deaths by torture and wholesale executions of 'Communists' . . . A few weeks earlier the National Assembly had raised a hue and cry over the number of prominent people who were dying under police and army torture. . . .

Escaped and recaptured prisoners allegedly were shot on the doorsteps of various citizens and left there as an object lesson.

"Wholesale arrests have coused the jails to overflow . . . The South Korean regime leans heavily on the leadership—even in the army and the police—of those who held positions of rank under the Japanese."

Even greater massacres have since been carried on from the air.

Your papers have often reported hundreds of tons of bombs being dropped by radar through heavy clouds and rain, or from great heights. This means that it was impossible to choose military targets. In Seoul, for instance, in a part of the town with no factories or other military objectives, but only flimsy houses of wood and glass, three raids caused 1,300 deaths.

This is only a small part of the grim story. Peasants are strafed working in the fields. Dozens of villages have been burned to the ground because they were "suspected of harboring guerillas" Wholesale massacres have been carried on by the retreating troops.

The columnist Walter Lippman predicts even worse horrors.

"There will be the terrible inescapable fact that in order to reoccupy South Korea to the 38th parallel we shall have to destroy by air bombardment all of the principal cities and the main public utilities and industries of North and South Korea." (N.Y. Herald Tribune, July 31) And he admits that "we shall find the mass of the people regarding us as foreign invaders."

The London Times reports that in India the resentment of the public against the United States is growing as the Korean war every day brings more news about bombed cities and burning villages. In England the anti-Communist member of Parliament Richard Crossman wrote in the Sunday Pictorial: "It is surely insane for the American army to be the first to start indiscriminate bombing in Korea, if we want to convince the Koreans and the rest of Asia that Western Civilization is superior to Communism."

MOTHERS OF AMERICA! You did not raise your sons to die for corrupt hated governments in far-off countries! No mother on earth wants her son to be turned into an assassin of women and children!

You owe it to your families, to your country and to the people of the world to act, to act now, before it is too late.

For out of Korea a terrible atomic war is looming from which no one can expect to escape.

In another war, you too would suffer, as we have; your homes would be destroyed and your families buried under the ruins. Another war would not be just a war in the headlines for you; it would be a dreadful reality from which you would pay with your blood.

But we can stop it. There is still time.

Demand, as we have, the withdrawal of the U.S. troops from Korea, and the end of mass bombing.

Insist on the peaceful settlement of the war by the full Security Council.

Demand the outlawing of the atom bomb. Sign the Stockholm Appeal!

We know that you, the women of America, love peace as we do. If we are united, if we act, we will win it. Let us not repeat the horrors of the past! Let us unite and go foreward to a new, beautiful world of peace and plenty, of freedom and equality for all! The future is in our hands. The great responsibility is ours.

ency. A delegation made up of persons who secure the greatest public expression for Wells, will go to San Quentin to visit the man who has spent most of his life since he was 18 behind prison walls, and who is condemned to death for throwing a cuspidor at a prison guard who was torturing him.

ONE-SIDED

Officials of the Civil Rights Congress, which organization is spearheading the fight to save Well's life, pointed out this week that the law under which Wells has been condemned to death has only been used seven times. Each time it was used, it has been applied against Negroes and Mexicans. It has never been used against a white prisoner.

National Confab to Defend Bill of Rights Scheduled

More than 125 prominent Americans—among them Bishop Cameron C. Alleyne, Prof. J. Frank Dobie, Prof. Georgia Harkness, E. Haldeman-Julius, Dr. Thomas Mann, Rt. Rev. Walter Mitchell, Rt. Rev. Arthur W. Moulton, Rt. Rev. Edward L. Parsons, Mrs. Ernest Thompson Seton, Prof. P. A. Sorokin—have sponsored a National Confeernce to Defend the Bill of Rights, to be held in New York City, on December 2 and 3, 1950, it was announced today by Rev. John W. Darr, Jr., shairman of the Board of Directors of the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born.

"The current attack on foreign born Americans," stated Rev. Darr, "endangers the liberties of all Americans. It is essential that the American people be made aware of these dangers and mobilized in defense of the Bill of Rights. For this reason we are calling a National Conference to Defend the Bill of Rights and invite all organizations and individuals to participate who wish to join us in the formulation of a program of action."

Special NAACP Committee Gets Wide Support

Grateful appreciation to the Los Angeles Community for support in its first project to aid the NAACP was expressed this week by the organization's Special Activities Committee.

More than three hundred persons attended the Harvest Frolic which was given at Mrs. Montgomery's residence. High spot of the evening was announcement of the lucky recipient of a five-skin Kolinsky Scarf from Spellman's Fur Co., a give away item which went to Geraldine Harvey, 1259 East Adams Blvd.

The money raised at all of the Committee's affairs go toward financing the local office of the NAACP, with the specific purpose of providing funds for the employment of a full time executive secretary. Persons interested in working with this volunteer group are invited to call Mrs. Montgomery, Century 2-3228 or write her at 443 East 49th Street for information.

Housing for more than 215,000 persons will be provided by privately financed residential construction for which permits were issued in Los Angeles county during the first eight months of this year, the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce reported last week.

"The House of Bargains"

Exposition to Display Latest 1951 Products

The combined Electrical and Modern Living Show slated Oct. 20-29 at the Pan-Pacific has been selected as the showcase for many 1951 models by a large number of manufacturers, officials disclosed today.

Production lines were changed over several months ago and warehouses are bulging with new television, radio, electrical, communication and allied items. With virtually every major manufacturer and distributor represented at the lavish show, patrons will thus be afforded the opportunity of seeing what's new for 1951 in one fell swoop.

For entertainment, sponsors will present the entire Edgar Bergen-Charlie McCarthy comedy show, including Ray Noble's orchestra; Songstress Anita Gordon; and Pat (Ercil Twing) Patrick. The program is billed twice daily during the 10-day exposition.

Cpl. Scott Is Reporter for Korean War

WITH THE U. S. SECOND INFANTRY DIVISION IN KOREA—Cpl. Melvin J. Scott, 20, member of the Second Division Public Information Office, has the job of reporting the Korean war through the eyes of the men who fight it.

Scott's primary duty is to work as news reporter among the men of the line units, and the men behind the lines, giving individual coverage for their home town papers.

He is the brother of Renaldo C. Scott Yerwood, 1109 E. Terrel Ave., and Jacqueline C. Scott Page, 1107 E. Terrel Ave., Fort Worth, Texas. Another sister, Mrs. Madelyne L. Anderson, lives at 1212 E. 15th Street, Los Angeles, California.

Tot Ride Fees To Help Build Orphan's Home

For every ride taken by a tiny tot on one of the famous Nu-Pike concessions in Long Beach the week of October 2 through 8, Los Angeles orphans will be one step closer to a desperately needed new home.

The dates have been set aside for a giant Orphans benefit sponsored by the Greater Los Angeles Press Club to aid the $750,000 building fund of the Orphanage.

The present structure, now 60 years old, has been declared untenable and must be destroyed.

The greatest number of traffic accidents happen on Friday, between 5 p.m. and 6 p.m. But don't be fooled by statistics—you can kill yourself any time.

POLICE BEATING INVESTIGATION PROMISED

Delegation Asks Chief for Action on 'Kidnapping' Rap

SANTA MONICA—A representative of the Santa Monica chief of police reluctantly promised to investigate complaints that four Negroes being held for an alleged kidnapping (despite the assertion of the alleged victim that she entered a car driven by one of them of her own volition) were brutally beaten by police as charged.

A delegation of 13 Negro and white citizens called on the chief of police Tuesday and was met by Lt. Guggenmass. The delegation was led by Mrs. Lona Wells, Mrs. Maybelle Washington, and Isaac Liggins, father of one of the imprisoned youths.

His Best Friends

Lt. Guggenmass, asserting that he had commanded Negro troops in World War II, told the delegation: "Some of my best friends are Negroes." He said that in his 10 years on the force he had never heard of a case of police brutality. He was reminded by one of the delegation of a case and he showed familiarity with it.

Guggenmaas asked the delegation if any of the men held had criminal records, and when he was told that this would not have anything to do with the beatings administered by the police, he became angry. At one point, the lieutenant suggested the matter be taken up with the city council, but he hastily withdrew this suggestion when the delegation showed an inclination to accept it.

Guggenmass sought to dismiss all of the delegation except Isaac Liggins. Rebuffed, he insisted that the beaten men would have to sign sworn statements. He later angrily chased the delegation from his office, shouting that he would launch an investigation.

The four imprisoned men, Isiah Liggins, Robert Clark, Walter Carrire and Tommy Washington, will come up for a pre-trial hearing scheduled for October 9. Atty. Richard Rykoff of the Civil Rights Congress, defending the youths, plans to seek a dismissal of the kidnapping charges on the grounds that the alleged victim has testified that she was not kidnapped. Superior Court Judge Harry Borde will preside over the hearing.

The four youths were arrested last Auugst 26 as they were driving Hanley Green, white, who was drunk, home in his station wagon. Green had accosted the four and asked them to drive him home. On the way they encountered a car in which two men and a woman were riding. The car was behaving erratically and the driver of Green's station wagon pulled to the curb. The other car pulled up also, and the passengers got out. The two men were in a belligerent mood, and their woman companion asked the four men to drive her home. She said her companions were drunk and she was afraid to ride with them. She was identiifed as Miss Irene Dickerson.

The youths were taking Miss Dickerson home when they ran through a stop signal. A police car stopped them and while one of the policemen was lecturing the driver, a kidnapping call came over the police car radio. It developed that a Melvin Cox, who was with Miss Dickerson in the other car, had made a kidnap report.

At a preliminary hearing, Miss Dickerson testified that she had entered the station wagon of her own free will. The station wagon owner, Green, appeared at the hearing with an attorney and he was permitted to go home. The four Negro men were held in $2500 bail on kidnapping charges which Miss Dickerson's testimony has already refuted.

Charge Howard U Violates Act Of Congress In Wage Dispute

Howard University employees notified President Mordecai Johnson this week that the university is violating an Act of Congress by failing to pay the workers their full salaries.

In a letter to President Johnson from their union, the United Public Workers of America, the employees stated that although there is a law granting them a wage increase of $430 per year they were forced to wait almost one year for the 1949-50 increase and to date they have not received the increase since July.

The employees are seeking to have the increase paid on their regular semi-monthly pay checks. Federal workers who were granted the same increase in 1948 have been receiving the increase on their regular pay checks since that date.

The union stated that the misery caused by the university's failure to pay the workers their wage increase left them no alternative but to seek enforcement of the law by the federal government and Congress.

Thomas Richardson, chairman of the Anti-Discrimination Committee of the United Public Workers, stated that "the shameful condition of work and pay at Howard University are a disgrace to all supporters of Howard University, and will be taken up at once with all candidates for Congress by local United Public Worker anti-discrimination committees in key sections of the country."

By C.A.B.

A few days ago when I returned from Europe, as the big trans-Atlantic Constellation (TWA) flew over New York, I looked down on towering shipyards and packing houses, skyscrapers, great smokestacks on factories from which curls of black and white smoke gushed and unraveled, forming a screen between sky ceiling and the great human mass beneath.

My first thought was, what a great country this is! God and nature have united in a symphony playing a tune to regulate human relationships. Man's responsibility, it occurred to me, was to keep in step with the tune.

But the plane had to land. And, too, my thoughts. It was LaGuardia Field. And we were out of the clouds, treading hard pavements of that city called New York. First, through the exclusive section where fine ladies sleep late into the morning to throw off the effects of champagne and caviar parties they attended the night before with their Wall Street banker husbands.

But in order to reach our destination we had to cut across the factory and slum sections. Men with care-worn faces, carrying dinner pails, were wending their way to the factories we had viewed from above, and small children with unwashed faces crept out from rubbish-strewn alleys, waiting to devour half-decayed fruits that fall from the hucksters' wagons.

Yes, this is America. The United States of America. In it we have riches and rags. A division which is not necessary. We can have a whole, one nation, indivisible, with one people.

When a citizen looks objectively at this American scene, it provokes this question: Which shall we have, peace or ruin? Convinced that the present picture is not the trend that leads the way to peace, he ventures to prescribe remedies.

First, grant our factory workers an interest, a share in the things they produce, and a voice in government.

An educational system that guarantees equal facilities and opportunities to all classes, races, and colors, that make up the American people.

Let Russia, China, and Korea take care of their own affairs.

In my recent visit to Europe, I heard people in Russia, Czechoslovakia and France say the United States is a great nation with a good people and great wealth. And it should stay home, deevlop its own resources, and establish peace among its own people.

Man Accused In Store Theft Exonerated After Court Trial

Herbert W. Sykes, 3564 South Normandie Avenue, was found "not guilty" by Superior Court Judge, Otto Emme of the crime of petty theft. Sykes had been arrested upon the complaint of James Shopshire, owner of the baby store located at 3022 South Western Avenue.

He was accused of taking 12 sheets, and dumping them outside of the window on the ground. However, upon the testimony of his girl friend, Edna Bonner, it was brought out that she and Sykes had gone to the store to buy her little baby a sun suit; and that they had shopped and then left.

During all of the time that they were in the store, the owner had said nothing to them concerning any theft, but had talked with them about making purchases.

Two hours later, while shopping for groceries at Jefferson and Denker, Sykes was arrested in the company of his girl friend and her baby. He had been in custody since July 25th, and had been represented by the Public Defender until about 10 days ago when he contacted Attorney Rayfield Lundy, and asked him to handle the case.

Sykes' aged mother was in court and wept tearfully when her son was found "not guilty."

Negro History Convention to Meet in Atlanta Next Month

ATLANTA, Ga. "We expect this convention to be the best attended that we have ever held," declared Dr. L. D. Reddick and Professor C. A. Bacote in commenting on the plans that their Committee on Arrangements have made for the annual meeting of the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History that will take place in Atlanta, October 27-29.

This may be the most critical meeting that the Association has called since its founding thirty-five years ago, for this is the first meeting since the death of the Founder and Director, Dr. Carter G. Woodson.

The late Dr. Woodson personally guided so much of the research and educational activity of the organization that it will be necessary at the forthcoming assembly to refashion the body's entire structure in order to keep it going and meet the increasing demands for its services.

There is much talk of "clearing out old timber" and "injecting new blood" into the governing board. A large number of members and friends of the Negro History movement, from all parts of the nation, are expected to be on hand to insure the future of this work.

No Indictment For Attack On Negro Girl

NEW YORK, N. Y.—While Gov. Fielding Wright and other Mississippi officials were insisting last July that Willie McGee, Negro father of four children had to die for alleged rape of a middle-aged white woman, "a brutal rape of a young Negro girl by two white men took place near Magee, Mississippi, without the indictment of the rapists," the Civil Rights Congress has learned.

"The rapists are Bruett Hernby and a man whose surname is Sykes," the Civil Rights Congress reported. "They were arrested by Sheriff Sam Johnson of Simpson County, but were released on bond."

McGee, who was granted a last-minute stay of execution by Supreme Court Justice Harold Burton following a world-wide campaign of protest, is still facing death. A hearing is expected to be held in October to determine whether the Supreme Court will agree to review his case.

Following the stay of execution, McGee was threatened by a lynch mob while he was being transferred from Laurel to Jackson. Since then, his wife and mother have been refused permission to see him by Hinds County Jail officials.

"The Negro girl who was raped," the CRC reported, "is Hazzie L. Durr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sousa Durr, tenant farmers on Marvin Berry's farm."

● Denied Baby

According to Mrs. Rambo, Dr. Kolodny had reserved a bed for her in a semi-private room. However, she charges, when her baby was born, she was sent to the sixth floor of the hospital and put in a private room. Her baby was sent to the fifth floor.

WRONG FLOOR

When she sought to nurse her baby, Mrs. Rambo avers, she was told she could not do so because she was not on a maternity floor. She demanded that she be removed to the maternity floor and that she be placed in a semi-private room. She was told there were no rooms available on the maternity floor, and that the hospital did not reserve rooms for expected patients.

In response to Mrs. Rambo's complaints, a Nun came to her room. "Is your husband colored?" the nun asked. When Mrs. Rambo said he was the nun responded, "That's why you can't go in a semi-private room."

Another nun, Mrs. Rambo reports, refused to consider her request that she be moved to another floor so that she could nurse her baby. In reply to Mrs. Rambo's request the nun said "I'll put you where I want to."

FINALLY MOVED

Distraught and hysterical, Mrs. Rambo called the Mother Superior by using the phone in her room. Following this call, she was transferred to the fourth floor. Here she was given a semi-private room which she shared with a Negro woman who was moved from another room. This room had been vacant during the time Mrs. Rambo sought semi-private accomodations which she felt she could afford. She said she was told by a nurse that there were five vacancies on the fifth floor.

Because of the mental anguish, Mrs. Rambo suffered chills and fever and experienced difficulty with her milk. She was so upset, her husband took her home after three days. She is under the care of a physician at her home.

Mrs. Rambo says a priest told her: "Hospitals cost a fortune to keep up and we can't afford to lose our white patients. We can't take a chance by having a white mother shocked."

"What about me?," Mrs. Rambo says she asked him.

"Oh! you'll forget it," he reportedly replied.

The firm of Maddox and Goodwin has been retained by Mr. and Mrs. Rambo to sue for breach of contract, and for discrimination, suffering and mental and physical anguish.

NO DISCRIMINATION

Dr. Kolodny, Mrs. Rambo says, told her that he had cared for thousands of patients, and he had never known of any segregation or discrimination. The sister of the Negro woman who was moved into the private room with Mrs. Rambo told her (Mrs. Rambo) that her sister was moved out as soon as Mrs. Rambo went home.

Johnson Named IPP Candidate In 63rd A. D.

The County Central Committee of the Independent Progressive Party has announced the candidacy of Leo (Jimmy) Johnson, Negro businessman, for State Assemblyman, 63rd Assembly District.

In agreeing to make the race, Mr. Johnson stated that he was motivated primarily by his feeling that the voters of the 63rd Assembly District must have the opportunity to vote for a candidate who opposes the rampant garrison state policies of the Republican and Democratic parties.

This would not be the case, he said, if encumbent Assemblyman G. Delbert Morris were to be unopposed in November.

In addition, he continued, through the medium of his candidacy, the Negro and other minority group voters of the district will be able to express their opposition to continuing widespread discrimination in employment and in housing, and protest the failure of both the federal and state governments to enact fair employment and other civil right legislation.

Mr. Johnson operates a cleaning and dying establishment on West Jefferson Blvd., and lives on W. 35th Pl. He grew up in New Orleans and was an active member of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers union there. More recently he worked as a railroad dining car waiter. He has lived in the 63rd Assembly District for the past five years.

Registration Ordinances Hit In Plea for Repeal Support

The Board of Directors of the Los Angeles Civil Rights Congress at its quarterly board meeting last week condemned the Communist registration ordinances passed by the Board of Supervisors and the City Council as clearly violating the United States Constitution and called on its members to support any action toward repealing the acts.

"The Los Angeles police state ordinances are part of a developing pattern of fascism," the Board statement said in part. "Nobody seriously believes that they are aimed only at Communists. The ordinance itself asserts that "Within the meaning of this ordinance 'organization' means any association, body, society, corporation, or group of two or more persons permanently or temporarily associated together for the purpose of joint or concerted action of any nature."

"Nor is there any limit in the definition of who comes under its provisions. Section 4-a ordains that within the meaning of this ordinance all must register whose behavior shows that they "consistently act or (make) public expressions evidencing cooperation with an efforts to carry into execution the programs, policies or objectives of any foreign communist organization, or the world communist movement."

Post Office Employees Spark Campaign for New Hospital

More than 8,000 employees of the Los Angeles Post Office will start the ball rolling tomorrow (Friday) in an all-out effort to raise $40,000 toward completion of St. Augustine-West View Hospital.

Postmaster Michael D. Fanning, president of the hospital's board of directors, said he is issuing a personal call to all employees to support the campaign through a weekly subscription plan.

"We must raise $650,000 by November 26," Fanning said, "if we are to qualify for a Federal contribution of $357,500. I am proud of the Los Angeles Postal employees who have pledged $40,000 toward this goal."

Ready

Jesse Robinson, chairman of the Post Office drive, reported his committees are ready to swing into action immediately following the Postmaster's appeal. Elweis P. Lacey and Eugene S. Pickett are serving as co-chairmen for Terminal Annex employees. Earl F. Crozier is representing branch stations and carriers.

The Post Office, Robinson pointed out, is the largest interracial organization in Los Angeles. "It is fitting," he said, "that its 3,000 Negro employees join 5,000 white employees in a campaign to build the city's first non-profit, non-sectarian, interracial hospital."

Property for St. Augustine-West View Hospital has already been purchased and foundations have been laid at 5334 South Main Street. Franciscan Sisters, who operate Queen of Angels Hospital, have volunteered their services for the operation of this new hospital.

YOUTH PROGRAM

Youth will not be denied at the 28th Street Branch YMCA at least.

The boys are being organized into Gra-Y, Junior Hi-Y and Hi-Y Clubs. Schedules of club meeting are taking shape. The Wednesday swim of Central Avenue school boys is swinging in high. Mrs. Corinne Ashby of Carver Junior High School begins the Thursday meetings of the Carver Splash Club this week. Walter Hutcherson and his prospective life guards have set class meetings for Saturdays in the pool.

Golden West Real Estate Board Holds Meeting At Wilfandel

The regular meeting of the Golden West Real Estate Board was held at the Wilfandel Club on last Wednesday evening. Clarence O. English, vice president, presided due to the illness of the president, Mrs. Emily Johnson. After the regular business session, program chairman, Allen Wodard III, who has brought some very fine speakers to the Board, was in charge.

The Golden West Real Estate Board is always ready to lend a helping hand to any worthy cause and has contributed to the YMCA, the Outdoor Life and Health and the NAACP. It is justly proud of its part in the fight to lift restricted covenants. Under the guidance of the president, Mrs. Emily Johnson, the organization is constantly striving for the betterment of the community as witnessed by the successful Home Show presented at the Elks this summer.

Speaker for the evening was Clarence O. English who discussed "Trends in Real Estate" very effectively. A very interesting round table discussion followed his talk.

Chaplain C. R. Ransom was honored on the "Sweet and Low" radio show over KGFJ recently and a record of this tribute was heard. Members congratulated Mr. Ransom on receiving this honor of which he is so deserving. Mrs. Elnora Beaton was guest of the evening. New member introduced to the group was Mrs. Ethel Holt. Host and hostess for the evening were Mr. Earl Bufford and Mrs. Emma Morris.

MATTHEWS FOR MAYOR

Al Matthews, prominent Los Angeles attorney and former public defender announced his candidacy for the office of Mayor of the City of Los Angeles. He said that after he is elected there will be a complete reorganization of the city government starting with the Police Department.

Warn Against Fake Salvage Collectors

The need for extreme care in making donations of clothing and other merchandise to soliciting organizations is strongly emphasized by the Los Angeles City Department of Social Service.

According to Evelyn Spaulding, general manager of the department, numerous unauthorized groups are picking up salvage materials by misrepresenting their connection with charitable agencies. Some are soliciting for their own benefit only, pocketing the proceeds of their loads of secondhand merchandise, and others are using a fictitious religious appeal with the pretense that the funds from sales are to be devoted to church or missionary causes.

The department is recommending that persons solicited note carefully the name on the pick-up truck or, if no name is shown, to jot down the license number, and to insist upon identification of the solicitor.

The trucks of legitimate agencies are plainly marked and easily identified so that it is not difficult to make sure that donated materials will find their way to honest charitable enterprises.

Because of the sad experience of a number of donors, the department is issuing a warning that solicitors SHOULD NOT BE ALLOWED to pick up merchandise unattended—particularly in cleaning out a garage—as various persons have reported the loss of valuable articles not intended to be given away.

EDITORIALS

Editor's Statement

The editor of the EAGLE is glad to announce, after a seven weeks' sojourn in Europe, she has returned to her desk.

Experiences and contacts with peoples in other parts of the world, she feels, have broadened her scope, awakened a new understanding on international affairs, and heightened a desire to join the great crusade in the homeland, of those who seek to bring about the necessary reforms in our government, anent our boasted American way of life.

And to such a cause she dedicates her life and work.

We Must Meet The Challenge

Some people we have served over a long stretch of years sent a message to Paris, France, while we were there feeling the political pulse of the Parisians, asking that we become their candidate for Congress in the 14th Congressional District.

If the request had been a face-to-face matter the answer might have been different.

But having great faith in the little plain people from whom the request came, the answer was, "I will."

Now to you Nicodemuses who have come to us by day and night with your domestic, police, and legal problems, we ask frankly for your support in this Congressional race. And we pledge that if elected our every effort will be an honest endeavor to serve the needs of our people in the Congress.

We shall first pledge our support for the establishment of the peace.

We will not be mealy-mouthed on our stand on the repeal of the McCarran-Wood bill.

We know that its part in our governmental affairs is nothing less than infringement on American people's freedom of speech.

We shall not hesitate to call upon the people to ferret out the misleaders among us. Those who sell us to the highest political bidder.

We have reached a new landmark in our American life. An old milestone is behind us. We face a stop sign. We must do or die, meaning if we hope to survive we must sincerely face the issues of corrupt political greed piled up before us and blocking the road to peace.

Will we meet the challenge?

High Cost of Killing

Pity the poor Defense Dept.! The high cost of killing has shocked armed forces leaders, almost as much as the high cost of living has shocked housewives and their families.

In a Washington dispatch Aug. 28, Rob't S. Allen revealed that Pentagon chiefs are "gravely concerned" and Congressional leaders have been "stunned" at the rising cost of armaments.

A light tank which cost $27,000 in 1944 costs $225,000 now. A B-17 bomber cost $300,000 in 1942; today, a B-36 costs $5,000,000. A navy destroyer which cost $7,000,000 six years ago costs $45,000,000 today. In 1944, it cost only $30 million to equip an armored division. Today, the cost is $225,000,000.

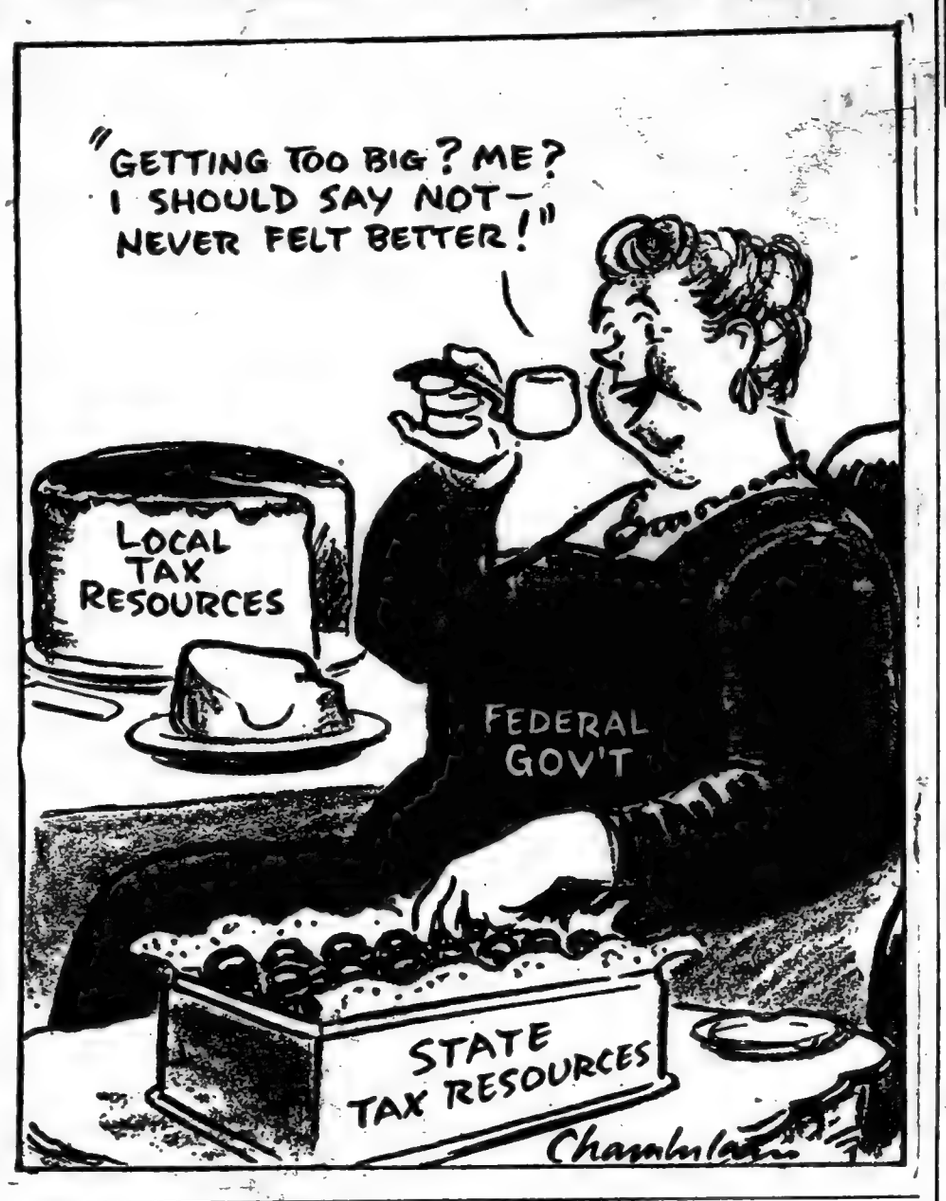
Attacking these "run-away" prices, Allen quoted Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas as declaring:

"Something is wrong and it has to be corrected before it gets out of hand."

Housewives concerned with the cost of bread, not bombers, said the same thing.

—From "IN FACT,"
Sept. 18, 1950

Following along the same line of making profits out of war, are those doctors who are making fortunes taking X-ray photos of G.I.'s. One doctor in Omaha, Nebraska, you remember, is making about $10,000 a month at that job. His name is Dr. Roy W. Fouts. Another "patiotic" physician, Dr. Irving Cowan, of Milwaukee, .. Wisconsin, .. averaged $1125 daily during the month of August.



The Congressman from Omaha, Representative Eugene D. O'Sullivan, reported the affair and it is now on the pages of the Congressional Record.

'Dr. Fouts," he said, "is a most reactionary Republican and was the big bellwether of the American Medical Association in preventing the consideration and passage of the National Compulsory Health Insurance Bill, which in addition to providing for compulsory health insurance on a national scale, also contained chapters relating to the education and training of additional doctors, aid to medical schools and hospitals and other most necessary and important legislation in the light of what is right now happening today."

Congressman O'Sullivan mentioned other physicians who were charging only 10c per X-ray negative, and some who were serving without pay as a patriotic duty.

But justifying his $5 per picture charge, Dr. Fouts said, "War is an expensive business."

AND NOW MORE FROM THE WORKER'S POCKETS

The Ralph Bunche of Asia

Pandit Nehru, Prime Minister of India, may well become the Ralph Bunche of the troubled continent of Asia, to bring peace to the peoples there as Ralph Bunche did between the quarreling Arabs and Israeli.

He has asked that the United Nations recognize the People's Republic of China, as India herself has done, and to grant the Republic of China the seat in the United Nations, now occupied by the defunct government of Chiang Kai-Shek, whose only claim to China at all is the island of Formosa about 200 miles from the mainland.

"We recognized it (China) for a variety of reasons," said Nehru, in a debate in the Indian Parliament last August, "the main reason being the fact that a sound, stable, enduring government existed over the whole of continental China. It was none of our business to like or dislike it. . . . Having recognized it, it seemed to us not only illogical but exceedingly unreasonable not to accept the consequences of that recognition, which were that the new China should function in the UN.

"Having recognized the People's Government, it followed obviously that we should not recognize the predecessor government in China which had ceased to exist, at any rate on the mainland. Non-recognition of a patent fact did not mean that the fact did not exist. It was there. Ignoring it did not make it vanish. It merely created difficulties and the difficulties came."

"I do not know," continued the Prime Minister, referring to those difficulties, "what might have happened if the UN had admitted China at any early stage this year, but I am inclined to think many of the subsequent dangerous developments, including the Korean development, might well not have taken place . . . The UN was never intended to be a group of nations thinking one way and excluding other nations which did not fit in with that way of thinking."

Hindsight is always better than foresight. But surely we must have learned some lessons from our bitter experience in Korea. We surely know, at least, that we have very, very few friends in Asia. Pandit Nehru has come forward with a peace proposal, the main theme of which is to deal justly with the peoples of the Orient, including those of Korea and to be certain to place human rights above property rights.

If we are not too stubborn—and that includes not only the U.S., but also those nations that are virtually fawning upon the U.S. because of its wealth—then we shall humbly consider those proposals of Pandit Nehru. We may not agree with everything, but if we are sincere in our protestations for peace, we shall agree with the essentials. And as Ralph Bunche brought peace to Palestine and averted the threat of another world war, so may Pandit Nehru bring peace to Asia and avert the threat of war that hangs ever more ominously on the horizon.

RAPHAEL KONIGSBERG

THE GANGSTERS, INCORPORATED

As a citizen and taxpayer I want to suggest to our law enforcement authorities that they are spending too much of their time and our money on the small fry. They should be using the power and resources we have entrusted to them to apprehend and imprison those who are the greater menace to the peace of our communities.

This does not mean that the Dillingers and Capones should be allowed to operate freely. But it does mean that our authorities must develop a sense of proportion, of relative values. We must help them learn to spend more of their time doing those things which help the people most—such as putting out of action those criminals who are the greater threat to our safety; who are really disturbing the peace.

After all, is there any comparison between the sums stolen by the James and Dalton Boys, for example, and the billions which have been stolen from the American people by the Congressional gang which gave them to Chiang-Kai Shek? Or between the victims of all the murders in U. S. history and the numbers of our soldiers killed in foreign lands for the profit and power of the gangs who've controlled our government?.

Measure all the blood and tears, all the broken homes and ruined lives, even the property losses, which have been caused by the crimes listed in our police records—and it is a cinch bet that they will not equal even a percentage of a fraction of the destruction of cities, lives and dreams caused by the criminals in public and corporation offices who have:

- Shot down innocent people because of their skin color.
- Denied our wives and children even half of the glorified "American standard of living."
- Exploited working men and women and children at low wages,
- Turned troops on strikers,
- Prejudiced neighbor against neighbor because of color or creed,
- Refused adequate housing for American families, Stolen our civil rights and jailed us for protesting,
- Made war to save their profits and political power.

Was there ever a robber chieftain who urged the cold-blooded slaughter of millions of people—as do the American leaders who want to drop atom bombs over the world? Was there ever one so hypocritical as our cultured Secretary of State who said that any American favoring outlawing the atom bomb was a Communist? Was there ever one so amoral as our Secretary of the Navy who recommended that the United States be willing "to pay any price, even the instituting of a war, to compel cooperation for peace."

No Comparison

Not all the criminal gangs in American history put together were as great a danger to our country's welfare as are the generals who today urge that American youth be trained as "killers." No thieves were ever so corrupt as the Hoovers and Harrimans who say that to preserve the "American way of life" we must choose guns instead of butter—who spend millions in poison gases and not a dollar for a cancer cure.

None of the murders have been so sinful as a Dulles who uses religion to champion the anti-Christ. None such a threat to our security as a U. S. Attorney-General who denies us the right to bail and tells brother to spy on brother.

The preoccupation of our law enforcement officials (and the press, radio and movies) with the lesser crimes of the admitted gangsters—while they ignore and hide the greater crimes—is, of course, no accident. For one thing, by filling the newspaper and the air with stories of the petty criminals, they hope to keep our attention diverted from the plots and doings of the bigger criminals. For another, public officials, civic leaders, and press and movie owners have been known to be in league with the organized criminals.

The Dillingers and Capones—while rarely Robin Hoods—at least have not claimed to be anything but what they were: men trying to make their pile under the rule of "I'll get mine and to hell with the other guy"—which rules our country. They got theirs, perhaps a little more crudely than various corporation executives and politicians—but never at such a cost to society. Never did they pose as the moral leaders and rightful rulers of our land. They weren't hypocrites.

As we compare the deeds and motivations of the crooks and cutthroats with the crimes of the powerful men who have ruled our land, who consider themselves the respectable leaders of our society, are we not forced to ask—realizing that both groups are creatures of a degenerate society: Who are the greater menace to our community?

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Dear Charlotta Bass:

Your thrilling reports of the meeting held in Prague by the World Committee of the Defenders of Peace and published in the CALIFORNIA EAGLE have been eagerly read by your friends and subscribers all over this land. Your comparison of the scene in the conference room with delegates gathered around world-famous scientist F. Joliet-Curie to the picture which has been given to us of the Last Supper with Jesus and His twelve disciples indicates your ready sympathy and understanding of the things about which the Great Teacher was concerned. I cannot imagine His consent to substituting "Blessed are the bomb-droppers," for "Blessed are the peace makers." It is with this in mind that THE PROTESTANT magazine calls for a War or Peace Plebiscite.

I have just returned from a trip covering several hundred miles. Everywhere I found resentment against Pax Trumania mounting, especially among parents and relatives of teen-age boys whose lives are being sacrifeced thousands of miles from home in a vain effort to protect the investments of a few rich and powerful men. There are many ways of learning about those investments, and that is just what a great many people have done. Too many for the comfort of the exploiters.

Is it really "subversive" to talk about "sending the rich empty away?" It does look as if the though-controllers here had overlooked one of the most "danger-

LABOR ON THE MARCH

EXCLUSIVE AND RESTRICTED

Two spontaneous actions, in remote sections of the city, are serving to highlight the weaknesses in our home front mobilization during this period of war, near-war and impending war. Two groups of minority American citizens, the forgotten men of our democracy, are 'engaged in a campaign to wipe out restrictions in veterans' housing developments.

John M. Lee

Mexican-Americans, tired of the ghettoes to which they have been assigned, have tried to buy modestly-priced homes in some of the developments that are made possible by local and federal government subsidies, but they have been rebuffed because the bigotry of white supremacy is stronger in our community than decency and democratic Americanism.

In the Southeast area, a dozen Negro veterans have organized to fight against the solid wall of color prohibition that has been erected against them in a new housing development. There is no connection between the two protest movements. No individual or organization can be accused of going among Mexican-American and Negro veterans and stirring up a subversive campaign on a phony issue.

What is happening to these minority American citizens is real enough, and the subversion is readily seen in the jimcrow philosophy of those responsible for the restrictions imposed against Negroes and Mexican-Americans.

Those who are protesting are doing so because they are good Americans who bitterly resent being treated like something less. Patriots who vociferously announce their loyalty, and swear to lofty oaths in order to assert and substantiate their high Americanism, would do well to join in the crusade against housing restrictions.

The exclusive and restricted Americanism that has divided this nation on the basis of race and color, is an essential part of the lynch-law, lynch-justice philosophy that makes democracy a strange and paradoxical thing. No honest citizen can pledge his loyalty to this part of America.

And no honest citizen should want to do so, for it is being proven daily that we cannot deprive others of their rights and freedom without giving up much of our own. So long as there are ghettoes and slums, and "gentleman's agreements" to restrict certain sections of the population to them, we must remain content with the "for whites only" type of democracy we have in this country.

Perhaps those who protest against their second-class citizenship status can be frightened and intimidated by clubs and laws and the threat of jail, and it may be possible to silence them with a stretch in a concentration camp, but this kind of totalitarian treatment won't do a thing to advance the cause of democracy.

Certainly the citizenship of any man in this country should carry with it the right to buy a home where he can decently and comfortably house his family. He should not have to feel that because his skin is not white, he can only live in the blighted and cast-off shacks that are abandoned by privileged whites.

The government, which is able to lop off the civil liberties of the people by whipping up a frenzy of patriotism against an enemy across the ocean, ought to find it possible to do something about the enemy here at home. We know who that enemy is. We see him daily in the jimcrowed capital of Washington, and we watch him in the Senate and the House of Representatives as he fights off every attempt to advance the Negro and other minority people to full citizenship satus.

No foreign enemy could want a better collection of agents than can be found in the camps of the white supremacists. The whole world knows that keeping the Negro people in a semi-bondage is a principle American preoccupation. The whole world knows that the sixteen million American Negroes are segregated and maltreated while our diplomats seek to woo international alliances with democracy as the lure.

This is neither the day nor the hour for exclusive and restricted democracy. The strength of America is in the people, and that means all of us together. We cannot afford the luxury of stupid racial restrictions. We've got controls on wages and prices, and it's time to put controls on the madness of white supremacy.

Around the World

FROM THE SOUTH

DANVILLE, Va.—At the recent national convention of the Textile Workers Union of America, a compelling argument for civil rights came from a delegate, Howard Robinson of Danville, Virginia, who told the convention he was born in a county where Negroes were barred and was raised "to hate colored people."

"In 1944," Robinson continued, "I was drafted into the army. I went to Europe. I spent 15 months there. I was in three major combats. I fought side by side with these colored people. I ate by them. I slept by them. I spent 30 days in the hospital next to colored people and found out they're good.

"They have a soul. They're as good as I am or anyone. The only thing they've got to have is equal rights. They should have the freedom to live as Americans."

LIFT "NO WAY OUT" BAN

CHICAGO—Nelson M. Willis, president of the Chicago branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, wired NAACP Executive Secretary Walter White that the police censor ban on the film "No Way Out" in that city has been lifted after protest by the NAACP.

Willis informed White that the branch had about 150 persons attend two private showings of the film, holding a meeting afterward to plan action. Marshall Field, publisher of the Chicago Sun-Times, was in the audience. After the meeting the Sun-Times carried an editorial backing the NAACP in its fight to have the picture shown.

Although the sale of consumers' goods in this country has broken all records in the last months, there are many signs—tightening credit restrictions, higher taxes, and increasing prices—that economy will be necessary for the average household. A great stop forward in saving is setting up a household budget and, what is more difficult, sticking to it. As a help towards solving some of the financial problems facing us today, your Public Library suggests a few recent and readable books on personal finances and their management.

Financial planning for the individual and family by Neva H. Radell.

Step by step in financial planning for typical groups, college girls, young married couples, limited income city families, professional women in their live-alone-and-like-it situation, and others. Excellent exomples of budgeting and record keeping are given. This is a book that will suggest many methods of saving an income management for varying standards of living.

A guide to consumer buying by Hazel T. Craig.

One of the best ways to save is through the judicious day-to-day buying of essential goods. Even in your trips to the grocery and the meat market purchasing can become a fine art, if you follow the suggestions of the many excellent consumer guides available. This book sets up principles to follow that are applicable today, even though prices and values are somewhat changed since it first appeared.

How to buy insurance by Philip Gordis.

All types of insurance are covered in this comprehensive survey. A detailed account is given of the best methods of obtaining maximum protection for personal property, automobiles, and homes. The author analyzes benefits and procedures in life insurance, insurance against accident and illness, and provisions for retirement. The emphasis is upon practical, detailed information, and the book is invaluable for anyone who wishes to review his personal or household insurance.

You don't have to be rich by Allan Herrick.

The wise management of a small income can, in many cases, lea a way of life and security as great wealth. The author makes this claim by tracing the career of a person of moderate means from high school to old age, and showing comparatively little money is needed for a thoroughly satisfactory life. Saving, homemaking, travel, investment, medical expenses—all the contingencies faced by most of us in the moderate income group are covered here. There is an excellent chapter on the problem of unexpected dependents and other on the financial guidance of children.

Spending for happiness by Elsie Stapleton.

While most of us need little urging to spend freely, Miss Stapleton suggests a certain caution in disposing of that pay check each time. In fact, she urges planning in spending as well as in saving. She suggests shrewdly just how much should go for clothes, housing, food, charity, insurance; and she tells

EUROPE AS I SAW IT

The following is the first installment of a series of articles to be printed by THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE, describing the experiences, impressions, and first-hand knowledge gained by Charlotta Bass on a two-months' tour of three European countries—France, Czechoslovakia, and Russia.

My story starts August 11, 1950, when in answer to an invitation from Juliot Currie, I rather hurriedly threw a few things we call clothing together and was off on a TWA Constellation plane for New York.

My leave-taking was not without some recognition. When it was noised about that I would be recompensed for my last year's China trip disappointment, many friends came to the airport to bid me bon voyage.

My trip from Los Angeles to New York was a matter of about 14 hours.

After a night's rest in New York, the next day which was Saturday, August 12, 1950, for the record—I took off from LaGuardia Field on the second hop of what was destined to be the most enlightening, inspiring, and educational experience of my whole life.

From New York to Paris the trip—again by TWA Constellation—was made in 16 hours.

I had as traveling companions on this part of the flight, Prof. and Mrs. Fletcher, of Boston.

We flew at the rate of 300 miles per hour with one stop at Gander, New Foundland. It was a rather stormy night, and on that Sunday morning when the plane started dropping from above the clouds and the loud speaker announced that we were approaching Paris, I looked out of the window and saw little green squares with what appeared to be straight lines dividing them. Then little red-topped houses came into easy view.

"So this is Paris," I sighed, but with pleasant anticipation.

But this announcement meant by no means the end of the journey to Paris. Out of New York into Paris is not without trials and fears.

First trials. With the language. Some years back I had studied a little French and really thought I knew enough to get by. But when that man at the entrance started expostulating in the French language, I was back again in the clouds, wondering if I would ever get down again.

All I could remember was: "Je vous prie." And I used that in the wrong place.

Then came the second and even more complicated trial. The question of money exchange.

You hand out $10.00 in American money, and you get back a handful of bluish or purplish paper and some very lightweight pieces of coin. Your next responsibility is to find out what equals what.

It takes a few days to find the difference in valuation between American money and French money.

But neither of these is your real heartache. Tired and a little shaky after a 16-hour air ride, you would like just to pass through the gates, take a taxi to a hotel, rest up a bit, and see Paris on the inside.

But tugging your baggage, you are hauled into the Police Department, given about three different blanks to fill out, and told to open your bags, or to stand and look on while the officers unceremoniously go through your baggage. You don't know what will happen. That is, whether or not you have brought in something forbidden. And if so, what will that officer say or do?

This is a sort of breath-taking experience, and when it is over you are greatly relieved and enjoy the fresh air on the outside. Even if it is raining.

From the airport we were whirred by taxi to a hotel. After resting and a freshening up, a group of friends—Elizabeth Moos, Peter Blackman and Betty Millard—took me out on a sight-seeing tour and to dinner.

Since Paris was only a stop-over en route to Prague, to the Defenders of the Peace Committee meeting, this article is by no means the real chapter of my travelogue on Paris, or rather France. There will be more later.

WHAT IS TUBERCULOSIS?

NOTE: One of the reasons many L. A. County residents are lagging in having their chest x-rayed is because they know little or nothing about tuberculosis, which last year killed 926 persons in the county alone. That is nearly 200 more than were killed in traffic accidents. The disease kills 50,000 persons a year in the U. S. The seriousness of TB must be understood by the public. People must know about TB. The following article will help).

Once it was called consumption, or the "wasting disease." Those sick with it lost weight, strength, color and gradually wasted away. Today we know more about the disease and we are able to cure it long before it reaches the wasting stage. We can also prevent it. No longer do we call it consumption but by the more hopeful and scientific name, Tuberculosis.

Tuberculosis is a catching disease. It is caused by a very small germ. People who have the disease spit out these germs or cough them up. If the germ gets into the mouth or nose of a healthy person, he, too, may get the disease. The germs may be spread from one person to another in several ways. Kissing on the lips is one. Germs spit on the floor may mix with the dust and later may be breathed into the lungs. Using the drinking glass or spoon of a person who has tuberculosis is another, for the germs may be left there by his lips. Anything which touches the lips of a person sick with tuberculosis may have tuberculosis germs on it.

HOW THE GERMS ACT

When tuberculosis germs enter the body they may get a foothold in the lungs, just as seeds which fall on the right soil may take root. The germs are alive and soon grow in number. But the body fights back, not by killing the germs but by growing a kind of covering around them so that the germs cannot spread to other parts of the body. At first the covering is very delicate, finer than a spider web, but gradually it gets tougher, like the scar that forms after a cut, and holds the germs in a little prison. Such little prisons look like tiny bulbs or tubers. That is why they are called tubercles and why the diease is called tuberculosis.

Many people have tuberculosis germs locked up in their bodies

ously subversive" books to be had. They were far more consistent in Franco Spain where the Bible is banned.

It occurs to us that all of the though controllers combined, using all the evil devices at their command, will not be able to prevent the coming of His Kingdom on Earth. "Blassed are the PEACEMAKERS" can be the slogan of a mighty crusade to rout those who profit by the needless slaughter of innocent people, to say nothing of the intense suffering of millions of women, children and aged.

Dear Mrs. Bass:

It is a pleasure indeed to inform you that at our last executive board meeting your candidacy for Congress was unanimously endorsed by the Arts, Sciences and Professionals Council.

We recognize that you are devoted to the same issues as ourselves and will wage a forthright campaign for peace, freedom and democracy. We look forward to participating with your committee as the campaign developes to bring to a successful conclusion the fight toward our identical goals.

With best wishes,
Very sincerely,

Dear Mrs. Bass:

Please accept our belated note of appreciation for the generous coverage you gave our third annual Health Festival. The publicity you gave it in your newspaper really helped to get the people out.

The Festival was a tremendous success. An estimated 10,000 people were present, and approximately 400 had X-rays taken at the mobile unit located near the stage. No doubt many others had chest X-rays later at other units in the community.

Thank you again for your part in making this year's Festival a success.

Sincerely yours,
FRANK KENT, JR.
President

Dear Mrs. Bass:

This is to urge you to enter your name as candidate for Congress in the 14th CD on the Independent Progressive Party ticket.

A few days ago I took part in a door-to-door survey on registration and the elections in your district. In the precinct which I visited I found an almost unanimous desire to see a Negro candidate for the 14th and the mention of your name brought an enthusiastic response from nearly every one of the score or more persons to whom I talked.

The people are disillusioned with Truman, worried over the high cost of living and deeply fearful of war. They are looking for leadership in which they can believe, the kind of leadership which you, and so far as I can judge, only you, can give them today.

With warm personal regards,
Sincerely,
MADELINE BOROUGH,
4202 Latona Ave.,
Los Angeles 31, Calif.

Dear Mrs. Bass:

Your candidacy for Congresswoman in the 14th C. D. would be a tremendous lift to the Progressive forces in California.

I therefore urge you to become a candidate on the I.P.P. ticket for Congresswoman in the 14th.

No one but you could rally the Progressives to work in your behalf with greater effort. Surely the Negro people could give us no finer representative not only of the Negro people themselves but of the Progressives throughout So. Calif.

The 14th C. D. needs you, the Progressive Party needs you, the people of the United States need you above alse.

With sincerest hope that you will heed the need for your services in public life.

I am,
JOSEPH SELDON

Dear Editor: Attached is a copy of a letter I wrote to the Lakewood Park Realty Company reference to property offered for sale by this company to veterans, and to date I have not received a reply.

People have a right to sell property to whom they please, and there is nothing to be done about it so far as I know. However, as a matter of principle I do not feel that they should discriminate. And, if Colored Veterans do not resent their practice, they may think they approve of it.

Very truly yours,
Vance H. Marchbanks Sr.

Lakewood Park Sales Office
5327 Lakewood Blvd.
Attention Sales Manager
Gentlemen: Referring to your advertisement in the Los Angeles Examiner: My son who is now fighting in Korea is in the market for a home. He is a physician, and a veteran of World War II. His wife is a college graduate, and they have two small children.

I am wondering if he can purchase a home in your $250 Million Dollar Planned Community."

The reason I am asking is because a very fine Colored veteran of World War II, who lives next door to me, says he went out to your project recently to purchase a home, and you told him: "This project is restricted. This does not refer to Negroes only, but to Japanese, Mexicans, etc." I would hate to write to my son who is fighting right now in Korea to sustain our way of life here in the United States, and tell him he cannot buy a house in your Lakewood Park project.

This would be good propaganda material for the enemy if they could get hold of it. I first thought I would send a copy of this letter to the newspapers, but on second thought, I thought I would give you an opportunity to explain your position. What I want to know: DO YOU OR DO YOU NOT SELL TO COLORED VETERANS OF WORLD WAR II? I await your reply.

Very truly yours,
Vance H. Marchbanks, Sr.
(Note to Editor: To date I have received no answer.)

NAACP FILES LAW SCHOOL SUIT IN LOUISIANA

NEW ORLEANS, La.—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People continued to move ahead this week in its battle to break down segregated higher education throughout the South, as a suit was filed in Federal District Court to force the state to admit Roy S. Wilson to the law school of Louisiana State University.

Wilson was one of twelve Negroes whose admission to the university was recently denied solely on the basis of their race.

The complaint filed by the NAACP asserts that there is no other institution in Louisiana where Wilson and the other plaintiffs are able to obtain a legal education equal to that offered at the university's law school and asks a permanent injunction restraining the state from barring these students and others similarly situated from the university. Refusal to admit them, the NAACP avers, denies them the equal protection of the laws as guaranteed by the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution.

WHAT IS TUBERCULOSIS?

but they are not sick. Most of them don't even know that a silent battle has been fought in their bodies and that the germs are safely locked up.

PARTS OF THE LUNGS DAMAGED

So long as the tubercles keep the germs safely locked up, no harm is done. But in some cases, the tubercles may break down, even after years have passed. Then the germs may spread to other parts of the lung. If they grow and spread faster than the body can stop them, the fine air pockets of which the lung is made may be destroyed. When that happens parts of the lung are destroyed just as when an enemy overruns a country and raids all before it. If it is not stopped from spreading, the disease gets worse and finally kills its victim.

People of all ages may get this dangerous disease, but it strikes most commonly in the age period from 15 to 45 years. This is the group in which are the students with promise before them, the wage earners, the parents, the producers of the nation's wealth. Just why tuberculosis strikes hardest at the prime of life we do not know.

Previously unsuspected cases of TB can be discovered by the chest x-ray. Now underway in L. A. County is the X-Ray Survey. X-ray machines are being placed in all sections of the county. Some permanent units are being maintained in downtown Los Angeles and other places. There is no charge for this x-ray service. The public already has paid for it through tax monies and purchase of Christmas Seals. Information on location of all x-ray machines may be obtained by calling MUtual 8111.

KINLOCH'S LETTERS

Dear Chums,

Monday morning bright and early Hitler gets the final blow. By special invitation of the President of the United States, I am to be commissioned a private in the United States Army. What with this Mussolini thing, Adolph is liable to throw in the sponge right now.

If he should decide to hang on, however, rest assured that all is under control because the things I have thought up to tell HIM would kill any man, which I will do immediately upon my arrival in Berlin, German.

Until then, I am prepared to render any little service which Messrs. Eisenhower, Doolittle and company deem proper even to doing a book report on Defense Will Not Win the War.

Well, I have been thinking that maybe this last session here at the Corner should be very solemn jive, indeed. Something in the nature of a last will and testament.

What am I SAYING!

Anyhow all I can think of are a bunch of memories covering the last seven years as copy boy, journalist, feature writer, copy boy, printer, linotypist, copy boy, leg man, ad solicitor, copy boy, managing editor and copy boy for The California Eagle.

Remember the time I was going to be a GREAT WRITER high on a hill overlooking the sea. I was not going to write about NEGROES and their petty problems, but I was going to write something spiritual and profound, and all the best critics were going to call it an EPIC. Passionately I proclaimed I was not going to be a Negro Writer, forever moaning about lynchers and poll taxes, but something else again. Just what, I forget. But artistic like hell . . . yessir, very artistic.

I then got promoted to A12 and met The Girl. It started in the darndest way. She chiseled me out of my place in the feed line. Ah, LOVE!

It ended with me covering her wedding. It was a beautiful garden affair, and me and the EAGLE photog were perched on a garage roof overlooking the alley. Right in the middle of the ceremony, I almost slid off on to the preacher's dome. It was NOT on purpose, so there!

Speaking of photographers, there was one guy around here afraid of dead people. One night this lug and I chased an ambulance to a house on East 42nd Place. Inside a gentleman had just been shot through the head by his ever-loving Missus.

The happy couple had been carving each other all throughout the afternoon, and the pleasant little cottage was liberally spattered with blood and gore.

We had to hold the photographer while he snapped the dead man's picture.

Along about 3 a.m. the next morning, the guy showed up at my house. It seemed the dead man was coming up on his negative. He didn't want to stay in the dark room alone!

Then there was the terrific mass meeting which the EAGLE sponsored at Philharmonic auditorium last year.

Paul Robeson's voice seemed to come out of the walls, enveloping everything and everybody. The simple speech he made . . .

The way he explained that the right of our own people is part and parcel of the struggle of oppressed people all over the world.

There was the night not so long ago when I rode in a police car during the "zoot suit" riots, watching a couple of cops run Mexican kids off the streets, rapping them on the shins with a billy, while unmolested soldiers and sailors banged innocent youngsters across the head not a block away. It's a nasty memory, and it fortified the conviction that fascism can and will grow in our very midst if we don't fight it resolutely . . . and now!

Remember the story by Ilya Ehrenberg, the great Soviet writer, factually listing the extermination of the Jews by Hitler's armies in occupied Russia. I know that this terror began with street gangs in Munich and Berlin—Ehrenberg's story should be pounded into the ears of every American. He tells of the systematic extermination of the Jewish population in Nazi-held Russia. Statistics are boring. I suppose you have to see ten thousand people marched into a single grave and then carefully machine gunned before you can appreciate the stark terror of such an event. Our own eyes must see the "scientific" gas-chamber assassination of other thousands before we can be filled with avenging rage of the Red armies.

Central Avenue lined with corpses of friends, neighbors. Central Avenue with bodies hanging from every lamp post. Perhaps that's what it takes to make us understand what our enemies are. Perhaps it takes that to jolt us into action against the friends of these monsters spinning their fascist plots within America. Hearst and the Klan . . . John Rankin and Martin Dies . . . Hoover and Dupont . . . Jim Crow.

How about standing in line with your wife and kids and mother and father and staring into the muzzle of a German machine gun, watching it chop out all the lives you love . . your own life.

No gun in your hand. No way to fight back.

What would you give to be a member of Uncle Sam's army?

Dear Mr. Roosevelt, in reply to your cordial invitation, IT'S A PLEASURE!

"COURTESY"

By Bobby Reedburg

Courtesy will do it,
It'll do it everytime.
Just keep on about your work
And let your manners chime.

Courtesy is a magic word,
Which wins one love.
Courtesy is like a rainbow,
Wrapped around a dove.

"SEPTEMBER"

By Bobby Reedburg.

Sepia leaves silently falling,
Quaint little squirrels gently calling,
Coffee in the kettle steaming hot.
Milk on the table, chicken in the pot.

September is here with its autumn lore.
September is here with its humans to implore.
Coffee in the kettle steaming hot,
Milg on the table, chicken in the pot,
Ah' September.

EARTH by Frank Townshend

And we can say the same for our fair metropolis of Los Angeles with its many varieties of attractions and activities.

And one special attraction that we have noticed of late is that of the very popular Radio Show of "Breakfast for Milady." This show is heard every Thursday morning from 11:30 to 12, station KOWL. The broadcast takes place in the beautiful Crystal Tea Room, located on South Avalon Blvd. Owner of the Crystal Tea Room, Mrs. Ruth Mosby Renfroe, realized the importance of including in our community a worthwhile project that would interest the community housewife. This idea was decided upon, and has been successful in attracting many women of all groups to participate informally and enjoy themselves at the breakfast hour. Must say that the broadcasts are very entertaining each week which sparkles with guest stars of stage, screen, and radio who come out and mingle with the housewife on an informal basis. Each week there is an excellent turnout of out of town visitors who are introduced on the show. The big sponsor for the show is the Leur Packing Company who was landed for the job by hard-working Leon Hardwick, public relations consultant for the Carnation Milk Co., and Jon A. Evans, local photographic expert, both of whom are members of the official staff. Master of ceremonies is Ches. Washington of the Pittsburg (West Coast) Courier. Duke Coleman is announcer. Other members of the staff are field supervisor, Eula Henderson; host, John Renfroe; registrar, Mary Morgan, music director, Ruth Smith, and advertising solicitor, Wally Hunter. The staff is very congenial and show their guests a swell time when visiting the show. They are to be congratulated on presenting to the community something new and different to enhance continued interest. This project is fast becoming a major attraction of those ladies of leisure that can find time to spend a very enjoyable and beneficial morning of entertainment during the breakfast hour.

What's Happening in Greekdom

The Greek World has really come to life in the past weeks of school. Welcoming of new faces on the various campuses was the order of the weekend with the frats and sororities entertaining. The Kappa men greeted new fellows at a smoker on Saturday night past, and party-time followed with the charming girls of Delta and AkA sororities as invitees to supply the feminine touch. The South Harvard home of Carl Peterson was the selected place for the evening of fun and dancing. . . . And over Western Avenue was, 2116 to be exact, the Alphas following the same pattern. Friday night was choice for their smoker "for men only," and Saturday night was reserved for party-time. . . . With these activities nearing the end-mark, the collegiate set is looking forward to the announcements of new additions to their pledge clubs!

And of Delta Sorority—The two active UCLA and USC chapters end their two weeks of rushing with this coming weekend. Pi Chapter (UCLA) will hold its pledge ceremony on Friday night and UPsilon (USC) chapter plans its ceremony for Sunday afternoon at the home of prexy Shirley Williams. Both chapters have recently completed yearly plans for campus and community projects. The Pyramid Pledge Club planned its first dance of the season on Saturday night, and is called a "Kick-Off Dance." The affair will be held at the Elks Auditorium with music by Jeep Smith and his combo. Should be fun!!

Sigma Gamma Rho sorority entertained new girls attending various campli at a Rush Party on Friday night past. Big-wheel Priscilla Ramos reports that it was quite a successful affair. The lovely home of Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Jeffreys was the selected place which rocked with merriment as the pledges of Alpha and Omega frats joined the girls for a light after party.

"Wedding Bells Ring Out"

The Wedding Reception for Mr. and Mrs. Bob Moore was held Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Dymally. Many of the collegiate friends of the couple were out to wish them well. Among those passing through the receiving line were John Herod and Darling Scott, Zoe Wise and Arthur Lewis, Ralph Wright and Leighe De Green, Lee Stewart, to name a few.

That Popular Couple, Bill and Nellis (Becker) Slayton have recently returned from a short honeymoon spent in La Jolla, Calif. Last Wednesday was the happy occasion for the couple when they spoke vows in a quiet ceremony at the beautiful South Gramercy place residence of Dr. and Mrs. Blanchett. Know that they will have a happy life together.

Was suprised to note that the past Sunday was "the day" for the former Miss Irma Brown. She was married in a beautiful ceremony at the Holy Name Church during the afternoon hours.

Holland Lodge No. 20, Free and Accepted Masons chose Saturday night to entertain the Affectionate Chapter No. 18, Order of Eastern Star in the form of a musical entertainment. Under the leadership of Master Lovell Estell Jr., the members worked very hard to make this a successful affair. Worthy Matron of the Eastern Star branch is Mrs. Gertrude Devers. Such name personalities as Past Master and Grand Lodge Lecturer. James H. Finis; baritone and soprano soloists respectively, Suther T. Carpenter and Sue Bowen, and artist of radio and motion pictures, Jester Hairston, made up a program that will be long remembered. The program and reception committee was made up of Elwin Sammons, C. One of the More community working organizations reports that they look forward to a year of continued worthwhile projects to present to the community. They are the Women's Auxliiary of the Medical, Dental and Pharmaceùtical Association. The president, Mrs. Charlene Johnson, reports that their annual membership drive is on now, and eligible women may join up until Oct. 17 with dues payable by that date. This is a very fine organization, and if you are eligible, we think that there is no finer organization to belong to, and remember, that they work toward worthwhile goals.

We Were interested to note that Mr. and Mrs. J. Rufus Portwig have returned to the city after a prolonged motoring trip which took them to many eastern and southern sections of the country. Mrs. Portwig attended the National Medical Convention held at Hampton Institute at Hampton, Va., while Mr. Portwig spent his time leisurely by working diligently at the hunting and fishing game.

People, personalities, and attitudes are always interesting to note. No better personality can be found than commerce student at USC in the person of Earl C. Broady, Jr. He is always of the same even temperament and always a lot of fun!! Clarence Ferguson, his friends call him "Ferdie," has really been wearing some attractive and cool looking shirts during the warm days of the present Indian summer that we have been having Camille Cannady is all smiles these days as she mentions the coming of the new addition to the family which should be about the first of the year. . . . Geraldine Barnum, AKA prexy of Sigma Chapter, is really an attraction as she daily sports some of the latest collegiate styles.

As a Major feature coming attraction can't forget to mention that the big benefit affair to be given by the Turnabout Charity Club at the Florentine Gardens, Hollywood, will definitely not be the affair to miss. Sunday, October 15 is the day, 3 to 7 are the hours. Keep it in your datebook. . . . As we make another deadline ,here's nine, til next time.

Women's Auxiliary Holds First Fall Meeting

The Women's Auxiliary of the Medical, Dental and Pharmaceutical Association met at the home of the president, Mrs. Charlene Johnson Sept. 19th.

This was the first meeting of the Auxiliary since the election of officers and suspension of activities for the summer months. Mrs. Johnson had previously appointed the chairmen of her committees so reports were received concerning plans for the agenda of the group during the coming year. The committee chairmen have many interesting and worthwhile things planned and hope with the full cooperation of the members that this can be a most successful year.

Mrs. Elois Davis, the program chairman reported that the National Program Theme for the year is "Working for the Community." With this in mind many of the affairs to be sponsored by the Auxiliary are being planned to bring the group and members of the community closer together.

Mrs. Glenna Hayes informed the group that, during the summer, seven members of the Auxiliary assisted as hostesses with the portable X-ray unit in Southeast Los Angeles. The ladies who gave their services were Mrs. Lois Carr, Mrs. Clara Webb, Mrs. Evelyn Griffin, Mrs. Emily Portwig, Mrs. Mariam Porter, Mrs. Jewel Jackson and Mrs. Hayes. During the time these ladies served, there were 600 people X-rayed, reportedly the largest number served in any two days while the unit was on the East side of the city. Other members of the Auxiliary volunteered but were not called since the unit was unable to remain in that location more than two days.

Mrs. Janice Edwards and Mrs. Genevieve Wallace were elected by the group to serve as members of the executive board of the Auxiliary and Mrs. Thelma Tinker was appointed to the board by the President.

Guests at the meeting were Mrs. Samuel Weeks from Berkeley, Calif., and Mrs. Mattie Myers from Fresno, Calif. Mrs. Alice Marie Johnson was cohostess with Mrs. Charlene Johnson for this meeting.

The Medical, Dental and Pharmaceutical Association Women's Auxiliary is now having its annual membership drive. The deadline for receiving dues has been set for Oct. 17 and it is expected that all women who are eligible to belong to the group and wish to participate in the activities this year will contact Mrs. Clara Webb or Mrs. Jewel Jackson for payment of dues.

"BRIGHTER TOMORROWS"
By Bobby Reedburg

As I walk through the horrors and prejudices of today I'm not dismayed.
For I dream of "brighter tomorrows."
(in memory of John Klinloch)

Saville-Bland Nuptials Breathtaking in Beauty

With the church filled to its capacity, the congregation tense with anticipaion, he groom waiting breathlessly for her appearance, lovely Barbara Ann Saville marched calmly down the aisle on the arm of her father to recite marriage vows with Robert Bland, Jr., on Sunday, September 17, at seven o'clock in the evening. The wedding took place at St. Paul A.M.E. Church, Sixth & Harris Streets, in San Bernardino.

Climaxing a two-year courtship between the popular young couple, the wedding brought together two of San Bernardino's well-known and respected families. Miss Saville, a graduate of the San Bernardino High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Saville, both prominent civic and social leaders in the community, and long-time residents of San Bernardino.

Mr. Bland is the handsome son of Mrs. Adelia Bland, a native of Kansas, whose family is likewise active in community affairs. He also attended San Bernardino High School and is a veteran of World War II.

Strikingly beautiful in its simplicity, the wedding was performed with a solemn dignity that expressed clearly the sacredness of the vows spoken. The Reverend F. A. Harris, pastor of St. Paul A.M.E. and former presiding elder, tied the marriage bonds.

Handsome in traditional semi-formal wear, the quartet of ushers marched singly abreast down the double aisle to the strains of Mendelssohn's "Wedding March," while the groom and the best man, who made a striking appearance because of their uniformity of size and dress and their similarity of features, entered from the side and stood waiting in front of the altar. The best man was Sylvester Bland, brother of the groom. Robert Saville, the bride's brother, was head usher. Other ushers were: Edward Bailey, Thomas Williams and Fred Jones.

Each of the bridesmaids wore a lovely creation of fine white nylon netting with a nylon background in pastel, trimmed in white embroidery. For the headpiece each wore a heart-shaped garland of real carnations and carried a bouquet of carnations to match the color of her dress. The four charming bridesmaids were: Alice Saville, sister of the bride, wearing blue; Phyliss and Celia Bland, sisters of the bridegroom, wearing aqua and pink respectively; and Frances Smith, wearing green. The matron of honor, doll-like in yellow nylon, was Betty Saville-Woodson, twin sister of the bride.

As the distinguished pianist, Miss Dorothy Inghram, began the music to Wagner's "Bridal March," the petite bride made her appearance. Beautiful in clinging white satin trimmed with exquisite lace, with tiers of alternating lace and satin falling from knee-length to the floor, she wore the traditional gown with train and waist-length veil of marquisette and fine lace. Its crown was adorned with tiny orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white carnations with a single orchid inserted.

The beauty of the occasion was heightened by the simple setting: Palms, gladiolas in tall white baskets with ferns, and the traditional wedding candles composed the background and were arranged by Frank Tillie.

A token of this interest was the transplantation of the entire Persion critical force to Bordeaux in early May, to attend, at the Bordeaux Festival, the premiere of Jean Francaix' opera La Main de Glore. The visiting Parisians were confounded with admiration by the splendor of the decor and staging. The theatre at Bordeaux provides an exquisite and sumptuous setting for a work of a spectacular order. Built in the 18th century by the celebrated architect Louis, this archietectural jewel is widely considered to be the most beautiful theatre in the world. In recent years it has been provided with up-to-date mechanical equipment rivalled in France only by that of the Paris Opera.

Because the new Francaix opera was awarded a production of the highest scenic standards, it was possible to assess not only the theatrical result an informed stage director—M. Vanni-Marcoux—and a gifted musician could derive a work well conceived for the stage, but also the appeal of the work to a public weary of the commonplaces of the standard repertoire.

The subject matter of Francaix' La Main de Gloire is drawn from a story by Gerard de Norval. One of the greatest and most mysterious of the French romantic poets, and the author of works marked by devotion to the occult and full of foreshadowings of modern serrealism, De Norval, in an attack of madness, finally hanged himself one night in a little Paris street in the district of the Hotel de Ville (City Hall).

The libretto recounts, in a style compounded of buffoonery, fantasy, and tragedy, the story of a young man who has a magician cast a spell over his hand, in order to insure his advantage in a duel which he has maladroitly allowed himself to be drawn, for the sake of making an impression on his sweetheart. The hand, of which he is no longer the master, leads the young man from one crime to another, and ultimately to the gallows. The whole course of events has been foreordained by the magician, who is eager to obtain the hand of a man who has been hanged inasmuch as the malesfic virtues of such a hand are attested by the Cabala. In treating this libretto, Francaix has given it the proper savor—a mixture of comic jest, tuculence, and horror—in a manner that is very personal, very lively, and in the final scene, altogether engrossing.

The press, on the whole, received the opera well, although not without reproaches to the composer for a certain monotony that resulted from its undue length. The work will no doubt be improved by the cuts the composer made immediately after the single performance in Bordeaux. To my own taste, which has always been pleased by the ingenuous, clear, and spontaneous attributes of Francaix music, La Main de Gloire represents everything that is best in his work, although I cannot help wondering whether he has not ransacked his own earlier scores a bit too extensively.

Perhaps the composition of music for the stage demands an aesthetic at once more rudimentary and more refined than that manifested by La Main de Gloire. Perhaps, also, the abundance of text has restricted him too consistently to a syllabic and rather precipitate declamation. However, this may be, La Main de Gloire must be accounted one of the most original stage works produced in France in a long time.

So far I have spoken of only the major operatic production of the summer season in France; it would be unjust to overlook the first-rank interpreters who made vocal and instrumental contributions. Seldom, if ever, have I experienced so complete an impression of utter perfection as that conveyed by Roland Petit and the Ballet des Paris. These productions presented in the Martigny Theatre near the Champs Elysees were the epitome of ballet perfection. It is reasonable to assume that the only competitive group in existence today would be the world famed Sadler's Well Ballet Troupe (opening soon at the Shrine Auditorium).

The vocal antics of Roger Bourdin in the overwhelmingly difficult role of Bolivar in the opera of the same name left little to be desired. It is easy to believe that this fellow is without match. He tossed off the Milhaud melodic line and sustained the perilous tessirura with miraculous ease.

Looking back over the symphonic season in Paris, we may perhaps be permitted to leave unchronicled the numberless Bach festivals through which the 200th Anniversary of the composer's death was celebrated in nearly every Paris concert hall and in nearly every city in France.

The greatest event of the spring concert season was the return of Serge Koussevitzzky, who conducted three concerts of the Orchestre National, a group known to American audiences through its transcontinental tour in the fall of 1948. This was Mr. Koussevitzky's first appearance in many years before the Paris audience, which retains many memories of his brilliant achievements here in the earlier years of his career. (to be continued)

SAILS TO STUDY OPERA

It was a happy day last week when Mrs. Marion Jackson Downs, the lyric soprano of Baltimore, and known to friends in the middle, south and far west, sailed on the S. S. Saturnia for a year of study of opera in Milan, Italy. This Fulbright scholar is the widow of the late Dr. Karl Downs, former president of Sam Huston College at Austin, Texas. Accompanying Mrs. Downs is her daughter, Karleen, who also has a beat for voice.

Artur Rubinstein Opens Series Of Behymer Fall Attractions

A gala concert by Artur Rubinstein, colossus of the keyboard, on Sunday afternoon, October 15, at 2:30 in Philharmonic Auditorium launches the 1950-51 series of all-star musical events to be presented by Mrs. L. E. Behymer.

Mr. Rubinstein, who has been heard by more people than any other living pianist, began his career in his teens, acquiring a fabulous reputation throughout Europe before his American debut in 1926. Since then he has traveled more than two million miles to play everywhere on the globe except Tibet.

The program to be interpreted by this great virtuoso includes Beethoven's mighty Appassionata Sonata Op. 57 in F minor, Impromptu by Schubert, a Chopin group comprising the Ballade in G minor, Mazurka and Scherzo in C sharp minor, Ondine and Alborada del Gracioso by Ravel, Ondine and L'Isle Joyeuse by Debussy, and Valse Oubliee and Mephisto Waltz by Liszt.

The Behymer series continues with a return engagement in response to popular demand by Maryla Jones, Polish-American pianist, on November 14. The following week, November 21, Elena Nikolaidi, Greek mezzo-soprano, sings her first downtown recital. The annual pre-Christmas engagement of the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo is scheduled for December 1 through December 9.

January events include return engagements by pianist Rudolf Firkusny, January 9, De Paur's Infantry Chorus, January 13; mezzo-soprano Blanche Thebom, January 15. Duo-pianists Appleton and Field will play on February 13, followed by Joseph Szigeti, violin virtuoso.

Physically Handicapped

SACRAMENTO. — California's active participation in the observance of National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week, October 1 to 7, was urged this week by Governor Earl Warren when the text of his proclamation fixing the same dates as National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week in California was released.

James G. Bryant, director of the California Department of Employment and chairman of Governor Warren's statewide Employ the Physically Handicapped committee, said that local committees throughout the state have planned extensive community observances.

"National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week observances are designed to point up the year-round work of community leaders in the interest of persons who find it difficult to obtain employment because of disabilities. It has been proved repeatedly that a physicael handicap is not an occupational handicap to persons who are assigned to tasks which use their abilities," Bryant said.

Ballet Ballads Premiere Due At Century

One of the most unusual and delightful song-and-dance shows ever to win cheers from New York's hard-to-please drama critics, "Ballet Ballads" will have its West Coast premiere on Tuesday evening, October 10, at the Century Theatre, 755 No. La Cienega Boulevard. Curtain time is 8:40 and there will be seven evening performances a week.

Written by John Latouche and composed by Jerome Moross, "Ballet Ballads" tells three stories—the humorous "Susanna and the Elders," which is given a Western revival meeting treatment; the intensely dramatic "Willie the Weeper" and the homespun folksy "Eccentricities of Davy Crockett."

Congresswoman Douglas Hits Job Refusals

Refusal of employment to young men because they may be called up for service to their country was scored as a "shameful" practice this week by Congresswoman Helen Gahagan Douglas in a statement to the House of Representatives.

According to the text of the statement received at Douglas for Senator headquarters here, a great number of cases have been reported to Mrs. eDuglas in which young men have been told, when applying for a job, that "We're not hiring anyone subject to the draft" or that "We're only hiring married men."

Many of these young men, said the congresswoman, are combat veterans of World War II who have just finished their college educations.

"It is true," said Mrs. Douglas, "that an employer suffers some inconvenience when a young man he has trained in some particular job is suddenly snatched away by one of the armed services. Coping with such inconveniences is, however ,a small price for that employer to pay for his security as against the sacrifice which is being asked of the young man who marches off to war."

California Indian Day

Following the custom started eleven years ago when Governor Olsen proclaimed the last Saturday in the month of September as California Indian Day the Indians of California in Los Angeles will celebrate California Indian Day, only this year it will be on Sunday, Sept. 24th, instead of the preceding Saturday.

As usual there will be the regular program of Indian dancing and singing by the moving picture Indians and a display of their gorgeous costumes. This year the speaker of the day will stress the importance of the Indians turning a deaf ear to any and subversive entreaties that might be presented to them.

All Indians of all tribes as well as their friends and those interested in real and lasting Indian welfare are cordially invited to come to Sycamore Grove this next Sunday, Sept. 24th, to help the Indians with their pow wow. Bring you picnic lunch and have a good time. The program begins promptly at 2 p. m.

The Thrifty Drug Store located at 427 South Broadway, is one of the first in America and the first in California to feature a yardage department."

"Being 'first' in drug store merchandising is no novelty to Thrifty," continued Manny Borun, "in 1929 we opened our first store with about 200 items of merchandise. Today we stock over 22,000 items and are about to open store number 100."

The official Grand Opening of this Thrifty yardage department on Friday, Sept. 22nd at 10:00 a. m. unveiled to the public an endless variety of yardage goods for all uses. Now you can even shop for dress, curtain and drapery material at a drug store.

La. Corp. and Washington Mem. Unite in Business

Recent delegates and visitors to the National Baptist Convention in Philadelphia saw a remarkable demonstration given by one of the nation's leading manufacturers. And best of all—Negroes were calling the signals and directing the show.

When the LeBlanc Corporation of Lafayette, La., learned that an industrial training center was being established at the birthplace of Booker T. Washington in memory of the late educator's sterling work in behalf of his race and the world, they immediately inquired as to how they could assist. The corporation and the energetic president of the Booker T. Washington Memorial, S. J. Phillips, decided upon the distribution of the leading product, HADACOL, of LeBlanc and to perpetuate the ideals and teachings of Washington. Phillips, who handles public relations for the National Baptist Convention Inc., secured a place for HADACOL in the Convention's Exhibition Hall, and the stage was set for the opening wedge into the fertile Negro Consumer market.

HADACOL is a palatable dietary supplement. It supplies the system with needed vitamins and minerals. Most neighborhood drug stores sell it.

Initial merchandising efforts of the Booker T. Washington Sales Agency will be directed toward wider distribution of HADACOL through the medium of the Negro press. Use will be made of the Booker T. Washington Memorial Half Dollar, since approximately four million of these historic coins remain unsold. LeBlanc Corporation gave this angle a boost by purchasing 20,000.

In the new campaign buyers of HADACOL will receive a shiny new Booker T. Washington memorial coin in exchange for the regular fifty cent piece by merely sending to Booker Washington Birthplace, Virginia, the top of a HADACOL box. The Washington coins have sold for as much as $2.00; they are real collector's items. Now they can be secured for a HADACOL box top and a regular half dollar.

By helping the Memorial complete its program of industrial education of the masses of low-income Negroes, the LeBlanc Corporation of Layfayette, La., is blazing a trail of helpfulness toward others which is in the best tradition of Booker T. and George Washington Carver.

28th STREET "Y"

In June the Board of Managers of 28th Street Branch YMCA undertook among its own membership to raise an emergency fund for badly needed repairs about the swimming pool. During the summer twenty of the thirty members of the Board gave or secured a total of $1225 to this special fund.

At the meeting of the Board last week, the General Manager of the YMCA of Metropolitan Los Angeles, Harold A. Wagner, announced the allocation of one thousand dollars from the Board of Directors. This amount, added to what the Managers of the Branch had already raised and mixed liberally with a lot of volunteer labor and contributed material, is expected to do a "face lifting" job on the 28th Street Building.

Marine Cooks Defend Negro From Blacklist Injustice

SAN FRANCISCO.—Upon recommendation from Marine Cooks and Stewards President Hugh Bryson at a stop work meeting last week the MCS crew members aboard the President Cleveland voted unanimously to sail.

The MCS members delayed the sign-on (but not the sailing) to protect an MCS member blacklisted by the Coast Guard last trip.

Bryson informed the crew that two executive vice presidents of the American President Lines agreed to join in protest with the Union in condemning the blacklist and demanding that an appeals board be set up immediately.

The APL officials agreed that the American democratic processes of considering a man innocent until he is proven guilty should apply to the screening program.

At present a man is considered guilty and there is no appeal board established to enable him to prove his innocence.

The APL officials wired John Steelman, assistant to the President, and also to their Washington representative and the Coast Guard, urging immediate action for an appeals board.

Pointing out that three other MCS members removed from the ship last trip had been cleared. Bryson said there had been ample time to clear the MCS member still blacklisted. He charged the Company with stalling because the individual is a Negro.

If he is not cleared by the time the Cleveland returns to San Francisco, further action will be taken by the Union, Bryson said.

Magazine Demands Plebiscite Be Held On Korea Intervention

The Protestant, a magazine published in New York and representing a section of Western Christendom, demands in its current issue that plebiscites be held in Canada, U. S. and Britain so that the people may show their approval or disapproval of the Korean Intervention.

In releasing this Demand, the editor, Kenneth Leslie, stated that "the idea of plebsicites is neither novel nor revolutionary.

"A plebiscite would require a general airing of the whole Korean question pro and con, an airing which it has not had up to date for the simple reason that the whole thing has been decided by top-down decisions. The people have themselves been forbidden by their own delegated representatives to examine the whys and wherefors of a war in which their children must die and for which they must pay in new taxes and business regimentations, not to speak of the ultimate horrors of total atomic and bacterial war.

"There are several things about this business," said Mr. Leslie, "which disturb the average tax-payer or soldier who must foot the bill in money or life.

"(1) The whole thing happened in an atmosphere of haste and hysteria. The facts of the case were never brought to light or viewed dispassionately by the UN which is supposed to act with deliberation.

"(2) Incidents such as MacArthur's inflammatory speech to the Veterans of oFreign Wars (widely circulated in the U. S.) indicate that the whole Korean affair may have been put over by MacArthur with the connivance of certain elements among American finance-imperialists.

"(3) Most suspicious of all is the U. S. refusal to recognize China while depending on China's neutrality in a fight whose victorious outcome for the U. S. would certainly endanger China's security.

"(4) UN refusal to hear North Korea would tend to show that there is some evidence as to the outbreak of hostilities which the UN is afraid to have exposed to the light of day.

"The people want to know what this war is all about. Otherwise they cannot be expected to support it as a bona fide peace action of a UN police force.

Common Sense

"Before sliding down the last chute to the abyss, would it not be well to consult the common sense and conscience of the ordinary people in whom there may reside a wisdom not possessed by 'experts'?"

Part of the editorial in The Protestant calling for the plebiscites follows:

"Because our rulers, in their support of colonialism in Asia, have not consulted the people;

"Because our Christian leaders have many times in the past condemned colonialism;

"In order to find out what is the attitude of our people towards U.S.-UN intervention in Korea,

"We call upon the governments of Canada, U. S. and Britain to hold plebiscites, asking the people whether they approve or disapprove of the U.S.-UN war on the Korean people."

Helen Holds Press Conference; Points To Record

Helen Gahagan Douglas, candidate for the U. S. Senate from California, at a press conference held in the Continental Room in the Alexander Hotel at 10 a.m. last Monday, reiterated her belief that there was more of good than harm in the Marshal plan.

Answering a comment by a newspaper representative at the conference to the effect that the people of France, and of the continent of Europe generally, do not feel benefited by the Marshall plan, that prices are up and wages are down, she said, "If the people of Europe had not had this plan, they would be suffering much worse than they are now."

Mrs. Douglas spoke rapidly of her record as a member of Congress. Of how she had introduced various bills to benefit the Negro people and all minority groups, of how she had voted against the severe thought control measures, and had advocated legislation always for the benefit of the people and of labor.

She pointed out that the record of Richard Nixon, her opponent in the face for the U.S. Senate, who is a Republican, had been almost universally bad in Congress. According to the score kept by the CIO and the AFL on legislation considered good for labor, his record is very low, while that of Mrs. Douglas is high. Nixon, she said, will be remembered as co-author of the Mundt-Nixon bill which has foisted the worst thought control law on the country in years. He is being supported by such reactionaries as McCarthy, Gerald L. K. Smith, Danny Stewart, Rumeley, and others.

Mrs. Douglas, however, is being supported by such leaders, she said, as Mary McLeod Bethune, Vice-President Barkley, J. Howard McGrath, and President Truman. Mrs. Bethune and Vice-President Barkeley will come to Los Angeles to speak for the Democratic candidates, Mrs. Douglas announced.

There were some ten or twelve newspapers represented at the conference. Four of these were Negro newspapers: The Chicago Defender, Tuhe Herald American, the L. A. Tribune, and The

Fight to Kill Jim Crow In Legion

A new approach to the problem of eliminating the infamous "caucasian clause" in the constitution of the Forty and Eight, American Legion play organization, will be made at the National Convention of the organization which will convene in Los Angeles Oct. 8.

After a year of patient investigation in an attempt to discover why the oft approached subject has met such a cold reception in previous Legion conventions; it was found that previous efforts were invariably shunted into the lap of the American Legion as a whole, and that that body has no jurisdiction over the activities of the Forty and Eight organization.

Johnny Baker Post, 291 Minnesota, spearhead of the successful fight against discrimination in the Minnesota armed forces, has turned its attention to the Forty and Eight situation, and has received assurances that at long last, the Forty and Eight organization will at least discuss a change in their by-laws to eliminate America's most inconsistent gesture of Americanism.

There is also indication of the confused thinking that has so often characterized the attitude of persons who should know better. One National officer when approached on the matter, said "we have to work with them (Negroes), we have to associate with them at times, but we don't have to play with them."

The present campaign by the Minneapolis Post will eventually prove or disprove the sincerity of the Legion's various Americanism programs, which have more than once ben in the national spotlight, for every Forty and Eighter must be a Legionaire.

Representatives of the Minnesota organization state that their Post has pledged itself to continue the fight consistently until it is definitely proven that injustice can and will prevail in certain branches of a great service organization. Ben Perry is chairman of the Post's Americanism committee.

Safe Driving at Night

When is forty miles per hour a deadly speed?

This was the question asked of Los Angeles drivers this week in a statement prepared by the Los Angeles Police Department in connection with the October, 1950, Program for reducing "Night-Time Traffic Deaths."

Deputy Chief Bernard Caldwell of the Traffic Bureau said, "The majority of sensible drivers readily realize that 40 mph can be far too fast a speed on wet or slippery streets. Far too few of them, however, realize that the same speed may be equally dangerous when the sun goes down."

In support of this view, Deputy Chief Caldwell pointed to the national figure of 17,500 traffic fatalities that occurred in 1949 during the hours of darkness.

FISH AND FLEAS

Hollywood—The realism of the Newfoundland fishing village created for RKO Radio's "The Gaunt Woman" is none too pleasing at times. Odoriferous fish, mosquitoes and sand fleas are, it seems, essential ingredients. "But it's all for dear old art's sake," sighed Dana Andrews, holding his nose and slapping the back of his neck.

SO SIMPLE

Hollywood — Robert Mitchum Thomas Gomez and William Bendix were discussing, on the set of RKO Radio's "Macao," the problem of mainteaining consistent weight without stiff diets. Mitchum and Gomez admitted they knew no solution. Said Bendix: "It's no problem to me: I just stay consistently 15 pounds overweight."

AT BOP CITY—Tagged King of the alto sax Bostic and his band have been the top attraction at New York's Bop City for the past week.

Damita Jo At Down Beat

Songstress Damita Jo is one of the most exciting newcomers to music for many a year. She completes a one week engagement at Harry Jacob's newly opened Down Beat Club on Central avenue this Friday night, October 6, with her freshness and vitality in an approach to singing that is strongly reminiscent to the beginnings of such great singers as Ella Fitzgerald and Sarah Vaughan.

Damita is the little girl that started singing professionally only a few short months ago and has, through real hard work, proper management and a sincere desire, shown how true talent reaches the top. She is already being referred to as a "Cinderella Girl," describing her rapid climb.

Music at the Down Beat will be furnished by Red Mac and his band.

STILL A TOP SHOWMAN . . . Cab Calloway now appearing at the Oasis nitely still stands out as one of the greatest showmen of all time. . . . Moving freely with rythm, Cab can still out dance some of the best.

LARIAT LINGO

Hollywood—Authentic cowboy lingo will be heard in "Cowpoke," to be produced by Jerry Wald and Norman Krasna for RKO Radio. Director Robert Parrish installed tape recorders in the living quarters of the riders participating in the recent Madison Squqare Garden Rodeo. The recordings were flown back to Hollywood and will be used for reference during the filming of the picture.

Orioles at Apollo

NEW YORK.—The high-flying Orioles will make their fourth appearance of 1950 on stage of the Apollo Theater in Harlem in opening a week's engagement on Thursday, Oct. 5th.

The popular singing group, which just completed a summer-long road tour, have established some sort of record for their total appearances at the Apollo.

The Orioles, who have skyrocketed from obscurity into the $5000 a week class as a box office attraction in less than two years time, have made their spectacular rise via a successing of disc hits on the Jubilee label.

DRUNK DRIVING EXPLAINED

The term "drunk driving" leads to some confusion. A motorist might infer that he must be "drunk" by usual standards, in order to be guilty of this act. This is far from true.

The Vehicle Code makes use of the term "under the influence of intoxicating liquor." The courts of our state have interpreted this phrase many times—but always in essentially the same manner. It has been judged to mean that if the intoxicant has affected the driver's ability to operate his vehicle to an appreciable degree, he is "under the influence—." To carry it a little further; the test is—can the drive operate his auto in as safe a manner as he would under conditions of complete sobriety? Is perception, judment, or coordination affected?

AT AVADON . . . Lionel Hampton, King of the Vibes, will play three week-ends beginning Thursday, October 12th.

SWIFT SWAP

HOLLYWOOD—Jeanette Nolan was rejected for a part in RKO Radio's "Walk Softly, Stranger" because she was too much like Spring Byington. Simultaneously, Spring lost a role in Metro's "Words and Music" because a "different type" was wanted. Result: Miss Byington now is in "Walk Softly, Stranger," and Miss Nolan in "Words and Music."

TOUGH LUCK

HOLLYWOOD — While Dennis O'Keefe was working one afternoon at RKO Radio in "The Company She Keeps," thieves broke into his home and stole three of his wife's fur coats valued at $8,000. To date no clues or leads have been uncovered.

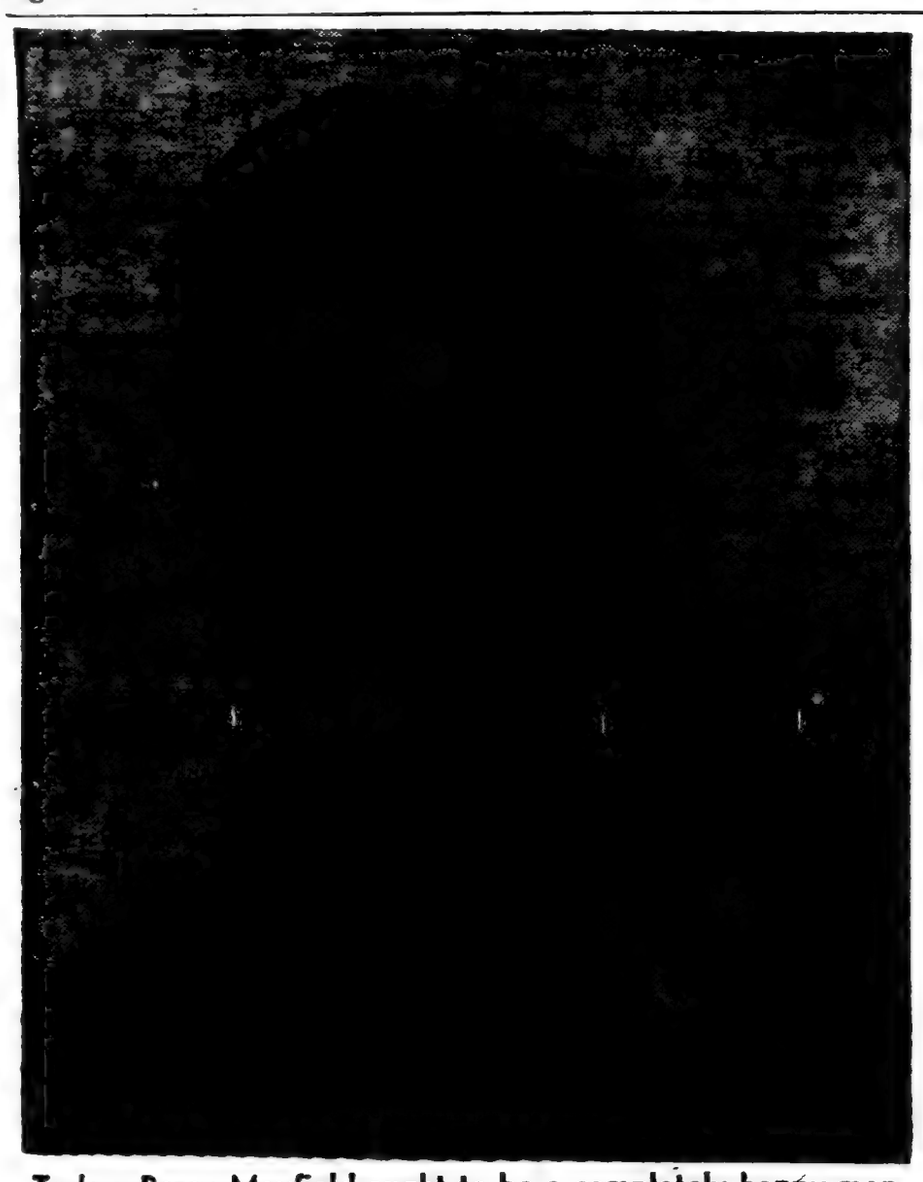
Lucky Millinder Signs Voocalist Lee Richardson

NEW YORK—Lucky Millinder, the dynamaestro of swing, and the discoverer of many top stars, this week singed Lee Richardson and Big John Greer as extra added attractions to appear with his orchestra on his forthcoming cross-country tour.

With the dance halls suffering from box office apathy, Lucky Millinder feels that a bandleader has to be on his toes and supply more than just dance music to entice the crowds to the box office. In keeping with this though he has been on the lookout for outstanding undiscovered talent to fit into his orchestra. He finally decided that both Lee Richardson and Big John Greer fit this bill.

The Lincoln (Mo.) Clarion, campus weekly at Lincoln University (Mo.), began its 18th year of publication at the opening of the fall term.

BROADWAY STARS FLYING HERE FOR "THE MEDIUM" & "THE TELEPHONE"



Three of the Broadway stars of Gian-Carlo Menotti's famed musical plays, "The Medium" and "The Telephone," which will have their Pacific Coast premiere at the El Capitan Theatre on Thursday, October 5. Left to right, Maria D'Attili, lyric soprano who stars as Lucy in the gay and tuneful "The Telephone;" Mary Davenport as Madame Flora, the fear-ridden spiritualistic medium in the exciting melodramatic "The Medium;" and Loren Welch who is the only male singer in both of these musicals which will be presented on the same program. The entire cast is being flown here directly from New York for a limited engagement. These two musical plays, which have played to packed houses in New York for more than 600 performances, will be presented nightly here with a matinee each Saturday. "The Medium" has been described by Broadway, London and Paris critics as the most suspenseful musical play on record. It is the story of a fake spiritualistic medium who loses her mind when she begins to believe in the occult and turns into a homicidal maniac.

Roy Brown At Avodon Friday

Los Angeles blues lovers get the treat of their lives when that king of the "Mighty, Mighty Men" unit, Roy Brown, brings his rhythm-mad band to the Avodon Ballroom on Friday night, Oct. 6. Roy Brown has been setting attendance records throughout.

Topping his previous appearances which year after year get better and better, Roy invades the west coast, expecting to top any and all of his previous one-niters engagements.

His latest recording, "Cadillac Baby," is selling like hot cakes and there's no doubt about it, he's just about the hottest band in the land right now.

Today, Percy Mayfield ought to be a completely happy man. His distinctive singing style, as evidenced by his Specialty recording of "Please Send Me Someone to Love," backed by "Strange Things Happening," is winning him an ever growing circle of blues admirers. And his poetic faculty is just as busy turning out song lyrics.

Universal Theatre Preparing To Produce 'Coty's Larue'

The Universal Theatre, that produced the famous "Maya," in English, in Paris, is resuming in the United States. It now has offices on The Strip, opposite Ciro's Restaurant, in Hollywood.

It is preparing to produce a play called "Cotys Larue." Half colored and half white. Written for Josephine Baker in Paris. With music by Porter Granger of New York.

It is a most sensational play. The leads are a colored poet, a colored dancer and a white dancer. The white girl, a Jezebel type, in this play, takes the colored man away from the colored girl.

Cotys Larue, the white Jezebel, is a top, sensational role for Paulette Goddard or Ava Gardner. Other seductive actresses of Old Mother Witch Nature.

" 'Cotys Larue' is far superior to 'Lulu Belle' and 'Anna Lucasta.' Iit is as fundamental as those plays were elemental. It is the colored-white theme from a universal angle. It is a terrific box-office bet."—Talk Of The Town columnist.

Attention, American stage and screen. You need a wider, sympathetic national and international market. This twist, to this play, will give it to you. The people are on the march all over the world. This play will march them into the theatres—and how.

Those interested kindly communicate with David Sturgis. Those not interested. They don't even belong to the human race. Here is a chance for Hollywood and New York. To stop their bungle and get out of the jungle.

Plans are being formulated whereby the Shattuck-for-Attorney General story will be told ten times each day between now and November 7th by every one of the 300 members of the L. A. County Republican Assembly.

American Legion Presents "Red White and Blue"

General White and Bowling Mansfield have important roles in two big production numbers in the legitimate stage revue, "Red, White and Blue" which is being produced by LeRoy Prinz and Owen Crump and sponsored by the American Legion. The world premiere is set for Saturday, Oct. 7th, at the Paramount Downtown theater. Nineteen nigh Downtown theater. nineteen night performances and two Saturday matinees will be played.

Both General White and Bowling Mansfield appeared with U.S.O. Camp Show units. The former sang in Los Angeles with the "Show Boat" company during its engagement at the Philharmonic auditorium. Among the credits for the second featured singer in this revue are "Annie Get Your Gun," Hall Jones Choir and "Carmen Jones."

DODGER RECRUIT, 18 year old Walter Towns Jr. is six-two and an impressive moundsman. Signed last week by the Brooklyn Dodgers, Towns will report at their Billings, Montana farm next Spring. A star pitcher at Jeff, young Towns set a record of two no-hit games in 1948. The young recruit is the son of Walter Towns Sr., a merchant seaman, and noted gridiron star, and Clara Towns. The family resides at 5416 Long Beach. Formerly a student at Loyola, Towns attends L.A. City College. A sister, Joan, is also a student at LACC. Sister Elaine is a student at Carver Junior High.

Loyola Gridders Tackle Tough Galloping Gaels This Sunday

Jordan Olivar's Loyola footballers are expected to meet one of the toughest tests on the schedule next Sunday afternoon at Gilmore Stadium when they tangle with the Galloping Gaels of St. Mary's.

Odds makers who have favored the Lions in the tussle will find it difficult to get assurance from the Lion camp. Loyola has never beaten the Gaels in 10 tries and the St. Mary's tie with Georgia last week showed that the men of Moraga are top notch this season.

The Lions have some consolation in the recently released statistics from the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau which lists the Loyola eleven as the number one team in the nation in rushing defense and second nationally in pass offense.

The Loyalo team will have a bulge in the weights for this game. The Lion eleven averages 199 pounds to 183 for the Gaels.

Crowd Expected

HOUSTON, Texas—The Texas State University-Kentucky State intersectional football game scheduled for Buffalo Stadium, Houston, Texas, October 21, at 8:00 p.m., will attract a large cowd of fans from throughout the state.

Los Angeles Coliseum May Get Louis-Charles Return Bout

It will take another match between former heavyweight champ Joe Louis and present champ Ezzard Charles to settle the controversy over which is the better man. The seemingly clear-cut victory of Charles over the Brown Bomber last week, now that the excitement is over, has proved nothing except that Joe was not in the best condition.

In some respects, Charles got a gift, and although Louis was bruised badly, some of the ringwise will tell you that it was due to his physical condition more than it was to Charles' ring generalship or boxing ability.

Joe always takes his best shots the second time out, and you will soon be able to get odds that he'll topple the champ in less than ten rounds when they meet again. And they will meet again, possibly within the next three months.

Because it will take an outdoor match to get the kind of a gate a return match deserves, it will have to be staged either in Florida or Los Angeles. Florida isn't developed enough to take a championship match with two Negro fighters, so Los Angeles seems to be the logical spot.

Los Angeles is hungry for a big-time boxing spectacle, and the fans would swarm into the Coliseum for the historic occasion.

ELAJC Meets Monarchs

The East Los Angeles Junior College footballers open the defense of their Metro Conference title by taking on the L.A. Valley JC Monarchs Saturday night at Garfield high school.

The Monarchs will be out to capitalize on the over confidence which the Huskies showed in the second half of last week's San Berdoo game.

Hampton Opener

HAMPTON, Va.—Hampton Institute's home opener against North Carolina A & T's powerful Aggies, on Saturday night will provide a CIAA "measuring rod" for both teams. For the favored visitors, it's the second conference tilt, and for Hampton it is the first test against a top CIAA power.

On The Turf

By GEORGE A. RAMSEY

CALIENTE, OLD MEXICO—Jockey Jose Espinosa who bid "Adios" to Caliente Race fans staged one of the best exhibitions seen at the border course in years when he visited the charmed circle with four winners, including the Daily-Double. A crowd of over 5000 lovers of the Sport of Kings were on hand to witness the feat. The Mexican booter who hails from Cheyene, Wyo. left for Mexico City to show his skill at the Hippodromo de Las Americas track. His winners were it's a Deal in the second, Easy Breeze in the third, Fun Fair in the fifth and the longshot, chancellor, in the eighth who paid $27.20, $12.00, $6.00 across the board. The Deily Double conmbination of It's a Deal and Easy Breeze rewarded it's backers $28.40 while the Quniela, one of the largest in many months gave the lucky holders of Miracle Baby and Defensora a big thrill when it paid $204.40. The formplayers had a rough day when only three favorites out of the twelve race program were able to visit the payoff line. Miojo, was the longest price winner of the day paying $44.60, 26.00, 12.40 across the board. In the $5,000 Public Handicapping contest no one was able to pick seven straight winners so this Sunday the cappers will have another chance at the Pot of Gold. In the consolation prize a negro sportman from Los Angeles won the second prize of $200. This Sunday in the absence of General Manager Walter C. Marty, Asst. Manager John Alessio has arranged a fine program of twelve races. His feature attraction will be "The Columbus Day Handicap" at one mile and one-sixteenth. The co-feature "The La Pinta" at six fufrlongs and for good measure has named the tenth race "Santa Maria" also at six furlongs. General Manager Walter C. Marty, who left last week to visit tracks in the East and Canada, will also negotiate for an American Tote Board for the Caliente Track. Over $200,000 will be spent to make the border course one of the finest in the country. Managers, Marty and Alessio, predict that the fans will be thrilled when the track opens Sunday, December 31st. Altho the season will run until Sunday November 26th before closing down for the vast improvements.

GREYHOUNDS AT CALIENTE—William (Bill) Collier, the popular general manager of the Greyhounds was the host to Pretty Barbara Jean Jones, the first Sepia Queen ever to be crowned or have that honor on any track in the world. The crowd was entertained by the Legion Drum and Bugle Corps, Flag girls and Majorettes. Thru this paper we want to thank Manager Collier and The Greyhound Kennel Club for this honor.

If the University of Southern California Trojans draw over 36,576 people to their 1950 opener with Iowa, Sept. 29, they will pass the 14 million mark in attendance for the last 30 years.

Fresno Bulldog Eleven to Meet Hawaii Outfit

The Fresno State College Bulldogs will meet the University of Hawaii Roaring Rainbows Friday night at 8 p.m. in Ratliffe Stadium for the seventh game in a series that started in 1938.

Last year the Hawaiians evened the series at three all by defeating the Fresnans 41-14. The Bulldogs took the first three games in the series and the Rainbows came back in the last three meetings of the two teams to take three straight.

Coach Tom Kaulukukui will bring his Hawaiian gridders to Fresno by air.

Jefferson Footballers On the Ball

Over 2,000 fans saw the Jefferson juggernaught get up a big head of steam to roll over a hapless Verdugo Hills eleven last Saturday night at Occidental College stadium. By the convincing score of 38-6 the Democrats proved to their fans that this year's team has all the fire and ginger that has been lacking these past few years.

Standouts in the Jefferson attack were Jerry Drew at the halfback post, assisted ably by Thelton Henderson, who tips the scales at a measly 158 pounds but is one of the smartest downfield runners the Jumpin' Jeffs have. Rommie Loudd stood out in the pass-catching department, while in line play Elvan Hymes and Henry "The Cat" Patterson took honors. Hymes' play in recent weeks has been gratifying to Demo fans.

Tonight the Democrat varsity journeys to Fresno to make it two in a row for this season. The Edison Tech team in Fresno is an unknown quantity this year, but from past years' records they figure to be rough. The game will be held in the new stadium used by Fresno State College.

Shelton Bowlers Outscore the Busy Needles in Three Games

Shelton Bail Bonds, the Sporting Four, of the Atomic Mixed Foursome Bowling League, tumbled the lumber and staked up the maple to trim the Busy Needles two games to one at the Harlem Sport Center Monday night. It was all Floyd Lawrence shelling the timber and topping the players for high game, high series and the first to bowl 600 in this season's league play. Let your peepers shake the shooting and roll your eye balls to and fro. Lawrence shot 220, 204 and 193 to gloat over 617 series.

Mary Burnett of Griffin's team in form and rocking the logs to top the women bowlers with an even 200 on the.. nose... Fleishman's Clothiers were rough however and produced the upset of the evening by downing her team two games to one. Bob Williams was the spark plug with a 564 series Frank Garrett rolled a 202 game and Mildred Lightfoot shot well.

Team six won two out of three game series with K. E. Watts leading his team with a 184 game and Batte Ware looked good with a 470 series.

Roberson Motel, league leading champions of the Sunset League blew their tops Friday night, blasting the maple for a 983 high game and blanking Garrett's Sports three games to 0. Timber tilting, wood logging Floyd Lawrence had another good night piling up the stuff for a 235 game and a 602 series. John Millon also sparkling with a 567.

Rodgers Credit poured it on Borden Drugs.. to.. upset them three games to 0. Chuck Downs leading his teammates with a 258 high game and a 569 series. Harold Johnson was in there too knuckling down, wheeling the pins for a 212 game and a 554.

Empire Furniture rinses out Personal Linen two games to one. Leon Grant spark plugging with a 233 game and a 527 series. Ernest Kirkwood rolled at 514.

Sports chatter from JEFFERSON

The Los Angeles Rams made a very wonderful gesture toward Jefferson last week when they sent six of their stalwarts over to the Demo campus to participate in the annual Demo Football Pep rally. On hand to greet their many fans were Ram players Don Paul, defensive middle line backer; Harry Thompson, offensive guard; Bob Boyd, offensive end; Tom Fears, offensive end; Deacon Dan Towler, offensive fullback; and Tank Younger, line backer, and offensive halfback. Each player gave a small bit of sage of advice for any and all athletes at Jefferson who have collegiate or professional ambitions. They stressed the value of good health habits, school spirit, a college education, team play and sportsmanship. Jeff wishes to thang the Rams for their swell gesture!!

Aaron Roberts, Demo Cheerleader, has the student body in stitches with his yell-leading crew and their football huddle. And the girls'c drill team is very, very much of an eyefull. Be sure to get over to Jeff next week for that Fremont game . . . the biggie of the year. Jeff is gunning for an upset win.

Basketball at Jeff looks promising on all fronts. In the varsity and bee divisions Coach Larry Hanson is whipping his charges in shape for the casaba practice schedule which starts in the middle of this month. Coach Dick Bernard is following similar lines with the potent C & D squads. Jeff is set to do better than last years' three southern league titles by nabbing all four championships.

Bowling Notes

By Pleasant Session

The Atomic Bowling League, consisting of six teams of mixed foursomes, blitzkrieged into action last Monday night to compete in 30 weeks of league play at the Harlem Sport Center.

The president, Miss Katherine Porter, wished all teams luck and asked the players to show good sportsmanship in competition at all times. The racks boomed down, pins gleaming, and play was on.

Shelton Bail Bonds, the sporting four, rocked the maple and tumbled timber to blank Team No. 5, three games to none. Melba Foppe sparked the attack, shooting 206 for high game, while her teammate, Lewis Russ, assisted with a 204 and a 552 series.

Team No. 6 downed Team No. 5 three games to none. Ozia Flowers had a good 462 series and Al Griffin a 199 game.

Garcia Cleaners defeated Team No. 1 two games to one. Ed McFall rolled a 196 and a 550 series as Tommy Gregg shot well to upset the apple cart.

The Friday night men's Sunset League also started with a bang. The pins were bombarded and sounded off like the 4th of July as the teams got under way.

Robinson Motel, last year's champions, shooting in mid-season form, keeled over the lumber to tumble Borden's Drugs three games to none. Floyd Lawrence led the assault with a 565 series.

Team No. 5 upset Garrett's Sports, three games to none. Ernie Kirkwood, the kid from Santa Ana, sparked his team, shooting 211 for high game of the night.

Rogers Credit struggled to win two games to one from Personal Linen. Eddie Iring, manager of the Harlem Sport Center, starred for his team, rolling a 210 game and a 540 series. Chuck Downs also had a 530 series to wash away the Linen bowlers.

League play—Monday, mixed foursome; Wednesday, women; Thursday, men's handicap; and Friday, men's high handicap. If you are interested in this game of bowling and tumbling sticks, come on out and bowl along.

Coliseum Minus Grid Contests

There will be no football played in the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum this weekend, as the giant concrete saucer "draws a bye" in preparation for hosting the two most important college games to be played on consecutive days anywhere in the nation this fall.

The games are UCLA vs. Illinois on Friday night, Oct. 13, and USC vs. California on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 14. The two teams that will meet on January 1 in Pasadena's Rose Bowl may be included in that quartet.

Jefferson High PTA Membership Drive

Jefferson High's PTA membership drive gets into high gear this week with accent on the 1950-51 program for increased parent-teacher cooperation in the educational advancement of our boys and girls. A call is being made by personal letter to all the parents in the Jefferson district to enroll in the 1950-51 membership roster of the PTA.

This year's program will center around the many services extended to our children by the schools. Currently in progress at Jefferson are the special week-long testing and counseling service offered by the Los Angeles City School Advisement service to all high school seniors and the Jefferson originated tenth grade student-parent counseling program.

All parents who feel that they can take an active part, no matter how small, in this year's program are asked to please call the membership chairman at CE. 24192.

Board membership attended the Olympic Council meeting held at Huntington park High School, October 2nd at 10 a.m. Reports from this meeting will be presented at the first meeting of the year.

Jeff Hi Grads Visit Campus

Former athletes at Jefferson High have been visiting campus lately for a personal look-see at the 1950 athletic fortunes of the Democrats. Caught viewing the current casaba crew coached by Larry Hanson was former Demo star Ed Young. Ed has been going to UCLA extension cources part time lately. His comments about the 1950 squad were all good.

Oliver Gordon dropped by to watch the Demo footballers go through their paces. All of us remember his stellar play along with his football mates here at Jeff.

Leo Boutte stopped by to say hello to old friends and former teachers. Dapper Leo is currently working in Los Angeles. Alvin Brannon manages to get back to Jeff often enough to keep posted on current happenings.

Larry Lumpkin and his basketball buddy Cliff Ivory are itching to get on the casaba bandwagon as soon as the season at ELA opens.

ELA's convincing win over San Bernardino JC brought two Jeff graduates into the limelight. Lewis Williams as fullback continues to be one of the outstanding footballers in JC competition.

PRESS CLUB BENEFIT—Sister Henrietta helps a little tot on the merry-go-round at Nu-Pike which will be the site of Greater Los Angeles Press Club benefit for the Children of the Los Angeles Orphanage. The entire Long Beach fun zone will be turned over to the club for the week beginning Monday (Oct. 2). Proceeds from the sale of tickets will help rebuild the orphan's present crumbling home.

The Lafayette Jr. High School faculty book club was highly honored last Wednesday at their first luncheon meeting of the year by having as guests Mr. and Mrs. Joseph James.

Mr. James, baritone, is understudy to Todd Duncan, star in "Lost in the Stars," playing at the Philharmonic auditorium. He graciously briefed Paton's book, "Cry, My Beloved Country," in the light of the current musical drama from which it is drawn.

Mrs. James, the former Alberta Mayo of Los Angeles, is well known in music and literary circles.

Mr. and Mrs. James were the guests of Miss Pauline Slater, chairman of the Jefferson High book club.

Howardites Unite! Call Atty. Lundy

All persons who either attended, taught, or graduated from Howard University are asked to contact Attorney Rayfield Lundy, 1666 E. 103rd Street, LOrain 64107, if they are interested in plans to organize a Howard University Club.

After names and addresses of Howardites are known in this area, a meeting place will be designated and an organizational meeting set. A complete roster of all former Howardites is being gathered so that invitations may be sent out for this initial meeting.

Requests have been coming in for several years and many former Howardites have talked about the idea of forming a club similar to those that exist in the east. The purpose would be to continue the fellowship and to encourage young people to further their education at Howard. Other projects would be developed as time goes along.

FALSE PROPAGANDA

Charges that opponents of Proposition No. 1 to repeal personal property taxes are using false "fear" propaganda in a desperate effort to frighten Californians into voting against the repeal measure were made this week by Maurice (Ace) Carrigan, chairman of the government affairs committee of the National City Chamber of Commerce.

Carrigan denounced the scare tactics of the State Chamber of Commerce and other tax lobbying groups in opposing Proposition No. 1 and leclared that the propaganda that the tax repeal would close schools was false and unfounded. The schools have first call on all general state funds, and the State Senate has just voted to "unfreeze" a $250,000,000 bond fund for the aid of impoverished schools.

REV. AND MRS. HARRIS RETURN FROM NATIONAL BAPTIST MEET

Sunday, September 17, 1950, marked the return of Rev. and Mrs. Grant Harris from the city of "Brotherly Love," Philadelphia, Penn., where the National Baptist Convention convened. Much to their astonishment, a surprise was in store for them during the Sunday school hour. After Pastor Harris had been presented to the Sunday school by the assistant pastor, Rev. Jeffers, the young people led the group in a yell welcoming the pastor back, and as a little tot from the Cradle Roll Department came in with a very "heavy" envelope, the group sang "Happy Birthday" to the pastor, for the pastor's natal day was on the 15th of September. In all of his 20-odd years of pastoring, the pastor stated that he had never received such a welcome.

Supt, Maple Gordon, who with the pastor and wife, attended the convention, was presented to the Sunday school and was also given a very warm welcome home. A gala reception is to follow on Thursday evening, September 21 at the church honoring the delegates to the convention.

Good Shepherd invites the public to attend its services and you can feel sure that the same heartfelt welcome will await you at all of our services.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SUNDAY TEXT 'UNREALITY'

"What is the chaff of the wheat? saith the Lord." This question from Jeremiah will be the Golden Text of the Sunday Lesson-Sermon on "Unreality" in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientise, in Boston.

A Scriptural selection from Exodus reads, "And God spake all these words, saying . . . Tho shalt have no other gods before me. Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image, or any likeness of any thing that is in Heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth."

Mary Baker Eddy says in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures:" "Divine Science deals its chief blow at the supposed material foundations of life and intelligence. It dooms idolatry. A belief in other gods, other creators, and other creations must go down before Christian Science."

WHEN I COME BACK

By Harry Levette

When I come back—
A scar from Nazi shrapnel cross my brow,
A Nippon bullet still deep in my leg,
Stepping erect, disdaining e'er to limp
While marching through the streets of my home town
There to be mustered out.
Yearning to see my mother's cottage neat
With Shimaberry bushes at the door;
Smell the wistaria and magnolia blooms;
Drink deep again of nature's beauties that Thrill me in spite of scorn of my dark face
That is the only blot on our fair South
When I come back.

When I come back—
Let me not find
A charred, black ruin where our home-nest stood;
Averted faces wondering how to break
The awful news that in the path of hate
Our home stood when a mob with flaming torch
Raged through the "black belt" while I fought afar!
Better death here
Than e'er come back to this!

I'm offering my blood, my very life
To save our land. But keep my home unscathed!
Just this I ask of God and government:
KEEP FAITH WITH ME
TILL I COME BACK!

Dr. Davis Speaks At Unitarium Forum Session

Opening its third season, the Unitarian Public Forum offers as its first lecturer Dr. Jerome Davis who will speak Friday, October 6 at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of the First Unitarian Church, 2936 West 8th street. Dr. Davis, nationally known traveller, author and lecturer, will discuss the contemporary scene. His subject will be "Fear, Hysteria and Freedom."

Jerome Davis comes from a family of deep religious consciousness. This brought him to Russia as a YMCA secretary and he found himself deep within the throes of the Bolshevick Revolution in 1918. He has since visited the country from time to time as a witness and observer of the Soviet social experiment.

Inherently a teacher, he was a member of the faculty at Yale in 1924 and was awarded honorary degrees by Oberlin and Hillsdale College. In 1935, he became a member of the Board of Trustees of Oberlin College.

His consuming concern for humanity and peace has sent him on unofficial peace missions to the Soviet Union and to China. Dr. Davis is currently a visiting lecturer at the University of Colorado.

LETTERS TO FRIENDSHIP HOUSE OUTER CIRCLE

Dear Friends in Christ:

September is here. And I make ready for my pilgrimage of begging. Twice a year, I come to you knocking at your door for alms, that will help to heal some of the wounds of the mystical Body of Christ, in the distant Northland of Canada.

On October 14th—the feast of St. Teresa of Avila — I celebrated my twentieth anniversary in the Apostolate.

We need money . . . to live on. Money to continue building, so as to serve more people in a better way. We need money for the sick, for our Christmas cheer . . . for our Catholic-Lending-Library-by-mail, that is the only one to serve Canada, from coast to coast rurally. We need money for our Handicraft Centre, that will help youth to learn skills that in turn may set them free from want. We need money . . . to start a little four bed lying-in hospital. We need money for so many needed things, it would take a book to write them all down.

Beside money, we need clothing for men, women, children and babies. We need toys, candles, soap, tooth paste, tooth brushes, tree ornaments, books . . . for we have 500 children to take care of again this Christmas.

Gratefully we will accept pencils, pens, exercise books, bedding, towels, remnants of materials, left-overs of knitting wool, needles, pins, etc., old crochet hooks and knitting needles, knives, kitchen utensils.

Gratefully yours,
Catherine Doherty.

When I see you through my window,
Something tells me we're apart.
But no one will know the difference,
Only you, my lonely heart!

When I see you through my window,
I imagine we are near.
But no one will know about it,
Only you, my lonely tear!

When I see you through my window,
Then I wish I'd fall asleep.
About you I shall dream, darling;
In my heart you're lying deep.

Christian Science Text On Reality of Death

"Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" This question will be the Sunday Lesson-Sermon subject in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston. The Golden Text is from the Psalms: "Salvation belongeth unto the Lord: thy blessing is upon thy people."

It is recorded in The Acts that when the disciples told Peter that Dorcas was dead, he "arose and went with them. When he was come, they brought him into the upper chamber: and all the widows stood by him weeping . . . But Peter put them all forth, and kneeled down, and prayed; and turning him to the body said, Tabitha, arise. And she opened her eyes: and when she saw Peter, she sat up . . . And when he had called the saints and widows, presented her alive."

In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" Mary Baker Eddy writes: "When man gives up his belief in death, he will advance more rapidly towards God, Life and Love."

Young Pastor Holds Service at Naborhood

Gamaliel Mansfield Collins, supported by the choirs of Neighborhood Community Church, conducted a very impressive Sunday evening candlelight service preceding the communion. The young minister narrated while individual members, groups and the two choirs sang numbers in keeping with the narration. The young minister is the son of the Rev. H. Mansfield Collins, pastor of the church.

Visiting ministers and choirs participated in the 10th anniversary celebration during the week Oct. 1 to Friday night will mark the close of the celebration.

Sunday morning the Rev. Mansfield Collins, spoke from the subject "The Church—its Purpose."

Monogram Club Tea

Beautiful, in every sense of the word, was the setting for the Monogram Club Tea, commemorating the Neighborhood Community Church in ten years of service. Mitchell Hall in the church was arranged to resemble a large living room with gorgeous array of white flowers. Club members wore formal pastel dresses and each an ordchid. The Monogram Club Tea is an annual affair, given each year whin the church celebrates its anniversary. The huge birthday cake was a thing of rare beauty, a replica of the church edifice.

A splendid program was arranged so that there was activity during the entire afternoon including a display of Fall Hats by Mrs. Beulah Johnson and a fashion show handled by Andre's Studio of Modeling.

As the close of the tea, the birthday cake was cut and distributed to members and guests.

CHARITY

The charities that soothe, and heal, and bless, lie scattered at the feet of men like flowers.

A little thought and a little kindness are often worth more than a great deal of money.

Instructions For Women's Groups Set

Local women's groups may now take advantage of class instruction in the use, care and handling of electrical kitchen equipment being offered at the new Thomas Distributing Company building in downtown Los Angeles.

Special care will be given in all classes to the preparation of foods for new types of electrical home freezers as well as in the various cooking methods used in the preparation of frozen foods.

The instructor of the class will be Barbara J. Toole, prominent local home economist, who has been conducting these classes for many years.

Classes may be arranged at any time by any women's group in Southern California, Miss Toole said. "Just a phone call or a letter will be sufficient to start a class for any group," she said. There is no charge for the class. Thomas Distributing is located at 201 S. Anderson Street, Los Angeles.

A virtual Fairyland of new and thrilling devices will highlight the combined Electrical and Modern Living Show scheduled Oct. 20-29 at the Pan-Pacific, officials disclosed today.

Rev. Hightower Answers His Critics

Rev. V. L. Hightower, pastor of the People's United Church of Christ, 105th and Wilmington Ave., in whose church dissension has recently occurred and who was asked to resign by some of the members of his congregation, has written the following letter to the Christian people of Los Angeles in general.

To the Ministers, Church Congregations, and all the Christian Workers.

My Dear Friends:

You have probably read or heard of the dissension and disturbance which arose in my church, the People's United Church of Christ, 105th street and Wilmington Ave. In this experience the church was deeply hurt and wounded to the heart. The spirits of many individuals were depressed and bruised to extreme degrees, and the minds of some fine young people were poisoned — not too deeply to be overcome, is my hope.

Wherever this is known, I am sure, the whole affair is embarrassing to all Christian believers. For the church and the cause of Christianity I regret the incidents very much. The suffering which has come to me is the price for my part in Christ. If I don't suffer with Him, I cannot reign with Him.

I tried hard to forestall the storm. But it came on. I did not resign, as a few of the members wanted me to do. First, because my family and I are bonafide members of the church. Second, because as pastor I am the father of our church home, our large Christian family. And third, because I am a soldier on the Lord's side in the fight between good and evil, and I had no right to run away from my post of duty in the midst of a conflict or a crisis.

For whatever part I am to blame I am heartily sorry. The very thought of the event is grevious to me. The people of the church who opposed me are not to be blamed too much, because they were misled by an outsider. I am praying that God will forgive me, and I am also asking you to forgive me.

I know that you have been praying for me and the church. For this I am very grateful. Several ministers and their congregations have sent generous consolation gifts to me and my family, and I am more than thankful for all that everyone has done.

I followed, as best I could, what I though (and still think) is God's will. And I know that is best for me and the church. I want the church saved from destruction. Please continue to pray for the church.

I shall be happy to receive any correspondence or telephone calls you wish to send or make. Thanks for reading this. May I beg your prayers for me? That I shall remain humble, resigned to do His will, and that I shall always be found useful in His service.

I am,
V. L. Hightower (LO. 5-4916)
Yours in Christ,

Baha'i World Faith

"America's Spiritual Mission" is the subject on which Mr. Willard Hatch will address the public meeting of Baha'i World Faith to be held at Los Angeles Headquarters, 331 South New Hampshire Avenue, on Sunday afternoon, October 8th, at 3:30 p.m.

In Cincinnati, Ohio, on Nov. 5, 1912, Abdu'l-Baha, expressed the hope, the prayer and the assurance that the banner of International Peace would be first raised in America.

When the summons of International Peace is raised by America, all the rest of the world will cry, "Yes, We Accept." The nations of every clime will join in adopting the teachings of Baha'u'llah, revealed over fifty years ago.

In His Epistles, He asked the Parliaments of the World to send their best and wisest men to an International World Parliament that should decide all questions between the Peoples, and establish Peace—then we shall have Parliament of Man, of which Prophets have dreamed.

Conference To Map Action On Protection Of Foreign Born

The conference and mass meeting next Sunday, October 8, at the Parkview Manor, 2200 W. 7th St., in Los Angeles, takes on critical importance because of the postponement of all deportation hearings since passage of the omnibus McCarran Bill, which contains drastic powers for action by the Justice Department against all foreign born, citizens or non-citizens.

Analysis of the McCarran Bill provisions will be a central feature of the conference proceedings, which will have leading spokesmen from political parties, trade unions, fraternal and cultural organizations as well as observers from community groups, ministers, and public figures.

Registration for the conference begins at 12:30 p.m. on Sunday, and Abner Green, executive secretary of the American Committee for Protection of the Foreign Born, will keynote the afternoon sessions. Conference proceedings will be reported to the public meeting at 8 p.m.

Speakers will be Abner Green, Rev. Stephen H. Fritchman, Rabbi Franklin Cohn and others. Entertainment will include Earl Robinson's California Labor School Chorus and a noted monologue artist.

Gadgets no Protection Against Polio

Gadgets and mechanical devices are no protection against the polio virus, Dr. Roy O. Gilbert, Los Angeles County Health Officer advised following the arrest and conviction Friday, Sept. 1, of E. J. Poirer, 575 So. Berendo St., charged with falsel yrepresenting the therapeutic value of a water faucet attachment he was peddling from door-to-door.

For $3.50 Poirer was offering a "charcoal water filter" (a don't splash, polio germ filter) to houeswives throughout the county when inspectors from the County Health Department's food and drug section caught up with him.

Judge Stanley Moffett of the San Antonio justice court sentenced him to 180 days in jail and a $50 fine. His sentence was suspended and he was placed on two years' probation on condition that he obey health department rules and not offer false claims for the gadget.

"At the present time there is no professionally accepted artificial immunization against polio," Dr. Gilbert pointed out. "Common sense health precautions, such as not becoming overtired ,overheated or chilled, especially during the polio season, are among the most practical measures advised for avoiding the development of the disease. Quack remedies or so-called protective devices like the one in this case are valueless in preventing poliomyelitis."

Closer Cooperation Mexican-American

Closer cooperation and greater cultural activity of the widely-scattered Mexican-American artists, writers, musicians, and actors, was urged in an invitation made public this week by the National Cultural Committee of the Mexican-American National Association.

Stating that "the free development of Mexican culture, with a democratic orientation, can be an important and unique contribution to the cultural panorama of the United States as a whole," the Committee urged Mexican-American intellectuals to use their artistic talents for the cultural and social advancement of the people of Mexican descent in this country.

"The extent and greatness of the rich culture of the Mexican people, of which we in the Southwest are the inheritors, has not yet been duly recognized in the United States, not even by the people of Mexican ancestry," the invitation declared.

As a remedy, the Association proposes the widest possible observance of Mexican History and Culture Week, from Sept. 10th through Sept. 16th, inclusively. The latter date, corresponding to Mexican Independence Day, is of special importance to the inhabitants of the Southwestern states, since it commemorates the beginning of the long beginning of th long struggle of the Mexican people against the Spanish Empire, resulting in the freeing of the entire area from European control.

The invitation proposes considering the establishment (possibly in Los Angeles) of an Institute of Mexican Culture, devoted to the study of the civilization of the Mexican people and to the promotion of friendly relations between the peoples of the United States and Mexico, as well as to the fostering of harmony and understanding among the two groups in this country.

Intellectuals and students are invited to contact the National Cultural Committee, Mexican-American ,National Association at 130 S. Indiana, Los Angeles 63, California, for further information.

● Bass to Run

rival at the TWA airport, and when the big plane was seen settling down from its flight, many broke through the boundaries and rushed down to greet her.

As she stepped from the plan she was met by Reuben (Rube) Borough, state chairman of the Independent Progressive Party, who presented her with a bouquet of American Beauty roses. There were photographs and more greetings, and then Mrs. Bass, surrounded by her friends, started up through the tunnel to the waiting room.

When Mrs. Bass and her friends emerged from the tunnel, there was a shout from the 50 or more friends gathered there. There were more flowers, more greetings, more photographs. A huge banner bearing the inscription, "Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, Our Congresswoman for the 14th District," was hoisted in the background.

Then all entered their cars, and led by Mrs. Bass, whose car was driven by her nephew, Ellis Spears, a virtual parade with horns blaring started out for Mrs. Bass' home at 4073 S. Central avenue.

There at an informal gathering in her apartment, Mrs. Bass spoke briefly of her candidacy for Congress in the 14th District. She had been requested to run in a cablegram sent by the IPP office, while she was still in Paris.

"But I want you to understand," she remarked whimsically, in her own inimitable fashion, "that when you thought you were getting me into a job of hard work, that you were really giving yourselves a bigger job. If I'm to run, and if I'm to be elected, even if I'm to make a good showing, you'll have to work even harder than I do."

The expression on the faces of those gathered there seemed to say, "We accept the challenge."

proximately $2700 and served three years without pay. This step was taken by Reverend Beauchamp in spite of an adverse report by Bishop N. W. Williams, who refused to give any financial assistance.

Accordingly, Reverend Beauchamp started on his own and, after the church was well started, it joined the A.M.E. Conference.

In 1949, without notice, Reverend Beauchamp was transferred to a small church by Bishop D. O. Walker, without any provision being made for reimbursement and in spite of the unanimous protest of his membership and without any recognition being given to his sacrifices and efforts through the years.

Loyalty

At the time when Reverend Beauchamp left St. Stephens, its membership was one hundred eighty-five. One hundred sixty of these followed their pastor and joined in organizing Bethany Community Church, now at 511 Central Avenue.

York for the United States Senate, has been voted a life member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science by its Executive Committee.

This Association, founded in 1848, has a membership of 46,000, composed of leading scientists of the nation.

Dr. Du Bois has been a member for fifty years and a fellow for forty-six years. His life membership exempts him from all payment of dues, while still enjoying the privileges of full and active membership. The next meeting of the Association takes place in Cleveland during the holiday season of 1950.

Lincoln University students will receive more than $111,000 in scholarship and work assistance during the coming school year.

MOOD MUSIC

HOLLYWOOD — Harking back to an old silent era custom, Director Preston Sturges had a three-piece orchestra play "mood music" on the set of RKO Radio's "Mad Wednesday" for Harold Lloyd's love scenes with Frances Ramsden. A pianist, violinist and 'cellist played a special number written by Harry Rosenthal.

NO SAILOR

HOLLYWOOD — Sally Forest, now starring in "Mother of a Champion," Filmakers picture for RKO Radio, likes sea stories, especially those of Jack London and Joseph Conrad. However, she became seasick on her only ocean voyage, the 20-mile trip from San Pedro, Calif., to Catalina Island.

South Park Outdoor Art Show Features Elaborate Program

A talk by Councilman Kenneth Hahn, special appearances of Walt Disney Film stars, folk dancers, a performance by the Southeast Symphony Orchestra, spirituals, the Spade Cooley Show and demonstrations by prominent artists in figure drawing, portrait and water color painting, clay modelling, ceramics and wood blocks are special features planned for the Outdoor Art Show in South Park, October 13, 14 and 15.

The South Park exhibition is one of 10 outdoor art shows taking place simultaneously in Los Angeles and Beverly Hills parks as part of the enlarged program of the Sixth Annual All-City Art Show sponsored by the Department of Municipal Art and the City of Los Angeles.

Committee

Mr. Frank Jensen is acting as coordinating chairman for the South Park events. His committee consists of Mrs. Beulah Woodard, Program Coordinator; Frank Terry, Entertainment; Dr. Glenn Lukens, Demonstrations; James A. McNeely, Installation, and Miss Ruth Parks, Reception; and Davis T. Miller, Exhibit.

The American Institute of Architects have appointed Paul Williams to design the installation of the South Park show as AIA's contribution to this civic project.

Sixth Engineer Group Protests Discrimination

It was apparent this week that charges of discrimination made by the former Sixth Engineer Group of the California National Guard were not entirely unfounded.

As many officers of the Group predicted before the outfit was activated into the army last month, they have been placed in training at Camp Roberts under white officers.

Men of the Sixth first sensed that they had become victims of the army's ancient pattern of discrimination when the two battalions comprising the unit were called to active duty while headquarters group was left at home.

Headquarters group is composed of the executive staff and all the top ranking officers of the outfit.

Exactly as it was predicted, an all-white headquarters group has assumed command of the group. This is an Organized Reserve Corps unit from Indiana. Although headquarters group and headquarters company of the white unit are currently going through basic training with the Sixth Engineers, they are training separately.

The Sixth Engineers were the first Negro unit in the California National Guard. It was activated three years ago and since its beginning has been trained by its own headquarters group which was left at home.

HIGH PRAISE

The group has received high praises by numerous military and government, including Governor Earl Warren. While the unit was in field training at Camp San Lois Obispo recently, Major Gen. C. D. O'Sullivan, commander of the California National Guard, had nothing but praise for the outfit.

Under the serveillance of military discipline, indignant men of the Sixth are without the means to voice a protest, although they sensed what was happening long ago.

Loyola U Plans Lecture Series

"The Fifth Annual Loyola University Lecture Series is in the nature of a service to the growing cultural awareness of the community," Rev. Charles S. Casassa, S.J., President of Loyola, stated this week in announcing the forthcoming public lectures for Fall and Winter at Loyola University.

"Because of the disturbed condition of the world today, and because a University must interpret and evaluate events of the day, Loyola has broadened the scope of the lectures to include timely discussions by acknowledged authorities on "International Affairsand America" as well as "Literature and the Contemporary Scene," Fr. Casassa pointed out.

Marion Jackson Downs Sails For Year's Study In Italy

NEW YORK — A young widowed mother familiar in church, concert and education circles in the east, southwest and far west, left last week aboard the S.S. Saturnia for a year's study in Milan, Italy, as a Fulbright scholar—and to begin a new life. She is Mrs. Marion Jackson Downs of Baltimore. Her husband was the late Dr. Karl Downs, president of Sam Huston College at Austin, Texas, and one of the youngest college presidents in America.

A lyric soprano, she will study at the Opera School of the Milan Conservatory of Music. Upon her return here, she hopes to encourage the establishing of opera workshops in the colleges.

For over four years up to the time of her husband's death, Mrs. Downs personally had raised nearly $100,000 for the building fund of Sam Huston through her concerts. Five new structures stand today on the campus as testimonial to the work and devotion of this young couple to the higher education of Negroes.

Only Negro Employee Fired on "Loyalty" Check

A. ROBINSON becomes a citizen of Czechosolovakia. Robinson, from the deep South, went to the land of the Czechs shortly after World War II, of which he is a veteran. He is a worker in one of the many factories of Prague, Czechoslovakia, and is one of the most highly respected citizens there. Mrs. Bass, of THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE, met Mr. Robinson while she was in Prague. His praise was high concerning the freedom and utter lack of discrimination in his new home. "I wouldn't live in any other country but Czechoslovakia now," he said.

Tenants Who Fought Against Bias Refused Lease Renewals

NEW YORK.—Action against the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company for failing to renew leases of thirty-five tenants who were active in a committee for the elimination of discrimination against Negroes in the company's Stuyvesant Town development in New York City, was asked last week of Acting Mayor Vincent Impellitteri.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People joined twelve other organizations in writing the acting mayor in protest against the Metropolitan's action.

Skepticism of Metropolitan's good faith in admitting some Negro tenants arose, the group said, "when it became known that the company apparently intended to penalize many of those who had sought to end the very practice which Metropolitan indicated it was voluntarily abandoning."

"It is unfortunate but nevertheless true that the present shortage of adequate housing

Mexican-American Association Launched on National Scale

Delegations from the principal Mexican-American communities of the Southwest and as far east as Chicago will convene in Los Angeles on Oct. 14th and 15th formally to found the Mexican-American National Association on a national scale.

Local and state organizations already exist in Arizona, California, Colorado, and New Mexico, with new chapters springing up in Texas and Illinois.

Returning from a successful organizing tour of the Southwest, national president Alfredo C. Montoya reported today great enthusiasm in all the states for the Los Angeles conclave, which will hammer out a formal constitution and program of action based on the educational, civic, social, economic and cultural problems of the people of Mexican extraction in the United States, and their solutions within the framework of American democracy.

Prominent civic and trade union leaders will address the gathering. Mr. Refugio Martinez, leader of the United Packing House Workers (CIO) of Chicago, will be on the panel of speakers.

Musical numbers directed by folk singer Cresencio Ruiz will intersperse the more serious discussion of the two-day convention, which will take place in Augelus Hall, 1954 East First St. beginning at 9 a.m.

Urban League In Program for Negro Workers

Acting to further strengthen California's long-range program for full utilization of its labor force through making maximum use of members of minority groups, the California Department of Employment and the Los Angeles Urban League today took steps to assure continued expansion of employment opportunities for Southern California's huge reservoir of qualified Negro workers.

In a joint agreement executed by James G. Bryant, Director of the Department of Employment, and Wesley R. Brazier, Executive Director of the Urban League, the two organizations stipulated a program of coordinated effort to stimpulate opening of employment opportunities to colored workers, provide vocational guidance counsel to individual workers, schools and colleges, and effect all possible improvements in efficiency of the placement process.

James Cantlen Gets High Post With Phone Co.

Appointment of James S. Cantlen as general commercial manager of The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company in Southern California was announced this week by R. J. Hadden, vice president and general manager. Cantlen succeeds L. C. Miller, who is requesting retirement because of ill health.

In his new position with the company, Cantlen heads an organization of more than 2,000 commercial department employes who handle public contact work ,sales, directory compilation, business relationships with independent connecting telephone companies and commercial engineering activities.

"Those who cannot remember the past are condemned to repeat it," said Santayana, famed philosopher.

Communist Registration Laws Declared Unconstitutional

The County Communist registration ordinances passed recently were declared unconstitutional this week in two courts where two separate cases were heard. In Belvedere Township Justice of the Peace court, presided over by Justice Meyer B. Marion, Communist Party legislative director Henry Steinberg won a demurrer against the act.

Steinberg had refused to register under the ordinances, and his attorney Ben Margolis charged that they violated the 1st and 14th amendments of the constitution, invaded the federal government's sovereignty and denied the right of non-self-incrimination. Judge Marion upheld Margolis' arguments.

In San Antonio Township, Judge Stanley Moffatt decided in favor of Mrs. LaRue McCormick who was also arrested for failure to comply with the county resistration ordinances. In releasing Mrs. McCormick from the $50 bond under which she was held Judge Moffatt said:

"Under the ambiguous terms of the ordinance it would be necessary for a person to consult the Encylopedia Brittanica, the Communist Manifesto, and other documents, such as Communist writings to know when he had broken the law.

"It is intended to crush the organized labor movement of California and to defend status quo of big business."

Gus Brown

Last Friday the case of Gus Brown, business manager of the United Furniture Workers, who was arrested for failure to register under the same ordinances, also entered a demurrer through his attorney Ben Margolis. Brown was taken into custody on September 14 in his office by deputies from the Sheriff's anti-subversive detail.

Prior to his arrest, Brown had been trailed and harassed by Sheriff's officers who warned him to register. His union is engaged in a battle against raiding by a newly-set-up CIO union. His case is scheduled to be decided soon.

DuBois on Ticket For Senate Race

Spearheading a nation-wide movement backing Dr. William E. B. DuBois in his campaign for the U. S. Senate, Bishop William J. Walls this week declared that "no man in America commands more confidence of our people for the altrustic, creative and courageous service that he would give in the United States Senate."

The prominent clergyman, who heads the Second Episcopal district of the AME Zion Church, is honorary chairman of the newly-formed Non-Partisan Citizens Committee for the Election of Dr. DuBois.

"His running for the United States Senate is above petty politics," Bishop Walls pointed out in a statement issued Tuesday at his official Episcopal residence in New York at 155 W. 136th St. "I regard Dr. W. E. DuBois as one of the great minds of America's last half century," he added.

Chariman of the Non-Partisan Citizens group is Oliver Harrington, nationally known cartoonist and illustrator. George Murphy Jr. is campaign manager.

The SIDEWALK

By C.A.B.

During the remainder of October The Sidewalk will be written by guest columnists.

Dear C.A.B.

I am happy to be the first to express appreciation for the service you have given this community, and to me personally.

When I was quite a young girl I came to Los Angeles, believing that I could make my way alone in this, then rather wooly Western city. My first job was that of waitress in a Central avenue restaurant.

Being a foreigner and not understanding the English language very well, I was subjected to many insults and invitations that would wreck a young girl's future.

One day when I was quite bewildered there came into this cafe a man. As I remember his name was Lester Granger, and he was connected with the Urban League. He asked me some questions and made some suggestions touching on my future outlook in Los Angeles.

The result of this meeting was that he offered to take me to see someone, as he put it, who he thought would look out for me.

The same evening of that day, Mr. Granger came to the cafe and took me to the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Bass, editors of The California Eagle. Mrs. Bass was appraised of my situation. Mr. Granger also asked if by any chance she could take me into her home and look after me.

She advised that I return to the home where I was stopping and tell my landlady I was making a change.

The next day I was a happy part of the Bass family. Both Mr. and Mrs. Bass treated me like their own child. I stayed with them until I was married to Mr. Joseph Banks.

Now I know that what this woman did for me she has done for many other young girls and boys who strayed into Los Angeles, and through no fault of their own were homeless.

In view of the fact that she has given this service to the people of this community, if she is elected to represent the 14th Congressional District in the Congress of the United States, she will render even greater service to her community, to the people of America, and even of the world.

Not only these young people like myself should pledge all out support for her election, but also all the churches, the civic groups, the social service workers, and every organization and every individual interested in the welfare of people anywhere should work day and night until November 7 for her election.

Vote for Charlotta A. Bass for Congress.

—Aurora Donis Banks

MCS Union Asks Truman to Halt Execution of Lt. Leon Gilbert

Cooks and Stewards Union today (Monday) asked President Truman to stop the execution of Lt. Leon A. Gilbert, Negro officer condemned to death by court martial in Korea for allegedly refusing to obey orders.

The San Francisco MCS membership Thursday unanimously voted that such a request be made. The resolution pointed out that "Reports of many correspondents state that Lt. Gilbert was not given a fair trial inasmuch as no member of his company was allowed to testify in the case and the facts are hidden in a fog of censorship.

Insulted

"And the Negro war correspondents in Korea report that Lt. Gilbert's regiment was constantly in the front line of fire without rest and insufficiently supplied for a long period of time and that these exhausted troops were insulted by their white commanding officer.

"And furthermore the condemned man has constantly protested his innocence before the court martial and in letters written home to his wife and family, and was also wounded twice in World War II and wears a silver plate in his skull as a result of these wounds."

The MCS urged a thorough investigation of the treatment of Negro and other minority troops in the Army, particularly in the Korean theater, charging that the U. S. Army discriminates against and segregates Negro and other minority members.

Mrs. Bass Guest At Masonic Lodge Meeting

Charlotta Bass, candidate for Congress in the 14th Congressional District, was guest at a spiritual feast sponsored by the Most Worshipful St. John Grand Lodge of A. F. and A. M., Scottish Rites Masons and Queen Esther Grand Chapter of California, Inc. Sunday evening, Oct. 8, at the Orders' meeting place, 1521½ Central Ave.

Music was furnished by the Five Brothers Quintette, and an elaborate turkey dinner was served.

Mrs. Bass' candidacy was given hearty endorsement by all present, including Grand Master J. F. Johnson and Grand Matron Mrs. L. E. Kida.

Grand Master Johnson not only recommended Mrs. Bass for Congress, but also in forceful language advised his members to go to their neighbors and stress the fact that they have an opportunity to send one of their own to Congress to represent them, and to fight for their Civil Rights, as one who has suffered with them the pangs of discrimination and persecution.

Death Sentence

tence," Mr. Mitchell wrote Secretary Pace, "was a severe shock to colored people throughout the United States, especially when we have received so much information on the valiant record of the 24th Infantry Regimental Combat Team."

Citing Lieut. Gilbert's excellent record in World War II, Mr. Mitchell asserted: "To give him the death sentence in view of his combat record is so fantastic that we urge that the Department of the Army immediately announce that he will not be executed."

Far East Talk

"American Foreign Policy in the Far East" is the topic to be discussed by Dr. Claude A. Buss, Stanford professor, at Pepperdine College's weekly World Affairs Forum Wednesday, Oct. 18, at 8:30 p.m.

Dr. Buss is just back from his third mission in occupied Japan and an observation tript to Southeast Asia.

CANDIATE FOR MAYOR in the special recall election to be held November 7 is former State Attorney General Robert W. Kenny. Conceded to be one of the strongest of the field of seven candidates who have filed for the post. Kenny is backed by organized labor and progressive forces. He will speak at the Welcome Home Rally in honor of Mrs. Bass at the Elks Hall tonight.

Los Angeles has more vehicles per 1000 persons than New York and Chicago combined. Courteous driving will help eliminate a large part of the problems this congestion causes. (LAPD) years ago. In that capacity, the Loyalty Board further charged, Mrs. Sibrie's husband created a disturbance by fighting against jimcrow.

LOYALTY BOARD FIRES WIFE

Additional reasons for the Board's firing of Mrs. Sibrie were: 1. Her husband was a member of the National Negro oCngress; 2. Her husband sponsored a picket line in front of the Santa Fe Theatre on March 14, 1947, in protest against the showing of the film, "Song of the South"; Her husband was chairman of a meeting announced in the California Eagle, stating that Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass would speak on the subject: "Thought Control and the Red Scare."

In demanding a public hearing at which she will be represented by counsel, Mrs. Sibrie said she will match her loyalty against that of her accusers... "Those charges are against my husband." Mrs. Sibrie said. "The Loyalty Board is treating me as though I was a chattel or slave of my husband's.

"I was fired because I am a Negro, and the members of the Loyalty Board hate and despise my race."

Community leaders who plan to attend the mass meeting and support Mrs. Sibrie in her demand for reinstatement, joined in stating this week that the dismissal of Mrs. Sibrie is a clear indication that the loyalty program is being sued to advance discrimination against the Negro people.

A spokesman for the sponsoring committee told an Eagle reporter: "This is the beginning of a long series of such so-called 'loyalty' firings. Every protest by a Negro will be labeled as an act of disloyalty and unles swe fight, we will find ourselves being kicked out of every decent job we hold."

The Rev. Elijah James is the pastor of St. Marks Baptist Church. He will be among the speakers. Ernest McBride of the Long Beach chapter of the NAACP will also pseak at the meeting.

The Cabrillo Housing project has 2000 units and there are 300 units and there are 300 Negro families living there.

Thirty thousand Los Angeles children in 127 schools will be immunized against diphtheria in the city's annual drive which opens Monday, October 16, according to Dr. George M. Uhl, city health officer.

Drop Kidnap Rap

Judge Harry J. Borde summoned the four and told them that he was dismissing the charge against them because the supposed victim had already testified that they had not kidnapped her.

It is believed that the Santa Monica police favored the dismissal of the charge because of the investigation that is under way into the beating reportedly administered to the four by ten policemen.

Investigation

Last week Lt. Guggenmaas promised a delegation of Negro and white citizens that an investigation would be launched. The California Eagle learned that the men will seek redress for the brutal pummeling they received and for their long detention.

The four youths, Isiah Liggins, Robert Clark, Walter Carrire and Tommy Washington were driving a drunken white man home in his station wagon when a white woman ,Irene Dickerson, asked them to drive her home because she was afraid to continue in the car witch which she was riding with two white men.

The youths obliged and were later apprehended on a kidnapping alarm sent out by one of the men with whom Miss Dickerson had been riding. The men were held in $2500 bail despite Miss Dickerson's statement in court that they had not kidnapped her, that she had gotten into their car voluntarily, and that she could have gotten out whenever she had wanted to.

saw the car parked at Scott and Geary street at 1:30 a.m. Amos, 34, of 549 Fell St., had a half-ounce of what appeared to be heroin.

He told police he served as Miss Holiday's chauffeur while she is in town but that she had no knowledge of his narcotics activities.

The inspectors also arrested two men who were talking to Amos through the car's window. Nathaniel Harvey, 29 of 1111 Scott St., and Henry VanRiddell, 50, of 1291 Redere Ave., were booked on holding charges.

EUROPE AS I SAW IT

The following is the second installment of a series of articles to be printed by THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE, describing the experiences, impressions, and first-hand knowledge gained by Charlotta Basss on a two-months' tour of three European countries—France, Czechoslovakia, and Russia.

Two days in Paris, mostly sight-seeing, and we were headed for Prague, Czechoslovakia.

It being September 16, and since the Defenders of the Peace Committee meeting was scheduled to open September 17, there was one day to spare. We decided to spend that day in Brussels.

Paris, except that section where poverty lurks, marching side by side with its companion, misery, is gay and cheerful.

But somehow Belgium presented a different picture. The aspect was dismal. Or at least it seemed so to me.

Brussels is an ancient city. Like most of Europe, the old castles, churches, art galleries, and administrative buildings have not been altered for centuries.

While I observed more Americans, American-made automobiles, and American products than in other parts of Europe, there was a definite feeling of depression in Brussels.

Idle men stood in small groups on street corners, while others sat around in parks and in city squares, dreaming. At what appeared to be an amusement center across the way from where we lunched, there was a game of chance which attracted many idlers who looked at those who had money to play at the games of chance, while they munched on a hunk of tough black bread.

One day is not sufficient either to describe or summarize what goes on in a city. However, we did meet one newspaper man in Brussels who enlightened us to some extent on the economic condition in the Belgian city.

He said that there was great unrest among the laboring classes. That despite the fact that they were under the Marshall Plan, prices were high and wages were on the downward trend; the homes and tenements where the workers lived were old and shabby.

I was not sorry when it was announced that it was time to take the plane for Prague.

It was about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, the time of day when the sun's rays are mellow and the air is rarefied.

We flew over Germany, the plane dipping low enough to see some of the shattered remains of buildings destroyed in World War II, and to get a full view of the famous Rheims Cathedral.

I understand that the plane we used to fly from Brussels to Prague, Czechoslovakia, was a Czech plane. It was easy riding. We were served a supper consisting of juicy ham sandwiches, French pastry, and champagne.

It was early evening when we reached the city of Prague. A committee of friendly citizens met us at the airport, and helped to interpret the language, as we again filled out three different blanks for the police and changed francs to crowns.

After the completion of these details we were conveyed to the Alcron Hotel, largest and most beautiful in the city.

This was my second hotel experience in a foreign country. My first was in Paris. I had the feeling that I was moving around in a free world.

I have stopped in fine hotels in New York and some other American cities. But always there are those so-called "white" Americans to object to the presence of a Negro, or at least to turn on you such icy glances as to make you quite uncomfortable if you are the least bit timid.

At the Alcron I was just another guest.

After a night's rest we were ready for the business we had come to this Czechoslovak city to transact.

The stage was set for the Defenders of the Peace Committee of the World Congress, in a beautiful auditorium in the central section of the city.

The first session opened on the afternon of September 17, with President M. Frederick Joliot Curie presiding. He was surrounded by the officers of the Congress, viz, Eugenie Cotton, president of the Woman's International Democratic Federation; Anezka Hodinova Spurna, vice-president, National Assembly of Czechoslovakia; M. Aragon, secretary of the International Bureau of Liaison of Intellectuals; Gabriel d'Arboussier, general secretary of the African Democratic Movement; J. D. Bernal, professor of physics, Birkbeck College, London (Great Britain).

Guy de Boysson, president of the World Federation of Democratic Youth; Gen. Lazaro Cardenas, former president of the republic of Mexico; Alexander Fadeeve, president of the Committee of Writers of the Soviet Union; Kuo Mo Jo, author and vice-premier of the Chinese Republic; Pietro Nenni, deputy, former minister in Italy; O. John Rogge, former assistant attorney-general in the United States; Louis Saillant, general secretary of the World Federation of Trade Unions; and general secretary, M. Jean Laffitte, author.

Other key people at the committee conference were: Georgette Lafitte, Dr. W. E. B. DuBois, Prof. Joseph Fletcher, of the Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, Mass.; Abbi Boulier, Catholic priest; Laurent Casanova, Fernande Quyoe, Borsari (Brazilian Parliament); Georges Feholatea, Miss G. Funke Johnson, Cromer Hall, Cromer Terrace, Leeds, England; Ilya Ehrenburg, of the USSR; and Charlotta Bass, Elizabeth Moos.

The main topic for analysis and discussion at this conference was the Stockholm Peace Appeal. It was my first experience to sit at a round-table discussion with a group of men and women who so completely divorced every other interest, personal or otherwise, from the subject at hand, and settled down to the task or responsibility they had assumed—that of saving the world from another blood bath in the name of World War III.

This was and this is it—The Stockholm Appeal' "We demand the absolute banning of the atom weapon, arm of terror and mass extermination of population.

"We demand the establishment of tsrict international control to insure the implementation of this banning measure.

"We consider that any government which would be first to use the atom weapon against any country whatsoever would be committing a crime against humanity and should be dealt with as a war criminal."

This is the document The Defenders of Peace pleaded with the peoples of the world to adopt at the Prague conference, and this is the document, in order to deceive the people, the greedy warmongers declared was Communist inspired.

(Watch for the next installment of this Prague conference. While in Prague, besides attending the conference, I also visited the factories, the churches, the schools, the farms. You will want to hear of these impressions.)

Stassen and Peace

Harold E. Stassen, president of the University of Penssylvania, former governor of Minnesota, and twice an aspirant to be a candidate for president of the United States, announced last week that he had written to Joseph Stalin, of the USSR, and had suggested that they get together and talk over the subject of world peace.

Stassen had met Premier Stalin in 1947, and because the meeting then had been fairly friendly, he felt quite sure that the Russian leader would accede to his request today.

Many people have the opinion that Stassen's letter, and the fact that he gave i to the newspapers, is only propaganda for another try at the presidency. They know full well that the people of America are sick of war and rumors of war. Stassen knows that, too, they reason, so therefore he is holding out a peace program to catch them unawares.

On the other hand all the peace proposals that the USSR has advocated, have also been termed propaganda by most of our American leaders. We haven't even accepted the challenge thrown down by Russia—of a meeting between the leaders of America and of the USSR to discuss world peace. Every peace proposal has been labeled "phony," and we rank and filers have meekly accepted that dictum and let it go at that.

True, our foreign policy is bipartisan. That means in the last analysis that it is dominated by Republican thinking. The Democrats in our government, including President Truman, have been led along by the nose by the Republicans for the past five years, so that today one would need a microscope to distinguish between a Republican and a Demo- a policy concerning peace. Or crat, especially when it comes to the war in Korea.

One and all are crying aloud for more war. More bloodshed. More confusion. More heartache. Never peace. And the people are sick unto death of such talk.

Now if we stubbornly refuse to listen to any of the overtures for peace offered by Russia, why shouldn't a politically wise individual, knowing what the people want, af least pretend to satisfy that overwhelming desire?

"Those of us who believe that the American foreign policy is utterly wreckless and leading us straight into catastrophe are effectively disfranchised," wrote Dorothy Thompson recently. "There is only one party, and it is a war party . . .

"And if there is a statesman in this country with courage to talk some sense and lead this nation away from certain disaster, he will be elected president. Despite the high-pressure sales talk, the people are hostile and alarmd."

Could be, she's right. And perhaps Harold E. Stassen read her column, and agrees with her. Anyway he seems to be the first statesman who has offered anything concrete in the way of settling the horrible impasse into which the world has drifted.

And if he goes on with a definite program for peace, he could be elected president in 1952.

RAPHAEL KONIGSBERG

For the Board of Education

A few days ago my daughter brought home from school a letter sent to all the children by your superintendent, Dr. Stoddard—a learned man, I'm told, who is entrusted with supervising the education of Los Angeles' children.

Written, no doubt, in the spirit of the great moral leader whose precepts the devout members of the Board publicly proclaim—who said "Suffer little children to come unto me . . ."—the letter told of your plans to drill our little children in methods of "protecting" themselves should the atom bombs fall.

Little children being filled with dread and hysteria! Little children being made the pawns and casualties of the dirty war! Little children coming home frightened and confused: "Mommy, look—I put my hands on my head and the bombs won't hurt me!" "Daddy, please—can't we move where there is no sky so the bombs can't fall on us?"

Are there any words in all the languages you teach—honorable members of the Board—to adequately describe the horror and revulsion every decent human being must feel at this monstrous thing you have done?

All the authorities say—and you teach—that children need security above all if they are to become sound men and women. We can have a strong and good nation only if our children are given the opportunity to build healthy minds and bodies. (And soon there is to be another White House Conference On Children issuing thousands of words of advice on how to raise America's children . . .)

How can we parents give our children the security they need if the schools—which should be helping us—destroy all that we can build up? Don't you—and those who think as you do—want America to be a healthy nation? Or do you want a nation of neurotics to be used as Hitler used the German jugend?

Will your next step be—in line with the Hitlerian lessons which seem to be guiding our nation's rulers—to tell the children to spy upon their parents? Why not? Is this more horrible than what you have already done? Will you protest that you wouldn't dream of destroying the sanctity of the American home which—you orate—is "the foundation of our great nation?"

The Enemy Within

You may reply that you did this thing because you were instructed to by "higher authority." We won't doubt it. We understand that this is an integral part of the war being waged against the American people and the democratic way of life.

Bout for that very reason you should be fighting back—if only to practice what you preach in your civics classes and to protect our children and our country's future. That's what you're elected for—not to collaborate with America's fascists, the way German educators did with theirs.

What is especially revolting about your action—you who presume to teach our children nonesty and intelligent reasoning—is the utter hypocrisy in your trying to shove the big lie down our children's throats, the lie that there must be a war and that we are in imminent danger of "another nation" dropping atom bombs on us.

When the truth is that those with whom you are collaborating are the only ones threatening to drop atom bombs! When the truth is that there is no defense against them—and all your drills will be futile!

Does this not show up the real purpose of your action—to use our children against us, as weapons against their parents' refusal to go all out for the national insanity which our rulers are manufacturing? Isn't it clear that your purpose is to further condition our children, and us, for a life of regimentation, war and insecurity—for American fascism?

Instead of having these futile, criminal drills, why don't you discuss with our children the possibilities of peace, the virtues of security? Why don't you spend your energies building more schools, training more and better teachers, developing more constructive curricula?

Why don't you educate our older children to an understanding of the real dangers which confront them and America and help build them into believers in and fighters for democracy—instead of perpetuating the lies and prejudices which they will have to unlearn as they grow up?

Yes, you and your kind want to condition our children for a world of war and death. We want them to live in and build a world of peace and life. That is the issue!

You have proved yourselves unfit for this task. We will have to do the job ourselves.

ACCOMPLISH YOUR MISSION!
SIGN THE PEACE PETITION!

DO YOU KNOW HIM?

Anyone knowing the whereabouts of a young man who would be between 28 and 33 years of age, who was brought to Los Angeles between 1925 and 1930 by his mother, Anna Daisie Coleman (now deceased) would perform a public service by calling the California Eagle, CE. 2-0033.

The young man was about 8 years old when he was brought to Los Angeles. His father, who was the brother of Mrs. Paralee Johnson Adams, is also deceased.

The Eagle seeks to locate the young man in connection with important information.

LABOR ON THE MARCH

DUST TO DUST . . .

There is a legend, fresh in the annals of swift-moving history, that the Jews of Germany were united finally in the ash dust that came from the blazing furnaces into which their bodies had been stuffed. The calculated barbarism of the Nazis had small personal meaning for most of them until it came their turn. . . .

John M. Lee

Like most of us who sit in the front row and watch while the architects of American fascism tease and toy with our constitutional liberties, the Jews of Germany wanted only to be right with the ruling powers. They wanted to be considered ineligible for the fate that was being prepared for other Jews.

It was a simple matter for their tortured minds and frightened souls to come upon the device of denying they were what they were. It was expedient to hide behind the apparent threat to a brother; it required little courage to desert the brotherhood of all Jews for the hope of safety for a single Jew.

The dust from the incinerated victims of German racism assails our nostrils daily, but we think only of the sneeze as we hustle to get in step with the parade. Yet neither the parade nor the sound and excitement that attracts our attention to it is of our choosing. We cannot resist its compulsion because we dare not question its purpose.

We must lie to ourselves, eternally it appears, because we are afraid to seek and examine into the motives of those who invite all to join a crusade that is based on freedom for some. We accept our partial freedom as we contend for a guarantee of the full freedom of those who would enslave us.

In the trade unions, the workers watch as their leaders vie with one another to get the greater amount of patriotism on paper. Even the simple elements of wages, hours and improved working conditions, have been compounded into a complex problem of loyalty and obedience to the government.

Divided on the basic issues, the workers are proving to be divided in fact. Lost in a maze of forbidding restrictions, they have been subdued to a point where the mere holding of a jub under any conditions is considered a great triumph. Far too few rank and filers have had the foresight to recognize that the so-called purges were, in reality, a sell-out that will eventually cost dollars out of their paychecks.

There are those in trade unions who are so busy trying to get on the right side and stay there, they lose sight of even their own personal welfare. They have learned nothing from the past. They look upon the future as a kind of utopian existence to be made possible by their currently blind devotion to the defilers of the constitution.

Organized labor, like other minority segments of our national population, stands to lose most in the present series of invasions of civil liberties. Yet there are few signs that the leaders of organized labor are willing to take a bold stand in favor of the constitution and all that it guarantees.

There was a time when there were no gas furnaces yawning for human fuel in Germany. There were only small things at first . . . like attacks on the civil rights of political minorities and the forces of labor—and the Jews. These were broad definitions that needn't have included those who thought they could conform. But without warning, the attacks were pin-pointed. They were levelled against individuals. And then the furnaces were lighted.

Perhaps we can rationalize that the Hitler hordes were unleashed against the Jews, and that's that. But the Jews are all of us. What they are, we are. What was planned and inflicted upon them, is planned for infliction upon us. The difference is in time . . . and place.

Only a coward will refuse to stand immovable against the brazen attacks on our freedom; only an enemy of the nation will succumb to the propaganda that the best guarantee of freedom is to curtail it for some and censor it for others.

As ash dust, we can find unity with others who waited too long to protest, but it would be nobler and wiser to seek a unity with the living.

Divide and Conquer

The practice of pitting one Negro against another has become a political trick by certain politicians who feel they have been successful in thus dividing the Negro people.

A recent tirade against Paul Robeson in the metropolitan press, using Dr. Ralph Bunche as the hammer, is a case in point.

The article lauds Dr. Bunche as the winner of the Nobel peace prize, and contrasts his conduct with that of Paul Robeson.

There is no one more delighted with the honors heaped upon Dr. Bunche, than we are, than Paul Robeson himself. But the writer of this article seems to think because one Negro, Dr. Bunche, was thus honored, all Negroes should now keep quiet and be content to remain the dirt of the earth for the white man to tread upon.

The writer describes Paul Robeson's way of life,—the honors he achieved in college, in Europe, on the concert stage, in the opera. And he seems to think the great Robeson should say nothing about the conditions of other Negroes, therefore, since he has been so well favored by fortune.

Dr. Bunche, we are sorry to say, does follow this procedure fairly well. He has achieved success and honor. So he is content to live on his laurels, while the other poor devils, not so highly honored, are left to struggle on alone.

But not Paul Robeson. "Because I or some other individual Negro has achieved honor and fortune," he has said repeatedly, "that does not mean that discrimination and persecution of my people has ceased."

Following his belief, Paul Robeson has sacrificed virtually everything in his life for the sake of bringing home to the American people the need for a fight to win first class citizenship for the Negro American. He gave up his career which was bringing him thousands of dollars each week. He accepted the mud-slinging, the red-baiting, the persecution instead of the plaudits of admiring friends. He became one with the persecuted Negro, discriminated against because of race and color.

The California Eagle feels no Negro in America has made a greater contribution for the advancement of the Negro people than Paul Robeson. Dr. Ralph Bunche, too, has made a wonderful contribution, but certainly his lamp of fame does not dim that of Paul Robeson's, and to compare the two, as was done in this article in the metropolitan press, and as is being done many other places, is but the old game of the politician: Set one over against the other. Divide and conquer.

It's about time the Negro people grow suspicious of their fine-feathered friends who come among them to dictate who shall represent them and who shall not.

DEFEAT PROP. 1

Formation of a women's committee to work for the defeat of Proposition No. 1, a proposed constitutional amendment which would repeal the state's personal property tax, was announced yesterday by Mahlon Arnett, general chairman of the citizens' committee opposing the measure in Southern California.

Mrs. John F. Snowden, junior past president of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers, Los Angeles County, First District ,was named chairman of the group, comprised of 18 Southern California women's activity leaders.

Health—and Private Profit

"The medicine men are poised over their tom-toms," is the intriguing sentence which opens a brilliant article by Jean Bergeman in a recent issue of The New Republic exposing the American Medical Association in its attack on the national health program.

The AMA calls the program Communistic, the same as everything else that will benefit mankind is being called Communistic. It has planned to spend over $1,000,000 in an advertising campaign this month of October, timed as to affect the November elections. The campaign against "state socialism" will use at least $560,000 in newspaper advertising, in addition to radio and magazine ads. (Needless to say The California Eagle will get none of this lush advertising.)

Besides this the 24 largest insurance companies promised they would "bring up their heaviest artillery" and cover the country from "coast to coast" 'to back the AMA against socialized medicine. The railroad companies, the private power companies, and hundreds of big corporations are uniting in this war against the health of the people, bringing the war chest up to a total of some $20,000,000.

One of their ads will speak of how the people united against "the fantastic promises of this un-American excursion into State Socialism."

"If the people were so united against the Administration's health insurance plan," remarks Jean Bergeman dryly, "the AMA shouldn't have needed such a costly campaign."

"In its desperate attempt to kill public interest in any form of federal aid—to train doctors, build hospitals, encourage research or lower medical costs," the article continues, "the AMA . . . has become a politically-minded, publicity-seeking organization . . . Whether or not it can inoculate the American people with its propaganda injection remains to be seen.

Fortune magazine, however, in an analysis of other grandiose campaigns to preserve the Free Enterprise system, has this to say: "The Free Enterprise campaign is shaping up as one of the most intensive 'sales' jobs in the history of industry . . . And it is not worth a damn."

We believe that is the verdict that will be given the many million dollar campaign of the AMA to influence the people this November in their voting for candidates who favor a health program for the people of America.

In his letter to the Hebrews Paul counsels, "Let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us, Looking unto Jesus the author and finisher of our faith; who for the joy that was set before him endured the cross, despising the shame, and is set down at the right hand of the throne of God."

Funeral Services Held Friday For Mrs. Louise Venerable

Funeral services were held Friday noon for one of Los Angeles' widely esteemed pioneers, who came to the city thirty years ago and was still active in church and community services at the time of her rather recent illness. The deceased, Mrs. Louise Venerable died last Tuesday at the age of 75.

The services were held in the chapel of Angelus Funeral Home which was filled with many who had known "Mother" Venerable, as she was affectionately called, either as good friends, club member, church worker or just as a motherly woman whom they had learned to love through personal contact with her. Flowers were sent in abundance.

Mrs. Venerable, who resided at 2955 Budlong Avenue, a half block from her son, Grant D. Venerable, engineer, well known in Greek letter fraternal circles, now engaged in manufacturing, lived with her daughter Neosho V. Tatum, 3912 West 27th St., where she died Tuesday, October 3, after undergoing an operation from which she never fully regained her strength.

Rev. T. Leslie Scott, pastor of Bethel AME Church where she has been an active member of some 28 years, was in charge of the service. Rev. J. M. Brown, who had known the deseased in her old home, Kansas City, spoke briefly and Rev. Ralph E. King, a former pastor delivered the eulogy.

The pallbearers, Dr. Clarence A. Bradford, Dr. John M. Robinson, Jr., Atty. Ivan J. Johnson III, Perry Parks, Jr., Dr. Lawrence D. Johnson and Arthur Bell, have for years been known to the deceased as her "boys."

Among those surviving, are her foster son, C. Blaine Venerable, prominent local business man, whom she reared.

At the time of her death Mrs. Venerable was a deaconess of Bethel AME Church, a member of Bethel Tea Club, Theodore Roosevelt unit of the Woman's Political Study Club and the Las Medranas, mother club of women of Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority.

Other survivors include Mesdames Thelma Taylor of Los Angeles, Gladys Porter, Santa Barbara, nieces; Henry Barner, La Jolla, nephew; Marjorie Tatum Mathis, of San Diego and Delbert, Lynda, and Lloyd Venerable of Los Angeles, Grandchildren and others in Michigan, Kansas and Missouri. Interment was at Evergreen Cemetery.

Holmes Avenue P.T.A. In Gala Celebration

The P.T.A., Parent Council and teachers of Holmes Avenue School had their annual "Get-Acquainted Party" presenting as their special feature the presentation of their new principal, Miss Dolores M. Delmaestro, Friday, September 29, at 8 p.m., in the newly-decorated auditorium of Holmes Avenue School.

The setting was one of warmth and beauty with the charming and gracious Juanita C. Macklin as mistress of ceremonies. The evening was a round of enjoyable entertainment. The party opened with the Pledge of Allegiance, after which the entire group raised their voices in chanting "God Bless America," led by the versatile recording artist, Bixie Crawford.

Then came greetings from Mrs. Sadie Brown, president of the Parent Council; Mrs. Maybelle Allen, president of the P.T.A.; Mrs. E. Terry of the Pueblo Del Rio Housing Project; Mrs. Burkes, one of Los Angeles' veteran school principals; and Mrs. Louise Mitchell, Parent Council Mother.

After the greetings, the entire staff of teachers was presented by Mrs. E. Estes, assistant principal. Corsages of recognition were pinned on the following: Mrs. E. Terry, Mrs. M. Allen, Mrs. S. Brown, Mrs. Cushinberry, Mrs. Leon Branch, Mrs. Wiley Saunders, Mrs. Eason, Mrs. Genevieve Crawford and the charming principal, Mrs. Delmaestro ,and Mrs. B. Terry.

Mrs. Terry in her own gracious way brought greetings to the group and spoke briefly on human relations, after which she presented Miss Delmaestro, the new principal of Holmes Avenue School. As Miss Delmaestro neared the microphone the audience rose and sang "Since We Knew You Were Coming We Baked a Cake," and Mrs. Allen came forward and presented her with a beautiful cake on which was written: "We Welcome You."

With a warmth of gratitude she accepted the cake and expressed her appreciation to the teachers and patrons. After this, Mrs. V. Avery presented a group in square dancing which stole the show and for 30 minutes everyone had forgotten their cares and drifted off into that Western atmosphere that only the West can present.

After the square dancing, the charming ex-Louise Jordan vocalist, Bixie Crawford, sang two lovely numbers that really brought the audience to a gay climax. After these numbers the guest led the line around the elaborately-decorated table which was loaded with delicacies of all sorts. No one seemed in a hurry to leave.

The Eagle photographer made many pictures of the group. The general atmosphere of warmth and a better understanding permeated the entire group and the community feeling that finally they have gotten on the right track.

Friends and patrons were present from all sections of the city to say "Welcome," and "We are behind you" to the very gracious, charming and beautiful new principal.

"People watch,
Men march,
Pounding feet,
Drums beat,
Music plays,
Parade, parade!!"
—Original

By now, Angelenos know, without a doubt that the great town of L. A. must be an attraction to many out-of-towners and convention delegations!

Passing in Review

We immediately think of that huge Shriners Convention around the month of July with its colorful and lavish parades and mammoth shows. Then August brings us to fraternity-sorority gatherings with Alpha Phi Alpha, Alpha Kappa Alpha, and Delta Sigma Theta sharing honors at regional and post-national convention activities. And surely, let's not forget to mention the memmoth National Negro Insurance Convention around the same time.

Presently

As warm summer months have succumbed into fall, we find our town again booming with another convention; one that is well known to the country. And why shouldn't it be familiar to many for it is the 32nd American Legion national convention. Yes the Legionnaires have invaded our town and have come in droves to view and enjoy the wonders of a great city which has wholeheartedly given its "key" as a welcome gesture. Present and accounted for are some 3,277 delegates and families from all parts of the country which together number over 150,000. Many, many parade lovers will have endured the mammoth six-hour promenade of Tuesday past, and the humor packed parade of the "40 et 8" (fun organization) on Monday, by the time this column is read. Yes, the old tune "I Love a Parade" will remain in the thoughts of many for a long time to come.

And with so much life and movement surrounding us, we are inspired to become a part of the jovial spirit. This inspiration helps to keep us revolving within our social whirlpool of weekly activity.

Week-End Retrospection

FRIDAY NIGHT, the sixth of October, was an active night for the undergrads of Delta Sorority. Sorors Petey Bradford, Signora Howard, Danellen Mabry and Vivian D. Johnson were quite proud to acknowledge a very special invitation received from Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority of USC's fabulous 28th Street Sorority-Fraternity Row. New pledges of various sororities were honorees of the evening. Congratulations were extended by friends and fellow Greeks as visitations were made from house to house; this being customary at the beginning of each new school year. Other houses visited by the Sorors' were Delta Delta and Kappa Delta. Must say that the "houses" are really ultra in latest interior decorations and designs. Would really be a dream come true to see some of the 'sepia' sorority orgs obtain a residence!

AND ON THE SAME NIGHT, over UCLA WAY, Pi Chapter pledged 27 new girls in a very impressive ceremony at the home of deal of pledges, Eula Lee Narcisse. SUNDAY AFTERNOON, Upsilon pledged 7, using the FRIDAY NIGHT CONTINUED— The creative dance artistry of the Lester Horton Dance group was enjoyed by Dot Duvall and Audrey Shamroy as they acknowledge invitations to the preview of the next six weeks courses entitled "Afro-Cuban-Carribean." The dances consisted of studies of native dance patterns of the countries mentioned, and were very impressive. Classes convened on Saturday, Oct. 7, at the exclusive Hollywood Dance Studio. Reports have it that the exotic and soulful dance movements of lovely Carmen de Lavalade and the artistry of George Allen was unsurpassable . . . AND THE TAIL OF WITCHES, GHOSTS, AND GOBLINS will bring quite an attractive pre-Halloween affair to the public eye, the date to be announced. The Dance Studio will present a "Bal Carribe" (strictly costume) to raise funds for scholarships to the school. Dancing, prizes, and a floor show by the Horton Dancers will top the evening's attractions.

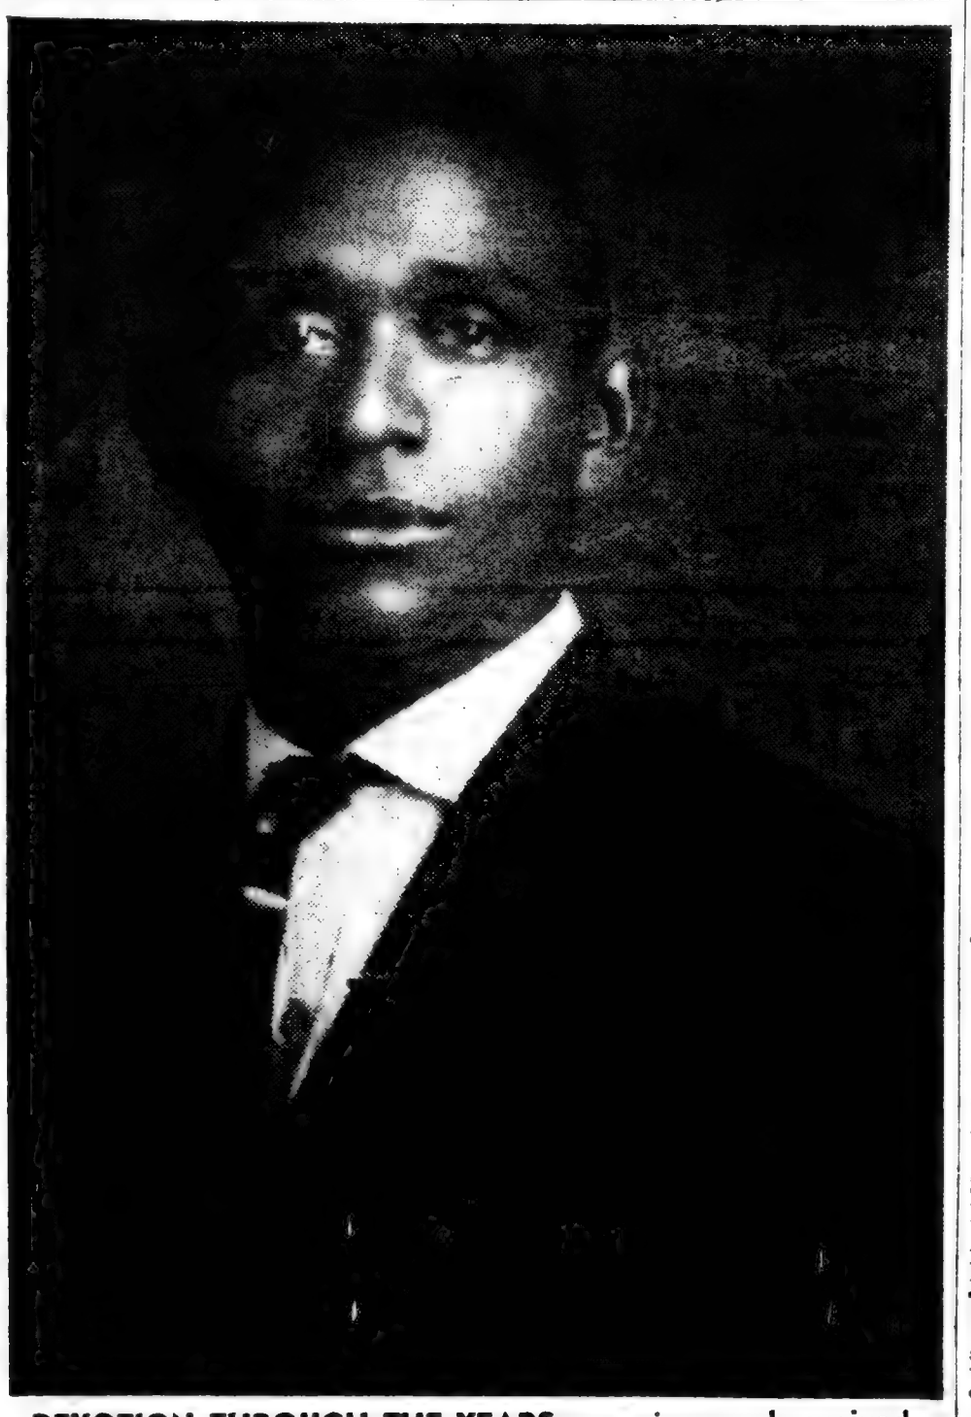
Birthday Celebration

A TRIPLE birthday fete was Saturday night's enjoyment for honorees Owen Knox, Mrs. Theo Thomas, and Adolphus Alcorn, all boasting October birthrites. The newly purchased South L.A. home of Mrs. Thomas was used for the occasion with Margaret Knox, Arlene Alcorn and Richard Thomas respective spouses of the honorees as hostesses and host for the evening. Aside from dancink, and the tasty repast served, gifts were opened and admired. Took time out to notice such guests as Bill and Mildred Knox, Vernie Swiney, Ida and Samuel Knox, Dan Nash and Nita Thomas, Albert and Gloria Amour, Earl and Mildren Walter, Edgar Cage, Carl and Loree Thomas, to name a few.



TO CONTINUE further hapenings, noted that the little sisters of Delta Sorority held a very successful "Kick-Off Dance" to really start the football season rolling with full force. On the scene was Joyce Robinson, and Milton Smith, Shirley Williams, Geneva Waller, Chuck Neal and Frances Spurlock, Wilma Johnson, Sammy Moore, Frank Rasbury, Whitney Arceneaux, Nathaniel Bouie, Noreen Johnson, Vivian Jones, James Howard, and Lawrence Winston. Leave it to the Pyramids to really entertain and draw the crowds.

Omegas! Front and Center

SATURDAY NIGHT coming up will find those good fellows of Omega frat entertaining in their newly purchased hose with a "Smoker" and a party following with the women of Delta as guests for the christening. The following week-end will bring about the official opening with an open party for all Greeks on Saturday, Oct. 21, and the dedication program on the following Sunday. On the dedication program beginning at 3:00 p.m. guests include Rev. L. L. White, Rev. E. M. Rakestraw and Mr. Brice Taylor.

DEVOTION THROUGH THE YEARS was given and received by George Daniels, who with his wife celebrated their 30th wedding anniversary in a special service at St. Paul's Baptist Church where they have been pioneer and loyal workers for many years. (See story).

JOYFUL ANNIVERSARY of thirty years of marital bliss was celebrated by Mrs. Sammella Daniels, who with her husband enjoyed a spirit-filled occasion in a service at St. Paul's Baptist Church. (See Story.)

Mr. and Mrs. George Daniels In 30th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. George Daniels, pioneers of St. Paul Baptist Churchand veterans in church work, rejoicing over having come to another milestone in their matrimonial sea of life, and others of the family, worshipped Sunday morning in a great service at St. Paul Baptist Church.

The message was delivered by Dr. R. N. Holt, their former pastor, Pastor Branham being somewhat indisposed. Dr. Holt is now pastoring in Phoenix, Arizona.

In that usual masterly way, he held a mammoth audience spellbound using the text "Your Rock Is Not as My Rock." St. Paul's is a tribute to the work of Dr. Holt, a job well done.

Another appreciation was the beautiful decorations, baskets of flowers, consisting of gladiolis and dahlias given by their children, George Jr. and Oliva Shepard, honoring their parents.

The Daniels were college chums during their early school days, both graduating in their late teens with honors from the college department of the famous South Carolina State College.

Delegations of Canadian women and youth, coming from provinces, went to the Ottawa Parliament on September 7. They asked the Government to start negotiations immediately to stop the Korean conflict from turning into a world war.

Mr. H. B. Cavers, M.P. for Lincoln, refused to see a deputation which had traveled 500 kilometers.

Mr. Alan McNaughton, M.P. for Mount Royal, answered the delegates by saying that "the Western powers should use the atom bomb first."

On the other hand, not a single one of the Quebec M.P.s, who know how much their state is attached to the cause of peace, (recently 75 town councils and 654 mayors have approved the Stockholm Appeal) dared to show himself hostile to the pledge the women of his state wanted him to take.

LEBANON:

Many demonstrations took place in the big cities of Lebanon, demanding a cease-fire order in Korea and non-intervention in the internal affairs of the people.

The population followed these demonstrations with much sympathy, and the campaign of signatures to the Stockholm Appeal gained in impetus.

A few arrests among those collecting signatures took place, but they were released a few hours later.

GREECE:

"We who for six years have tasted all the bitterness and misery of the American occupation, who have lived through the horrors of civil war, can see the truth about Korea. The American planes which murdered our women and children of Korea, and setting the country ablaze."

(Extract from the protest sent by the Union of Greek Democratic Women to the United Nations.)

GERMANY:

Madame Margarete Roth of Frankfurt writes: "I have seen the newsreels on the bombing of factories in Korea. As a mother it made me shiver, and the indignation of the public showed me that others felt as I did. We know from our own experience that alongside the factories there are houses in which mothers, women and old folk live. We do not want to see such scenes again."

FRANCE:

be shown because on three occasions the public disapproved violently.

In a very crowded cinema in the center of Paris, when the military maneuvers were shown, the public, from stalls to orchestra seats, greeted the sight of tanks in combat positions with loud whistling.

Family Night Gathering For Alpha Frat Men

The first Friday of each month has been designated as Family Night at the Frat House. The men of the three local chapters of the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity gathered on Friday last with their wives and sweethearts to celebrate family night.

Dr. and Mrs. Roy Andrew and James A. Robinson, Jr., with Mrs. Robinson were the official host families for the evening. They planned interesting entertainment for the many guests in attendance. Huge baskets of flowers were placed at points of vantage throughout the reception rooms giving background for the dancing party.

THE UNITED STATES

Alarm at the penetration of troops under General MacArthur beyond the 38th Parallel in Korea was voiced in a statement issued by Dr. Clementine J. Paolone, chairman of American Women for Peace.

"A bitter and prolonged war" is threatened by this action, she warned, urging instead an "immediate cessation of hostilities in Korea and the withdrawal of all foreign troops" to enable free elections to take place.

The statement was embodied in messages to President Truman and to Mr. Nasrollah Entexam, president of the General Assembly of the United Nations. Meanwhile, peace committees throughout the nation have begun a campaign of letters, telegrams, and delegations to the United Nations protesting the crossing of the 38th Parellel, Dr. Paolone announced.

SHARPS & FLATS

ALBERT J. McNEIL
Music Critic of the California Eagle

Egotism in Musicians

In Webster's dictionary, one finds under the letter "E" the word EGOTISM. The definition of this word is stated as being "vanity, conceit." Egotism is a word which should never be in a musicians vocabulary, yet we find that it persists in red letters so vivid that we cannot see the good works done by so many musicians.

Self-esteem should be given all of us by ourselves, but when we get to the place where we do one thing well and gloat in its goodness and glory, that is when we cease to learn or live. I have been acquainted with such musicians. I cannot say that I am sorry because I always hope they will wake up to the facts of life and really live, for the world is going on and is passing them by.

We often wonder why people have to be this way. In a book of psychology written by Travis and Baruch, both professors at the University of Southern California, an explanation is made. They say, "The conceited person is the person who needs to bolster himself up, which is something fundamental—often basic affection—is lacking. He has been disappointed so utterly in his early years that fear of repeated disappointment makes it impossible for him to become deeply involved in any human relationship." Being intelligent a musician should search himself for these unspeakable idiosyncrasies which tend to envelope him.

This does not include all musicians, but to the few it does include may they take heed.

Shifting Tastes of the American Public

No more interesting shift in public taste has been recorded on the American musical scene than the sudden popularity of chamber music. Not long ago the plaything of the anobbish, pretentious and arty elements of the listing public, chamber music within the past few years has discovered an audience as loyal and devoted, if not yet as populous, as that which supports symphony orchestras.

And while its devotees are not yet as numerous as those commanded by solo recitals they are much more reliable in their patronage; even many an established recitalist these days would like to be assured of an audience as regular and dependable as those of the best chamber music events. Chamber music may not hold the excitements of symphony or opera, but its satisfactions are in their way no less gratifying. They are simply different ,and we may be proud and grateful for the large number of opportunities the Los Angeles public is being afforded to discover these differences.

Wonder why Ann Allen kept glancing our way???? Petey Bradford, Lincoln University grad, is fast coming the object of affection for a few that we could name, but will skip for the moment!! Glad to note that Py Taylor is out with the crowds once more after a recent automobile accident, and boy what a hilarious personality! Quite a few friends of Matthew Wheaton bidded him adeau about two weeks ago as he departed for, 'guess,' the Armed Forces! Hear that Clifford Westfiell breezed through town last week showing off his khaki attire. Cute as a bug's ear and shapely to, so the fellas say, is Signora Howard ex-Talladega co-ed attending USC, and also just as fair is Fannie Williams. Andrew Wallace is quite the man over USC way being one of the first big-wheel Omega men to attend in some time . . . J. R. and M. S.!! what's happening!? Is it really true what they say about Dixie!!? . . . Just a parting thought 'til next week, Emerson once said "The only way to have a friend is to be one." . . . That's nine 'til next time . . .

ALAMEDA PROTESTS HIGH RENTS

The Alameda County Independent Progressive Party this week called on all tenants whose landlords are increasing their rent to protect their legal right and protest the increase.

KINLOCK'S CORNER

(This reporter showed up for active duty with Uncle's boys Monday bright to discover that Samuel has placed us in the Enlisted Reserve Corps for a spell. Aw, shucks!)

A Pome in Memory of A Guy Named Joe

Woe is me
And you
And all of us

Only difference . . .
He's dead.

Joe's the new-born
Baby dead.
Joe ain't used to it yet.
Joe don't know what Hit him.

Just a minute ago.
A breath ago
There was no difference . . .
Between Joe and me
You and Joe.

He don't know
How bad
His body looks.

Caps where hot Bullets
Plowed his insides and Reaped his life.

Bloody pools, strangely red
In the gray slime
Of an Alabama road.
Joe's blood
Yours or Mine.

WHAT THE HELL IS JOE DOING DEAD?

Who killed Joe?
Why?

A mob killed Joe
Because Joe's voice
Strong and clear,
Had sounded out
In the Battle Hymn
Of the Republic.

Just a minute ago
A breath ago,
Joe's dead voice
(Or mine, or yours)
Had sent fury
Crashing
Against their ears.

"If you Bastards
Can't Respect My Skin,
Then Respect
My Uniform!"

Joe's voice . . .
Surrounded . . . but strong
And clear

Joe's Murdered, black hand,
Or mine,
Or yours
Streaking a red puddle
Into the churned earth
Of an Alabama road.

Joe's murdered hand.
Trained to fight fascists overseas,
Itself killed
By fascists at home.

Traitors!

Who are they? —
Who fill our hearts
With bullets.
Who make ourselves
A clammy hunk of stuff
To bury?

Hhere a mob,
There an army.
A hangman or a cop
On the corner.

They have many faces
And are traitors
Of many lands.

They are a band of hoodlums
Or a respectable meeting
Of the noted committee
Of the Honorable Congressman Dies.

Or a book
Full of six-syllable words
To prove That God
In all His wisdom
Created some men
To sweat and slave and stink
Out their lives.
And others
To smoke
Havana fillers
At five bucks
A throw.

Or a dirty little song
To poison baby minds . . .
"In 1492 . . .
Columbus was a Jew . . ."

Who are they?
And where are they?

Next door,
And a thousand miles away.
Retreating before Kharkov.
Advancing at Detroit.

In a room full of smokek
At the Biltmore.
Fat, pink, cultured gentlemen,
Senators and magnates.
Hating Roosevelt and Labor,
Freedom and the People's War.

Loudmouths, assassins,
Lynchers and weaklings,
Speech-makers and citizens,
Of standing.
A man with a mustache
Under his nose.

Or a torch in the streets
Of Birmingham,
Or ten thousand Jews
Buried alive.
Or a lonely lump
Dead in the mud
Of an Alabama road.

But the great truth
For Joe
And me
And you
Is to fight back!

Where they are a mob
And where an Army.

To fight back,
Where they yell,
HEY, NIGGER!

Where there is a man
Speaking poison lies,

And where they proclaim
JUDE VERBOTEN!
Or a machine gun
Or the Klansman
Next door.

But to fight back
Until our hands
Bleed at the task
And we are kicked
In the stomach.

To fight back until
An evil, dying ooze
Recedes slowly
Into the graves
Wt shall dig for them.

And then, tenderly,
We will lift Joe's body
Out of the mud.

Or mine,
Or yours.

Congressional Candidate Says Peace is the Paramount Issue

Editor's Note: Following is the statement issued by Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, 14th District Congressional candidate at her press conference held in the Alexandria Hotel last Friday morning.

I have just returned from an extensive two months tour of Europe where I visited both Western and Eastern European countries including France, Czechoslovakia, Belgium as well as the Soviet Union. From the people of these countries, I bring a message to the people of our country.

Peace!

The aspirations of people in Europe are to live in a World blessed with peace. It was indeed gratifying for me to find in the midst of talk of preventative war and atomic destruction, millions of people—the plain people in these countries—think only of peace and are building for peace.

I know that the people here in our own country will be glad to hear that all during my travel through the Soviet Union, I did not find a single sign which would indicate that the Russian people are preparing to attack the United States. They, like most Americans, have a fervent desire to live and grow up in a peaceful world.

The things that I have seen on my trip have convinced me more than ever that the plain people everywhere do not want a suicidal war in which millions will have to perish.

This is one of the reasons why I have yielded to the pressure of countless scores of people who have urged me to become a candidate for Congress from the 14th District. In this district made up mostly of working people and small businessmen and of all races, colors, nationalities, and religious faiths, the desire for peace is especially strong.

And this desire for peace is directly tied to the aspirations of the people in my 14th District, especially the Negro people who constitute the largest minority population, for adequate representation in the highest legislative body of our country. They are crying for a representative who understands the needs of the plain people who want peace, jobs, and equality for all.

Same Cloth

And I believe that the candidates of the two old parties will not be able to really represent the diversified population of the 14th Congressional District. They are cut from the same cloth as far as their demogogic program is concerned.

Therefore, I have accepted the nomination of the Independent Progressive Party to become its candidate for Congress from the 14th District. And I shall campaign on a platform to meet the needs and desires of the people in the 14th District for peace, economic security, freedom and equality for all.

SEND BASS TO CONGRESS

By Vera Simmons

Dear Charlotta Bass
Oh how I wish you would win
For the sake of the needy
For the sake of those who toil!

As good as it is
With all that we've got
But there is still room
For improvement lot

Every bit helps us
No matter how small
You Charlotta Bass
Will not fool us at all

So I believe
And I know it is true
If only some people
Could be just like you

You have broad shoulders
You have a bright heart
You always help people
When life is too hard

When you're elected
I know you will do
Justice for people
When they come to you

You who are voting
Don't fail don't forget
To send Bass to Congress
You will not regret

Then you will know
You have some one to care
Bass will not betray you
When she is there

NOTES FROM A NEWSGIRL'S NOTEBOOK:

If it's good entertainment you're seeking . . . you'll find it over at the Oasis where Bill Jones and Larry King present their Sunday afternoon "Jam at 4" sessions . . . BVA's can add another orchid to their bouquet for another successful affair, we're speaking about their recent Cocktail Party. . . . Joseph Makel can take the credit for circulating those beyoootiful girls that you see in those gay dresses passing out poppies to the many Legionnaires that have taken over the city. . . . Aha! Bernard Hamilton tells us "Human nature can do anything . . . even reverse the law of gravity . . . it is much easier to pick up a girl than it is to drop her." . . . Mary Anna Canty had a few friends over to help celebrate in a gay fashion her boyfriend's birthday. . . . Damita Jo, up and coming vocalist, opens at Billy Gray's Bandbox . . . we like very much Damita's version of "Sugar Foot Rag." . . . Dizzy Gillespie brings his new bop (in other words it isn't bop anymore) to the Club Oasis tomorrow night. . . . John Pettigrew keeps insisting "that he isn't married" yet we hear otherwise. . . . Letter from Paul "Pepsi-Cola" Davis now in Omaha. . . . That brawl in front of the Dunbar the other noon hour was over ex-champ Joe Louis . . . someone called Joe Louis a bum . . . now the fella's lookin' for his "two front teeth." Betty Jones and hubby, Mickey, two of the nicest people we know. . . . Our Advertising Manager, Paul Scott, pouting because of his induction in the USA Army. . . . Paul says "things were just getting O.K. too." . . . Hamp doesn't know it but he has invented a new bounce . . . and all the musicians are using it and bouncing too . . . we call it "Hamp's Bounce." . . . The same restlessness lies behind most divorces . . . cruelty . . . incompatibility and faithlessness, at least that's what Atty. Rayfield Lundy, our fave of the city's barristers, says. . . . The Leonard Youngs (Jean) are all smiles, they are the proud parents of a baby daughter, "Lynette." . . . and Jean says there's no obstetrician in the world like Dr. Louis Boddie. (With that we agree.) . . . Speaking of new additions we imagine that the Leroy Beavers Jr. are getting used to the new little lady at their household. . . . Turnabouts present something new with their "Gay Ninety" show Sunday at the Florentine Gardens . . . starring curvacious and talented Marie Bryant. . . . Martha Davis and hubby ringsiding at Oasis recently. . . . SUDDEN THAWT: "An optimist is an old lady who will stay up on the last night of the world to read the morning papers." . . . Billy Holiday nitely appearing at the Bay city's "Longbar." . . . Cecil Count Carter dropping by the office for a chat and looking better than ever. . . . Hazel Washington, spouse of "Rocky," has the kinda smile that's as "heartwarming as a baby's hug." . . . We think Rock's O.K. too.

NOTES, NEWS AND NONSENSE:

Don't know of any news that's made us happier in knowing that our cous, pretty Betty Scott, is well on the road to recovery. . . . Shirley Wiggins and her Louie have pfft'd. . . . According to all reports his patients wanta tag him "the painless dentist." . . . we don't know whether it's Dr. Bradford or Dr. D. Gray. . . . FINGERSNAP: Lives there a husband who hasn't wailed, out of abyssmal bewilderment, "What's biting you? Why can't you be satisfied? Always wanting to go somewhere or do something, whatcha want anyway? . . . To which the answer is usually simple and obvious . . . the lady is bored." . . . Reports have it that Lena Horne may co-star with Bert Lahr in Arthur Lesser's new International revue . . . but we're hoping she'll accept the role in "The Human Tragedy." . . . Cab Calloway heads the Orpheum stage show beginning tomorrow. . . . Nellie Lutcher doing soooo wonderfully in Sweden, Denmark, Switzerland and Belgium. . . . Aha this is good dept . . . Actor Jimmy Payne says "Though a woman now is Treasurer of the United States, the sex owns only seventy-fice per cent or so of the nation's wealth, showing that women's rights have some distance to go." . . . Can't remember when we've met a nicer person with a "down to earth sincerety" than Larry Kolpack, Hollywood Television Producer. . . . Songwriter Joe Greene comes back with another hit tune on Capitol label, "Be Easy, Be Tender." . . . Understand that the Joe Adams are vacationing in Canada while brother Arthur carries on. . . . Edna Thomas who turned in such a wonderful performance in Broadway's "Streetcar," seen frequenting the city's better spots. . . . If there are two fellas any more genuine thatn Joe Abrahams and Bill Robinson of the Oasis . . . then we'd sure like to meet them! . . . Garnett's seems to be the appropriate "Cocktail" atmosphere. . . . Eunice Wilson, charm and all, doing the spots the other A.M. . . . When Lillian Randolph, star of stage, screen and radio gets a moment to breathe she hardly knows what to do with it. . . . Stage revue, "Red White and Blue," getting nothing but raves. . . . With Leroy Prinz and Owen Crump producers. . . . Lila and Toni Moore enjoying their Oldsmobile sooooo much. . . . Comes that time again . . . which brings our closing thought for the week that "The bare truth sometimes gets scanty coverage."

ARTIST AND AUTHOR . . . Lena Horne, lovely starlet who recently returned from a European tour with hubby Lennie and daughter Gail, is shown here with author and writer Carlton Moss. Carlton co-authored with Helen Arstine the life of Lena Horne which they have titled "Lena Horne In Person." The book will be released sometime this week.

"No Way Out" Makes Bow

Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "No Way Out" for Twentieth Century-Fox, making its local bow at the Los Angeles, Grauman's Chinese, Fox Wilshire, Uptown and Loyola theaters this Friday, holds a promise of adult entertainment comparable to few pictures of the past and a prospect of courageous picture-making resembling none.

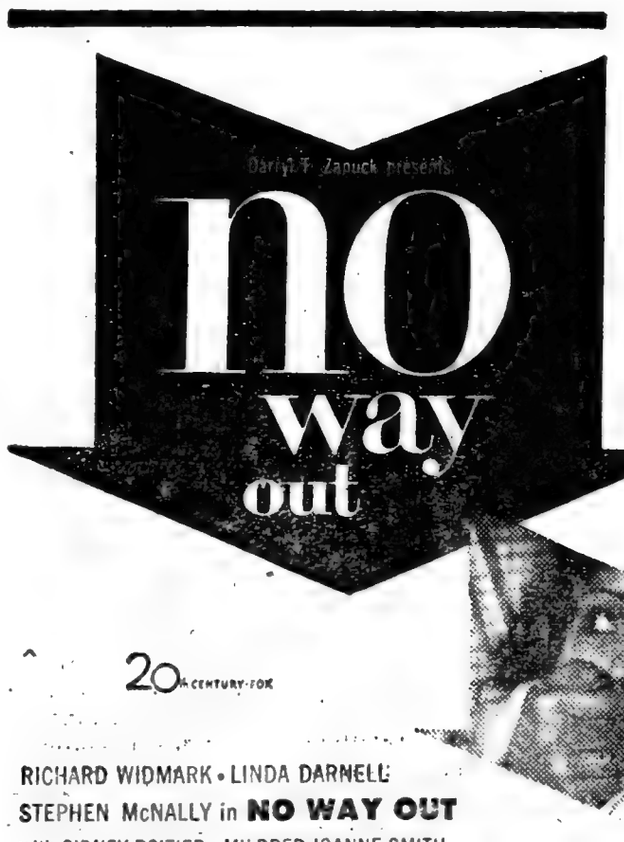
Giving the project his personal attention in the capacity of producer, he assigned co-author Mankiewicz himself to direct. The combination of Zanuck and Manikewicz on a single film is in itself enough endorsement for aware movie fans.

Richard Widmark was chosen for the key part of a vicious criminal whose blind hatred imperiaols the life of a big American city.

Linda Darnell has the principal feminine part as a lowdown accomplice who comes to redeem herself, and Stephen McNally costars as a man who realizes his responsibilities both as doctor and citizen.

For another major role, a young Negro interne around whom the action revolves as he becomes the central interest of an unbalanced mind, Sidney Poitier of the American Negro Theater was selected. Other players are Mildred Joanne Smith, Harry Bellaver, Stanley Ridges and Dots Johnson.

Zanuck has pointed out that "No Way Out" is not a part of any "cycle" of tolerance or racial dramas. It is intended as an entirely individual and independent film, with no similarity to other forward-moving message dramas.



RICHARD WINDMARK . . . plays his meanest role as a vicious Negro hater in "No Way Out," a precedent smashing drama produced by Darryl F. Zanuck for 20th Century Fox.

Diz Headlines Oasis Show

Dizzy Gillespie opens Friday night, October 13, at the Club Oasis, 3801 South Western, with his All-Star Sextette: Scat-Man Carruthers, and songstress Shirley Tucker.

Dizzy—goatee, glasses, necktie, beret and all—recently returned from a European concert tour. Sweden was the scene of most of the band's bookings, although one of the biggest concerts was played before 9,000 people in Copenhagen, Denmark.

Today, the new and different Dizzy Gillespie has a group that retains the excitement and great music but has added the very necessary dance beat. The "Bop" flavor is still retained to give the Gillespie band its famous sound, but the rhythm has been wisely tempered in order to allow danceability. Filled with the enthusiasm of the music his band plays, Dizzy leads his band with gestures that use all parts of his body. He is constantly grinning, mugging and doing dance steps while his group plays—putting on a show within a show.

Jam at 4 Sessions Prove Swingsational

Something new and entertaining has been added to the many music lovers who have been wondering what to do with their afternoon spare time, and just out of nowhere come two young men that possess everything it takes to put over such an idea.

We are speaking about the Sunday afternoon "Jam at 4" sessions at the Oasis that seemingly have given the much needed lift for entertainment. Sponsored by dapper Bill Jones and Larry King these sessions become better and better each week. On last week's session, swing greats included Dexter Gordon on tenor sax, Harry Morgan Jr., the newest "saxsation" in the musical stratosphere on alto sax, Red Callender on bass, Gerald Wiggins at the ivories and Forest "Chico" Hamilton on drums . . . both Chico and Gerald have just completed a European tour with Lena Horne, and John Anderson on trumpet.

Claude "Mighty Man" Maxwell and his band have been set for a two week engagement at the Shamrock Club, Pocatello, Idaho by Mort Ruby, road manager for Nat "King" Cole for the last five years. "Mighty Man" is creating quite a sensation with his unusual blues singing and his unique recorded version of "Goodnight Irene" is enjoying much success.

Terrifying Whisper Duel in Variantics

One of the feature attractions of Norman Temple's "Variantics No. 1" variety show will be the maddening East Indian Whisper Luel. Originating in Nagor Svarga, Thailand over 2,000 years ago, it will be presented to the American public for the first time Sunday evening, Oct. 15th, at Westgate Masonic Temple, 1308 S. New Hampshire Ave.

The duel, fought to avenge a man's honor, continues until one of the participants becomes a raving maniac. In this public presentation, however, the performers halt just before the breaking point.

Moose Inks Contract

NEW YORK CITY.—Bull Moose Jackson and his Buffalo Bearcats received their Christmas presents early this year in the form of a lifetime contract with King records. Since his debut on wax under the King label in 1947, Bull Moose has been constantly on the list of best sellers and rapidly climbed to the number one spot on the roster of King record stars.

In giving Moose a lifetime contract King records stated that, Moose can record for them as long as he is in the business and as long as he is satisfied with his contract.

Norman Temple's "Variantics"

Norman Temple's "Variantics No. 1," the first in a series of variety shows, will feature six outstanding Negro artists at its one-night performance, Sunday, Oct. 15th, at Westgate Masonic Temple.

Included in the cast of 20 variety acts will be Wesley Gale, whose sensitive, interpretive dancing has fascinated audiences of movies, stage and night clubs; LeRoi Antoine, incomparable baritone of stage and screen; Calla Scribner, who will perform her Afro-Cuban rhythms to the accompaniment of a drum; Jay Loft-Lynn, renowned concert, radio and musical comedy singer; Thelma Robinson, inimitable dancer, who will present an acrobatic-novelty and a Trinidad Calypso dance; Frank H. Hardy, spiritual singer, a new "find."

ON TV SHOW . . . Ethel Waters made a wonderful impression on her weekly new television show "The Beulah Show" that is televised in New York. Hattie McDaniels capably handles the nitely radio show here in the city over the CBS network.

Whatta Show! Vaughn, Rogers And Ellington

NEW YORK CITY.—Wednesday, Oct. 4 will go down in theatrical history as the day Timmie Rogers arrived on the theatrical firmament in a full fledged star, becoming one of the few Negro comics to crash that cloistered circle heretofore reserved for the Milton Berles, Eddie Cantors and Bob hopes.

The entire show which starred the music of Duke Ellington and the songs of Sarah Vaughan plus the comedy of Timmie Rogers made up one of the best stage shows seen on Broadway in the last ten years. The Duke was at his best and thrilled the audience with his terrific original compositions of the past and in the closing spot, Sarah Vaughan literally tore down the house with her original interpretations of song. The terpsichorian spot was ably filled by the amazing footwork of Teddy Hale.

Illini and Golden Bears Invade Southland for 'Big' Grid Weekend

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 12—This is the "Big Week" of the 1950 collegiate football season as far as the fans in Southern California are concerned.

During a span of 20 hours two of the most significant games to be played anywhere in the nation this fall—one an intersectional "natural" and the other a vital conference clash with a strong Rose Bowl flavor—will be held in the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum.

Tomorrow night at 8:30 the astounding Bruins of UCLA entertain the number one pre-season pick for Big Ten honors, the Fighting Illini of Illinois, in a game that could be re-played in Pasadena's Rose Bowl come January 1, 1951.

Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m. the University of Southern California Trojans and the University of California Golden Bears, both undefeated in conference play, clash in a conference biggie that will practically eliminate the loser from Rose Bowl contention.

Both games are expected to attract the biggest collegiate crowds of the yet-young grid season in Los Angeles, with early estimates ranging from 65,000 to 85,000 on both contests.

Illinois comes into the UCLA contest with a record of two victories and three defeats in intersectional play with Pacific Coast Conference teams, but the Illini are best remembered locally for their smashing 45-14 triumph over the favored Bruins in the Rose Bowl game of January 1, 1947. The only other Illini opponent in the PCC, SC holds a 3-1 series edge.

The Trojans and California go into Saturday's game with a series record of 17 victories for each school and three tie games, California's publicity department claims an 18-17-4 record, in favor of the Bears, by including the 1912-13 seasons when rugby was played.

Angels Look to 1951

With the 1950 season over the Los Angeles Angels can now look forward to possibly a brighter year ahead. They have just acquired a new manager, Stan Hack, and a promise from the parent Chicago Cubs of better treatment in the form of younger and better players. This would ordinarily be a blessing to a seventh place club, but inasmuch as the Cubs themselves finished deep down in the National League this past season and seemingly have no surplus talent and indeed will be drawing key players away from the Angels, then perhaps the L. A. fans must look farther ahead than 1951 for a winner.

Hack, who managed the Des Moines team of the Western League in 1948-49 and Springfield of the International League in 1950, is in town this week to confer with president Don Stewart of the Angels.

Just who will be on the 1951 team is still a mystery. Already slated to go up to the Cubs are Pitcher Cal McLish, Outfielder Frankie Baumholtz, Infielder Leon Brinkopf and perhaps a couple of others. Some of the veterans such as Albie Glossop, Elbie Fletcher, and Bob Sturgeon will probably be replaced with younger men. This, of course, depends on the war situation.

On The Turf

By GEORGE A. RAMSEY

CALIENTE OLD MEXICO: — Bruit an imported South American horse brought to the American soil by Mrs. John Payson Adams a few seasons ago, made his first start at the border course and captured the main event by five lengths. Breaking on top and handled by Apprentice Jockey E. Young, the son of Ipe-Miss Bulla, never looked back. Bruit was claimed at the Del Mar meeting for $1,500. As second choice in the betting he paid $7.20.

Mity Little was the winner of the secondary called "The Santa Maria Allowance" beating the favored Class Abbey by a half length, paying in the mutuels $16.60. Mity Little came from sixth place into the stretch to out game his field.

Apprentice Jockey A. L. Anderson was the star before over 6500 lovers of the sport of kings when he scored with four winners. Riding the first three including the daily-double that paid $62.65. When Easy Breeze was the winner of the second race, and Valdina Peer scored handily in the third.

Three horses were ordered withdrawn by Presiding Steward George Shilling when they ran away before the race. All money was refunded on the three horses. The quinela payoff was $82.60 when Big Rip a thirty to one shot nosed out Aratal the third choice in the betting.

The form players took a bad beating when only one choice was able to visit the charmed circle. That was Tinta Bar who paid $4.40. This Sunday Asst. General Manager R. John Alessio has arranged one of the best programs of twelve races to be seen at the border course in many weeks. Three feature events will support the card.

Main attraction will be "The Puppy" secondary "The Calendula" and third "The Full Moon." The fans will have another chance to win the $5,000 free handicapping contest. If no one picks the seven straight winners from the third thru the ninth a $500 consolation prize is given away after the last race. Watch for the new beautiful Caliente race track December 31th.

With the greyhounds at Caliente. Much excitement prevails at the Tijuana Greyhound Club as thirty two of the Tijuana Kennel Club's greyhounds preps for the rich Tijuana Derby to run Saturday night October 28th. This is the largest jackpot ever offered in the west. It carries an added value of $10,000. Popular General Manager William (Bill) Collier is busy night and day watching the fleet hounds train for this outstanding attraction. One of the largest crowds ever to witness a race is expected on Saturday night October 28th.

Soroptimist Club

The regular monthly luncheon meeting of the Legislative Council of the Soroptimist Clubs of the Southwestern Region, District No. 3, will be held at 12:15 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 14th at the Mayfair Hotel, Los Angeles.

Proposition No. 3 which is on the November Ballot, dealing with the Inferior Court System, has been chosen by Miss Mary Waters, well known attorney, as the topic for her talk on this occasion.

Dr. Bertram Betts, Assistant County Superintendent of County Superintendent of Schools, will present Proposition No. 1, "To exempt Personal Property Tax."

Mrs. Beatryce Johnson is the chairman for the day.

Lead Leagues; But Lost Titles

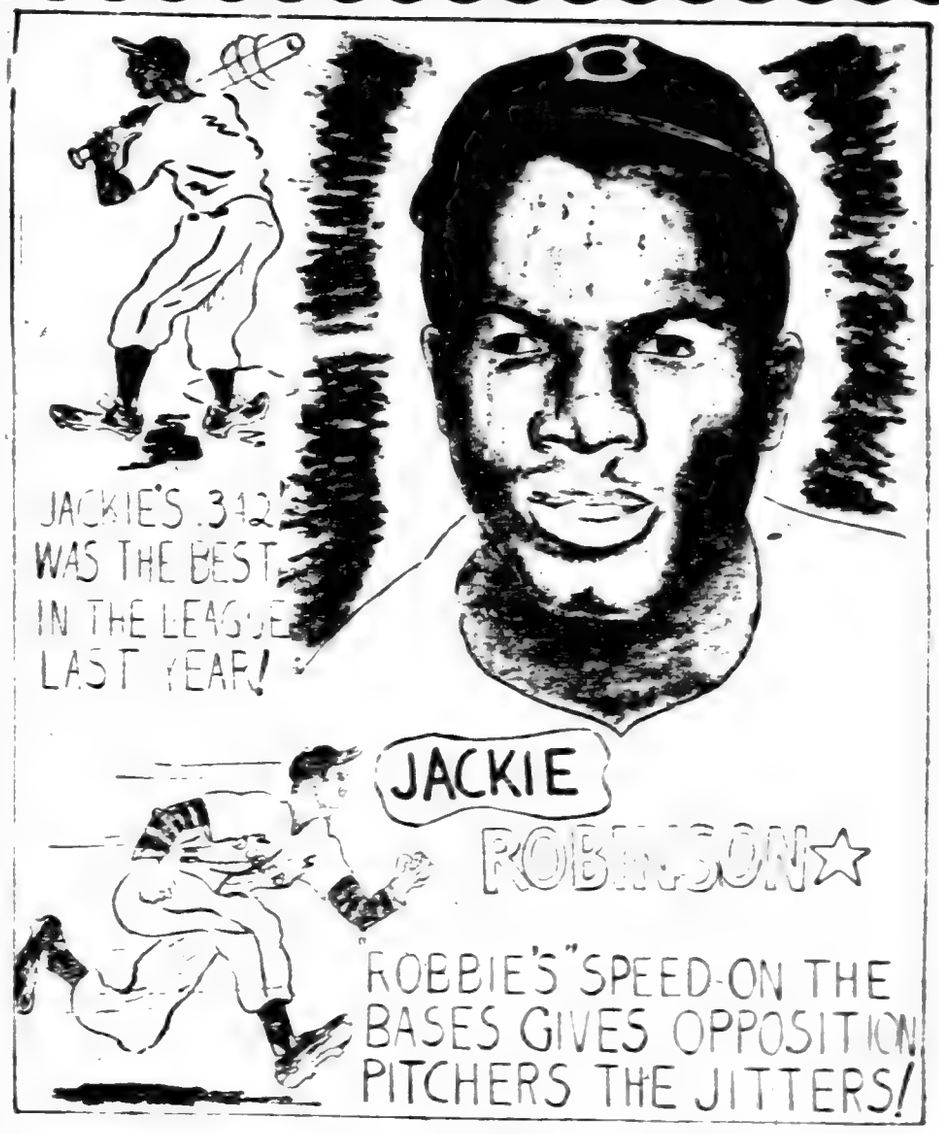
Although the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Boston Red Sox did not win their respective league titles this year, both clubs led their leagues in batting and fielding according to the final statistics released by the major leagues Sunday.

The Dodgers team batting average of .272 was far ahead of the pennant winning Philadelphia Phillies .265. They also got the most home runs, 194, made the most double plays, 183, and had the fewest errors, 123. The Phillies had 124 home runs, made 157 double plays and committed 153 errors.

Over in the American League Boston's .303 batting percentage topped Detroit's .282 and New York's .281. Cleveland got the most home runs, 163, followed by Boston, 160.

Boston made the fewest errors, 113, and the most double plays were put together by the cellar dwelling Philadelphia Athletics, 205.

The team fielding averages were very closely bunched. Boston and Detroit had an average of .981 and the Yankees were close behind with .980. All three were higher than the National league's highest, the Dodgers with .979.



Comparison of the two leagues figures reveals the very sharp superiority of the American League in all departments, which is probably why the National League has taken it on the chin in the World Series so much of late.

Award to Althea Gibson

Jefferson to Play Fremont

Close to 5,00 fans are expected to jam their way into Fulton Field stands at Jefferson High on Friday at 3 p.m. to watch a surging Democrat eleven meet the city champion. Fremont High, in what promises to be the game of the year for both teams. This is a game which should point the way to the potential champion of the always powerful Southern League. So far this year the Democrats have swept over all rivals in practice heats The Jumpin' Jeffs walked over Verdugo Hills 38-6, thumped Bell 58-27, and easily outpointed Edison Tech of Fresno 46-0. That's an average of 47 points per game, which is more success than the Democrats have had in pre-league play for several years.

While the Pathfinders will probably be favored, coaches Ragus and Marienthal and the whole Jefferson campus are confident of a Democrat victory. If they win, it will be the first time in ten years that they have defeated a team from Fremont.

PEN PALS CORNER

By BARBARA ANDERZA

Did you hear about that surprise birthday party given Audrey Eprings? Well, it was held two Friday nites ago, Peanuts and butters present were: Mattie Weaver, Leodious Mourney, Alice Estes, Leo Hamilton, Louie Carmichael, Reynold Burbank, Lorraine Mouton, Donald Mc Allister, J. D. Collins, and his brother Charles. Uups!!! almost forgot to tell you those responsible for the party. They were Teresa Prileau and her sister Lottie . . . You know? at the party? Audreys' that is. Well, Ledious Morney and Charlie Macon were playin it cool . . . Miss Hoy, the journalism teacher at Belomnt is really doin' a swell job over there. They say that since she has taken over the Belmont Sentinel, it has become the best in the city. There's a little shrimp, called Tip Bailey who is really comin' out on top under her guidance, of course. . . . Last Friday, Belmont vs Franklin. The score was 18-7 in favor of Franklin . . . Little Miss Mary Walton gave a party for her beloved two Friday's ago. A few of her many guests were: Jewel Glass, Leon Young, Charles Norman, Grace Jetter, Jody Clark, Percy Harris, Norma Jones, Pluto Russell and Alice Estes. Also Eugene Day . . . Poor itty-bitty Johnny Semana dislocated her shoulder playin football. Golly!! Johnny, that's better than dislocating your heart, which I think still belongs to that certain party . . . Miss Maryville MeDow gave a frantic little hop recently. Hoot owls present: Reynold Burbank, Noel Brown, Camille Billops, Jackie Garman, Don McAllister, and oodles of others . . .

Lover Man

I've the most darlin' lover man this week. Gosh gals but he is a dream. He's 6 feet tall, weighs about 150 pounds and has great big BEAUTIFUL eyes. He's a student at City College, and is studying to be a medical student. Yes . . . gals he's at that wonderful age, 18. Gads . . . but he's the most marvelous lover man that I've had next. His name, you've probably guessed by now, is Leo Hamilton.

News from My Mysterious Writer

It has been rumored that Shirley Alexander is going with Paul Bruce. Got the news from a friend of his.

Wonder if Vivian Robinson is still carrying the torch for Walter Floyd. Havn't heard anymore about it.

Barbara Wearer went crazy gettin' straight before Paul Westfield came back. She played so many boys while he was gone.

Who is that boy that Norma Pitts, Vivian Robinson, and Shirley Alexander were with the other Sunday?

Ruthard Andrews surely looked sharp the other Sunday all dressed in a fine suit, driving his 1950 Oldsmobile. It's a wonder Shirley Alexander wasn't sittin' in the front seat.

Ophelia Crawford must think that she is somebody. Just because of her and that cold of hers the club of which she is president had to cancel their beach party.

See Ya Later Pards.

Double Slayer Pays for Crime

Fifty-year-old Herman Avery died in the San Quentin gas chamber last Friday in payment for the slaying of his estranged wife and her mother in their home in San Diego.

Avery was arrested in Aprril of 1949 and charged with the double slaying. Police reports charge the killings followed a family quarrel. Avery is believed to have sought a reconciliation with his wife .When she and her mother rebuffed his pleading, Avery drew a pistol and fatally wounded both of them.

Both the wife, Mrs. Catherine Avery and her mother, Mrs. Astella Neal were well-known in San Diego.

The condemned man entered the gas chamber with another double slayer, Henry Gulbrandsen, at 10:05. They were pronounced dead ten minutes later.

Tenants Ousted

permits private persons in positions like the Metropolitan to exert pressure tantamount to censorship," the letter said.

"By penalizing those thirty-five tenants who have spoken out in this instance in behalf of civil rights, the Metropolitan would impliedly warn others who, in the future, are confronted with similar injustices, to refrain from any public, or indeed private, expression lest they risk similar treatment."

Discrimination

nuel Talley both of Los Angeles, have sued J. W. Rockefeller, owner of the Chic-A-Dee Cafe for refusals to serve them on three occasions because of race. The refusals occurred on September 8, September 12 and September 15. The plaintiffs seek both damages and an injunction.

No Great Principle

In denying the preliminary injunction Judge Fox stressed that the plaintiffs had other places to go for service, and therefore the need for an injunction was not urgent. Judge Fox further stated that "no great principle is at stake here" which requires the issuance of a preliminary injunction.

Attorney Richard W. Petherbridge argued for the plaintiffs that the right to service without discrimination in all place of public accommodation is a positive and unequivocal right. Petherbridge, who is associated in the practice of law with Herbert W. Simmons, Jr., further urged that this right is meaningless unless it is supported by the full weight of our legal machinery.

Following the hearing, Talley commented: "If Judge Fox had, as I have had, the experience of traveling through city after city without finding a restaurant where he could get food; if he had been compelled to spend the night in jail because on hotel would offer him accommodation, he might understand why ending discrimination is an urgent matter."

Date for a full trial of the suit has not yet been set.

A new course in plastics is being planned at the Roosevelt Evening High School.

Enthusiastic Crowd Roars Support For Charlotta Bass for Congress

"Will you fight with me? And will we win?"

The answer to those two questions, propounded by Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass as the close of a most informative and inspiring talk on what she had seen in Europe during a two months' tour, coupled with the problems of today affecting the United States of America, brought a resounding "Yes" from the enthusiastic audience gathered to hear her in the Elks auditorium last Thursday evening and to welcome her home.

Mrs. Bass is the candidate for Congress from the 14th Congressional District on the Independent Progressive Party ticket. She cut short her tour of Europe in order to accept this candidacy.

Speaking rapidly Mrs. Bass described the highlights of her impressions of the countries she had visited. She told of the poverty in Paris, France; of the lack of employment and the general

Sheriff Investigates Second 121st Street Racial Threat

Neighborhood hoodlums have for a second time in less than two months threatened the home of a Negro family in the 200 block on East 121st Street. The more recent case involves the home of Willie C. and Thelma Battle at 240 E 121st Street. The first threat was made against the home of John and Bertha West and their six children who live next door to the Battles. Attempt to blow up the West home failed because the gas had not been turned on in a main adjacent to which an oilsoaked length of canvas had been ignited.

Forestalled

A suspected attempt against the Battle home was forestalled last Saturday night when Mrs. Bertha West noticed a group of white neighbors collecting in front of the Battle's home. She telephoned Mrs. Battle, who called the Firestone Sheriff's office. When the officers arrived the group had dispersed.

Mrs. Ella Hudson, Civic Leader, Dies

SAN DIEGO—Mrs. Ellen Hudson, one of the best-known civic leaders on the West Coast, whose reputation and influence was national, died Tuesday at the age of 74 in a San Diego hospital.

A long-time resident of San Diego, Mrs. Hudson was a tireless fighter for civil rights and social justice. She was one of the most respected members of her community and numbered among her friends such leaders as Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune and Cali-

Two Brutality Cases Reported During Week

Police brutality, directed against youth in the Negro community was rampant this week, with two flagrant cases reported to the California Eagle. Indicating that the police are acting as political censors and are attempting to intimidate youth working to elect Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass to Congress from the 14th district, were found in the baseless arrest of Ikira Sanbonmatsu, 22, a leading member of the Young Progressives.

Young Sanbonmatsu was escorting several young ladies home Monday night following activities in the Bass for Congress headquarters on Central Ave.

At 79th Street near Central, the car in which they were riding developed a flat tire. Sanbon-

Mass Meeting Pledges Support To Woman Fired From Project

The Committee Against Discrimination in Cabrillo Homes held a mass meeting last Thursday night in St. Marks Baptist Church in San Pedro to protest at the dismissal of Mrs. Floyd Sibrie who has been the only Negro employed in the project.

The Housing Project Agency Loyalty Board fired Mrs. Sibrie because her husband had been chairman of the Tenants Council in the project, and had led in protesting discrimination practiced against Negro residents.

Protest

Determination to work until Mrs. Sibrie is restored to her job was firmly expressed by the mass meeting, and it was voted to send protests to Abner Silverman, PHA official in the Longfellow Building, Washington, D. C., against local administrator Dawson who admitted that he believes in segregation.

The meeting also repudiated the action of an NAACP delegation which met with assistant projects manager Sergussa and whitewashed the proven segregation practices followed in the project.

The Rev. Elijah James, pastor of St. Marks, and Ernest McBride of the Long Beach NAACP were principal speakers at the rally. Mrs. Mary Crockett is chairman of the committee, and Mrs. J. P. Silos is secretary of the group.

The SIDEWALK

By C.A.B.

At this time when there is a particular struggle for peace, when the people who crave and cherish peace are bing attacked on every side by the warmongers or their tolls, it comes time for the people who preach "Love thy neighbor as thyself" to begin to put in practice their preachment.

For two Sundays since I returned from Europe I have gone to church. On each of these occasions I have had to listen to a definition of Communism. Just definition of oCmmunism. Just that it is subversive. Or something.

I have wanted to hear some recommendation or demand that Lieut. Gilber be released from his chains in Korea and given his freedom. I have wanted to hear about some sincere effort on the part of people who are victims of persecution making a drive like The Stockholm Appeal for peace.

I am afraid that the Freedom Scroll is after the fashion of the Freedom Train. They exhibit but fail to enforce the Bill of Rights.

That hungry Negro American who visited a certain candidate's headquarters to expose a certain woman candidate's Communistic leanings should learn the truth about this saying: Truth crushed to earth shall rise again. You can stab a man to death with a knife, but you can't kill his character with lies.

The person who contends for freedom and justice for all, who condemns discrimination and race prejudice in Camp Roberts in California while our boys are sent to die in Korea, who fights police brutality and restrictive covenants of any kind, of course would be considered subversive by others who practice these acts.

Not those who scream "Communism" are driving out the enemies of our government, but rather those who fight those evils which are the termites of our social order, eating the foundations of our Constitution and our Bill of Rights which guarantee to all American citizens equality, freedom, and justice alike.

Wesley Prince A Casualty On Korean Front

Private Wesley Prince, an eighteen year old Jefferson High graduate lies dead somewhere in Korea. Killed in action, the youth leaves a family burdened with more than ordinary grief because they don't know what he died for.

His mother lies in her bed, having suffered a shocking relapse of a diabetic condition when news of the death of her son came to her in the cold words of a telegram from the War Department.

"I feel like he did it for nothing," one member of the dead youth's family said. There was no bitterness, only the quiet anger of frustration, prompted by the reports of discrimination against Negro soldiers by white officers in Korea, and by passages in letters received from Wesley.

". . . if you don't hear from me now and then, then you investigate. There's a whole lot to say and talk about . . ." he wrote in one of them.

As personal as is the tragedy of Private Wesley Prince's family, they view it broadly. "Wesley is gone. Nothing we can do will bring him back, but what about the other Negro soldiers . . . how can we do something for them?"

Nine Months Later

It was just last January that Wesley Prince graduated from Jefferson High School. Two months later he enlisted in the army, to learn a trade as he could work and help do his share in the family. He was a proud youth, ready to accept his responsibilities. There was peace and he enlisted in a peace-time army. Nine months later he was dead on the battlefield in Korea, and his family will never knew whether jimcrow or an enemy bullet killed him.

The Executive Committee of the Fisk University General Alumni Association met at the University this week and completed plans to close by November 2, the alumni campaaign to raaise $30,000 for equipping the new Fisk gymnasium.

Self Defense Plea Entered By Ted Gray

Theodore Gray, member of the Board of Deacons of the fashionable Independent Church of Christ, ordered held for trial in Superior Court on charges of criminally assaulting with intent to murder his wife and a roomer last August 5 in their home, 1125 East 53rd Street, will face the court in Department 45 of the Superior Court Friday, October 27. He will enter plea of not guilty.

Atty. Walter L. Gordon Jr., who has been retained by Gray, told newsmen the nature of the charges smacked of a pure "police case." The prominence of his client, the fact he is known to be a prominent churchman, may militate adversely for Gray in the public mind, the lawyer stated. Despite these factors, Atty. Gordon feels confident that he can win acquittal for his client on a self-defense plea.

Police who arrested Gray following the alleged severe beating he gave his wife and her alleged "boy friend," said the bedroom occupied by the Grays where the beatings occurred, resembled a horror scene. The roomer, Orville Phoenix, was a mass of blood and welts he allegedly suffered from the butt of a gun wielded repeatedly by the angry and jealous churchman.

Prior to the beatings, Mrs. Gray told police investigators, she and her husband had been visiting Phoenix in his room. She said her husband left the room and went downstairs. A short time after he called to her to "come on down." She said she asked him if he wasn't going to listen to any more records.

She said when she did come down to their room, she was grabbed by her husband, who began beating her. She screamed for Phoenix to come to her aid. At this point, investigators disclosed, Gray grabbed his gun and when Phoenix came into the room proceeded to belay him about the head with the weapon. During the melee, Mrs. Gray was knocked about the room and sustained innumerable cuts and bruises.

Delay Hearing In Overcharge Rent Cases

The Broadway Investment company Monday along with some 60 other realty firms and individual renters of dwellings, won a delay in court trials when they appeared in Federal Judge Pierson Hall's court to stand trial for a series of rent overcharges. The cases were set over until January 8 by the court.

Atty. H. Leonard Richardson, who told newsmen he was ready to go to trial on behalf of his client, the Broadway Investment company, these cases, owing to the nature of the offense charged, may not be criminal after all. He intimated the acts of his clients were at the most, mere border-line infractions of a law not yet quite definable.

Court Action Follows Denial Of Dunbar Liquor License

A writ for Mandamus Proceedings, filed through the law office of Atty. Walter L. Gordon Jr., here last week, seeking court action to compel the Board of Equalization's Liquor Control Division to act upon the application for the transfer of a liquor license purchased by a client last June 12, brought about quick action. But, in a negative sense.

The board denied the application made by Charles E. Murphy, 1001½ East 55th Street, for the transfer of the license of the Dunbar Cocktail Lounge, 4229 Central Avenue.

Following the adverse action, Atty. Gordon this week filed a petition with the board in Sacramento for the transfer of the license. The hearing in the matter is slated to be held here in the near future.

In denying transfer of the license Murphy purchased from Lucius Lomax Sr., the liquor control division here intimated the license was being denied on the grounds that the applicant misrepresented material facts in his application for the license, in that he is not the true party in interest. The board also stated as a further reason for denying the application, that the premises are not being operated as a bona fide eating place.

Persons familiar with the premises recall that the Dunbar cafe and bar has been operated there almost continuously since 1932. About 1934 Norman Thomas made the place famous when he redecorated the cafe and named it Chez Norman. The restaurant currently being operated by Murphy, had been previously operated by Louise Brooks of Cleveland, Ohio, one of the nation's foremost restauranteurs.

State Court Turns Down Loyalty Oath Victims

...democracy in death only?

DID WE FIGHT TO MAINTAIN DISCRIMINATION AND JIM CROW

THIS IS OUR STORY:

We are Negro veterans of World War II working at the U. S. Bureau of Engraving and Printing in Washington, D. C.

We fought at Peal Harbor, Bougainville, Anzio, New Guinea, Okinawa, Normandy, the Bulge . . .

We returned to our homes in the nation's capital in 1946 expecting to enjoy some of the democracy for which we had fought.

We felt that things would be different, that we would not be jim crowed on the job, that we would get a crack to qualify for some of the better jobs at the Bureau.

We took an examination for apprenticeship to the plate printing craft to get a chance at $24 a day jobs never before open to Negroes. We qualified, some of us high up on the list.

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing still wouldn't promote us. We appealed to the President's FEPC Board and in February, 1950, won a decision that we were entitled to these jobs.

The decision has been ignored. There is not yet a single Negro among the 500 plate printers at the Bureau.

We have appealed time after time to President Truman to order the Treasury Department and the Bureau of Engraving and Printing to respect the FEPC ruling.

He has not acted. We are still confined to the lowest paid jobs, solely because of race.

Now we are faced with the prospect of again being called up for military duty.

DO WE HAVE TO RISK OUR LIVES ALL OVER AGAIN JUST TO MAINTAIN JIM CROW? HOW LONG MUST BE STAND FOR THIS DENIAL OF DEMOCRACY?

WE APPEAL TO ALL DECENT AMERICANS!

- TO CALL UPON PRESIDENT TRUMAN TO END THE "LYNCHING" OF HIS OWN FEPC.
- TO CALL UPON THE PRESIDENT TO ORDER THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT TO PROMOTE QUALIFIED NEGRO VETERANS TO APPRENTICE PLATE PRINTER JOBS.
- TO URGE YOUR CONGRESSMAN OR CONGRESSIONAL CANDIDATE TO GET THE PRESIDENT TO ACT.

National Guard Enlistments Postpone Draft Board Action

Persons classified as 1-A under the Selective Service System may enlist in the California National Guard and have their order to report for physical examination postponed indefinitely if enlistment takes place before the local draft board orders them to report for physical examination, Major General C. D. O'Sullivan, the Adjutant General, said this wek.

The Office of the Adjutant General, Calif. National Guard, is in receipt of information to that effect from National Headquarters, Selective Service System, Washington, D. C.

In order to qualify for postponement, the individual must satisfactorily participate in all required drills and training programs. Evidence of satisfactory performance in a local National Guard unit will be furnished the draft board by the unit commander.

All delays and postponements granted pursuant to this order shall continue until a change occurs in the registrants' Reserve status which makes him no longer eligible for delay or postponement.

Whenever an enlisted Guardsman ceases to perform satisfactorily in his organized unit, the local board is authorized to terminate his delay or postponement.

General O'Sullivan pointed out that all Guardsmen, regardless of their Selective Service status, are subject as Reservists to call to active duty by their respective services.

Youths Arrested

matsu remained in the car with a Negro girl while the other passengers went to get a repairman.

Suddenly, the car door was jerked open and two men in plainclothes turned their flashlights into the car. Identifying themselves as plainclothes police, the men ordered Sanbonmatsu from the car. When the youth alighted, he was swung around roughly by one of the cops, and he fell to the ground.

One of the officers hovered over him and threatened him with his flashlight. They ordered Sanbonmatsu to stand while they rolled up his sleeves and examined his arms for needle marks. "You act like you're full of dope," one of the cops told him.

Both cops searched the car, and when they found leaflets bearing the message of peace and other principles in Mrs. Bass' platform, one of the cops asked the youth, "Do you believe in this stuff?"

"Yes," Sanbonmatsu replied strongly. "Those are the things FDR stood for."

"He wasn't so hot," one of the cops responded. "Don't you know that all that peace bunk is put out by the Communists? And don't you know that the Progressive Party is Communist?"

Sanbonmatsu was locked up in the 77th Street jail on a battery charge. He was later released in $250 bail provided by the Civil Rights Congress.

William Cris

The second case involves William Cris, also 22, who was on his way to work at 10:30 the same night. The youth entered his car in front of his 79th Street home and was about to drive off when his uncle drove up. The youth was talking to his uncle when two plainclothes police drove up and ordered him out of his car.

As he alighted, young Cris was struck several times. His mother, who had been summoned, asked the cops what was happening, and they told her it was none of her business.

The cops searched Cris's car and took a jack handle from the trunk. They took it with them and charged that he had attempted to assault them with it. His mother followed the police to the Watts Police station where her son is being held, but she could not find out why he was arrested. The Civil Rights Congress is investigating the case. The officers' names were gven as Sgts. Van and M. R. Page.

County Peace Officers Will Seek Retirement Plan Support

Los Angeles County Peace Officers and Members of the County Fire Service will ask the voters in November for the right to consolidate the two existing retirement systems under which they now operate into a single system, and to stabilize benefits that will place them on a comparable basis, as far as security is concerned, with men in similar services throughout California, including the City of Los Angeles.

The new plan, they emphasize, will provide, for the first time, decent protection for the men in these hazarodus and essential jobs. Among other things it will provide adequate security for the widows and minor children of participating members.

Small Cost

Important to the voter is the knowledge that these benefits can be obtained for the insignificant additional cost to the average taxpayer, estimated at the outside, of less than a penny a week, according to Deputy Sheriff John J. Coady, chairman of the campaign committee for the Los Angeles county Peace Officers and Fire Service Retirement system.

"No portion of a tax dollar," says Coady, "can buy so much for so little."

For this negligible sum, he adds, the new retirement plan offers the county enormous benefits that connot be talked about in either pennie or dollars. For example, the system will go far to stabilize employment in these two services.

"At the present there is a considerable turnover in personnel. Every time a better job looms up a man resigns from the service to take it.

Stay on the Job

"The new system offers decent inducements for a man who has been trained in either one of these services to stay on the job. To have him stay there is of tremendous benefit to the county. At the same time it costs the county less in time and money to keep him on the job than to train a new man to take his place," Coady points out.

Paul Robeson Comments on Picture Ban

(Paul Robeson, Chairman of the Council on African Affairs, has issued the following statement regarding the action of Mayor John B. Bynes of Boston in barring his portrate from being exhibited in any public building in connection with a Negro Hall of Fame" exhibit being sponsored by the Harmon Foundation:)

The Mayors of our major cities seem to be determined to make the headlines these days. In New York and Chicago, municipal authorities are exposed as being in chummy alliance with the underworld. Now comes the Mayor of machine-ridden Boston claiming his share of the spotlight by forbidding the free citizens of the proud Bay State to look at my picture. He shall have his headline, but if his aim is to erase in the hearts of the people the kind of life for which I work and speak he shall not have his objective.

No amount of censorship can hide from the American people the fact that while the governmental apparatus is controlled by men who have no feeling of obligation for the people's welfare or the true national interests of our country. A combination of politicians and gangsters have united to fleece the people officially through high taxes and frozen wages, and "unofficially" through all types of graft and corruption.

They hide their deeds behind a thin, hysterical screen of anti-Communism and obvisously would risk atom-bomb war rather than exposure. But the people will not long be deceived. They will fight for peace, for friendship with the Soviet Union and with People's China, for a free Africa, and for a truly democratic American which extends full civil rights to the Negro people.

While Mayor Hynes spends his time tearing down pictures, I feel obliged to continue faking this message to the American people. I remain confident of their judgment.

W. Law of Savannah to attend the conference. Mr. Law is a member of the NAACP national board of directors and former president of the Savannah NAACP Youth Council.

Thirty Human Rights . . . U.N.'s new weapon against war!

An Unofficial Version By American Association for the United Nations

Because you live in the U.S.A., you have certain rights protected by law. You can worship as you please, write and speak freely. No one can break into your home or drag you off to jail in secret. These are only a few of your American rights.

Few people in the world have such rights. In many countries, rulers can gag and terrorize the people, silencing all opposition to aggression and war. When this happens, peace is threatened.

For that reason, the United Nations has adopted a Universal Declaration of Human Rights. Like our own Declaration of Independence, it is not a code of law, but a statement of principles. It contains thirty rights that may reshape the world.

Get to know these thirty rights. We can't be sure of peace until they are guaranteed for all men.

Truman Calls For War On Indo-China

The peace-loving people of the United States should answer Truman's call for war on Indo-China with this simple statement: We Want Peace.

In our country, following close on the heels of the President's call for war in the Far East, we hear a statement from radio broadcasters that we have not sufficient homes for our American people. In the same breath comes this statement: The government will give the French government a billion dollars to buy tanks and guns to slaughter human beings in East Asia.

But in France, one of the Marshall Plan countries, the people are slowly starving. The millions supposed to go to help them, is being used likewise for tanks and guns, for military equipment, to arm the country against an imaginary invasion from Russia.

And this other statement: Our government in its preparation for war is operating a plutonium plant in Richland, Wash. It's a very dangerous operation, said one commentator, but the Richland population don't seem to be afraid.

"Where ignorance is bliss 'tis folly to be wise."

The hysterically Communist frightened people of America should ask President Truman if this is another Korean pattern of people's assassination.

Deep are the American Negroes' rootes in this country, and great is their loyalty.

But only Negroes like Paul Robeson who have courage to stand up and fight against discrimination in government, in industries, in the United States Army, Navy, in travel and in education are the real loyal Americans.

As Atty. Gen. J. Howard McGrath said at a dinner given in his honor in Los Angeles this week: "The greatest strength of our country is to have at the helm of our government men and women of vision—men and women with vision enough to see into the future to make tomorrow a better day. I know that anyone who goes along the liberal road is likely to be called a Communist," he added. "But I believe that most people are too intelligent to be taken in by that any more."

Those are brave words. Coming from J. Howard McGrath they sound a little incongruous. Perhaps he is learning the hard way that even he and others like him could be haled before an Un-American Activities Committee, for advocating what the Communists really are working for—world peace and homes, jobs, health for everyone.

Let's hope the American people at long last will come to their senses as intelligent human beings, and not be scared every time a reactionary shouts "Communist" at them.

The Eagle Staff Supports Its Editor

Anyone who has ever heard Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor of the oldest Negro newspaper in the country and the finest weekly anywhere — The California Eagle—would understand fully why the little people of the 14th Congressional District are flocking to her banner as candidate for Congress from that district and why we of the Eagle staff are going all-out for her election.

Mrs. Bass spoke Tuesday morning at the Baptist Ministers Alliance meeting, held in the Southern Baptist Church, East 23rd Street. She showed fully there how and why politics should be made a part of one's religion. That there must be something wrong with ones' politics if he cannot put them into his religion, for a better government, for a better world.

"The ideology of one who serves his country well, is the same as that of Jesus," she told those ministers of the Gospel. "That is my ideology. Jesus did not seek the rich and the powerful. He went about in the highways and the hedges, seeking those who were hungry and cold and homeless, who were lost.

"That is what I wish to do. That is what all wish to do who seek to take part in our government because of a desire to serve. Some of you have criticzed me, and others who wish to serve as I do. But you are criticzing that which stamps us as being followers of the Carpenter of Nazareth.

"That is my offense—serving my fellow man. And upon this hypothesis I make my bid for election in the 14th Congressional District."

The ministers flocked about her after she had finished, and invited her to come again when she would be given more time. They want to hear more of Europe. They want to hear more of Mrs. Bass' philosophy which makes politics—the science of government which elevates the little people of the world—a vital part of one's religion.

It is for this reason, because Mrs. Bass serves with the wholehearted fervor of one imbued with deep religious feeling, and because we know that if elected, she will thus serve us and all the little people of America and of the world, that we, the staff of The California Eagle, will support her in her candidacy for Congress in the 14th CD.

Your Vote in Congress

Years ago when this country was still new, and each town had only a few voters, they used to meet in the town hall and discusse the laws they wished to have for the community. Then each one voted directly for what they believed best. And the majority won.

But today with a population of over 150,000,000, such a procedure would be impossible. So we elect some one else to represent us in Congress where the laws are made. We ask our representative to vote in our place, and in that way we, ourselves, make the laws of the United States indirectly.

Now of course it goes without saying that any time we send some one else anywhere to do a job for us we cannot do ourselves, we'll want that person we hire to do exactly as we tell him, as nearly as he can.

That's the way with sending some one to Congress to make our laws. We want our representative to vote exactly as we would, aas nearly as he or she can.

You hear a lot about our politicians, who promise to do so much—to do our job for us exactly as we would wish it. But so few of them do. After they're elected, they forget they've been hired by us to vote as we say. And they vote as they wish, usually to please the Big Business interests and the men of wealth.

When they do that, should we reelect them? And send them back to Congress to mis-represent us, instead of representing us? Wouldn't it be considered the height of folly to re-hire a man or woman for a certain job, if he failed completely in doing what we wanted him to do the first time? Wouldn't we hire instead some one we could trust, knowing he would do what we wish?

We can do just that in this election on November 7, so far as hiring a representative for the 14th Congressional District is concerned. If we elect Mrs. Charlotta Bass, editor of this California Eagle, we can rest assured every detail of our affairs will be looked after faithfully, and that all the laws we ourselves would have voted for, if we were given the opportunity, Mrs. Bass will vote for and work for to have adopted.

IF YOU WANT YOUR VOTE TO COUNT IN CONGRESS, VOTE FOR MRS. BASS, NOVEMBER 7.

—Vote for Bass—

Increasing Cost of War

Part I

Before the start of the Korean War, total federal costs for all purposes were about $40 billion annually—of which some 75 percent were for war purpoees, past, present and future. Now, because of our intervention in Asia, the annual cost of the war program ALONE is expected to exceed $40 billion—and the total federal budget will run over $60 billion, maybe $70 billion.

That is, if the current madness remains only the "biggest arms race in history"—as Business Week magazine calls it—and doesn't grow into a universal war. If it does, then the cost of that is any madman's guess.

These astronimical sums for war mean higher taxes. And where will these taxes come from? You're right, from your shrunken income and mine. Already the working people have been hit, just as a starter, with a $5 billion tax bill—as of October 1.

To demonstrate the characteristic "fairness" of these laws, the new tax takes 20 per cent more from an average worker than he paid in 1948—but only 13.7 percent more from a man with an income of $100,000. All this inaddition to the unfair excise taxes which we have been paying.

These billions for war mean also higher prices for us, as you know. The U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, which issues official reports on these matters, has announced that its wholesale price index has risen 18 per cent since Truman threw our men and honor into Korea. The increase in retail food prices alone is increasing 2 to 3 per cent a month since the intervention. We are now paying 29.8 per cent more for food, clothes, etc. than in June 1946 (when OPA was killed) and 75.5 more than in August 1939. A rise of at least 5 per cent more is expected by the year's end. (All these are very conservative estimates.)

These tremendous sums for war mean less for welfare programs for the people. The forces who give Truman's Administration its marching orders are demanding cuts in "non-defense spending," as the Magazine of Wall Street calls it. And in case we don't get the point, they spell it out: those "functions and activities which are postponable"—public housing, compulsory health insurance, aid to education, et cetera.

The Economic Royalists

According to them, America's only reason for existence is to produce for war. Everything else is non-essential. And, running true to form, it never occurs to these "patriots" that they should pay a fair share, or any share, of the war tax burden—out of their swollen profits, now the highest in history.

Corporation profits have reached the annual rate of $35 billion before taxes, and $21 billion after taxes. They've never had it so good. And they've never fought so fiercely to keep from parting with some of it. They are fighting against an excess profit tax—with the help of Congressional leaders who are urging us to make all the sacrifices. The Senate Finance Committee refused to pass such a tax on the rich, but rushed through a "soak the poor" tax which we began paying October 1.

While demanding that we give up our sons and dollars to support the Truman-Wall Street gamble in Korea, these "patriots" are profiteering like mad. Even the Army is complaining of the high cost of making war these days—just since the oKrean war started the cost of arms and equipment has gone up 90 percent! Even medical supplies for wounded American soldiers! Rubber is up 95 per cent, wool 50 per cent, lead 40 percent, and so on ad nauseum.

Senator Gillette, chairman of the Senate Committee Investigating Price Rises, declared: "None is hoarding bread, yet prices have risen 1 to 3c a loaf, or milk, which has gone up 1c a quart or more."

The papers, you will note, have been blaming the unwarranted price increases on "the hoarders," meaning the handful of misguided consumers who've bought a few extra pounds of sugar—but not a word about the unprincipled speculators who buy and sell huge quantities of foodstuffs and reap enormous profits. They are just good businessmen.

While profits and the cost of living keep soaring, Truman refuses to establish the price controls Congress authorized. But he is considering wage controls. Not satisfied with the limitless loot they're getting from the government, the patrioteers are getting ready to force Congress to pass a national sales tax and an additional tax on any wage increases which labor may win.

All this, and the Korean War has just begun.

What's it all for—this astronomical spending and taxing, this shrill demand for the American people to reduce their standard of living (Next week we'll discuss these questions).

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Dear Sir:

Your attention is especially called to the recent case of The People of the State of California vs. Henry Steinberg. This is the case wherein Justice of the Peace Myer B. Marion of Belvedere Township declared the County Communist Registration Ordinance unconstitutional. Judge Marion in his opinion called attention to the fact that in the event such a registration act were declared to be constitutional, "this could well mean the end of minority groups whose econmic rights, liberties and lives depend upon their existence." "There are, for example, many organizations in this country which decry all forms of discrimination against the Negro people. These organizations consistently promulgate views, programs and policies opposed to existing inequalities."

I specifically call this article to your attention, the text of which appeared in the Friday, October 13, 1950, edition of the Los Angeles Daily Journal. It is certain that none of the daily papers commented upon this particular analysis by Judge Marion. I am sure that upon reading the full text of this article, you will be able to divert considerably from the current notation that any one who opposes a County Communist Registration Ordinance is a communist. There are other factors to be dealt with and Judge Marion brings them out in his opinion. Although I am not a Communist, and never have been, or hope to be, I certainly feel that Judge Marion's timely comments merit the wholehearted support of the Negro press.

Very truly yours,
RAYFIELD LUNDY.

LABOR ON THE MARCH

LOST IN THE FOG

Actually men want little, and are contented with less. The entire concept of democratic struggle for the fullest realization of freedom, is a game which most of us play without really hoping to gain or win. Thru the years, the minority groups have been flattered by endless high - sounding programs and purposes dedicated to the end that they too will become full-fledged citizens of the republic.

John M. Lee

But for all the action and activities, the goal seems to be just as distant and the enthusiasm appears always to die at a certain point. The philosophy of the best for the entrenched ruling class, and the rest for the great masses of underprivileged, is as prevalent today as it was a generation ago.

The thoroughly cowered organized labor forces are preoccupied with the task of establishing themselves as strong adherents to the new-day patriotism that is sweeping the nation like a sort of atomic hypnosis. Content with shaking a feeble fist in the general direction of the enslaving Taft-Hartley Law, organized labor has abandoned completely the campaign to integrate Negro and other minority workers.

Interpreting loyalty to the Truman administration as loyalty to the country, the leaders of organized labor have willingly accepted an invasion of the constitutional liberties of the people as a substitute for the once popular campaign for civil rights. Negro workers are asked to, and are signing a freedom scroll which says in part:

"I believe in the sacredness and dignity of the individual.

"I believe that all men derive the right to freedom equally from God."

Yet when they seek to redeem the golden promise of those words they are treated to a large dose of gradualism or are charged with a lack of patriotic interest in the security and welfare of their country.

Perhaps in 1952, there will be a resurgence of the drive to pass a fair employment practices bill, but today fair employment is an Un-American proposition.

In the light of the unrefuted evidence that President Truman used fair employment as an election assist, it is not surprising that he no longer mentions the subject.

It is not quite so easy to dismiss the retreat of organized labor on the subject of fair employment. Considering that the labor movement has little to offer Negro workers beyond the opportunity of fair employment, it is apparent that the relationship between the two, already strained, will end completely unless the drive is resumed soon . . . and in good faith.

The so-called progressive or left-wing unions, many of which have large Negro memberships, seem also to have pushed fair employment into the background or completely out of the picture. While it is true that these unions are fighting against CIO raids and other attacks, they cannot use this as an excuse to abandon the struggle of the Negro worker.

It is axiomatic that to remain continuously on the defensive is to invite sure defeat. The progressive unions fighting back against heavy odds, have been backing into a corner for so long, they are getting a complex. A strong band of determined men and women, with a sincere purpose, has frequently overcome opposition from larger forces that have nothing except greater numbers.

There must be a reason for the existence of progressive unions, and that reason assuredly is to fight for the underprivileged. It is far better to suffer a complete defeat fighting for a true cause than to be vanquished huddled together in fright.

Those of us who recognize the density of the current hysteria must not become enveloped in the fog. We are so busy theorizing about the attacks on democratic freedom, we don't take time to do something about them. Making speeches and writing pamphlets won't do the job. Somewhere along the line, we will have to start practicing what we preach.

Now is the time to launch a well-prepared campaign to obtain jobs for the jobless, and a major part of that campaign should be devoted to extending employment opportunities for Negro and other minority workers. It's a tough job, but it's tougher to explain why it's not being done.

Marian Inglewood,
Los Angeles, Calif.
Dear Marian Inglewood:

I've learned from The California Eagle that Mrs. Bass is a candidate for Congress in the 14th District. That is very good news; and those who prevalied upon her to enter the Congressional race should be commended upon their fine choice. For many years, as you know, Mrs. Bass has waged a courageous and relentless fight for the rights of all people, and I am sure she would continue the fight, and be in a better position to do so, should the people elect her to Congress.

The people in Los Angeles, those on the East Side especially, have been complaining and crying for years about: police brutality, restrictive covenants, racial discrimination, etc., etc. Now they have a chance to do something besides talk about it. Send Mrs. Bass to Congress—and Mrs. Helen Douglas to the Senate! There can be no question of Mrs. Bass's integrity or her ability to serve the peopel wisely ,and I am sure no one doubts her moral courage. And the same holds true for Mrs. Douglas. Then what other qualities could be desired of a representative — integrity, ability, courage!

Maybe the citizens of Los Angeles would rather have another Jack Tenny, or another Richard Nixon, with their Un-American Activities Committees, and "Communist" Control Bills?

If the people don't get smart . . . soon and get together and elect their representatives, it isn't going to be long before they will not have the right even to think for themselves . . . not to mention the right of a free election.

In closing I would like to ask that you please convey my best wishes for the success of Mrs. Bass; and my sincere appreciation for all that has been done and is being done for me by my many friends "down that way."

Yours very sincerely,
WESLEY ROBERT WELLS.

(Note: Mr. Wells is at present in death row in San Quentin awaiting execution for having thrown a cuspidor at a prison guard, although the guard was only injured slightly and fully recovered soon. His case is being appealed to a higher court, and if he does not win justice it will eventually be taken to the U. S. Supreme Court.)

Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass
California Eagle
Dear Madam:

As one who voted for F.D.R., Wallace, Roybal, Doyle, Steinberg and the Negro candidate for L. A. Sheriff, (can't recall the name for the moment), it is natural that I should vote for you. Fifteen million Negroes NEED, SHOULD and MUST have A D E Q U A T E representation in Washington. And of course, this also applies to our Mexican-American fellow-citizens and other minority groups.

Until this is brought about, and until we have only "one class" of citizenship, NO American of any race, color or creed is truly "free," or "safe" in his person or possessions.

"Political" and "economic" (F. E.P.C., etc.) freedom are Siamese Twins and go together. Or like the "hen and the egg."

Strange indeed, but if Lincoln were alive today and running for office, at least 80 per cent of our people would acclaim and vote for him. However, anyone, trying to live up to his precepts, teaching and example today, faces the same murderous onslaught as then.

Yes, they were all persecuted from the beginning of dawn, to our present moment in history. But they all won because they were on the side of progress and evolution.

Those who are carrying on today in the continuation of this same battle shall also win, and for the same reason. For, NO ONE can stop evolution, or an idea for which the right time has arrived. And it is here, it has arrived. The giant humanity has come to life, and is on the march the world over. Eight million human beings can't be wrong. In hoc signe vinces."

ALEMAN SIGA

Dear Mrs. Bass:

I was awfully glad to know that you arrived home safely. I know what a wonderful job you did while you were in Europe. And then to come home to find that the people care so much for you that they have asked you to run for Congress in the Fourteenth District. Gee, that's swell! I do wish you all the luck in the world which you deserve so much. Only wish there was something I could do to help you win.

Lots of happiness and loads of luck. And I will pray to God that you will win.

So may God bless you always.
Yours truly,
EUGENE MURRAY.

COPY OF A LETTER TO THE AFRO-AMERICAN

Editor,

Baltimore, Md.
Dear Sir:

In your Letter Column of September 16th, I note a letter by Mr. Alfred Baker Lewis, in which he presumes to tell the Negro people what is good for them.

It is very strange that in this day and age the Negro people have so many "white fathers," but far too few fighters in the interests of the Negro people.

Mr. Lewis argues that a curious idea is being spread among colored people by the Communists and their fellow travellers that the war in Korea is a white man's war. This is completely foolish. The question is: Why are the Negro people dying in Korea? Why are American soldiers, both Negro and white, dying in Korea? Will, as a result of the Korean war, Jimcrow in Washington be abolished? Will the abolition of Jimcrow take place throughout the United States? Will Negroes be employed on the basis of equality in any job that they are capable of fulfilling? Will Jimcrowism be eliminated once and for all as a result of the Korean war? Will America cease to have Martinsville 7's, Trenton 6's and Ingram cases as a result of this war? Will there be Negro generals in the full

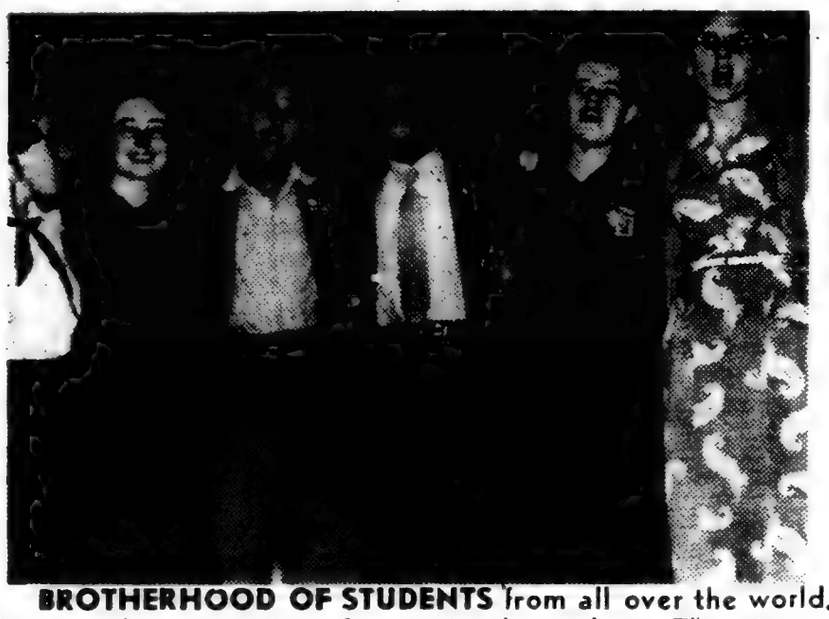
The Eagle seeks to locate the young man in connection with important information.

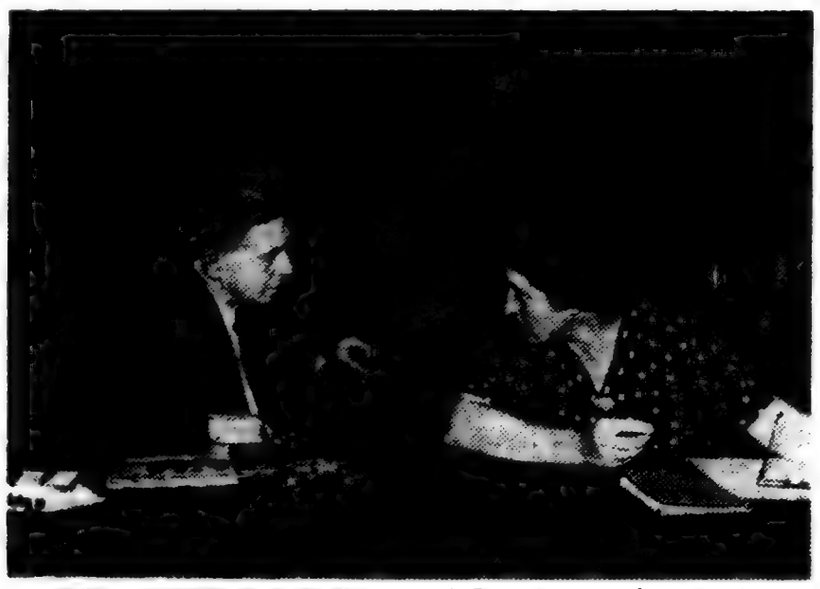


EUROPE AS I SAW IT

The following is the third installment of a series of articles to be printed by THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE, describing the experiences, impressions, and first-hand knowledge gained by Charlotta Bass on a two-months' tour of three European countries—France, Czechoslovakia, and Russia.

At the conclusion of the Committee of the Defenders of the Peace conference, there were many other matters of equal importance in Prague.

For example, a stone's throw from where we met, the World Student Congress was in progress. So it was just a matter of changing meeting places in order to attend this history-making conference of young people.



A vast newly-built auditorium was constructed by the youth of Prague solely for the purpose of this 1950 Congress. Its seating capacity was 3000. There were tables in rows of six, stretched across the floor space, and as far as one could see, every seat was occupied.

There was also a balcony in the front end of the hall with circular seats and counters equipped with ear phones, pencils and pads. In back of the balcony were offices, information bureaus, and press, rest, and lunch rooms.

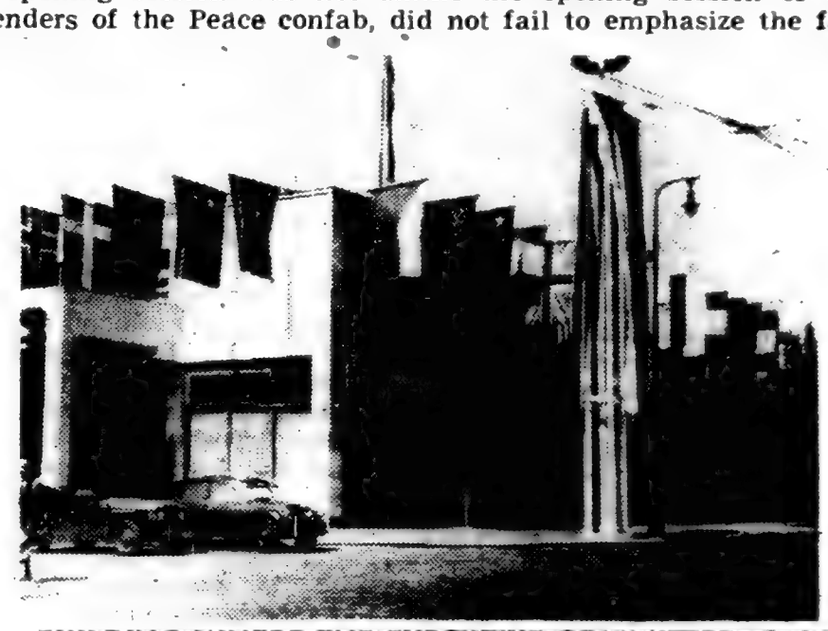
Every speech delivered was translated into five languages. If you understood French, German, English, Czechoslovakian, or Russian, you plugged the station you wanted and listened in.

At this Youth Congress the countries represented were: Viet Nam, French Africa, Albania, Argentina, Austrailia, Austria, Belgium, Bolivia, Brazil, Bulgaria, Burma, Canada, Ceylon, Chile, People's Republic of China, Colombia, Costa Rica, Cuba, Cyprus, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Egypt, Eire, Ecuador, Finland, France, the German Democratic Republic, Western Germany, Great Britain, Holland, Hungary, Iceland, India, Indonesia, Iraq, Iran, Israel, Italy, Japan, Korea, Lebanon, Luxemborg, Mexico, Mongolia, French Morocco, New Zealand, Norway, Pakistan, Panama, Peru, Philippines, Poland, Porto Rico, Reunion Island, Rumania, Saar, Spain, Sweeden, Switzerland, Syria, Trieste, Turkey, the United States of America, Union of South Africa, Uruguay, and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

The delegates from these countries were mostly young students. For five days they sat, as it were, at attention, listening to and taking part in discussions that concerned the welfare of a new world they are determined to build—a world of peace and not war.

This youth conference was not a carry-over from the Bureau of the World Committee of the Defenders of the Peace, headed by Joliot Curie, president, which had closed its session and most of the delegates had returned to their homes. It was a body of young people from all parts of the world, and they had come to Prague—not to have fun—but to tackle and as far as possible help solve some of the vexing problems that excite hatred of one nation against another, and that lead to war.



7. SEEN IN THIS PICTURE is the American delegation to the conference of the World Committee of the Defenders of Peace. They are: Dr. W. E. B. DuBois, Elizabeth Moos, Prof. Joseph Flettcher and Charlotta Bass. There are also representatives of Czechoslovakia in the picture.

They, too ,like the Defenders of the Peace advocate the adoption of the Stockholm Peace Appeal as a program for unity and a defense against another world war.

As each speaker presented his nation's message to the Conference, their appeals for peace were crystal clear.

Prague was the scene of the 2nd World Student Congress, and the opening session was not unlike the opening session of the Defenders of the Peace confab, did not fail to emphasize the fact that while millions of men and women had signed the Stockholm Peace Appeal, millions more were needed, said the students ,to avert another world war.

The first point on the students' agenda was answers to questions concering students' unity. The discussion was led by Speaker T. Madden, who said he wished to place before the body certain considerations for the further unification of the democratic student movement.

Never before in history, said Speaker Madden, have young people been able to live in such stirring times, and are ready and willing to assume such grave responsibilities and to envision such great future possibilities.

There was never a doubt expressed in their deliberations but that they realized that they were living in a world of changes more rapid and capricious than time itself.

A fiery enthusiasm ran straight through the five-day session of this second annual Youth Conference. They seemed to realize that their position was in the middle of an unprecedented struggle for a lasting world peace, and at no time was there evidence that these young students would give up fighting for peace until victory was won.

There was complete unity in the ranks. Unity is an indispensable condition for the defense of student interests, and for our active participation in the fight for peace and a better future, was the prevailing sentiment.

FAMOUS SPEECHES

The following are excerpts from some of the famous speeches made at the Youth Peace Conference.

One of the guest speakers, Prof. J. D. Bernal, sketched the history of the growth of weapons of mass destruction, and parallel with it the growth of the ideas connected with the mass slaughter of whole populations. He showed how in the last war indiscriminate bombing was commenced by the Nazis and at a later stage Germany experienced the same thing on a much more intensive scale, but even at the height of the mass raid on Germany, German production increased steadily!

His final thesis was that "The abolition of the weapons of mass destruction is necessary and sufficient for the establishment of peace."

The student delegation from Korea gave a report in which they traced the history of the trouble in Korea. "During the period of five years from 1945 until the first six months of this year, the American imperialists and their puppets in the Syngman Rhee government massacred in a barbaric way more than 200,000 of our patriots. . . . The democratic national front of Korea emphasized in its appeal to the people that our people do not want a civil war. Our people do not want to shed blood in the interest of American imperialists and their reactionary lackeys. The Korean people wish to unite the country in peace and are confident that they can achieve this and by their own means."

The report proposed a resolution in protest "disclosing to all nations and to the students of the whole world the barbaric deaths of the American attackers in Korea, and to send to the UN the request to stop the barbaric bombing and immediately recall the American forces from Korean territory. . . . Students of the whole world unite in the struggle against the instigators of a new war, unite in the struggle for peace, freedom and national independence."

Students from China, Africa, Indonesia, India, etc., also gave reports. I shall give excerpts from these and tell more of the conference next week.

BROWN ENDORSED

The Argonaut, conservative San Francisco weekly magazine established in 1877, today withdrew its endorsement of Edward S. Shattuck for attorney general in favor of Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, the Democratic nominee.

Its repudiation of Shattuck, the magazine said, resulted from his effort to smear Brown as a leftist." It accused Shattuck of playing "dirty pool."

"Brown," saaid The Argonaut, "is about as red as a Kansas Republican."

There is little chance that Alaska and Hawaii may have some chance of passage in the present session of Congress.

After another firm statement by President Truman, who said it was vital to the war effort to get action on both bills, the Senate policy committee placed them on a MUST list. But at the bottom, below the McCarran, Mundt-Nixon anti-civil liberties bills, below the routine calendar, and below half a dozen minor measures.

Heaven, or Hell On Earth?

By Aleman Siga

Which do you want? America has reached the "cross-roads," and each one of us must decide which "road" to take. Whether to the "left,' or to the 'right." There is no other choice and there "are no neutrals."

So, which road do you choose to take fellow-Americans? Do you want to be "with" your brothers and sisters—the REAL Americans, the real Christian people of this day and "atomic" age, who are striving with all their might, together with the rest of humanity, to bring about this "Heaven on Earth." To free America and the world of its endless wars, brought on by its "money-changers" and enslavers.

Yes, to really and truly "free" us. . . or, as one great American put it: "To give America back to the American people."

No, "fellow worshippers" of every creed, persuation and denomination. There is no other "Heaven," or "hereafter." It's either one or the other for those "here" now, or their children, who must live "here" after.

So, let us make it a better world for all of us, including our children and those yet unborn. You "still" have your choice—your ballots. But, don't "throw" them away on your two old and discredited parties of the warmongers, who have "sold you down the river"—a "modern" chattel slave to the money-changers and exploiters, with their "kept" press, clergy and other prostitutes in the pay of your enslavers—the real "Devil," with the D left off.

So choose your "sides." Join your brothers and sisters (whose "keeper" you are) and "enter the kingdom of Heaven" or be "damned" on earth, "hereafter," by those whom you have failed—your fellow-man, humanity.

So, the answer for YOU—fellow-Americans is: I. P. P.—the "new" party 'of the people, by the people and for the people." VOTE FOR IT and its candidates and thus help prepare for a better 'here-after."

sense of the word in charge of sections of the Army centers of such places as Camp Shelby, Mississippi, or for that matter, Fort Dix?

Mr. Lewis argues further that "actually the war in Korea is against aggression." If this is war against aggression and not a war to enslave colored peoples of the world, as Mr. Lewis states, pray tell us how does he explain that there was no war against the Dutch when they committed aggression against Indonesia; that there was no war against France who is committing aggression against Indo-China that there is no war against Britain who is committing aggression in Malaya, Burma, etc.? Why is it that we are not conducting a war against the rulers of the fascist Malan government of South Africa, who is today annexing Southwest Africa in defiance of the United Nations?

Mr. Lewis, like the whole white ruling class, is committing a fraud against the people when he argues that this is not a war against the colored peoples of Asia. Mr. Lewis knows very well that American imperialism is just as unwilling to give freedom and democracy to the Korean people as it is to the millions of Negroes in Mississippi, Georgia, Alabama, and indeed of America. He knows further that the American monopolists and Southern bourbons are united in their desire to enslave the Korean peoples as they have enslaved the Negro people of America.

These are undeniable facts and no amount of shadow boxing on the part of Mr. Lewis, the wealthy white gentleman from Connecticut, will escape these conclusions.

It seems that Mr. Lewis is interested not in freeing the Negroes, but in making some gesture or pretense at satisfying certain needs of the Negro people and Communists on the other hand demand complete equality and freedom of the Negro people and freedom and independence for the colored peoples of the world. It is for this reason that the Communists are so hated by American and world imperialism. It is for this reason too that only a few days ago the U. S. Congress passed the fascist McCarran bill, that would provide the jailing of all advocates of peace and freedom for the colored peoples of the world.

Very truly yours,
PETTIS PERRY,
New York, N. Y.

Dear Friend:

The way I figure it—my name is unimportant. You don't know the names of most of us who went to Spain with the Lincoln Brigade in '37 and '38. The important thing is that we've never stopped fighting fascism. No matter what form the fighting took—in the U. S. armed forces and merchant marine during World War II—or with petitions and delegations here at home—we've kept on fighting.

That's the big lesson Spain taught us. No matter how tough the going, you could never be licked if you didn't give up. In the long eleven years since 1939 we've had many battles with the Franco supporters in the U. S. Though winning many battles—and losing some—the struggle against Franco fascism continues.

Our inspiration has always been the heroic Spanish antifascists. I'm not saying it to sound heroic, but this I honestly believe — ultimate victory over fascism will be theirs and ours.

Millions of people whose names you may never know are determined that fascism will perish from the earth. Help us carry on our campaign to keep Franco Spain out of the United Nations. Help us keep our antifascist pledge.

Salud!
TOM LLOYD

To the Editor:

The following is a copy of a letter which I have just sent to Councilman Edward R. Roybal.

Dear Mr. Roybal:

May I take this means of expressing to you my deep appreciation of your courageous stand in the matter of the Davenport registration ordinances this last Wednesday.

Your statement as reported in "The Daily News" moved me deeply and filled me with renewed confidence in the essential health and strength of our America. It was a brave thing to stand up as you did, but you are wrong to think of yourself as "insignificant and alone." No man of courage is ever insignificant and when you spoke it was not for yourself alone but for the thousands upon thousands who have no way to make their voices heard. More than that you have given new courage to many of the fearful ones who have been afraid to speak out before.

It is not you but the craven liberals who have endangered their political careers. Reading your words I remember the young Abraham Lincoln who stood alone before the Congress of the United States in 1845 to protest the Mexican War as a war of unjust aggression — and who lived to be President of the United States and to save the Union. No, Mr. Roybal, your political career is not ended. There are great opportunities before you if you wish to take advantage of them. If you cleave to the conviction, which I believe you have expressed ,that the Bill of Rights belongs to all the people, whether an oppressed national minority or an unpopular political party, you will have no lack of supporters.

Sincerely,
MADELINE BOROUGH,

Dear Sir:

You have established a newspaper which is an outstanding exponent of human rights. You will, therefore understand the humanitarian motivation which actuates this organization. We have conducted a continuous, three-year battle—on very slender financial resources—against the inhuman practice of animal-torture known as Vivisection. We can prove by reputable, medical authority that this torture is unjustifiable and has no foundation in truly scientific fact.

Vivisection has been repudiated by leading church authorities and we feel that you, an exponent of human rights, will be interested in this subject and if convinced that the powerful Medical Lobby which fosters it is actuated by unjustifiable motives ,you would be willing to give the Anti-Vivisection Crusade some space in your fearless and outstanding newspaper.

The Los Angeles pounds are supported by the license-fees of animal owners. Two million dollars over and above the amount necessary for the maintenance and operation of these pounds have been contributed. Despite this fact—the vivsectors have used these pounds as agencies for animals destined for unspeakable tortures which are exploited as being beneficial to the human race. This animal-removal has taken place in defiance of our city charter which specifies the humane care and protection of animals.

The Congress of the United States decided that animals shall no longer be removed from Washington pounds for vivsection experiments by the Army and Navy.

Is this subject worthy of exploitation among a race which has always been kind to animals, and numbers numerous animal owners?

St. Augustine-Westview Fund Drive Is 'Full Speed Ahead'

The current fund-raising drive for the St. Augustine-Westview inter-racial hospital will go "full speed ahead" despite temporary withdrawal of Federal funds from the project, hospital, officials said this week.

Dr. Wilton L. Halverson, State Director of Public Health, notified the St. Augustine-Westview board of directors last week that a cut of 50 per cent in the Federal hospital appropriation has temporarily cancelled a promised $367,500 grant to the local project. However, Halverson's message said, the appropriation will be reconsidered whenever more Federal funds are available.

Postmaster Michael D. Fanning is in Washington to confer with Federal officials on the possibility of restoring the appropriation.

Archbishop J. Francis McIntyre said he is confident of the hospital's future. "I'm hopeful that next year we may be more fortunate in an allotment from the government," he said. "If there is any war trouble, the hospital will be needed all the more."

Councilman Kenneth Hahn, in whose district the hospital will be located, expressed complete confidence in the success of the project. "If the public subscribes its share," Hahn said, "I feel certain the Federal government will change its mind. St. Augustine-Westview hospital is a challenge to the people of Los Angeles. I know we can meet that challenge."

Scottsboro Boy Brings Hope of Prison Reform

TUSCALOOSA, Ala.—Haywood Patterson's brutality described in the book, "The Scottsboro Boy," is sowing seeds of prison reform.

Governor-Elect Person in his campaign speeches says he is going to clean up Alabama's prison system to eliminate brutality to convicts. He said that criticism of the prison system by Haywood Patterson, fugitive and author, was true.

"I know," says Persons, "I've been in prisons myself." His nomination is equivalent to election in Democratic Alabama.

Haywood Patterson is one of nine Negroes originally held in the Scottsboro case, in which two white girls accused the Negroes of raping them while all were hoboing a freight train in 1931. He spent 16 years in prison after his conviction and escaped in 1948.

Martinsville 7 Doomed To Die In November

The Martinsville seven have been resentenced to die on November 17 and 20. The new execution dates were set last week by Judge Kennon C. Whittle of the Martinsville Circuit Court, the same judge who presided at the original frame-up trial of the seven.

Judge Whittle acted following the refusal of a writ of habeas corpus on behalf of the condemned men by a Richmond judge. An appeal will be filed in the Virginia Supreme Court shortly according to attorneys for the men.

Group Acts

In Richmond, a Committee To Save the Martinsville Seven, plans an appeal to Governor Battle for a stay and a new trial. The men were scheduled to die last July 26. Their execution was stayed by a show cause order issued by Judge Doubles. A writ of habeas corpus sought from the same judge was denied two weeks ago.

NAACP attorney Martin A. Martin, defending the seven, will carry the appeal to the Virginia Supreme Court. A plea made previously was rejected.

Scheduled to die on November 7 are: Howard L. Hairston, Joe Henry Hampton, Booker T. Millner and Frank Hairston Jr.

Ordered executed on November 20 are: John C. Taylor, James Luther Hairston and Francis de Sales Grayson. The seven men were arrested, tried and convicted on a framed-up rape charge made by 32 year old Ruby Floyd, a white woman. They were arrested as the result of a two-day raid on the Negro community in Martinsville early last year.

Scholars Unite In Atlanta For Negro Life Study

One of the sidelights of the forthcoming convention of the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History will be the reunion of that well know group of scholars known as Woodson's "Boys." This get together will take place at the Association's convention which will be held in Atlanta, Georgia, October 27-29.

These men are planning to publish a volume of memorial essays in honor of Dr. Wodson, and with hundreds of other delegates, will seek to insure the financial stability of the history Association that was founded by Woodson in 1915.

Propositions On November Ballot Analyzed By The California Legislative Conference

The California Legislative Conference has made the following recommendations for voting on the State ballot propositions, November 7.

No. 1. Vote NO. Personal Property Taxation.

This measure would repeal the personal property tax, revenue from which amounts to approximately $150,000,000 per year. Since this amount would have to be made up in some other form of tax, it is felt that in all probability a new consumers' tax would be imposed such as increased sales tax, increased state income tax, increased tax on homes, etc. Repeal of the personal property tax can only benefit large tax-payers and place additional burdens on the low-income taxpayer.

No. 2 Vote NO. Constitutional Amendments and Laws. Naming Persons to Office.

This measure would prohibit the submission to electors of any constitutional amendment or law, whether proposed by initiative or by the Legislature, which names any individual to hold office. On its face, this proposition seems to have merit. However, periodically, the attempt has been made to restrict the people's right to the initiative which is the fundamental instrument of the electors. The powers of the initiative should remain within the people and any attempt to restrict, curtail, or abridge that right should be forthrightly rejected. The people may accept or reject any proposed initiative, but the right should be theirs to draft in any manner they choose. Too often in the past, the laws which have been written by the people have not been properly executed due to a certain unwillingness on the part of the Legislature or the Governor. A prime example is that of the Constitutional Convention which was voted by the people in 1934, to be held at a named date shortly thereafter. To date, the Convention has yet to be held due to the unwillingness of the Legislature.

No. 3. Vote YES. Inferior Court Reorganization.

This measure would establish a uniform system of municipal and justice courts throughout the State. It will eliminate much duplication and thereby save the public expense, inconvenience and confusion. It will create two types of inferior courts instead of the present eight different types. Each county will be divided into judicial districts, and each district will have only one lower court. A istrict with over 40,000 people will have a municipal court, a district under 40,000, a justice court. Each court will have as many judges as it needs. All judges will be elected by the voters of the district.

Recommendations for the other propositions will be given in later issues of The Eagle.)

Gies Pledged Action; Urges SCA Ban

By Unanimous Vote, delegates at the meeting of the Los Angeles County Chess League adopted a resolution urging United States Chess Federation officials to suspend Southern Chess Association players from national tournaments until they cease racial discrimination.

AUG 14th—PAUL G. GIERS, USCF president, wrote to Cosmo: "There can be, and must be, no discrimination in chess. Such practice would be wholly inconsistent with the spirit of our game, which has always been synonymous with equality and good sportsmanship. I am endeavoring to ascertain the complete facts in this matter . . . our Federation will take whatever action is in order. We will exert our influence to prevent discrimination of any sort."

With this uncompromising stand by USCF officialdom, the first round in the battle for democracy in chess. Although the USCF has no jurisdictional control over the SCA, it can AT THE LEAST guarantee that southern colored players will be able to compete for the next U. S. Championship. When preliminary qualifying tournaments are held in seven zones, two of which are in the south, and UNDER USCF CONTROL, if Negroes are barred we can expect the USCF to DISQUALIFY the tournament winners from competing for the national title.

Beyond that lies the task of stopping discrimination in ALL events, by suspension of SCA members if necessary, for they hurt chess in the U. S. and America in the world's eyes.

Any champion in a city or state which discriminates holds his title fraudently, having failed to meet all potential competition in his area.

Gilbert L. Skutt, superintendent of Los Angeles' municipal parks, was named an honorary fellow of the American Institute of Park Executives at the organization's recent convention in Dallas, Texas, the Los Angeles City Recreation and Park Department announced this week.

He was recognized as one of the nation's leaders in park administration and levelopment.

New Eligibles Under Social Security Laws

A substantial number of people will be eligible for old-age and survivors insurance payments under the new amendments to the Federal social security law, according to James H. Smiley, Manager of the Los Angeles Social Security Field Office .

Mr. Smiley listed three groups, not previously entitled to benefits, who may qualify under the new law:

1. Wage earners who have attained age 75 and are still working. Under the old law, if they were paid more than $14.99 a month for work in jobs covered by social security, no benefits were payable. The new law says eligible workers, age 75 and over, may draw monthly old-age insurance payments without giving up their jobs.

2. Minor children of deceased women workers who were not eligible at the time of death because they were living with and dependent on their father. These children may now be eligible to monthly benefits even though a lump sum settlement was made at the time of death.

3. Widows and young children of servicemen of World War II, whose claims under the old law were disallowed because the veteran died in service or died more than three years after being discharged. Under the amendment, veterans of World War II are now given wage credits of $160 for each month of military service.

$700 Million Insurance In NegroCompanies

The National Negro Insurance Association which recently opened its national office headquarters in Chicago at 4339 Drexel Blvd., announces that the more than four million Negroes holding policies issued by the fifty-eight member companies of the association saved $789,358,801 in inrurance during 1949.

Murray J. Marvin, executive director of the association, reports that the statistician's figures reveal that over $300 million MORE could have been saved if an additional million policyholders had not permitted their policies to lapse.

"It is in the interest of saving this additional three hundred million dollars that 'NATIONAL SAVE-YOUR-POLICY MONTH' is observed this year during October," Mr. Marvin says.

Georgia Woman Runs For Governor

Georgia, world famous for its chain gangs, its lynchings and its Klux Klux Klan, today is facing a crisis; and ready and able to lift Georgia from her slough of ignorance and disgrace is Helen Dortch Longstreet who is running on an independent ticket for the Governorship of her native state. It takes courage for any woman to offer herself as the gubernatorial candidate of her state, but when a woman runs for Governor in a Southern state on a Civil Rights platform, then the world sees somebody whose honest fortitude, magnanimity of soul and undiluted patriotism set her apart as one of the truly great spirits of the age.

Supreme Court Stands Firm in Sweatt Case

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The United States Supreme Court this week reaffirmed the right of Negro students to be admitted to state universities and colleges.

The Supreme Court had ruled last June that the University of Texas Law School would have to admit Heman Marion Sweatt, a Houston Negro, who had fought for this right clear up to the highest court of the land. But instead of obeying the ruling of the Court, the University of Texas asked for a reconsideration. The Supreme Court refused. And now there is no other recourse for the University but to obey.

The Supreme Court also refused to review a Maryland state court ruling that the University of Maryland must admit Esther McCready, a Baltimore Negro, to its nursing school. The ruling therefore stands in this case, as in the Texas University case.

ANMA Convention; Mrs. Bass Speaks

The Associacion Nacional Mexicana-Americana held its first national convention last Saturday and Sunday in Angelus Hall, with Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, candidate for Congress from the 14th District, as a guest of honor.

Mrs. Bass spoke briefly of the need for unity between the Mexican and the Negro people. She told how she had visited four countries in Europe, and in at least two of them—Czechoslovakia and Russia—she learned how the people there had found a way to live together.

"If we hope to win peace for the world, and to make our democratic government work," she said, "we must learn to live together and to work together. That is the only way by which we can have a government of the people and for the people."

Mrs. Bass was given a splendid ovation, and the pledge to work for her election to Congress as the one candidate who will really represent the people.

Alfred C. Montaya, president of the Associacion, presided at the meetings.

Supporters Cheer Mrs. Bass In Opening Campaign Rally

Close to seven hundred persons crowded into the Elks Hall last Thursday night to hear Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, California Eagle editor-publisher, and 14th district Congressional candidate open her campaign and give a report on her recent trip to several countries and give a report on her recent trip to several countries in Europe and the Soviet Union.

In a meeting stimulated by a large and energetic delegation of Young Progressives, Mrs. Bass called for unyielding support of her campaign for peace, jobs and security. Pointing out that both of her opponents in the two old parties were running on similar platforms, that are geared to the war machine and the worn out platitudes on civil rights, Mrs. Bass outlined a fighting program based on the needs of the district and the welfare of all the people.

Unity

She called for Negro-white unity in a campaign to bring fulfillment to the demand for Negro representation in Congress, and she challenged the concept of a democratic America which denies this right to 16,000,000 Negro Americans.

Demanding that the United States solve its own problems before its seeks to impose its will on Asiatic and other old world peoples, Mrs. Bass called for an end to the Korean war. "We ought to come out of Korea, and let the people settle their own business," she said.

Decrying the agitation for atomic warfare and preventative war, Mrs. Bass said, "All over the world, the people yearn for peace."

Dr. Edna Griffin, immediate past president of the NAACP in Pasadena, was chairman of the meeting. She paid tribute to the forces that are striving for Negro representation on all levels.

Dr. Griffin presented Reuben Borough, former public works commissioner and presently a candidate for state treasurer. Borough called for a heavy vote as a protest against the polittical machines and in support of the Progressive Party.

Harriet Jaffe, Young Progressive leader, speaking for the hundreds of young people engaged in the campaign to elect Mrs. Bass, told the audience that youth wants peace, and Mrs. Bass. She lashed out against police brutality against the Negro and other minority people, and she asked for an end to the Korean war. "Let's get rid of the atomaniacs and end the Korean war," she insisted.

Horace Alexander, campaign manager for Mrs. Bass, and an outstanding youth leader, keynoted the meeting with a stirring appeal for support of Mrs. Bass on a program of peace unity and security. "Negro representation can be realized through the unity of Negro and white voters behind Mrs. Bass," he said.

Paying tribute to Dr. W. E. B. DuBois, candidate for the U. S. Senate from New York, Alexander said, "Mrs. Bass will give the people in the 14th the same kind of unselfish representation as Congresswoman that Dr. Dubois will give in the Senate.

"We are going to win, "Alexander continued, "because the people want the kind of program we offer."

Ernie Leiberman, troubadour of the people, entertained the audience with folk sons, and led the community singing as well as the Star Spangled Banner.

Wife Sues Mate For Return Of Two Children

Despite the fact that her husband obtained a divorce in 1948 and has since married another woman, Mrs. Ethel January has on record a court action to force her exhusband, Jimmy January, to restore the two minor children born during their married life to her and provide for their support.

Atty. H. Leonard Richardson, who answered the woman's complaint this week described the action as a collateral attack upon a judgement. The January's, both well known in Berkley and Oakland social circles, reportedly came to the parting of the ways leading to the divorce courts in 1948 while Mrs. January was serving a light sentence in a Pleasanton county jail for petty theft.

At the time of the divorce action, the court awarded Jimmy January the decree and custody of the two minor children. In her action to have the courts amend provisions of the divorce decree, Mrs. January asserts she was never properly given notice in the divorce proceedings.

Mob Stones Home Of S. Carolina Federal Judge

NEW YORK—Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, today called upon U. S. Attorney-General J. Howard McGrath "to provide immediate protection" to Federal Judge J. Waties Waring and Mrs. Waring, whose home in Charleston, S. C., was stoned by hoodlums on October 9.

Previously Mr. White had wired President Truman and Mr. McGrath, warning them that an attack upon the Warings was threatened over last week-end and urging that "all necessary and proper precautions be taken to prevent what may be a tragedy both for the Warings and the prestige of America." These wires were sent on October 6. Three days later the unprotected Waring home was attacked.

Fiery Cross

Ever since Judge Waring, a native of Charleston, ruled in 1947 that Negroes must be admitted to the Democratic party in South Carolina, he and Mrs. Waring have been subjected to threats and verbal abuse by advocates of "white supremacy" in the city and state. On one occasion a fiery cross was burned near their home.

The World Series has netted the New York Yankees over $3,000,000 during the last thirty years. Of this amount Frankie Crosetti has pulled the largest amount out of the pool, $65,000. Joe DiMaggio has collected almost $55,000. Not bad for a few days work.

Ciro's famous Sunset Strip bistro, will furnish the backdrop for one of the season's most fashionable gatherings of the West's uppercrusters Sunday afternoon, when members of Sigma Gamma Rho sorority take over for the cause of education with their annual Scholarship Dansant and show.

The entertainment committee headed by sorors Jewel Anderson and Ruby Berkley Goodwin, have left nothing uncovered in their worthy effort to obtain the best entertainment talent possible for the occassion. They have gathered talent to keep an hour and half long action packed show moving steadily along.

For the dance period, Sammy Franklyn's orchestra will be followed by the music of Alton Redd's band. High on the list of noted entertainers, will be Soror Hattie McDaniel and members of the Buelah Radio Show cast.

Others will include singer Arthur Lee Simpkins, Josh White, noted folk songster current at the Mocombo, Betty Martina, Spanish - Morocoan interpretive dancer, Martha Davis, song and piano stylist, Betty Hall Jones, clever TV artist, "Scat Man" Caruthers, Armanda Ambrose and others.

Each holiday season, these young women present baskets of cheer to some family that is less fortunate than themselves. The proceeds from this affair will be used for this purpose. The public is cordially welcome.

Kappa Concert Pianist Is Accomplished Artist

Jules Haywood, the concert pianist whom Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity is presenting at the Philharmonic Auditorium on October 29 at 3 p.m. is not a stranger to these parts. Just a few years ago the young artist was graduated from the University of Southern California where he received the Bachelor of Music and the Master of Music degrees.

While at the university, he distinguished himself by appearing as guest artist with USC orchestra in its annual concerto program. He also presented a work of his own "Exposition Park," a suite for piano. This, in addition to completing and accelerated course of study in two and a half years, was indeed a feat.

Haywood's early music education was a self-taught, except for two years under Raymond Morris, outstanding late Negro composer, which perhaps accounts for the rare "singing quality of touch" which European critics so often refer to. Since then he has studied under such masters as Rudolph Serkin of Philadelphia; the Viennese composer, Dr. Ernest Kanitz; Lillian Steuber, John Crown and Alice Ehlers.

The artist's debut in Florence, Italy, was sponsored by Viennese Baron Anton von Moritz. At that time he included in his repertoire a composition of Samuel Brown, instructor of music at Jefferson High School, entitled "Blue Grotto." While in Europe he was the palace guest of the Marquis and Marquesa di Tuscany. A reception following one of his concerts in the grand ballroom of the historical domain, was attended by many of the noblemen of the country. Here too, the 23-year-old pianist, was made an honorary knight, an unheard of distinction for a Negro American.

Truly a citizen of the world by virtue of his sheer artistry, young Haywood speaks French, Spanish, and German fluently. While in Europe he lived in the French House of the cite Universitaire. The Kappa presentation of the pianist will mark his initial performance in this city following successful concerts on the Continent. Tickets are available from members of the fraternity, at the Southern California Music Company, and at all Mutual Ticket Agencies. This is an afternoon you can't afford to miss.

Riding Club Gains Praise

The Silver Spurs Riding Club is still receiving plaudits and acclaim on their spectacular showing in the Sheriff's Parade, held at the Coliseum in August. The only unit of color, the girls in their gorgeous blue and white fringed attire evinced favorable comment from Roy Rogers, Joel McCrea and others. Their plans are now being completed for participation in the Pasadena Tournament of Roses, which is internationally known. Also, plans are being discussed for the club's installation of officers, which will be a highlight of the Angel city's social season. Mrs. Faustina Johnson, club adviser, has recently returned from a flying trip to Boston, Mass., and points east, reporting a marvelous trip with reunions with old friends and acquaintances: Other member enjoying trips are Macie Howlett, vice-president, who is traveling eastward, and Julie Carrasco, who made a flying trip to Mexico City, returning to go northward to San Francisco. The president, Little Marie George, has called two meetings at her home on N. Commonwealth Avenue, in order to discuss business pertinent to the club. The next meeting will be held at the home of Martha Ball.

"By the lamplit stall I loitered, feasting my eyes

And the past week's activities brought about many colorful and interesting incidents to the limelight.

Masses of People

Many Angelenos were attracted to Hollywood's Florentine Gardens on Sunday past when the popular Tournabouts Charity Club presented a gala benefit affair. The theme was based on the old-fashioned Gay Nineties Review setting. Showtime brought out such entertainment personalities as Marie Bryant, Dorothy Donegan, "Scat-man" Caruthers, the Mellow Moods and many others. Joe Adams and Joe Harris did a fine job of Mcing for the show. The very pleasing chorus line was made up from members of the club which included such popular madomiselles and madams as Haroldine Browning, Leole Beavers, Jean Watkins, Helen Wright, Annette Taylor, Jane Hannibal, Gloria Malone, Betty Alston, and Lucille Boswell. (see story).

The crowds will be expected to attend the scholarship fund benefit affair to be given by Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority on Sunday, October 22nd. This will be on the same order as the past affairs of the Child Guidance League and the above mentioned Turnabout event. Guest stars are slated to attend and fun and merriment will begin at the hour of two and last until 5:30 p.m. with Hollywood's Ciro's providing the swank atmosphere. We'll sure expect to see many of you to come out and enjoy "An Afternoon at Ciro's."

Collegiates Gather

Friday night and Saturday afternoon found the Pacific Coast Conference games really getting underway as UCLA and USC, respectively, clashing with rival opponents. The Uclan game found Dave Williams and Ike Jones playing a nice portion of the time. We're sure that Eula Narcisse was in the stands really rooting when 'her boy' Dave would get a chance at the ball. Understand that Whitney Arceneaux is also on the Bruin team, so let's all sit back and wait until he will get his break which we hope will be in the near future. After-game activities included a closed party for Alpha men and their wives and company. Other Bruins traveled here and there, gloomily celebrating their loss to the fighting Illini team.

And to mention losses, over USC way the Tro-jans and Trojanes were really a sad lot as they filed from the scene of a heart-breaking loss to those invaders from the North, the University of California. Football lovers Charles Smith, Milton Smith, Chuck McArthur, and Leigh DeGreen are still wondering why that Trojan horse couldn't score from the 1 yard in the last few seconds of the game. The score would probably have helped send USC to the Rose Bowl this season, maybe! Now, the smell of roses is very faint, for Trojans, that is!! Later, the main portion of the sepia populace on the campus gathered at LaRue Anderson's abode to gloomily celebrate their great loss! Let's wait and see what next week brings! So, football lovers take notice!

Delta-Omega Gathering

And also on Saturday night past the men of Omega Frat entertained the women of Delta Sorority in grand style. Must say that these fellows are just about what can be classed as the perfect gentlemen, and were very proud to show off their brand new house. We must say that the house is really a beauty in construction and style. Correcting a mistake that appeared in this column last week, he dedication ceremony took place on Sunday, October 15, rather than occuring this coming Sunday, October 22 as was stated. The house was duly blessed in the proper manner by local church dignitaries.

Always a genial host, Howard Morehead acted as guide for a few of the girls as they took an excursion of the premises. Dr. E. I. Robinson, Frank Donaldson, L. A. Ualmer, Thomas Newsome, Joe Champion, and Carl Earls made up a small portion of the graduates on hand, while Andrew Wallace, "Chuck" Jones, Winston Wright, Fortune Kelley, Ralph Kaufman, and Howard Morehead represented the undergrads. Of course others were on hand to join the festivities. We only wish space would permit us to name them all! Might mention here that a brief conversation with handsome Ted Daniels, Lampados prexy, revealed the info that they hope to take in quite a few new fellows within the next week.

Strange happening was the entrance of a few Scrollers from another frat of which we will mention no names. Seems that closed affairs just aren't closed anymore, even if the invitation states the fact in one inch capitals!!

Birthday Fete

On the same night, Saturday, at the smart Wesley Avenue apartment of Maria Simmons, a birthrite date was celebrated in high style. Maria was showered with many gifts and glad wishes for her twenty-fifth birthdate, marking the one-fourth ventury mark in her young life. Smartly dressed in a canary yellow cotton eyelet dress, the honoree was all aglow with happiness and joy of the fact that so many friends surrounded her. A tasty dinner plate was served which included ham, turkey and all the trimmings. Varied cocktail drinks were on the house! The huge birthday cake adorned the center of the table which was inscribed in green with the age-old words "Happy Birthday." The guest list included many. The interesting personality of Bill Lawrence; the familiar faces of Leonard Jackson, Hubert Palmer of whom we hadn't seen for quite some time; the entertaining conversation of Frank Donaldson, Joe Champion, and Earline Howard; and just being surrounded by the following guests was very enjoyable—Andrew Jenkins, Ella Herd, Belle Johnson, Archie Smith, Ada Minor, Mr. and Mrs. George Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Motley, Laura James, Willie Severe, Ann Ashmore, Vivian Stevens, Willard Porter, Jean Kenney, Walter Porter, Gladys Thames, Hugh Goodwin, Ara Milan, Janie Hansen, Richard Dickerson, and Shirley Motley.

Future Calendar

Reports have it that the Omegas will present their open house benefit affair on Friday night (tomorrow) from the hour nine. Twenty-first and Oxford is the location. So guys and gals come on our for a merry time.

Glendora Davis, AKA pledge of the UCLA chapter reports that the uniquely titled affair "An Ivy Incident" will be presented

Serve With Witches' Brew

These coconut-topped doughnuts will be sure-fire at your refeshment table on the night the witches ride. They make ideal Halloween fare, served with a brew of spicy-mulled cider. Make them from scratch if you like; but it's simple as one-two-three to buy doughnuts or crullers at the store, spread the tops with jelly, and sprinkle with plenty of snowy shredded coconut. You can even form amusing little goblin faces to peer out of the coconut. Use cut maraschino cherries for the eyes, nose, and mouth.

Coconut-and-jelly doughnuts or crullers are a snack treat for any occasion, especially after a football game or an evening of Canasta. Serve them with cups of steaming, hot coffee, and you're sure to be on the winning side.

Turnabout Charity Club Presents Gay 90's Revue At Florentine Gardens Event

Sunday, October 15, was the day, and Hollywood's Florentine Gardens was the fabulous swank setting when the Turnabouts Charity Club presented their "Gay Nineties Review." The popular organization, which numbers well over twenty in membership, is a popular group of local professional women and matrons that make up a large portion of the town's elite in social circles.

Guests Enter

And if you and your party had not previously made reservations to attend this event, there was definitely no admittance, for a capacity crowd was really on hand to meet, see, and greet old friends and new. As the lines moved slowly through the entrance, seen working very energetically to accommodate the many in attendance were B. T. Davis, Felix Williams, Stanley Malone, Bobby Brewington, LeRoy Beavers, just to name a few that gave the girls a helping hand.

Showtime

Following the very danceable music which struck many pleasing chords during the early part of the evening, the houselights dimmed at the appropriate hour and the show was on. The jovial crowd eagerly accepted the opening bars of "Showtime" with a great round of eager applause. The hour long review, strictly star-studded, included many theatrical attractions as well as original numbers by the club members. Such popular theatrical names as "Scat-Man" Caruthers, Dorothy Donegan, Marie Bryant, a real sensation; Delores Parker smartly dressed in a strapeless cocktail gown; Ernie Andrews, and the Mellow Moods, handsomely dressed in white coats, dark trousers, and red ties, were well received by the audience. Among the very lively numbers, foremost was the clever "Rosie Apple" performed by Lucille Boswell. The Barber Shop Five cannot be overlooked. They were very entertaining. And to top all, attractive Marie Bryant, star of the show, was terrific with her scintillating charm. She contributed fire and spirit to the show with her renditions of "Shimmy Like My Sister Kate" with the chorines, and "Sunny Side of the Street," a solo.

With the fine Mceeing of suave Joe Adams and Joe Harris, the show moved along in fine pace.

Strictly For Charity

The Club, being primarily a charitable organization, plans to use the funds for purposes of aiding various needy agencies and worthwhile local community projects. Under the very able leadership of Jessie Mae Beavers, the club can really say that their friends were entertained in royal style.

People At a Glance

So very many turned out to support this worthy cause and to seek merriment that it seems a crime not to mention a small portion in attendance. Representatives from the collegiate set all the way through the most established local professionals were on hand. Seen at a glance was Betty Wallace, very stunning in black, Julius Boyd, popular Sheril Luke, Gab Randolph and Peggy Anderson, Doris and Jacob Hudson, Johnny Delgardo, greeting many friends, Benny and Earline Shaw, Zera Collier, very attractive in a fuschia cocktaii creation, Odessa Jones and Wrenna Clark sharing the same table, Phyllis MacArthur, Sam Strain, Thomas Newsome and Tanis Frotier, Janice Fortier and fiance Winston Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Browning, Hally Flemming and daughter Delores, Angelle Stratton, very striking in an attractive white floral headpiece, with black cocktail dress with shoulders bare, Wilbur Winston, Ouida Lehman, Lillian Loma and Dr. D. Gray, Jim Gordon, Harold Machen, and hosts and hosts of others.

The Charitable Girls Social Club held their regularly scheduled meeting at the home of Mrs. Vivian Jones for last minute preparation of their Big Fall Festival coming up this week end. Incidentally Speaking

The Los Angeles Civic Committee recently presented an Eastside Community Fair held at Wrigley Field from October 11 through the 14. Local organizations sponsored booths for the affair which included such varieties as interesting exhibits, carnival type games, and various types or rides that resembled those on the local piers and midways. A very successful week of activity attracted many of this scene.

The Allied Arts League, local cultural group organized for the purpose of promoting interest in the fine arts, met on Sunday, October 8th to form a Junior Auxiliary. Under the leadership of Mrs. Dorothy Johnson, with Mrs. Sadie Patterson as one of the sponsors, the organization announced plans for the formation of the junior branch which includes the daughters and friends of the members. Each member chose a younger girl to sponsor. Some of the Junior Branch members now include Fay Duffy, Christine Lawson, Ann Smith, Haroldine Browning, Melrose Blocker, Harriet Flowers, Jackie Daughtery, Loretta Pruitt, Nonie Moore, Joan Pierson, Zoe Wise, and Beverly Crump. Their meeting will take place at the home of Fay Duffy in the near future.

Personalities in the News

Currently showing in downtown theaters is that spectacular picture "No Way Out" and we understand that local man about town Harold Machen has a small part in it. . . . Popular Sherril Luke was recently feted with a welcome home reception given by his relatives. Many of the collegiate set and other friends of Sherril were on hand to show him just how glad we are to have him back in local circulation. . . . This week-end friends and relatives of "Chet" Carter, USC graduate, will bid him adieu for he departs for Uncle Sam's army at the end of the week. His first stop will be North Carolina. . . . Interesting to note that "Our World" magazine for November, 1950, carries a spread on the ten types of Negro womanhood which launches a campaign to find "The Most Beautiful Negro Woman" for the magazine. Angelenos should be proud of the fact that Lena Torrence and Carmen de Lavallade are pictured as being two of the types of the ten listed. Let's hope that they will make a showing in the final running!! . . . A very charming personality and new acquaintance is phyllis McArthur . . . Mrs. Marguerite Polk of the Herald-American plans to take a late in the season vacation to points east come the 29th of this month. . . . Saw handsome Frances Garland all smiles and greeting friends the other Sunday p.m. in Garnet's popular Western Avenue spot. . . . "Bunny" Lawson and Velma Rogers enjoyed the music of now non-Bop-King, Diz Gillespie on Sunday night after the Turnabouts outing. . . . Harriet Flowers is quite sad these days to be minus a boy friend for Harold Jordan, her one and only, left for the Army Air Force on the 12th of October. . . . With this last note we sign off til next week. . . .

Wins $5000 Award From City For Injuries In Mob Violence

CHICAGO—Rev. Clarice Moore, pastor of the All Nations Holiness Church, located at 3622 South Dearborn Street, Chicago, Illinois, struck a blow at mob violence last week, when an all-white jury of 9 women and 3 men returned a verdict against the City of Chicago and in her favor for $5,000 as the result of injuries sustained by her in a riot on August 17, 1947.

The suit was filed in the Circuit Court by Ulysses S. Keys, attorney for Rev. Moore.

The case, which was heard in the court room of Judge Jacob Merrill Berkowitz, was based on the Illinois Anti-Lynch Law passed in the 19th century by the Illinois Legislature providing that if any person is injured by a collection of people numbering five or more in their attempt to regulate or correct his action can recover from the City or the County for any damages done to his person or property in an amount up to $10,000.00

Rev. Moore testified that on August 17, 1947, she left her church with her husband, Rev. Butler Moore, and her Assistant Pastor Rev. Sampson Southern, and two missionaries to go to Harvey, Illinois where Rev. Southern lives.

Mob Violence

She said that at 103rd and Halsted Street some three or four hundred people were milling around all over the streets with stones and sticks in their hands and uttering threats to colored motorists. She said that more than fifty police officers were directing traffic and preventing persons from going through the crowd. The automobile in which she was riding was directed by the police to go west on 103rd Street.

They went west to 107th Street and Vincennes Avenue when another mob numbering about 75 to 100 white people attacked with stones and sticks. She testified that one of the stones struck her in the eye and as a result of the blow she was deprived of the sight of her eye and it was removed.

The riot was the result of Negro veterans moving into the Fernwood Veterans housing project at 104th and Halsted. The project is owned by the Chicago Housing Authority.

Night driving and walking hazards are particularly prevalent in October.

Warn Parents On Diphtheria

Parents were warned this week that diphtheria still exists in Los Angeles and that immunization for their children is the best life protection they can now arrange.

The advice came from Dr. George M. Uhl, city health officer, who said he hoped "no parent would procrastinate in arranging immunization, especially in view of the four deaths diphtheria has caused this year."

He made his statement on the eve of the opening of the department's annual campaign against diphtheria, which opened Monday and will be concluded in December after 127 schools have been visited.

KINLOCH'S LETTERS

Just heard tell of the experience of Negro delegates to the Pan-American Youth Conference Junior Division, which met a few weeks ago in Mexico City. And is THAT a story!

With thousands present, first session of the Congress was addressed by Mexico's President, Avila Camacho, in the beautiful Palace of Fine Arts. Following Camacho's address a Negro delegate, Julia Oliver, from Detroit, spoke. Even though her remarks had to be translated she drew an ovation which topped the president's!

It seems the Mexican people were attempting to express how THEY felt about discrimination against Negroes in the U. S. However good as Miss Oliver's speech was, she was cheered for a lot more than that. She was cheered as a representative of the 13,000,000 American Negroes in the U. S., and our amigos across the border were voicing a pledge of solidarity with us.

During the sessions of the Congress, Louis Burnham, from Alabama, secretary of the battleing Southern Negro Youth Congress, stopped the show cold when he jumped the argument of a Panamaman delegate who wante no part of the ward abroad because of discrimination at home.

Burnham allowed as how fascism had to be fought everywhere, abroad as well as home. He told of the discrimination against Negroes in America. He emphasized their patriotic service in the war against the Hitler thugs who would spread Mississippi all over the world.

Thugs near broke up again. Delegates from sixteen South American nations went nertz.

Impressive was the attack against discrimination launched at the conference by its large American delegation, composed largely of white religious and community youth representatives.

"It is evident," said the American youth, "that the increased forts of the fifth-columnists to hide our peoples within and among the American nations represent a grave menace to the full execution of th war. Those who practice or foster discrimination in any form are the enemies of all of us. It is our responsibility and desire to strengthen the hand of our administration in its efforts to expose and eradicate the causes and manifectation of discrimination.

"We shall work through our organizations to eradicate the causes of discrimination in our own country, recognizing that the same fascist forces are at work here, as in other countries of the world. We recognize that the recent anti-Mexican and anti- Negro riots in the United States are an example of this, and that they are a part of the divisive and defeatist tactics of our enemies. We shall continue to work for greater equality and free and equal opportunity for all."

Which ought to be quite a hellyful for Herr Hearst. Speaking about the world we'll live in after Hitler is fertilizer, the conference stated:

"We believe that the best way in which we can guarantee a post-war world based upon the democratic principles for which we are fighting, is the implementation NOW of the principles of the Atlantic Charter, its application to all peoples all over the world, and the realization of the Four Freedoms as expressed by President Roosevelt: freedom of speech, freedom from fear, freedom from want, freedom of religion.

"No post-war planning is possible without the international cooperation of all liberty-loving peoples. Realizing this, we support the proposals of the World Youth Councils towards the development of world-wide youth collaboration and urge the acceptance of that invitation to participate. An indispensable prerequisite for a free and peaceful world is complete victory over Nazi-fascism, the continuation of the United Nations cooperation and the Good Neighbor policy. Support of those policies requires unity: National, Continental and World-wide."

Herbert Simmons, president of the combined Negro clubs of UCLA and USC was all set to fly to Mexico City as delegate of the local Junior Council of the NAACP. Uncle Sam's army stepped in to take over his plane.

Those from Los Angeles who attended, however, will report to the Junior Council at the regular Friday meeting at 8 p.m. at the 28th Street Branch YMCA, 28th and Paloma streets. Adults can join in, too.

The speakers will be Jeanette Olive, delegate of the Los Angeles Youth Federation for Interracial Unity, of which the Council is a member; Betty Lyon, of the Chinese Research Bureau; and Mary Rosenfield, of the Junior division of the Los Angeles Jewish Community Council.

WILL ROGERS FAVORS HELEN

Declaring that "just to oppose Communism is not enough," Will Rogers, Jr. commended Helen Gahagan Douglas, Democratic candidate for the U. S. Senate, for "working to correct the causes of Communism."

Speaking on behalf of the California Committee Douglas for Senator, made up largely of Democrats who opposed Mrs. Douglas in the primaries, former Congressman Rogers charged that her opponent was "trying to hide one of the worst domestic voting records ever compiled by a Congressman behind a dislike of Communism."

SAY YOU SAW IT IN THE EAGLE

Players Line Up Against Discrimination

Expressions of strong support have been coming from all parts of the nation in Cosmo's protest against the barring of a colored player from the SCA 1950 tournament in Durham, N. C. Here are some of them:

PASADENA PRESIDENT

"We are surprised and shocked. We endorse the proposal that SCA players be barred from USCF-sponsored national tournaments, unless and until they agree that Negro players, or those of any other race, shall not be discriminated against.

"Ours is a white club, and the writer happens to be a Virginian. Incidents of this kind are especially disturbing when Negroes in the 24th Infantry Regiment are fighting and dying in Korea for the sake of ideals which are not being upheld in their own country."—Gordon K. Stover.

SO. DAKOTA OFFICIAL

"I agree that protests should be made, and am writing our President to determine if we cannot protest as an official act of the Association. I feel sure he will agree with me. Best wishes for success in your campaign."—M. F. Anderson, Association State Secretary.

CHESS COLUMNIST

"We are shocked to learn that W. A. Scott was barred from the SCA tournament on account of race. This is the first occasion of this kind and should be the last. The USCF should take official action . . . not to sully the record of the chess world by discrimination. Chess is a tie which binds people and races all over the world—such ties must not be broken.—Isaac Ash, Philadelphia Inquirer.

COURIER CHESS CLUB

"I for one, and I believe it is the sentiment of the members of our organization, wish to hit at the type of discrimination you mention at every opportunity. Certainly in the field of chess a chess player is a chess player, and color, creed, or whatever, has no bearing on the matter.

WHITE MATES IN TWO

I composed this as a study in logic. White (4): P-KN2; N-KR6; Q-Q8; K-KR. Black (4): P-KR2; B-KN; R-KN2; K-KR.

Last week's solution: 1 QxPch, NxQ; 2 N-B4.

THE SOUTHERN "LIBERAL" MENTALITY (2)

Last week we examined that interesting species, the southern white liberal. His sort desires a solution of the race problem by increasing integration, but even more he insists upon maintaining the united white front with his reactionary brethren—rather than unity with Negroes or "Yankee allies"—and hence postpones and defeats progress.

There is, however, another species of southern liberal, somewhat more attractive to look at, but equally ineffectual. Such is F. E. Condon of Bartlesville, Okla., who played in the Jim Crow SCA chess tournament in North Carolin in July. Mr. Condon is quite willing to join with us—in his letter to me he refers to the white supremacists as "our opponents," and he signed our protest against discrimination.

But, he says, "I struck out the last paragraph (to suspend SCA players until they cease segregation—Ed.) because it sought to impose conformity by authority, and is itself a form of discrimination. It is just as great a fault to discriminate against our fellow chess player because he holds opinions contrary to ours, as because of his color."

Sensing his own fallacy, he adds: "Of course, when the prejudicial opinions of one group of chess players obstructs the freedom of another group, as was the case at Durham, those of us who are more liberal are indeed faced with a problem."

Indeed! Confronted by the sarling, hooded beast of southern reaction, Mr. Condon urges us to seek "a program of education in the practice of principles of democracy and Christianity." He takes his place by our side, only to deprive us of any effective method of struggle with an enemy who has long since proved that he can only be educafed by pressure and compulsion.

The first type of southern liberal emasculates himself; this second type would emasculate us.

ARTHUR RUBINSTEIN PLAYS

An enthusiastic audience greeted Arthur Rubinstein when he opened the Behymer series last Sunday afternoon in the Philharmonic. For the first time, the pianist has the honor of both opening and closing the Behymer series he is already announced to appear on May 13, next year.

Rubinstein's program was extremely convential. The earliest composer listed was Beethoven, Sonata Appasionata and the Chopin G-Minor Ballade.

A remarkable characteristic of Rubinstein's playing on this occasion was the sustained euphony. The most ethereal quality of tone pervaded the concert from the first to the last notes. A dynamic range that encompassed seemingly limitless nuances fascinated the listeners. And then there was that incisive, gripping rhythm of unbelievable verve and sturdy vitality that Rubinstein, even at the age of 64, possesses in abundant measure.

The recital abounded in so many superb performances that one cannot point out this or that as the high light. The entire Chopin group, listing, in addition to the Ballade, a Mazurka and the C-sharp minor Scherzo; the French bracket of Ravel at least for this listener, came out ahead, and the two Liszt waltzes —the miniatures "Forgotten" and the titan "Mephisto"—evoked salvos of applause from a worshipful audience.

It was interesting to note the impressions of Ravel and Debussy in their respective portrayals of the fabled water nymph Undine, born without a soul and doomed to remain so until she married a mortal and bore a child. Whereas, Debussy pictured her graceful antics Ravel's music was so liquid in its impressionism that one could easily imagine the nymph speeding through water like a seal.

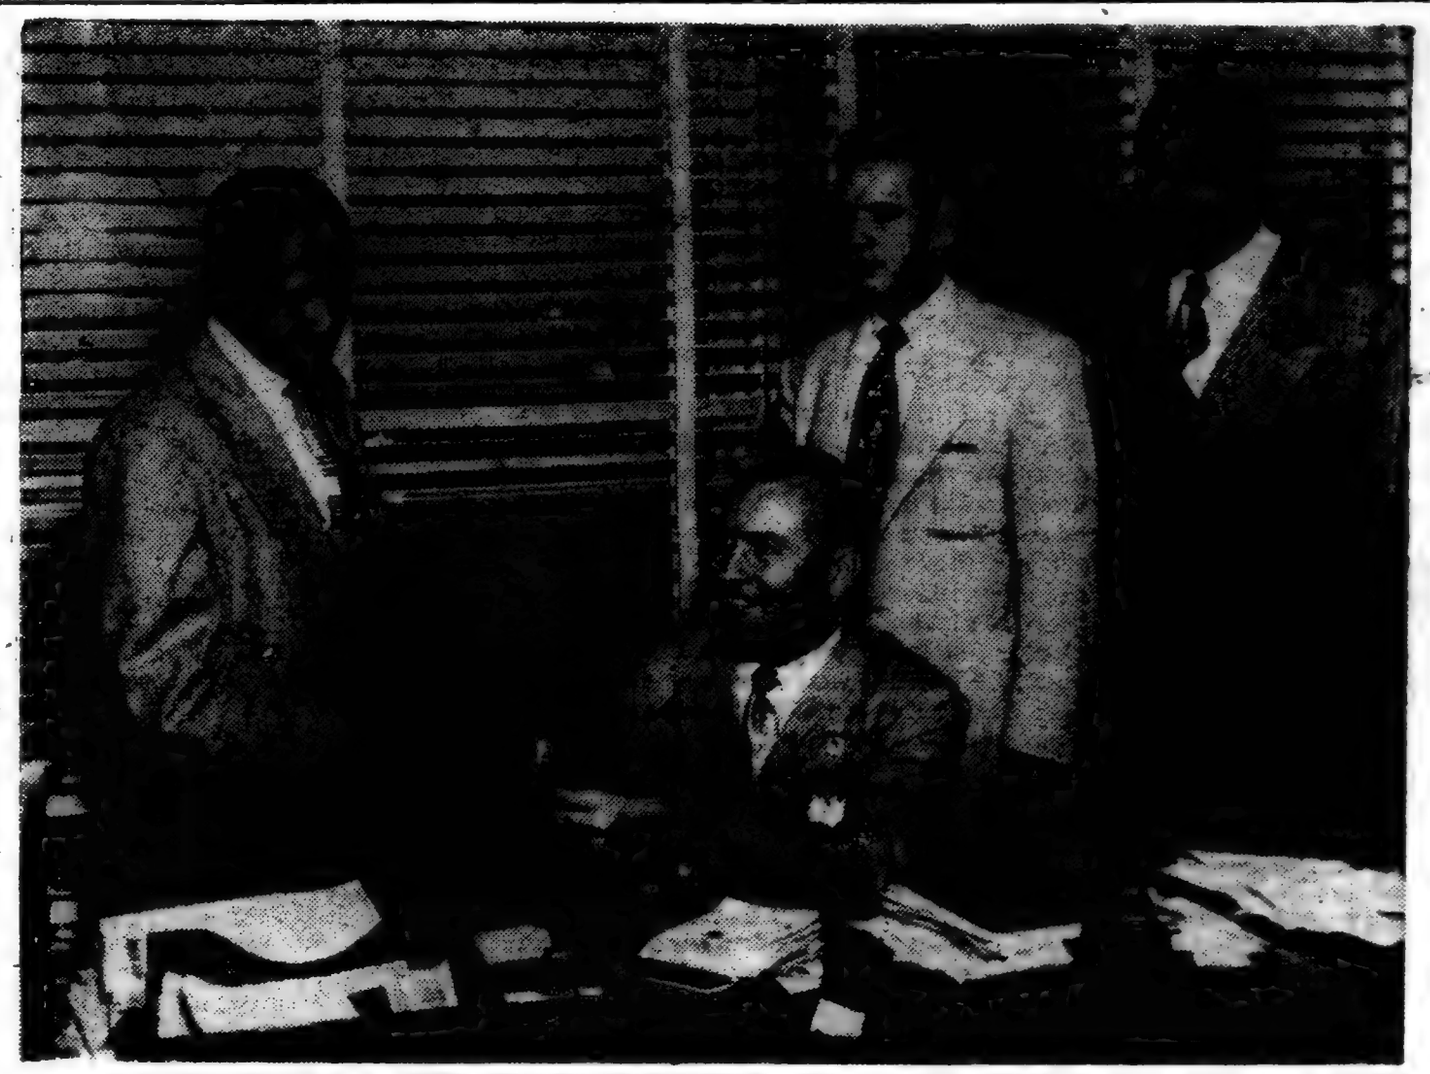
With the coming opera season, this column in the next issues will present exposes of composers and their operas. The coming season will offer two Wagnerian operas, "Parsifal" and "Tristan und Isolde."

Wagner is one of the most misunderstood composers by the American opera-going public. It is a known fact that in his day Wagner was a wealthy man and unlike most of his poor colleagues did not have to write for the masses. With this in evidence his true genius was exposed, making him different from almost all other composers of his time. Wagners genius has been shown in "Tristan und Isolde" as a potent love story told by both instrument and voice.

Of all Wagner's operas, "Tristan und Isolde" is the most difficult to understand; even after years of acquaintance with it one cannot be quite sure that Wagner's attention has been grasped at every point. As usual with Wagner, the drama is a synthesis of legends from various sources. The Tristan story is an old one, and apparently Celtic in origin. In its main outlines it runs thus in the most ancient versions we possess, that date from the thirtenth century.

Tristan is the son of King of Parmenia named Rivalin, who makes his way to the court of King Marke in Cornwall and marries the King's sister. Rivalin is killed in battle and the sister's sorrow is so great that she dies in giving birth to Tristan. In the course of his adventures he reaches King Marks court where he is received with honor. When Tristan is wounded in single combat he is cared for by Isot the Fair. Together with heir to King Marke's throne and in fear of his own safety Tristan proposes that the King marry Islot the Fair. Together with Brangaene, Isot's servant, the three set out for Cornwall. Isot hating Tristan for his last move, contrives to poison him, but Brangaene substitutes for the poison a love potion which both Isot and Tristan drink. At this point in the opera the love duet is sung showing some of the majestic and magnetic powers of Wagner. When the pair reach Cornwall, Brangaene miraculously manages to take Isot's place in the King's bed, while the lovers have rendezvous with each other. All this occurs in the second act of the story. Finally the king catches the two lovers in the garden and wounds Tristan, who is then taken away to his castle in Brittany. No one but Isot can heal the wounded Tristan, but she is far away in Cornwall. After many dramatic interludes with Tristan and his servant, a shepherd sights Isot's (Isolde now) shop. New life comes into the now dying man as Isolde nears. As the pair are again reunited, the most brilliant aria of the opera occurs., The Liebestod. Tristan is dead and Isolde drinks poison concealed in a ring. The curtain falls on a tragedy which if seen is never forgotten by anyone.



The first time this writer saw Tristan und Isolde words could not express the emotion felt. One could hear a pin fall for the entire opera. All opera goers should see this dynamic opera.

Next week Guiseppe Verdi and his operas will be discussed in this column.

The popular singing pianist, who is famed far and wide for such hit records on the Aladdin label as "Bewildered," "I'm Just a Fool in Love," "Sax Shack Boogie," "Two Years of Torture," "Chicken Shack Boogie" and "Remember," is one of the very few musical attractions that promoters will book more than once or twice a pear. Cops Abuse Darnell

NEW YORK—Singer Larry Darnell returned here this week from a Southern tour with his band in which he was abused by a small-town Southern cop, who also jailed his chaffeur on a trumped-up traffic charge. The popular showman instructed his manager, Teddy Reig, to arrange as few Southern engagements for him as possible in the future.

On his way to play a date with Paul Williams combination at Fayetteville, N. C., last Tuesday morning, Darnell's car was stopped by a cop in Stony Creek, Va. Asked the charge they were told that they had passed a car two miles back, although it was three a.m. and Darnell said their's was the only vehicle on the road at that time.

When Darnell attempted to converse with the cop he was told to "shut up' 'and a long flow of abuse followed those words. The chauffeur, Alfred Coleman, was carted off to jail and Darnell was finally allowed to proceed to his destination. Two days later Coleman was brought before Judge Prince and fined $109.

Jordan Finds Horn

GREENSBORO, N. C.—Playing a one-night stand here on Columbus Day, bandleader Louis Jordan recovered from a local pawnshop a saxaphone that had been stolen from him 15 years ago. The theft occurred when Jordan was a member of the famous Chick Webb Band.

Walking down Pettigrew Street with Chris Columbus, his drummer, Jordan stopped in front of Jack's Pawnshow to gaze at a few items on sale. A saxaphone on sale for $30 drew his attention by a certain coon-shaped mark on it.

Going into the store he told the clerk to get it out of the window for examination. Once in his hands Jordan recognized it as the one stolen from the bandstand of the Savoy Ballroom in Harlem fifteen years ago.

Needless to say, Jordan redeemed it at once and that night at the dance played it instead of the $2500 horn that his manager, Berle Adams, had given him as a birthday present.

Hattie Unties That Knot

HOLLYWOOD — Dame rumor, which has tried to qualify the marriage of screen and radio actress Hattie McDaniel and Larry C. Williams, interior decorator, as one of those on again ,off again affairs, was definitely squelched when the Academy Award winner filed suit for divorce in Superior Court Monday morning, through the Beverly Hills law firm of Zagon, Aaron and Sandler.

For many months columnists have played with the possibility of the estranged couple making a try at marriage again. Like many Hollywood couples who have separated, the pair has been seen at various social functions together. However, when questioned, Miss McDaniel always denied a reconciliation. "We are still friends," the actress announced, "and I hope we can always remain so."

Williams, who at one time had a place of business in the exclusive La Cienega district, now lives on Manhattan Place.

HATTIE DENIES RECONCILIATION . . . Hattie McDaniels, noted actress of stage, screen and radio, this week flatly denied rumors of reconciliation with husband Larry Williams.

One of the many dramatic scenes from Gian-Carlo Menotti's "The Medium," is one in which the fake spiritualist's daughter (Evelyn Keller), pleads with her fear crazed mother (Mary Davenport), to spare the much beaten mute (Ted Barnett). "The Medium," with Menotti's "The Telephone," have been hailed by critics in New York, London, Paris and Los Angeles as "a milestone in the lyric theatre." Produced by James A. Doolittle, they are having their Pacific Coast premiere at the El Capitan Theatre where they will be seen nightly except Sunday and on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons through November 4 when they will leave on a Coast tour.

Louis on Comeback Road – Again; 'Wasn't Ready' He Says of Charles Fight

NEW YORK CITY (CNS)—Special—Claiming he should've had "two or three hard fights before meeting Charles, I wasn't vicious enough," Joe Louis was well on the way for another try at the heavyweight title, via a series of big bouts. Latest reports are that Louis will meet Cesar Brion, Argentine fighter, in Chicago, November 29th. From there, he'll tackle Lee Oma in Detroit and Rocky Marciano at the Garden in New York. If he should win all three, Joe Louis will again face Ezzard Charles for the championship in an outdoor Stadium affair. Charles has already stated he'll gladly give Joe Louis the same chance he gave him to win the title.

To lure Joe back to the ring again are prospects of a tempting radio and television fee for a second Louis-Charles fight, surpassing even the $146,000 paid for the first. And Joe still needs the money.

Though Joe has not said so officially, his pal, Ray Robinson, the welterweight king, has been acting spokesman for the ex-champ. At a Boston press luncheon Ray said Brion and Joe were signed for the November 29th date; that he had seen the contract shown him by an IBC official, despite their denials.

Harlem Globetrotters In Town For Movie

HOLLYWOOD—The Harlem Globetrotters, the sensational basketball team that never sticks to the script, find themselves in a spot these days where they have to stick to it.

Basketball's most entertaining team is now here in Hollywood unfolding their court magic for posterity before the cameras in Columbia's vast studios and they love it.

The first basketball team in history to ever be featured in a full length feature picture, the Trotters are being cast in a movie directed by Phil Brown, one of Columbia's top ranking directors.

The story is an action-packed drama revolving around the internationally famous Negro team and their famous owner, Abe Saperstein.

Bill (Rookie) Brown, tall, handsome forward on the team has been awarded the leading male role. Dorothy Dandridge, well known actress, will be the feminine lead.

The story will be built around the experiences of a rookie player, and Saperstein's method of forming the greatest basketball aggregation in the world—a team that has been playing for 23 years, with a record of 3241 victories and only 245 defeats

When they aren't flipping the ball around in front of the projection machines, the famous cage jesters are working out daily in the spacious UCLA gymnasium.

The Trotters launch their season in Chicago on Oct. 27 when they play on the annual All-Star card. The following night they carry their court circus to Madison Square Garden. After that they hit the nation's highways and keep going at top speed until May. During that time they will have played all over the country and before at least a million fans.

In June they are scheduled to take off on their second triumphant tour of Europe.

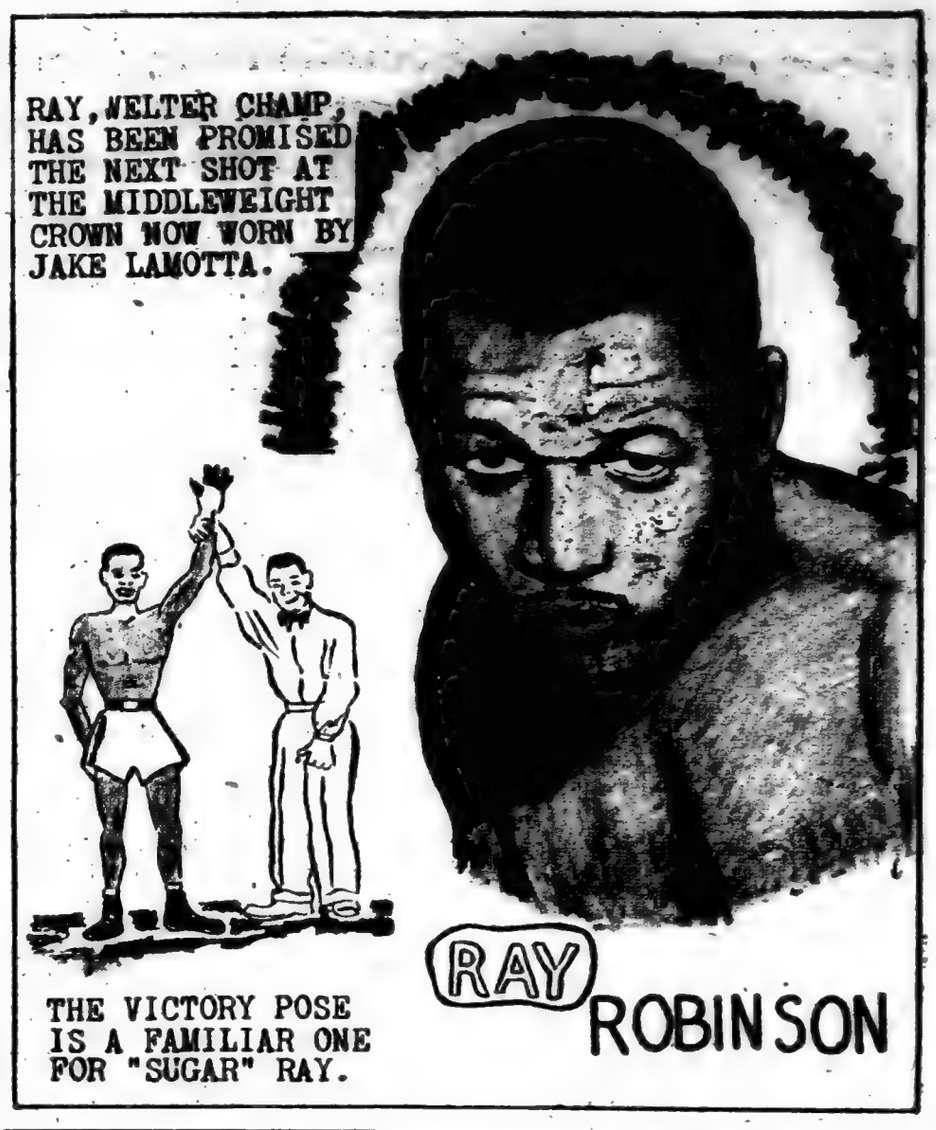
Charles Set To Defend Title Against Barone

Ezzard Charles will defend his heavyweight title against Nick Barone of Syracuse on Nov. 28 at Cincinnati so states Charles' manager Jake Mintz.

Barone was selected for the bout when Freddie Beshore refused terms for a return battle. Barone will receive 17½ per cent of the gate while Charles will get 42½ per cent. Promoter Sam Becker predicts that the fight will draw $100,000.

Both are expected to weigh in at about 180 pounds.

Charles has another offer to consider providing he gets by this encounter. Promoter William Kyne has offered him $100,000 to defend the title against Joey Maxim, light-heavyweight champion, in San Francisco on Feb. 22.



It is rumored that Las Vegas is also trying to get the Charles Maxim bout. If it can be arranged, it will be held at the new Las Vegas race track, presently under construction.

SUGAR RAY WINS MAY MEET GRAZIANO

Sugar Ray Robinson, Welterweight Champion, KOed rugged Joe Rindone in the 6th round of their scheduled 15 round boxing bout at Boston Garden on Monday. Robinson weighed 156½ and Rindone 160.

In the meantime former Middleweight Champion, Rocky Graziano, continued on his comeback trail by knocking out Pete Mead in the third round at Milwaukee. Rocky has been quoted as saying "I am the only guy around with a chance to beat (Ray) Robinson, a great fighter. I can punch and if I hit him, I'll knock him out."

Truman Gibson, secretary of the International Boxing Club, said that a Robinson-Graziano bout is in the making. It might come off before Robinson fights Jake LaMotta for the middleweight title in February.

Rams-Lions Game On TV

A film giving complete play-by-play coverage of the National League football game between the Los Angeles Rams and the Detroit Lions, played in Detroit on Sunday (October 15), will be presented by the Admiral Corporation on KNBH, Channel 4, Thursday evening (October 19), at 9:30.

Some of the Ram stars, arriving home this week after a three-week road trip, will be on hand at the studio to discuss the game and analyze the strategy.

Ram announcer Bob Kelley will provide a play-by-play commentary on the film.

On Sunday (October 22), the Rams take on the Baltimore Colts at the Los Angeles Coliseum, with KNBH presenting a "live" telecast of the event. This clash also will be seen in San Diego.

An unusual feature of the Sunday telecast will be a pregame program from the Ram Locker-room, scheduled for 11:45 to 12:15 p.m.

Viewers will get a closeup of the players as they arrive to get into their football togs, and will hear their comments on the impending battle. Interviews are being planned, also, with the Ram trainers, who will display and discuss the equipment used by the football gladiators.

Head Coach Jeff Cravath, University of Southern California, begins his ninth season with the Trojans in 1950. His tenure at SC makes him the dean of Pacific Coast Conference Coaches, with four Rose Bowl appearances to his credit.

Wilkinson And McColl Stage Battle Of Ends In Coliseum

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 18—The two greatest ends on the Pacific Coast—and as fine a pair of wingmen as can be found anywhere in the nation—battle for All-American rating Saturday in the Los Angeles Coliseum when the UCLA Bruins entertain undefeated Stanford University in a Pacific Coast Conference grid contest.

Representing the Bruins will be Bob Wilkinson, and his oponent in the individual duel of the afternoon is Bill McColl of Stanford.

Both Wilkinson and McColl are rarities in this era of the platoon system. Wilkinson drops back to the safety position when the Bruins relinquish the ball and McColl is used as a line-backer when the Indians are on defense.

Both boys are built along the general lines of Leon Hart, Notre Dame's All-American end last year. McColl stands 6 ft. 4 inches and weighs 225 pounds, holding a slight edge on Wilkinson, who is a mere 6 foot 3 inch and 215 pounds.

In 1949 Wilkinson set new conconference marks by catching eight touchdown passes in P.C.C. competition and gaining 556 yards on 27 receptions. He also lugged the ball on 10 end-around plays, gaining 131 yards. He was a unanimous All-Coast selection and made the Football Digest first team All-American.

McColl's offensive record last fall included 27 catches for 308 yards and three touchdowns. He also carried the ball on six end-around plays for 70 yards, and, as a sophomore, was prominently mentioned on the All-Coast teams. He played defensive tackle last year but is being used in the backfield this fall by Coach Marchy Schwartz.

This fall McColl in four games has caught 21 passes for 395 yards and 3 touchdowns. Wilkinson, in the same number of contests, has received 8 passes for 122 yards and 1 touchdown.

Television set owners who wish to join the Gridiron Club and help keep college football on television may either purchase or donate tickets through the organization. Donations of $3.00 for a reserved seat may be mailed to the Gridiron Club, Chamber of Commerce Bldg., Los Angeles. Champ Made Comeback 3000 Yrs. Ago

LOS ANGELES (ATLAS)—Joe Louis' recent attempt to regain his heavyweight crown is old stuff to students of ancient history, so says Dr. Arthur P. McKinlay, emeritus professor of Latin on the Los Angeles campus of the University of California.

Occasionally in the early days the champ made a comeback. It happened about 1,000 B.C. when Aeneas visited his friend, King Acestes in Sicily and promoted a series of athletic contests.

Dares, a famous Trojan boxer and the Ezzard Charles of his day, claimed the ring championship and the prize of a bull because no challengers showed up.

Entellus, an old Socilian fighter, who had as impressive a record 3,000 years ago as Joe Louis has today, was asked to fight this upstart Dares. He protested that he was too old, but was finally persuaded to enter the ring with his younger opponent.

According to Dr. McKinlay, Aeneas' account o fthe fight is as descriptive as that of a modern announcer:

"The fight begins . . . both make many passes . . . flanks and heads resound with the blows . . . Dares with a quick step maneuvers . . . Entellus stands firm and then, watching a chance, delivers a powerful blow . . . Dares evades it . . . Entellus drops in his tracks . . . and is helped up . . . The crowd roars . . . Entellus redoubles the attack and drives Dares all over the course . . . finally lest the poor fellow be crushed by the rain of blows the fight is ended." Entellus, the aged Sicilian fighter, having made an impressive comeback, retired from the ring for good.

SELECTED SHORTS

By Art Lewis

Willie Bean of Los Angeles became the heavyweight champion of the Pacific Coast last Wednesday when he scored a 7th round t.k.o. over Frank Buford of Oakland.

The New York Giants can field an almost all-Negro infield next season. With the acquisition of Artie Wilson and Ray Noble from the Oakland Oaks, they now have four colored men on the squad, all Negro infielders. They can have Noble, catcher; Monte Irvin, 1B; Wilson, shortstop; and Hank Thompson, 3B. With pitcher Allen Gettel, a 23 game winner also from the Oaks, the Giants now rate a distant threat for the National league pennant, it would be their first since 1937.

PCC basketball coaches recently went over the rule book and suggested certain interpretations to lessen the number of fouls called. Their recommendations will be relayed to conference officials, who will make their own recommendations. The fans who watch the games will at last get their money's worth if these suggestions are adopted.

The Kansas City Royals and Bob Lemon's all stars will go at each other again this Sunday at Wrigley Field. Lemon's team edged the Royals last Sunday, 7-6. Gene Baker was the hitter of the day getting three hits in five appearances.

The UCLA basketball team, 1949 champions of the Coast conference, opened practice Monday for the 1950-51 season with approximately 50 men greeting coach John Wooden. The Bruins schedule this year calls for games with Bradley U., Long Island U. at Madison Square Gardens, Iowa, Pittsburgh, Louisiana State, and others in addition to regular PCC competition.

While Joe Louis has not confirmed his plans to fight again it may be noteworthy that on Sept. 27 after his loss to Ezzard Charles he said "I'm through. I won't fight again. I done the best I can."

Art Fletcher, former Ram end and recently signed by the Baltimore Colts of the National Football league, will be the first Negro to ever participate in a professional sport in that city.

Orestes Minoso, who led the San Diego Padres in hitting this season with a mark of .329, was sold this week to the Cleveland Indians, who now have four Negroes on their team. Minoso hit 20 home runs, 10 triples, 40 doubles and batted in 115 runs for the Padres this year and also stole 30 bases.

Catcher Roy Campanella recently won a popularity contest as the most popular player on the Brooklyn Dodgers baseball club. The contest was sponsored by the Flatbush Merchants Association.

Nat (Sweetwater) Clifton, former star with the Harlem Globetrotters, joined the New York Knickerbockers of the National Basketball Association this week.

All bowlers will get to shoot for TV sets and Ram football tickets in a series of tourneys at some 75 alleys in L.A. in the coming weeks.

On The Turf

CALIENTE, Old Mexico—It was another bad day for the form players at Caliente last Sunday. Not one favorite was able to visit the charmed circle out of the 12-race program. About 6500 lovers of the sport of kings were on hand to witness one of the best cards in many weeks: "The Gray Ghost," where the field was made up of all gray horses, was won by More Ali, the son of imported Alibhal-More Silver took the lead at the break and never looked back, winning by three lengths, paying in the mutuels $32.40. In the main event at six furlongs, Foxylester, after more than a dozen tries, finally made good to score by a neck over the fast-closing King Bull to pay his backers $9. Jockeys Robinson, Petty and Sammutt scored doubles. A nice training job by C. A. Hartwell was responsible for Arlie to score in the second race and reward her backers $10. The daily-double payoff on Arile and Copperhead who won the third race was $140.80. While the Quniela paid $21.60, when Miojo, a four to one shot, wa sthe winner by six lenghts and Xon finished second. Walter C. Marty, general manager of Caliente, who just returned from a much needed vacation, has arranged another fine card of twelve races for this Sunday. His feature attraction will be "The Camden" at one mile and seventy yards. Secondary, "The Rockingham"; third, "The Hawthorne." For maiden two-year-olds at six furlongs. Another feature will be "The Powder Puff Derby." Some of the best girl jockeys in the country will have mounts in the attraction. It is a race that is staged once a year and always draws a large crowd. It will be at six furlongs. The $5000 free public handicapping contest is stil lwaiting for some one to pick seven straight winners from the third race through the ninth and claim the pot of gold. Although a $500 consolation prize is given away after the last race if no one picks the seven winners. Your lucky program number wins the prize. First number receives $300. Second, $200. The new post time for Sunday racing is noon.

WITH THE GREYHOUNDS AT CALIENTE — General Manager William (Bill) Collier has just about completed all plans for the West's biggest attraction in greyhound racing, the $10,000 Tijuana Derby, to be run Saturday night, October 28. So far, K. C. Stoss looks like the hound to beat, although Cooper is the dog to watch. Stoss is no cinch.

Mrs. Bass Urges Careful Selection Of Congressmen

By Minnie Etzweiler

The attitude of the Negro people of Europe concerning their cousins in America, was forcefully brought home to the congregation of St. Paul's Baptist Church, 21st and Naomi, last Sunday evening when Mrs. Charlotta Bass, candidate for Congress in the 14th Congressional District, spoke briefly at the evening services.

Mrs. Bass, who recently returned home from a two months' tour of Europe, said, "I met Negro people in France, Czechoslovakia, and Russia. They were all concerned about their relatives who came to America years ago. They wanted to know how they were faring. They had heard of the lynchings ;and they wondered how we were handling such situations."

"I had to confess," admitted Mrs. Bass, "that the fearful things they had heard were true. We here in America do not seem concerned very much about the welfare of our people. I offered a solution to those Africans who were interested. And it was this: That we select more carefully ou rrepresentatives whom we send to Washington, where the laws of the country are made."

"And to you I say," Mrs. Bass told her audience at St. Paul, "I have offered myself as the representative for the 14th Congressional District. You have been trusting other people all these years. Why not trust me? I have been among you for forty years. I have worked for individuals and for groups in this community both among my own people and among all minority peoples. If you weigh me in the balance, I believe you will not find me wanting. What I have been able to do in a small way here in Los Angeles, I shall be able to do for California and for all America in a larger way, if you send me to Congress."

Mrs. Bass' plea was well received, and scores of friends, old and new, pledged themselves to work for her election.

Rev. John L. Branham is pastor of St. Paul's Baptist Church.

RIGHT PREVAILS

The force of an ideal is greater than the ideal of force.

Josephus Daniels.

From lack of moral strength empires fall. Right alone is irresistible, permanent, eternal.

—Mary Baker Eddy.

The ultimate notion of right is that which tends to the universal good; and when one's acting in a certain manner has this tendency he has a rught thus to act.

—Francis Hutcheson.

If mankind had wished for what is right, they might have had it long ago.

—William Hazlitt.

God is able to meet the need of all and fulfill every desire; it is just a question of your hunger for righteousness.

—R. A. Butler.

Then pealed the bells more loud and deep:
"God is not dead, nor doth He sleep!
The Wrong shall fail,
The Right prevail,
With peace on earth, good-will to men!" — Longfellow

Christian Science Lesson Text 'Matter'

"Every plant, which my heavenly Father hath not planted, shall be rooted up." These words of Jesus as recorded in Matthew are the Golden Text of the Sunday Lesson-Sermon on "Matter" in all branches of The Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

In a Bible Lesson selection from Luke's Gospel it is recorded that "a man full of leprosy: . . . seeing Jesus fell on his face, and besought him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean. And he put forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will: be thou clean. And immediately the leprosy departed from him."

"Consciousness constructs a better body when faith in matter has been conquered," writes Mary Baker Eddy in the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures." Again she says, "When we come to have more faith in the truth of being than we have in error, more faith in Spirit than in matter, more faith in living than in dying, more faith in God than in man, then no material suppositions can prevent us from healing the sick and destroying error."

REV. GEORGE E. ANDERSON AND MRS. ANDERSON, of the Third Baptist Church, are off to Canada for a well-earned rest. A banquet held in the beautiful and spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Handy on October 9 cetlebrated the ninth anniversary of Rev. Anderson's pastorate at the Third Baptist Church. Rev. Anderson is hoping to be back in his pulpit by November 5.

Hollywood String Quartet On Musical Scene

Announcement has just been made of the plans for the 1950-51 season of the Hollywood String Quartet, which in two years has established itself firmly on the Southland musical scene and has been acclaimed from coast to coast for its magnificent recordings.

Three Sunday evening concerts are scheduled for this, the third season of the ensemble, which comprises four brilliant Southern California musicians—Felix Slatkin and Paul Shure, violins; Paul Robyn, viola, and Eleanor Aller. Dates are November 12, January 21 and February 25. Place is the Assistance League Playhouse.

The programs to be presented will again blend contemporary compositions with works from the standard classical repertoire.

A work which will receive a West Coast premiere performance is the Quartet No. 2 by Henri Sauget, contemporary French composer and conductor.

Also programmed are such infrequently performed compositions as the Bartok Quartet No. 3, the Hindemith Third Quaretet and the original string sextet version of Schoenberg's "Verklaerte Nacht" (Transfigured Night).

Piano virtuoso Jose Iturbi has accepted an invitation to play at a testimonial dinner to Edmund G. (Pat) Brown on Oct. 17, it was announced this week by Cameron L. Lillie, dinner chairman. The affair to honor the Democratic candidate for attorney general will be held at the Embassy Room of the Ambassador Hotel and more than a thousand Brown supporters from the Southern California counties are expected to attend.

Pilgrim House Closes; Reviews Work Of Years

Pilgrim House, for the past seven years a social service agency in Little Tokyo, held its final public meeting last Sunday and is now liquidating its assets and program.

Instituted by the Little Tokyo Committee at the peak of the World War II migration and following the zoot suit disturbances, the Congregational and Presbyterian Boards set aside a war work budget and a building, the old Japanese Union Church, secured Director Harold M. Kingsley from Good Shepherd, Chicago, retained a staff and launched a vigorous social service and group relations program. Pilgrim House, located in an area "where only the friendless live" went through the roaring crowded war years, helped in re-establishment of the Japanese, ameliorated racial clashes and the adjustment of new populations, held notable public seminars to mold public opinion on racial matters.

The largely attended Christmas Trees in cooperation with local business men; the summer camps; the Pilgrim House Vacation Plan, under the leadership of Mrs. J. W. MacNair, were dramatic parts of a program on which the sun never set.

Pilgrim House, its work ended by the shift of populations and resources, closes its doors as a "lighthouse in a needy area." Mr. Kingsley, the director, will now devote his entire time to the interracial church of which he is co-founder, the Church of Christian Fellowship and the remainder of the staff will go to other social and welfare agencies.

Nurses Worship at Neighborhood Church

Neighborhood Community Church, 47th Place and San Pedro Street, had as its guest at the Sunday morning service, "Chi Eta Phi," National Sorority for Professional Nurses, honoring their founder's day. This is the second year the group has worshipped at Neighborhood on Founders Day. The nurses sororwas organized nationally in Washington, D. C., in 1932. Delta Chapter in Los Angeles was set up in 1939. Fay O. Wilson is local president. The chapter has 22 active members.

Rev. Collins, pastor of the church, spoke from the subject, "Mercy." He labeled the nurses "sisters of mercy."

Guest soloist at the morning service was Mrs. Dorothy Speights of St. Philips Episcopal Church, who sang "I Want Jesus to Walk with Me."

Harvest home-coming is scheduled for Halloween at 7:30 p.m., when all members are expected to be present. Refreshments will be served.

Mrs. Heard has been selected to head Women's Day late in October, with Mrs. Guess as co-chairman.

Texas Erects High School For Negroes

HOUSTON, Texas — The trend of education for Negroes was developed here on Sunday by NEA public relations man Moss H. Kendrix, in an address dedicating this city's new Phillis Wheatley Senior High School.

Calling the structure "the finest, per student capacity, in the land," Kendrix suggested that Wheatley High was a $2,500,000 living monument to Miss Wheatley as well as a landmark to a half century of progress for the Negro people of the United States.

The speaker took the occasion to compliment the city of Houston for the erection of the school, which he pointed to as an outstanding example of "mutual cooperation and understanding on the part of the people of this southwestern community."

"As we gather today," said Kendrix, "we cannot but remember that a segment of our American population at the time of its emancipation, just three-quarters o fa century ago, was only 5 per cent literate. Today that segment of the population is more than 90 per cent literate."

Children And Youth Conf. At Pepperdine

The conference on Children and Youth held at Pepperdine College, September 16, was attended by 135 delegates and observers from ten cities of Los Angeles county.

Mrs. Sylvia Miller, past president of Hadassah, keynoted the session with the need of the child to grow up in a peaceful world. A resolution was adopted, following her talk, calling for the abandonment of "A" bomb drills in the schools of Los Angeles, "since this practice can only serve to increase anxiety and fear in our children."

Three telegrams were sent to Governor Warren urging the maintenance of peace in the world through the UN, and the admission of the Chinese People's Republic to the Security Council of the UN; a second resolution condemned discrimination against minority groups, and called for an end to the quota system in the colleges of California and the passage of Federal and State FEPC laws; a third resolution asked for the continuation of child care centers in California and expressed the hope that there will be a nation-wide child care center inaugurated soon.

The confeernce held at Pepperdine College was in preparation of the Midcentury White House conference to be held in December. Mrs. Aileen Blaine is chairman.

Whenever an individual or a business decides that success has been attained, progress stops.

It is aid that man is a lazy animal. We are all more or less prone to indolence, and to doing things the easiest way. We get into the habit of attracting pity and sympathy from others at the mere suggestion of illness.

Few people realize that their ailments are largely self-induced. Instead of combating the tendency to illness with plenty of fresh air, exercise and proper diet, they take a positive pleasure in dwelling upon their symptoms.

If you are one of these people, try to over-come this habit. Thoughts and fears of this kind can create such a mental state, until you may become quite ill.

Arson Try Fails

nia Eagle reporter went to the Battle home and found three of the West children sitting on the Battle's porch watching the house while Mrs. Battle was away shopping. The children, Leroy, 5, Johnnie Mae, 6, and Letha Mae, 7, were patroling the half acre property from the street to the barn, ready to give the alarm if they spied a trespasser.

Twenyt-four Hour Watch

Three Sheriff's deputies arrived and assured Mrs. Battle that a 24 hour watch would be placed on the house. Mrs. Battle told them she had discovered several cork-tipped cigarette butts on the lawn near the house last Saturday morning. Suspecting some attempt would be made against the house, Mrs. Battle had watersoaked the lawn and the wooden porch late Friday evening. Had the grass been dry, one of the butts could have set off a fire.

Mrs. Battle also reported that she had found a fence picket on her lawn. She believed that an intruder dropped this when he was frightened away.

The West family, mindful of the hostility shown them, is lending every support to Mr .and Mrs. Battle. About three weeks ago a member of the Slaughter family at 249 E. 121st Street, stole the West's dog and came to the house and cursed the West children while their parents were away. Later the dog was returned, and a man in the Slaughter home was arrested by Negro Deputy Sheriffs when he became belligerent and resisted arrest. He was promptly subdued and arrested. He was jailed for two days, fined, and put under a peace bond.

Community groups that responded when the Wests needed assistance, under the leadership of Ray Cox, also came to the assistance of Mr. and Mrs. Battle.

Sheriff's deputies are continuing the investigation of the disappearance of a telephone attached to a 25 foot cord and a light fixture from the Battle home. Mrs. Battle said the phone and the fixture were in the house Wednesday night but they were gone Thursday morning at ten o'clock when she arrived at the house.

State Senate Candidate Hits Social, Political Injustices

The Reverend G. Linwood Fauntleroy, candidate for State Senator from Alameda County today declared, on the occasion of the publication of The Jerry Newson Story.

"The story of Jerry Newson is a story well told because it brings to light the social and political conditions within which this innocent youth was convicted of murder and in so doing the authors point up the existence of another criminal besides the real murderer. . . . Jim Crow should be sitting in death row today—not Jerry Newson. . . ."

Railroaded

Jerry Newson is the young Negro boy railroaded to the death cell in San Quentin for the double murder of a druggist and clerk in Oakland in October, 1949, on such flimsy evidence that one defense attorney said: "I have tried many criminal cases and I have never seen a case where there was more 'reasonable doubt.' If Jerry had been white they never would have convicted him in a million years."

The Rev. Fauntleroy went on to say:

"One of the reasons for my candidacy for the Senate of the State of California is that I feel that in running for this office I can expose many of the monstrous inequities which exist in Alameda County. A voice in the State Senate which would speak in behalf of poor people, a Negro in a lily-white legislative body, is one way to prevent other young men from facing the agencies of fear to which Jerry has been subjected."

The Jerry Newson story is issued by the Civil Rights Congress, 1740 University Ave., Berkeley.

Bass for Congress

gloom pervading Brussels, Belgium. And in contrast the happiness, the cheerfulness, and the enthusiasm for living and working she witnessed in Czechoslovakia and in the Soviet Union. She went everywhere she wanted to go, she said, and saw everything she wanted to see.

"There is no Iron Curtain in Russia," she said. "If there is any iron curtain anywhere, it is here in the United States. It is here on Central Avenue. The people of Russia want peace. The world wants peace. There is a great peace program moving across the world. But it is being blocked here in America. It is up to us to tell our government that we don't want war. I will make that my job if I am elected.

"The plain people will vote for me, I know. The people who came to me when in need, and asked my aid. I am going to stand back nationally all the things that I fought for here locally. And I am going to fight for my people until we are free, and until this is a free world."

Reuben Borough, State chairman of the IPP and candidate for state treasurer, declared that the purpose of the IPP is to bring into existence the principles of the Declaration of Independence. There is a stirring among the people for peace, he said, and predicted that the IPP candidates would get a tremendous vote.

Harriet Jaffee, of the Young Progressives, said she agreed with the Republicans that "we need a change." The change, however, should not be for the worse, she said. But for better government by the election of Mrs. Bass to Congress.

Miss Jaffee's speech set off a demonstration for Mrs. Bass, in which the members of the Young Progressives marched around the auditorium with banners bearing the slogans, 'Vote for Bass," etc. The entire meeting, indeed, was sparked by the campaign for the election of Mrs. Bass. When she made her entrance into the auditorium she was surrounded by the ushers and members of the IPP, so that she marched forward like a conquering hero.

Horace Alexander, campaign manager for Mrs. Bass, explained the issue at stake, and called for support.

Ernie Leiberman, guitarist from New York, played several selections which were well received.

Dr. Edna Griffin, past president of the NAACP, Pasadena, presided at the meeting.

Miss Nell Higman also honored Mrs. Bass Thursday afternoon with a tea at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth McCalmant on East Edgeware Road. Miss Higman was 76 years old on Thursday. Ever active in the cause of the people, she observed her birthday with the tea for the people's candidate for Congress.

Urban League Joins Schenley In Press Meet

"The Los Angeles Urban League, in conjunction with Schenley Distillers Corp., is giving an informal cocktail party in honor of the Negro press, Sunday, October 22," according to Ballinger G. Kemp, Special Representative of Schenley Distillers Corp.

BALLINGER G. KEMP

Mr. Kemp went on to say that in his opinion no city in America has greater potential economic and social advantages for all of its citizens than has Los Angeles and vicinity.

"The progress of the community can be greatly aided by the cooperation and understanding between such forces as are represented by the Urban League, the Press, and Industry, which will result in valuable service toward its growth and development."

NAACP Protests

charged that purchase "puts the county in the position of assenting to racial discrimination."

The protest was accompanied by a demand that the Board of Supervisors, which unanimously approved the purchase, "immediately disavow all intention of abiding by these racial restrictions" and that it adopt a policy of refusing to take title to land for public use which is covered by racial covenants.

In its protest to the Board of Supervisors, the NAACP pointed out that "the developers of Lakewood have consistently refused to sell, lease, or rent any property in Lakewood to Mexicans, Negroes or Orientals, whether veteran or non-veteran."

Every effort, it charged, had been made to "impose residential segregation and the county's acceptance of a deed to property to be used as a civic center in Lakewood with full knowledge of, and acquience in" racial restrictions helps "effectuate residential segregation."

Clean-Up Day for Westview Hosp.

Sunday is "Clean-Up Day" at 53rd and Main Streets. Starting at 8 a.m., volunteers will begin arriving for an all-day clean-up party on the site of the proposed St. Augustine-Westview hospital.

Now covered with weeds and debris, the property is being cleaned as part of the current campaign to finish building the city's first non-profit, non-sectarian, inter-racial hospital.

First group of volunters will be from Fire Station 14 on Central Avenue. They will move onto the property at 8 a.m. following their all-night shift at the station. Later they will be joined by the football and basketball teams from Jefferson high school, members of the Jefferson high school's Knights Club, and 20 members of the alumni. Volunteers are also expected from Jordan and Carver high schools and a special detail from Newton Street Police station has promised to join the party. Trucks and gasoline have been donated for the day.

Following the lot clean-up, another "party" will be scheduled to repair and paint the fence surrounding the property.

All arrangements for "Clean-Up Day" have been under the supervision of Mrs. Catherine Jameison.

Community Medical Center Reaffirms Its Basic Policy

(Editor's Note: The following letter explains the position of the Community Medical Center on hospital segregation.)

To the Editor:

In response to your request for a statement concerning the recent article in your paper relating to a case of segregation in hospital accommodations affecting one of our patients, we take this opportunity to reaffirm our basic principles in this connection.

The Community Medical Foundation is a non-profit organization established to provide facilities for expert medical care to persons in low-income brackets. The cornerstone of its policy is to provide to eligible patients the best possible medical services in all branches of medicine and surgery at lower cost and without discrimination as to race, color, or creed.

Our patients have always enjoyed equality with each other, with the personnel and with the medical staff. We have never, and will never, practice segregation or discrimination at the foundation's community medical center and we condemn any discriminatory practices whenever and wherever they occur.

Business is never so healthy as when, like a chicken, it must do a certain amount of scratching for what it gets. —Henry Ford.

Police Brutality

the Los Angeles police department. This meeting took place last Thursday at the offices of the ILWU in Wilmington. The committee cited scores of cases of uncalled-for beatings, cursings, insults and inquiries by the police officers and the contemptuous attitude of Capt. Evans of the Harbor Area detail when these cases were brought to his attention.

Among those present were Loyd Seeliger, business agent, ILWU Local 26, chairman of the committee; Joe Johnson, port agent, Marine Cooks and Stewards; Rev. D. Bradley, of the Union Baptist Church and chairman of the San Pedro NAACP chapter; Ernest Woods of the Colored Business Men's Assn. in the Harbor Area; Mrs. M. A. Robinson and Emil Freed of the Los Angeles Civil Rights Congress; and a committee from the Marine Cooks and Stewards composed of Chet Baker, Clyde Fagen, Don Watson and Alden Clark. Albert McPherson and Ruth Keller, both of the MC&S, as well as others gave personal accounts of police brutality incidents including beatings in the San Pedro jail elevator.

Deputy Chief Hohman promised to let the committee know within 10 days of the results of the investigation and the committee will be called to hear the report.

Ask President To Investigate Camp Roberts

Protesting against discriminatory treatment of Negro Troops at Camp Roberts in California, a committee of prominent citizens today released a letter to President Truman requesting investigation of conditions at the camp.

Adding their voices to the letter of protest from the Citizens' Committee, top Democratic candidates for offices to be filled at the coming election, sent personal wires to the president asking the matter be investigated.

Senatorial candidate Helen Gahagan Douglas addresed the following message to the President: "Greatly disturbed by reports reaching me of discrimination against Negro troops of the 1402 Engineers at Camp Roberts in California. Urge you have investigation made at once to insure that this camp be administered in keeping with your policy of equal treatment o fall members of our armed forces regardless of race."

In his wire to the Chief Executive, gubernatorial aspirant James Roosevelt said: "May I join with a host of others in drawing your attention discrimination against Negro soldiers being practiced at Camp Roberts, California. Because of your long record of performance in fighting against this type of conduct, I

Foster Extradition Stayed

CHARLOTTA A. BASS, candidate for Congress from the 14th District, shows friends the many souvenirs she brought back from her two months' trip abroad. The occasion was an International Tea, to which those invited wore costumes of foreign countries. Delicacies from lands across the seas were served to more than eighty friends who came to welcome the hostess home and to wish her success in her campagin. Mrs. Bass brought a message of peace and friendship to people of the United States from the plain people of the nations she visited. Pictured are Louise Patterson, African Affairs Council official; Sadie Duroshkin, JPFO officials; Celia Schwartz, Emma Lazarus, JPFO official; Mrs. True Appleton, Vera Simmons, Mrs. Aurora Banks, Minnie Entzwiler, and Mary Lou Patterson seated with Frances Williams, IPP official and civic leader.

High Court to Consider Case

On Thursday, October 19, the U. S. Supreme Court through an order signed by Justice William O. Douglas granted a stay of execution of the Warrant of Extradition which had previously been signed by Governor Earl Warren ordering Letch Foster held for delivery to officials of the state of Georgia.

Foster escaped from a Georgia prison in February, 1950, while serving a sentence for auto theft. He was arrested in California August 2, 1950 at which time he made a confession to murder which was soon found to be false. Foster explained that because of the barbaric treatment that he had received while a prisoner in Georgia he would prefer a life sentence or even death

Young Boy Arrested By Cops To Spite Militant Minister

A 13-year-old boy, the nephew of a militant Baptist minister in San Pedro is being held by the police in an attempt to get even with the minister for his support of an anti-police brutality campaign. The youth, Elijah Brantley, is the nephew of the Rev. Brantley, pastor of the Union Baptist Church in San Pedro.

Rev. Brantley is president of the San Pedro chapter of the NAACP and he is a leading member of a community group fighting against rampant police brutality in San Pedro.

Last Sunday morning at about 8 o'clock, Elijah Brantley wheeled his bicycle, that had a flat tire, to a gas station. The station was not open, but young Brantley, expecting that it would be open soon, set in a car parked on the premises to wait for the station operator.

Police saw the youth sitting in the car, and arrested him for attempted car theft. He was detained, but released in the custody of his grandmother when she protested to the authorities. Sunday night, the youth was arrested as he left church. This time was was accused of attempted rape on a 15-year-old girl.

The girl is a playmate of young Brantley's and they have been close friends since their early school years. The Civil Rights Congress, which is investigating the case reports that Chief Hogan of the San Pedro

Attention of Mrs. Moore

Gentlemen:

Progressive Party Candidates in Major Radio Addresses Monday

California Eagle, Editor-Publisher Mrs. C. A. Bass and Reuben Borough, Independent Progressive Party candidates, will make major addresses to the people of California on Monday, October 30th, at 7:05 p.m. over radio station KLAC.

Mrs. Bass, who is editor of the California Eagle, one of the largest Negro newspapers in the United States, will offer a positive program to meet the needs of the people of her district. She will also voice the demands of the thousands of people in the

The Board of Deacons and the Trustees of Zion Hill Baptist Church this week agreed to the terms of settlement of a damage suit brought against the organization by one of its members who was injured in a fall from the steps of the church in November of 1948.

Mrs. Bass' Candidacy Built On Years Of Tireless Leadership

The growing support for the candidacy of Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, candidate for Congress in the 14th district reflects the appreciation of the community she has served for forty years as a fighting, progressive leader.

Reflecting the pattern of the times in which we are now living, Mrs. Bass addresses herself to the questions of peace, world-wide neighborliness, jobs, civil liberties and security; but she is mindful of the continuing demand for the basic needs of the people for which she fought in the early days when leadership for such causes was timid or lacking altogether.

Gained Jobs

Almost single-handed, Mrs. Bass aroused city-wide support in 1918 for her campaign to open the hospitals of the city to Negro employees. Her leadership triumphed in this campaign as it did later following a six year struggle to obtain employment

The SIDEWALK

By C.A.B.

But it's the same old Merry-Go-Round, initiated by the Republican Party as an aftermath of the Reconstruction period, and later adopted by its twin, the Democratic Party.

Promises—always promises, as a rule, prior to and during political campaigns.

In a glance at the local and national scenes at the present, my attention naturally settles on the American Negroes' position on these two fronts.

Over the years Negro people have not chosen their leaders. Rather the parties, well named the elephant and the donkey parties, have ferreted from among them the individuals aptly fitted for the mission of psychologizing other Negroes with the belief that they have friends in both the Republican and the Democratic parties, dedicated to the cause of making civil rights for them in all walks of American life a reality.

And they go beyond this. Often some "outstanding Negro"—he may be an educator, a minister, or a prize fighter—is selected by these political bosses as an example of what Negroes should be. How they should think and believe, especially politically.

This individual is placed in such a position of importance as to attract the admiration of other Negroes as an example of greatness. Unfortunately the Negro people are indeed gullible to this type of deception. An outstanding example of this sort of thing happened here in our city this week.

During the week sound trucks with loud speakers paraded up and down Central avenue, and other sections of the city, announcing a meeting at the Elks Central Avenue auditorium.

It seems that William L. Dawson, Illinois Congressman, was brought to Los Angeles to tell Negroes by inuendo how to defeat Mrs. Charlotta Bass, 14th Congressional candidate for Congress.

Mr. Dawson's attack was not a direct shot. He did not at any time in his speech mention Mrs. Bass, but directed his attack straight at the Third Party which is sponsoring her candidacy.

Mrs. Bass, who for upwards of 40 years has lived in the 14th District, all of which time she has been a fearless fighter for the rights of the people without regard to color, race, or religion, entered the race for Congress as the people's candidate.

Mr. Dawson, who is one of the two Negro representatives in the U. S. Congress, in the estimation of this writer, has a record of not too vigilant as a fighter for the Democratic principles in government that insures equality to all Americans alike, especially his own Negro people.

Perhaps if the Illinois Congressman had put as much effort in the fight to pass a Federal FEPC bill, as he did in coming to Los Angeles to defeat the IPP candidate, it might have become a law. The same may be said for the McCarran Act, which is aimed directly at the Negro people and other minorities.

Jackie Clack, Peace Heroine, Will Be Honored This Sundy

Peace forces of Los Angeles County, laying aside all other activity, will gather Sunday afternoon (3:00 p.m.) at the Park View Manor, 2200 W. 7th St., to honor Mrs. Jackie Clack, Los Angeles' foremost Heroine of Peace.

The title of Peace Heroine was earned by Mrs. Clack during the campaign for signatures to the Stockholm Peace Pledge. In that campaign, Mrs. Clack collected through her own efforts more than 3700 signatures to the Peace Appeal.

In light of her successful work, various peace groups of Los Angeles, through the Southern California Peace Council, have chosen Mrs. Clack to represent them as a visitor to the Second World Congress of the Defenders of Peace.

World Record

The Peace Congress will be held in Sheffield, England, November 13-19, and will be attended by delegates and visitors from all over the world. Among these Defenders of Peace, the name of Jackie Clack will stand out sharply. Professor Joseph Fletcher, Episcopalian clergyman, returning from a peace trip around the world, stated that he has heard of no total collection rivalling that of Mrs. Clack anywhere in the world.

The "bon voiage" reception for Mrs. Clack on Sunday afternoon comes at a time of heightened activity among all liberal and progressive forces and, in itself, constitutes a climax for the campaign in Los Angeles around the Stockholm Peace Pledge.

Congress Plans

Program for the Congress sessions to be attended by Mrs. Clack includes discussion of plans for world disarmament, under international control plans for continued activity around banning of the atomic bomb and other weapons of mass destruction; discussion of ways and means of settling the conflict in Korea by a United Nations returned to its original principles and means of operation; and discussion of campaigns for the banning of war propaganda in every form and in every country.

Council officials stated that the affair will be utilized for the raising of funds to finance Mrs. Clack's voyage abroad and predicted a highly successful affair.

police, announced that the charges have been reduced to "fooling around a car," and lifting the girl's dress."

Juvenile authorities, reportedly are detaining the boy "because of the danger of his leading an idle, lewd and immoral life . . . and because his grandmother died two years ago, he didn't have adequate parental care."

Despite this report, young Brantley had dinner Sunday with his grandmother and an uncle with whom he lives. A hearing in the case was held Wednesday in Department 38 of the Superior Court.

Congressman Dawson Hits Nixon For Voting With Dixiecrats

Congressman William L. Dawson, of Chicago, came to Los Angeles for an express purpose, and he made it known to a press conference held for him in the Watkins Hotel Monday afternoon. That purpose, Congressman Dawson stated and reiterated, is to win every vote he can for Senatorial candidate Helen Gahagan Douglas and Gubernatorial candidate James Roosevelt.

"Mrs. Douglas is one of the strongest liberal forces in Congress," Dawson told the gathered newsmen and women with strong emphasis. "Nixon consistently votes with the Southern bloc against the interests of the Negro people. I don't see how any thinking Negro could even pretend to support him."

Strong Support

Disagreeing with those who thought they sensed a luke-warm attitude on the part of President Truman and Vice-President Barkley toward Jimmy Roosevelt, Dawson, who is a vice-chairman of the Democratic National Committee, predicted that both Helen Gahagan Douglas and Roosevelt would win their respective offices. "James Roosevelt will beat Warren, because the people of California who did not think Warren would make a good vice-president, will for the same reasons reject him as Governor of California."

Congressman Dawson said he was going all over the country to help elect Democratic congressmen and senators in order to clear out the Republicans who vote consistently with the Dixiecrats against measure beneficial to the Negro people.

Advising Negro citizens everywhere to register, vote and use their strength in their own cause, Dawson said, "Negroes in the South are voting today as they have not voted since Reconstruction." To Negroes outside the South he said: "Organize and vote. You don't have to risk your lives to do so, and it is the one sure way to get what you want in government."

The Congressman met the press in the company of Assemblyman Augustus Hawkins and Congressman Chet Holifield, who is coordinator of the Democratic campaign in California. Holifield paid tribute to Dawson and substantiated his assertions that President Truman and the Democratic organization is solidly behind Douglas and Roosevelt. Assemblyman Byron Rumford joined with Hawkins and Holifield in inviting Dawson for the speech he delivered at the Elks auditorium Tuesday night.

in California rather than face return to Georgia.

Foster's defense is being conducted by the American Civil Liberties Union through attorneys Edward Carter Maddox, Herbert W. Simmons, Jr., and A. L. Wirin. His release is being sought on the ground that the sentence imposed by the state of Georgia was in violation of the 14th Amendment of the Constitution of the U.S. in that constituted cruel and inhuman punishment.

After successive denials of Habeas Corpus in the Superior Court, District Court of Appeal and Supreme Court of California, the U. S. Supreme Court granted a stay of execution of the Governor's warrant to November 20, 1950, in order that the case may be presented there by Foster's attorneys by a petition for certiorari.

Foster's case is similar in part to that of Sylvester Middlebrooks and Eugene Backstrom who had escaped from Georgia and Mississippi prisons respectively. Middlebrooks and Backstron, both Negros, were unable to obtain stays of execution in order to present their cases to the U. S. Supreme Court, but were freed by Judge James Carter of the Federal District Court here.

The petition for certiorari which will be filled for Foster, who is white, in the U. S. Supreme Court will present squarely the question of the validity of sentence being meted out in states with barbaric penal systems.

Phone Company Will Re-Apply For Rate Rise

Commenting on last week's announcement by the California Public Utilities Commission dismissing Pacific Telephone's application for increased rates, Mark Sullivan, President of the company, said:

"The refusal of the Public Utilities Commission to hear our application for increased rates at this time leaves the company in an impossible position to meet the public demand for more telephone service. We want to meet that demand. To do so we must get additional investment money from investors. We cannot raise the additional investment money which is absolutely necessary, without the moderate increases in rates we had applied for.

"The commission, we believe, has a mutual responsibility in this matter and we shall immediately file with the commission a petition for rehearing in order that our ability to serve the public be not impaired."

annex. At the time the board and church trustees agreed upon terms of compensation.

Since then, it was revealed during a court appearance before Superior Judge Evans, only partial payment has been made by the church. Last Thursday, the deacons and trustees agreed to keep their original obligations to Mrs. Adams and add a bonus.

MRS. CORDELIA GREEN JOHNSON, president of the National Beauty Cultural League, will honor the beauticians of Los Angeles with her presence, November 5-12. The date when she will meet with the beauticians will be announced later.

Repeal Traffic Court Sentence Of Ninety Days

Harold Hal, 1634 E. 107th St. and Willie Henry Marshall, 10612 Hickory St., both convicted in the courtroom of Judge Joseph L. Hall last July 27 of charges of criminal assault growing out of a traffic argument, won temporary freedom from a 90-day sentence pending their appeal to the appellant branch of the Superior Court.

Atty. Walter L. Gordon, who is representing the men in their appeal of the trial court conviction won the stay of the sentence and temporary freedom for his two clients, when the brief he submitted revealed a lack of evidence on the part of the prosecution.

Hall and Marshall were arrested when the car they were operating collided with that car being driven by Henry J. Iversop, white, of 1541 Madison Road, Palos Verdes. The two men engaged Iverson in an argument over payment of damage done to their respective automobiles. Heated words and name calling was followed with blows. Iverson was knocked out. Gordon's appeal brief points out the prosecution was faulty when it failed to prove the time, date and place where the beating occured.

People Demand End of War Talk And Seek Peace, Says Mrs. Bass

"The people all over the world are demanding an end to talk of war, and a definite drive for peace among all nations," says Mrs. Charlotta Bass, Independent Progressive Party candidate for Congress in the 14th Congressional district.

Mrs. Bass, editor and publisher of the California Eagle, and a long time leader among the Negro people will be the principal speaker at an election rally sponsored by the Compton-Willowbrook Club of the Independent Progressive Party, Friday evening, October 27th, 8:00 p.m. at Willowbrook Junior High School Auditorium. Mrs. Bass has recently returned from Europe, and will discuss conditions there, and the people's demands for peace.

The other speaker of the evening will be Mrs. Alla T. Washington, I.P.P. candidate for State Controller. A resident of Berkeley, and a veteran in the fight for civil rights, peace, jobs, and a leader in the Negro community of the East Bay area.

The rally will be called to order by Mr. Norman Mack, who will introduce his co-chairman of the Compton - Willowbrook Club, Mrs. Letia Robertson, who will conduct the meeting.

Admission is free, and the Independent Progressive Party invites the public to attend.

Robert D. Brooks Seriously Ill In Los Angeles

Robert D. Brooks of San Francisco, who is director of the Aspiring Artists Guild and the Metronone Agency, is ill in Los Angeles.

American Women for Peace Visit UN

This week, October 24th, the fifth anniversary of the United Nations, American Women for Peace demonstrated their determination to speak out against war. One thousand women made a pilgrimage to Flishing Meadow to see Mrs. Roosevelt and other women leaders of the United Nations, as well as Messrs. Acheson, Vishinsky, Rau, Bevin, and Schuman, to urge that they really make the U.N. an instrument for peace.

These delegations were led by such prominent women as Viola Brothers Shore, writer and Acting Executive Secretary of American Women for Peace; Mrs. Stuart Trotter, owner of the Boston Chronicle, leading Negro newspaper; and Mrs. Charlotte Hawkins Brown, president of the Palmer Memorial Institute of North Carolina.

Rev. J. A. McKinney, 668 Camelot Way, has just been informed that he was selected as national chaplain of the "Boys of '98 to '02." The card announcing his appointment was signed "Curly", with the return address of William R. Blackwood, Washington, N. Y.

Appeal Planned For Convicted Child Molester

Phil Weinrich, an ice cream vendor of 2110 Chestnut Street, Burbank, convicted last July in Superior Court charges of child molestation, was free on bail this week while awaiting an appeal of the conviction. Weinrich was accused of having fondled two miner children attending Brete Hart grammar schoo in Burbank.

Atty. Walter L. Gordon, noted criminal lawyer, has been retained by the white defendant to handle his appeal and subsequent trial. The girls age seven and nine years, both told their parents that Weinrich had molested them.

Atty. Gordon immediately detected flaws in the prosecution's case against his client and sought a straight probation without the imposition of a jail term pending the appeal. One item of the defense by Gordon will be to show that the girl's testimony against Weinrich was actuated by revenge.

EUROPE AS I SAW IT

The following is the fourth installment of a series of articles to be printed by THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE, describing the experiences, impressions, and first-hand knowledge gained by Charlotta Bass on a two-months' tour of three European countries—France, Czechoslovakia, and Russia.

Since my return from Europe, and I started writing this series of articles on "Europe as I Saw It," many persons have asked me, "Why did you go to Europe?"

Often I feel like saying that many people have gone to Europe before me, and many will continue to go in the future. In my case I was a delegate to The Defenders of the Peace Committee meeting at Prague, August 18. At the close of this meeting I was a visitor to the second World Youth Congress in the same city.

Perhaps the most serious impressions made upon me was at the sessions of the Youth Congress.

There were no haphazard or half-truths uttered by any of the speakers. They came to the conference armed to the teeth with facts. Unlike the Rankins, Thomases, and Nixons in our own U. S. Congress, who spend days, and sometimes weeks, filibustering bills which would guarantee liberty and justice to all citizens alike, in accord with the real meaning of our Constitution when and if they become laws.

In order to shed some real light on what is happening in the student world today, in connection with my story I will splice in some things that actually happened to me along with excerpts from some student speeches delivered at the session.

Imagine my surprise when I mounted the roetrum (or tribune, as they call it) and was about to take my place at a desk where there was an earphone on an English hook-up, when from the far corner of the same stage I heard a voice calling out, "Mrs. Bass, from Los Angeles."

I looked up and saw a middle-aged gentleman in ministerial garb approaching with outstretched hands.

It turned out to be Rev. Vancura, superintendent of the Methodist work at Prague, Czechoslovakia, who but a few years ago was stationed at Pasadena, Calif.

The Rev. Vancura named many persons and places in California which satisfied any doubt on my part as to his real identity.

It seemed that even before I appeared on the scene as an active minister in Prague, it had been the responsibility of Rev. Vancura to extend a welcome to the World Student Body.

According to the record, he said in part to the students: "Allow me to welcome the representatives of the Student Youth of all parts of the world who are filled with great enthusiasm for this meeting. Allow me to greet our guests. I recognize among you many eminent masters of science and culture who accepted our invitation to come to this conference. It shows that all peace lovers are interested in the outcome of our Congress meeting at this time when the threat of war hangs like a black cloud over the bright path of the future."

And from the youth of Prague came this welcome: "Permit us to welcome you to our homes, factories, villages, offices, schools, universities, and to the Republic of Czechoslovakia."

And from the chairman of the World Federation of Trade Unions came this greeting: "Hearty greetings to all members of this Congress. Seventy-five million trade unionists from all over the world, but especially the three million members of the RTU in Czechoslovakia extend hearty greetings to all the members of the Congress."

Great interest was centered on Korea, due to the Korea war which was at its height when the Congress met.

When Lieutenant-Colonel Kan Puk, leader of the Korean delegation, came to the tribune or rostrum to speak, there was a tremendous outburst of applause which lasted for several minutes.

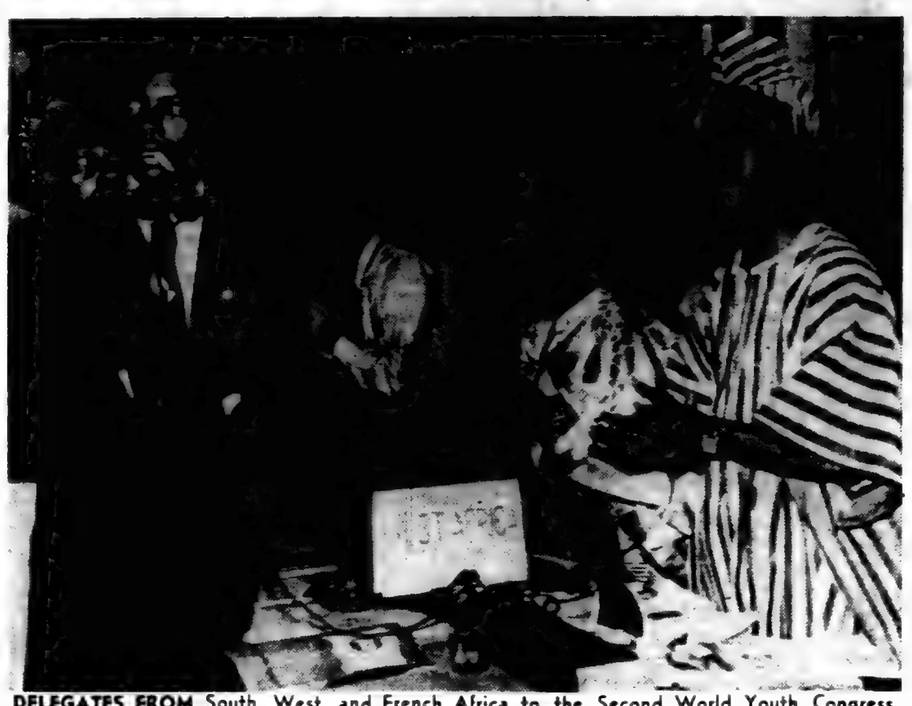
The fighting Korean soldier said, among other things: "August 15 was the fifth anniversary of the liberation of Korea from Japanese imperialism by the heroic Red army. On this occasion we send our thanks to the great Soviet people.

"The liberation of the northern part of Korea enabled it to start a new life, while the U. S. occupation of South Korea reduced that section to a colony and military base. Only the USSR honored the three-power agreement to grant Korea independence and democracy.

"The Korean people wanted to unite and work in peace, but the U. S. puppet regime of Syngman Rhee attacked the border of North Korea 452 times and finally answered the wish of the Korean people with an armed invasion of North Korea."

This statement without any political implications on the part of this writer, is from the lips of a Korean who no doubt loves his country as we Americans love ours.

Of especial significance were the reports of the dark peoples of the world.



There was a delegation representing 10,000 West Indian students, subjects of Great Britain. Their echo to the conference was also on the issue of peace. Their spokesman said that the question of the day which affects students and all other people alike, is the question of peace.

The same sentiment was expressed by the delegates from Korea, India, Indonesia, China, Mongolia, French Africa, Algeria, Argentina, Brazil, Burma, Ceylon, Costa Rica, Cuba, Iraq, Japan, French Morocco, Panama and the Union of South Africa.

In all of these countries where the population is predominantly dark, there was a chorus of protest by the students against what they described as British and American imperialism.

"We came together," said these students, "to discuss what we can do to avert the catastrophe which threatens hundreds of millions of us, and to discuss how we can unite, regardless of any difference in our political and religious outlooks to maintain peace by deciding on definite actions which we can undertake."

(To Be Continued)

DELEGATES FROM South, West, and French Africa to the Second World Youth Congress in Prague, Aug. 15, stand to applaud the leader of their delegation as he stresses the deman for the world's youth for peace and their burning desire for self-government. Many of the delegates wore their native costumes. They were selected by young people in their various districts to represent them at the international meeting.

JAMES MILLER ROBINSON, A NEGRO, BECAME A CZECH CITIZEN

ROBINSON'S STATEMENT

James Miller Robinson, who is now a citizen of Prague, Cezechslovakia, was born in Chicago, Illinois, in 1914, and is one of a family of ten. He is a member of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade which fought in Spain, and worked for Amtorg and the Soviet Government Purchasing Commission before going to Prague.

After living in Prague for a short time, he liked the country so well, and especially its people and its government ,that he decided to stay. He therefore took out naturalization papers, and became Prague's first Negro citizen.

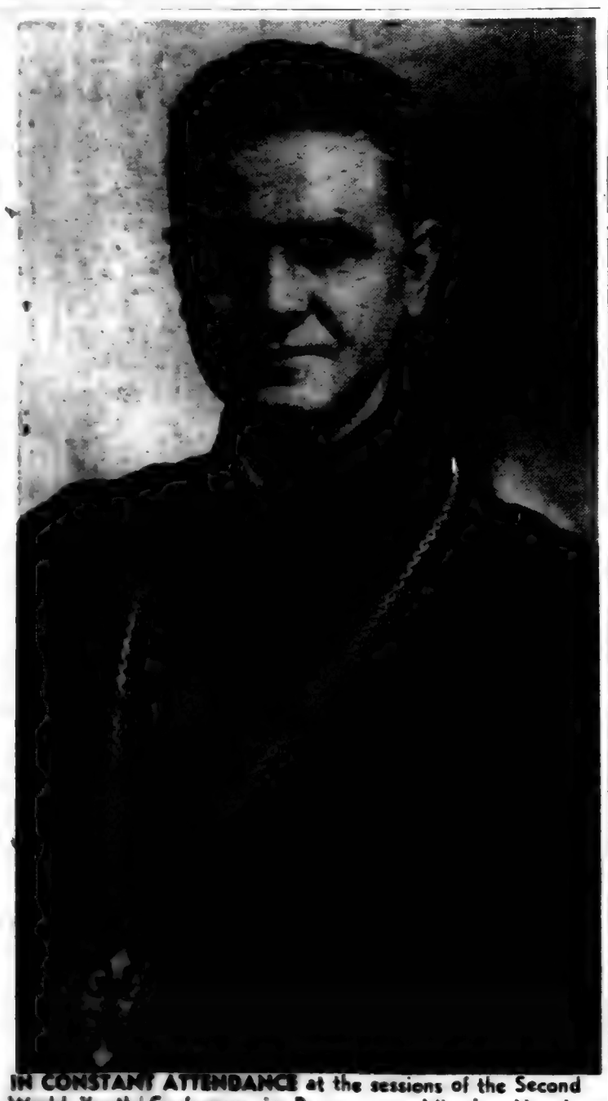
He issued the following statement recently:

In our factory there are workers from 17 countries . . . Spaniards from the International Brigade, Greek Guerillas, Frenchmen, anti-Tito Yugoslavs, etc.

I left America to go to the Soviet Union to live and work. After spending six months as a worker in Czechoslavalia, I was convinced that freedom and security waiting for me in the Soviet Union could be had right here in Prague so I decided to remain and apply for Czechoslovakia citizenship.

I work on a milling machine as a millright. My pay is approximately 5000 krowns a month which has a buying equivalent of $60 a week in America.

I am functionary of the Union in my shop. I am the director of culture.



I have a one room kitchenette with steam heat and telephone. I pay 200 krowns a month.

I eat luch and dinner in our factory restaurant. The cost is 40 krowns a week. I received three weeks vacation with pay. I shall get married in the next few weeks.

Groups of Negro church people, and teachers often visit Prague and are as delighted with it as I am.

COMPLETE UNITY and absolute democracy of youth from all over the world is demonstrated in the scene above taken during a recess of the Second World Youth Congress. All nationalities, colors and religions are represented by these young people, symbolically marching forward towards a peaceful world, a civilization in which they have freedom and full opportunity. In the center is a delegate from West Africa and immediately on his left is a member of the U.S. delegation.

IN CONSTANT ATTENDANCE at the sessions of the Second World Youth Conference in Prague was Miroslav Novak, Ph.D., B.D., Bishop of the Czechoslovak Church. He is also a professor in the University of Czechoslovakia.

National Leaders to Sponsor Second World Peace

Three Protestant Bishops, an atomic physicist who worked on the A-bomb dropped on Hiroshima, and leading American educators, scientists, religious and cultural leaders have formed an American sponsoring committee for representation at the Second World Peace Congress, to be held in Sheffield, England, on November 13-19, it was announce this week by Professor Joseph Fletcher, Professor of Christian Social Ethics at the Episcopal Theological Seminary, Cambridge, Massachusetts.

No Third War

Dr. Fletcher stressed that the Second World Congress is planned as "an international forum of all sections of opinion which reject the possibility of a Third World War. In essence, the Congress will represent an attempt by ordinary people to try to save the peace by transcending the differences that divide the East and West. The keystone of any peace effort," he continued, "is East-West understanding."

The call to the World Peace Congress issued by the Defenders of Peace from Prague emphasizes that the 'recent worsening of the international situation directly endangering the peace of the world imposes new and more urgent responsibilities upon all peace-loving people."

In making public the names of those who have agreed to serve on the sponsoring committee, Dr. Fletcher warned that, "This is perhaps the last chance to meet in a world forum for peace."

"The leaders of nations," Dr. Fletcher continued, "have so far failed to find a common road of peaceful settlement of differences. Where the leaders have failed, perhaps the people can succeed. To succeed in this, we must sit side by side with people of every country and of every political belief."

Among the initial sponsors are:

Rt. Rev. W. Appleton Lawrence, Protestant Episcopal Bishop of Western Massachusetts;

The Rt. Rev. Arthur W. Moulton, Protestant Episcopal Bishop of Utah (Ret.);

Rt. Rev. John Moore Walker, Protestant Episcopal Bishop of Atlanta, Ga.;

Charlotta A. Bass, publisher of the "California Eagle," Los Angeles, Calif.;

Dr. Allan M. Butler, Harvard Medical School, Cambridge, Mass.;

Prof. Anton J. Carlson, Physicist, University of Chicago, Chicago, Ill.

Dr. W. E. B. DuBois, Anthropologist and Historian, New York City;

Dr. E. Franklin Frazier, Chairman, Department of Sociology, Howard University, Washington, D. C.;

Rev. John Paul Jones, Union Church of Bay Ridge, Brooklyn, N. Y.;

Dr. John A. Kingsbury, former Commissioner of Public Welfare, New York;

Robert Morss Lovett, former Governor of the Virgin Islands, Chicago, Ill.;

Prof. Phili Morrison, Nuclear Psysicist, Cornell University, Ithica, New York;

Dr. Theodore Rosebury, Bacteriologist, Columbia University, New York;

Vida D. Scudder, Professor Emeritus, Wellesley College, Mass.;

Mr. Fred Stover, President, Iowa Farmers Union, Hampden, Iowa.

While the Defenders of Peace are the sponsors of the Stockholm Appeal, it is important to note that in point of preparation and program, the Second World Congress will go far beyond the single question of atomic control.

World-Wide

As foreshadowed by preliminary meetings of the top policy committee of the World Defenders for Peace, the plan is to mobilize the hundreds of millions of men and women who signed the Stockholm peace appeal in a world-wide crusade to reduce armaments, to ban bacteriological warfare, to bar aggression and armed foreign intervention in the internal affairs of nations, to find peaceful solutions of international differences and outlaw the very concept of war itself.

The purpose of the American sponsoring committee, as defined by Dr. Fletcher, is to do everything possible to see that all kinds of groups are urged to send delegates or observers to the Second World Congress in order to guarantee that American participation will represent all points of view.

Each star is a fool for love,
Each blossom a sign of spring,
Then why aren't you my love?
Oh, you lovely thing.

Each rose is a moment's gladness,
As the moon shines gently over,
Each kiss a moment's madness,
Filled with the rapture of clover.

I yearn for one I can't possess,
My heart must not take a fling,
I'll never find happiness without you, my lovely thing.

Oh, creature of Godly grace,
Lady of untainted love,
Your soul I must embrace,
As a rainbow wrapped around a dove.

Then if each star is a fool for love,
Each blossom a sign of spring,
Then why arent' you my love?
Oh you lovely thing.

Social Security Act Covers 500,000 More After January 1

Coverage under the new Social Security Act is going to add approximately 500,000 persons in the ten Southern California counties to records of the Social Security Administration and the Internal Revenue Service according to Collector Robert A. Riddell.

This coverage, which becomes effective January 1st, 1951, will include many groups of employees who were heretofore exempt such as certain farm and household workers, and the employees of non-profit and charitable organizations when joint request is made for coverage by the organization and its employees.

The new law also provides an avenue for coverage under qualifying conditions of self-employed individuals whose net earnings for the calendar year is $400 or more up to a $3,600 limitation for any one year.

Mr. Riddell further stated that provision is also made in the new law for coverage of many State and local government employees, as well as Federal civilian employees not now covered by a qualifying benefit plan.

Requests for circulars and general information regarding the new Social Security law is swamping the telephone facilities of his office Mr. Riddell stated. He desires every interested person to know that it will be early December before explanatory bulletins and circulars will be available for distribution.

At that time a general release will be made of all forms and circulars which will be needed by employers and employees in connection with the provisions of the new Act.

A community center has been opened in the Watts area at 10123 South Beach Street. It will occupy the entire second floor at this address, which was formerly occupied by the U.S.O. Center, and more recently by the Watts Recreation Youth Center under the supervision of the department of Recreation and Parks.

The official name chosen for the new center is the "South Los Angeles Community Center." The purpose of the center is to promote and sponsor any and every type of program for community betterment. Its facilities will be made available to all church, civic, youth and educational organizations and institutions operating in South Los Angeles and Compton.

Plans are under way for the incorporating of the center, which will operate as a non-profit organization. The founder of the center—Bishop C. F. Kyle, will serve as its director. Bishop Kyle also serves as president of the Kyle Bible Institute, and as presiding bishop of the United Christian Church, a non-denominational church body.

Bass Candidacy

for Negroes with the Telephone company.

It was the unflinching courage of Mrs. Bass that initiated and carried to a successful conclusion, the drive which ultimately forced Central Avenue merchants to employ Negroes, and she was the organizer of the Industrial Council which opened new employment opportunities for all minority groups.

Mrs. Bass challenged the Ku Klux Klan at every opportunity, exposing its Un-American program and ridiculing its vicous racial practices. She organized a force to march in opposition to one of its parades in spite of several death threats. Sued by the Klan, she won a clear victory for herself and the Americans against whom the Klan is organized.

The first Negro woman to serve on a Grand Jury in Los Angeles, and perhaps in the United States, Mrs. Bass was a progressive member of the Republican party for 30 years. She fought to have the Republican party broaden its service to the people generally and to the minority groups in particular, winning many important concessions. She left the party when she was convinced it would not move for advancement.

Still Fighting

As an official of the Independent Progressive Party, Mrs. Bass has increased her fighting spirit. She is the candidate of the people who want true representation on the issues that are vital.

She expects to win because she has the program that will give expression to the long-stifled desires of the great masses of neglected people in her district and throughout the nation.

The training is also available to Golden State Mutual field men in other areas in which the company operates.

Theodore Gray Is Not A Member Of Independent Deacon Board

Theodore Gray who will appear in court this Friday to face charges of criminal assault with intent to murder, growing out of an altercation which took place in his home at 1125 East 53rd St., during which he allegedly assaulted his wife and pistol-whipped a roomer, Orville Phoenix, is not a member of the Board of Deacons of the Peoples Independent Church of Christ.

The Rev. Clayton D. Russell, pastor of the Church, advised the California Eagle last week that Gray is not a member of the Board of Deacons, and several members of the church called the Eagle to protest the naming of Gray as a member of the Board of Deacons in a story carried in last week's isue.

Both Rev. Russell and the members of his church were informed that the California Eagle regrets the error in so characterizing Gray. They were told that the Eagle printed what it believed were accurate facts in a story that had public interest.

Gray, who is represented by attorney Walter L. Gordon Jr. will plead self-defense when he appears in Department 45 of the Superior Court tomorrow morning.

According to the information given the Eagle, Gray is not now and never has been a member of the Board of Deacons of the Peoples Independent Church of Christ.

county officers, including district Attorney W. E. Simpson, Sheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz, Chief Spense D. Turner of the County Fire Service, and Lawrence M. Price, Marshall of the Municipal Court.

The endorsement by the Legion was in the form of a resolution, unanimously adopted and approved by Commander Earl E. Baldwin of the Fourth Area.

The resolution noted that the new retirement system would "correct the faults" of the two separate systems under which the County Peace Officers and Firemen are now operating, and that "the future rights of a large number of veterans," now employed both in the Peace Officer and Fire Services, "would be impaired by failure to correct the existing faults of their present retirement systems."

The Legion urged voters to approve Proposition "A," as a singular means to put an end to current retirement abuses and effect needed reforms.

Stop Hallowe'en Fires

"Fire Department records," according to Henry R. Boone, Fire Prevention Chief, "reveal many cases of people being burned very severely—sometimes fatally—as a result of being costumed in flimsy, flammable material and dancing or playing too close to open flame."

The Chief pointed out that decorations in schools, churches, community auditoriums, and in other places of public assemblage must be flameproofed and the Fire Prevention Bureau keeps a close watch over such gatherings. The use of lighted candles in such places is prohibited.

The Invasion of Formosa

Formosa, the island to which Chiang Kai-Shek and his generals have fled after being thoroughly defeated on the mainland of China, is to be invaded, so a religious commentator stated last week, over the radio, by a band of missionaries who will endeavor to turn the recalcritant Chinese refuges to Christianity.

There are high hopes for success of the venture. It seems Chiang himself has invited the redoubtable preachers to come to his island fortress. They have been promised every courtesy, and to make the venture more attractive, this commentator noted that the refugees on Formosa Island are not the sort of persons one usually thinks of as a refugee.

"They are the elite of the land," he said. "Refined, cultured, educated. There really should be fertile soil for the preaching of the gospel."

He might have added, "wealthy," or at least they were formerly wealthy. The "refugees" on Formosa which the United State sand some of the other members of the United Nations would like to keep as representatives of 450,000,000 Chinese, are the few families who at one time held their Chinese countrymen in bondage who squeezed at least 80% of the products of the soil from them as tenants and share crop farmers, and who kept them in ignorance and fear for these thousands of years.

These are the "elite" who wasted the billions of dollars we sent to China in a corrupt administration who have pleaded in vain—so far—for additional billions to spend on themselves. To throw down the drain again. To have another "Operation Rathole."

To date the Government of the United States has kept its decision to send no more aid to China.

So, failing to make any impression on the U. S. government, Chiang Kai-Shek and his generals have craftily—and one can surely say hypocritically, too—turned to the church of America in the hope of gaining their point.

There will be a "soul-stirring" revival, we predict. And we don't doubt but that everyone of the "elite" of China will be speedily converted. Then will Chiang appeal through the church for what he could not gain from the U. S. government.

We remember how missionaries have said many times that the people in countries where they have preached the gospel of Jesus Christ, have accused them of being mere forerunners for the Standard Oil Co. Or some of the other big business interests in the United States, trying to gain a foothold in their country. Will this missionary invasion of Formosa be a kind of scouting party come upon invitation, intended to pave the way for big business interests, and eventually the U.S. government, to come to Formosa and take over?

Chiang, you know, has been rated a Christian for some time, however much his way of life may contradict the principles of the Founder of Christianity. "But it wasn't American missionaries who made Chiang Kai-Shek a Christian," commented a well-known author and traveler in the East. "It was American dollars."

Africans Want Freedom for For All

The people of Africa suffering for centuries under the dominance of the white race, now glimpsing the possibility of freedom above the horizon, are nevertheless not thinking solely of themselves. They want freedom for everyone. "Liberty and Justice for ALL," as we say. That to them, includes even the imperialistic white race which has held them in bondage for so long.

At the opening of the South Indian Congress recently, Dr. J S Moroka, president general of the African National Congress, stressed this point especially.

"We are all—Europeans, Indians, Colored peoples—South African nationals," he said. South Africa is the only home we know and own for ourselves and our posterity.

"To those who go back to India because some people do not want them, I wish to emphasize that it must not be said that the Africans do not want them here.

"What we want in this country is not to run up and down kicking anybody or any racial group out of the country. All we ardently desire is opportunity for all, freedom of movement and speech for all. We want such educational facilities for our children as are obtained for the children of Europeans in South Africa. We want direct representation in the councils of the State of South Africa."

That address was made by a native of Africa, whose country has been overrun by foreigners, especially members of the white race who have set themselves up as the dictators, with the black men to be regarded as slaves.

"We want only what is right. We want only what is just. We want freedom for all. We want liberty and justice for all—including the white race."

Cannot we in the U.S.A. ask for the same? Cannot our white brothers ask for freedom for all—including the Negroes of America?

Proposition "A" Will Benefit Taxpayers And Peace Officers

Abolition of the actuarial basis in the operation of a consolidated Los Angels County Peace Officer and Fire Service Retirement system was hailed today by supporters of the measure as a positive gain for local taxpayers. The petition will appear on the Nov. 7 ballot as Proposition "A."

The new plan, which will supsede the two separate systems now covering the County Firemen and Peace Officers, will be financed on a budgetary rather than an actuarial basis, and the budget will be estimated only on actual needs, it was pointed out.

"It's time to stop kidding the taxpayer," said Deputy Sheriff John J. Coady, chairman of the campaign committee for the measure. "The idea that the actuarial system builds up a reserve is nonsense. It's a nice phrase, but meaningless. It's just bad fiction. The two separate systems are consistently operating at a deficit which invariably has to be met by a tax levy."....

He cited, as an example, an acturial survey made of the present County Peace Officer retirement System by Coates and Herfurthm Consulting Actuaries, in November, 1946. The actuarial deficit in that single fund as of that date was placed at $4,193,-890.56. No actuarial study of the fund has been made since that time.

The new system, he pointed out, is designed to benefit not only members of the two services involved but the taxpayers.

Second World Peace Congress To Be Held In England, Nov. 13

News is beginning to come to us of preparations for the Second World Peace Congress. Thousands of local meetings are being held in factories, in market places, in homes, wherever women are, to elect delegates to the larger peace assemblies which in turn will elect national delegates to go to England on Nov. 13. At these meetings, too, the women expressed themselves on the matters which lie nearest to their hearts, and drew up the instructions which they want their delegates to carry with them to the Congress.

At the same time, in many countries the campaign for the Stockholm Appeal is being intensified and the women are popularizing the broad "Prague" program of the Defenders of Peace which forms the basis of the Second World Congress:

1. The outlawing of all atomic weapons.

2. Reduction and control of all armaments.

3. The outlawing of war propaganda.

4. Condemnation of aggression wherever it occurs and of foreign armed intervention in the internal affairs of any nation.

5. A return to the accepted procedure of the United Nations as a preliminary to a peaceful settlement of the Korean conflict.

Here are a few examples of how the women of the WIDF are preparing for the Second World Congress:

ALBANIA

The Albanian women are fulfilling and surpassing the pledges they made in honor of the Second World Congress of Defenders of Peace and of the Second Congress of the Union of Albanian Women.

In all conferences, in all reading groups as well as in their own individual discussions on the issues, the Albanian women have prepared their "instructions."

They have adopted the propositions they consider necessary to safeguard world peace.

These instructions have been transmitted to the leadership of the Union of Albanian Women and synthesized into one document, which has been artistically decorated. This document was discussed at the Second Congress of Albanian Women and signed by all the delegates present.

It will be given to the Albanian delegation which is to take part in the Second World Congress of Defenders of Peace.

FRANCE

Throughout France, hundreds of meetings took place on September 30, set aside by the Union of French Women as a day of struggle against war and misery. Typical examples of activities on that day:

At St. Etienne, 30 delegates were elected to go to the "departmental peace assembly." (These assemblies are taking place all over France and elect the delegates to the Second World Congress.)

At St. Quentin, a meeting of housewives on the marketplace adopted a resolution demanding a government allocation of 1,000 francs (about $3) for school smocks for their children, and another against the increase of military service to 18 months. Delegations of women—members of no organization—went to the local authorities with these demands, and later held meetings in their own neighborhoods to report on the results.

At La Pallice (noted for the courageous dockers' refusal of unloading American arms, in spite of the privation this meant) a broad women's committee against misery was formed and refreshment was offered to the undernourished children.

At Nantes, the day was prepared for throughout the week by the collection of hundreds of signatures against the high cost of living, against the increase of military service, etc., and on the day itself a meeting was held at which 13 delegates were elected to the departmental assembly.

At Nimes, a similar collection of signatures throughout the week in the public laundries and marketplaces, with many neighborhood meetings. Wherever the women are, there the UFW goes; thus a meeting was even held at which a group of women sitting knitting before their doors elected five delegates to the departmental assembly.

At Marseilles, a meeting of 600 women accepted the Prague propositions unanimously, elected delegates and sent 27 delegations to the allocations bureau, the mayor, etc. The wives of shipyard workers went in delegation to the management, and 2,-600 workers held a work stoppage in support. A shipyard workers' wives' committee was formed.

In Paris, meetings and elections of delegates in every arrondissement.

These are a few examples of how the women of the WIDF are attempting to reach the millions of women who want peace but whose voices have not yet been made to articulate. They are determined that the Second World Congress will make heard the tremendous united voices of all who want peace.

On October 16 the Second Conference of the Defenders of Peace of the Soviet Union began in Moscow. During this conference the report on "the Soviet people in the fight for peace against the fomenters of a new war" was discused and the conference elected delegates to the Second World Congress of Defenders of Peace.

The preparation of this conference takes place at a time when the Soviet people, living through most moving days, are roused by a great patriotic spirit.

Very recently the Soviet government decided to start carrying out gigantic constructions on the Volga, Dnieper and Amou-Daria (in Turkmenistan) rivers. Mighty hydro-electric centers, the most powerful electric plants in the world and canals for irrigation will in a very few years bring to life the desolate steppes of the lands beyond the Volga, will dominate the desert of Kara-Koum, and will bring new and richer harvests to the vast Ukranian plains and to the fields of Crimea.

Every Soviet family is now discussing these magnificent plans with enthusiasm. The peasants from the co-operative farms uphold them unanimously and express their desire of taking part through their own individual work in these giant constructions, which concern the whole people.

Soviet people are living amidst great plans for building. Masters of their own fate, they want to make their Fatherland even mightier and wealthier and create an abundance of material and cultural well-being. That is why they are deeply interested in the strengthening of peace and friendship between the peoples, that is why their thoughts and aspirations are centered on the safeguarding of peace, against the attempts of the imperialistic aggressors so that the latters' criminal and bloody plans be frustrated.

That is why the Stockholm Appeal, which has won the approval of all progressive mankind, has been warmly and actively welcomed in the Soviet Union. The historic declaration of the Supreme Soviet of the USSR giving its support to the Stockholm Appeal created great enthusiasm among the whole people. In a very short time 115,275,940 people have signed the Stockholm Appeal for the banning of the atom bomb. All the adult population proved through this act, that it was and would remain a staunch defender of the great cause of peace. They were not just ordinary signatures on a slip of paper. They were the expression of the unanimous will of millions of Soviet citizens, of their resolution to defend peace in the whole world and lastly the decision to increase the might of the land of socialism.

In the factories and the co-operative farms of the Soviet Union, meetings of the workers are now taking place, in which they elect their delegates to the Second Conference of the Defenders of Peace of the Soviet Union. The Soviet people and Soviet women warmly uphold the decisions taken by the World Committee of Defenders of Peace in its recent Prague session, for the banning of the atom bomb and other means of mass extermination of populations, for the general and controlled reduction of all kinds of armaments, for the condemning of aggression and foreign intervention in the internal affairs of peoples, for the banning of all forms of propaganda favoring war in any country and for a peaceful solution of the Korean conflict.

Soviet women occupied by their creative work, are closely following the intrigues of the Anglo-American imperialists who are trying to plunge the world in a new disaster. That is why the speeches made by Soviet women in the meetings which are taking place, are penetrated with their will of fighting for peace and made richer by their enthusiasm for creative work.

Speaking from the tribunes of these meetings Soviet women have expressed their feelings and their thoughts—all that is in their hearts. Zinaida Babachkina, who works in the Stalin automobile factory of Moscow declared:

"Let our delegate tell the conference that the workers of our factory, as all the Soviet people, are unanimous in their ardent desire to protect peace. Not one of us can speak without hatred of those who are seeking to cast the whole world int othe abyss of a new war. We want peace passionately so that we can build communism."

In the biggest factories, women were among the first elected as delegates to the next conference. The Workers of the Big Stalin automobile factory in Moscow, unanimously elected as their delegate Nina Vassilieva, a young stakhanovite who works at the foundry workshop.

The workers of the factory of Novo-Kramatorsk in the Moscow region, sent the best tsakhanovite, instructor of stakhanovite working methods, Antonina Gontcharenko, as a delegate to the conference.

At the machine construction factory of Podolsk, Eugenie Souratzeva, leading metal worker and brilliant innovator in the production process, Stalin Prize Laureate, was elected as a delegate. At the Karl Marx factory, at Leningrad, Savtcheva, a model maker, was elected.

Soviet women who are participating in the elections of their delegates are giving them their "instructions." The worker Pavlova, speaking at one of the meetings at a metal plant in Leningrad, asked the delegate to transmit to the conference of Defenders of Peace of the Soviet Union, the instructions of Soviet mothers who do not want war to threaten their children.

TRAVELERS AID

Although the Korean war front is several thousand miles from Los Angeles, its effects are already beginning to be felt by the Travelers Aid Society here, according to Miss Dorothy B. de la Pole, executive secretary.

Asserting that the mobilization of America's armed forces and the reactivation of many of its war factories have resulted in thousands of GI's, war production workers ,and their families' being "on the move" once again, Miss de la Pole declares that these groups ,with their various kinds of problems, are coming in ever-increasing numbers to the local Travelers Aid.

The need for the kind of service rendered by Travelers Aid, she declares, is shown by the fact that each year more than 1,500-000 persons turn to the nation-wide chain of 110 Travelers Aid Societies, of which the local society is one. Travelers Aid, she adds, is the only private social agency in the countr ywhich specializes in service to people who get into difficulties while traveling.

Three documentary films, nominated for Academy Awards in 1949, will be presented on the regular weekly documentary film series at the Los Angeles County Museum in Exposition Park, Friday evening, at 8 o'clock.

"The Rising Tide," although not a winner, tell realistically the story of the fisherman in Canada's martitime provinces. "So Much For So Little," a winner, is an animated cartoon about the public health service. "A Chance to Live," also a winner, documents the life of an Italian war orphan.

The documentary films are shown in the Museum's second floor lecture hall.

Robert W. Kenny, candidate to succeed Bowron as Mayor of Los Angeles in the recall election November 7, has pledged swift action to cure the city's smog and traffic ills.

Kenny declared that we must replace the present "Toonerville transit system," with one adequate to give "our people swift and comfortable transportation."

"I will also crack down on the smog problem regardless of what special interests may be affected," Kenny said.

Kenny also pointed to his record as attorney-general of California, to his service on the municipal and superior courts and in the legislature, as proof that he has the experience to give Los Angeles the clean government it desperately needs.

Over the opposition of United States Attorney Irving Saypol, the Federal Court of Appeals, in New York, granted the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born permission to file a brief amicus in the case of Peter Harisiades, which is to be argued during the second week of November, it was announced last week by the Committee. Carol King and Isidore Englander, attorneys for Mr. Harisiades, will present the argument before the Federal Court of Appeals.

The Committee Stated that the decision in the case of Peter Harisiades, whose deportation has been fought since 1946, may decide the fate of 160 non-citizens who have been arrested already on similar charges and more than 3,500 non-citizens who are threatened with arrest and deportation because of their political opinions.

A Vote for Bass Is a Vote For Peace

DAWSON IN L. A.

Representative William L. Dawson, of Illinois, the first Negro to become chairman of a a standing committee in Congress—the House Committee on Expenditures in the Executive Departments—has been touring eight states, making speeches for the election of Democratic candidates on November 7.

He was in Los Angeles last Tuesday and Wednesday, and spoke in the Elks' auditorium Tuesday evening, boosting the candidacy of James Roosevelt for Governor, Helen Gahagan Douglas for U. S. Senate, and Edmund (Pat) Brown for Attorney General, and the candidates for minor offices.

REPUBLICAN SUPPORTS BROWN

Michael F. Shannon, prominent Los Angeles attorney, announced his support this week of Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, Democratic nominee for attorney general.

"I am a Republican," said Mr. Shannon. "But I have decided to vote for Pat Brown for attorney general. I believe that for this particular office, seven years as district attorney of the city and county of San Francisco have given Pat Brown a training and experience not possessed by his opponent."

THE PROFITS OF WAR

PART II

Last week we discussed the fact that the American corporations' white supremist war in Asia is raising the costs of our national budget by some $40 billions annually—providing that it remains only a "little war." We saw that the corporations' representatives in our government are sucking these billions from the sweat and hearts of America's working people—already the war bill amounts to a $4 weekly cut in the workers' take-home pay, while it has brought the corporations their highest profits in history.

It is clear to all who will see that as a result of the Korean War the American people are being asked to pay a very high price—for what? And that we are to be asked for even greater sacrifices—for what? We have a right to know why we are being considered to pay such a price again, a few short years after our great sacrifices in World War II. What will we get in return for a lowered standard of living and the corruption of the democratic way of life?

We demand the answers—particularly since a spokesman for America's ruling class, former Secretary of Defense Johnson, declared at the American Legion convention:

"The taxation and military service we may have to bear to meet the present emergency may become a permanent and fixed cost on our price of freedom."

Sounds like one of Hitler's dictates, doesn't it? Let Johnson's collaborators in high places tell us why these montrous demands on our incomes, lives and liberties may become "a permanent and fixed cost on our price of freedom."

Barron's Weekly, the national financial voice of monopoly, entitled one of its recent editorials "U.S. Empire" and proclaimed: "American troops are fighting in Korea and are deployed . . . along the Rhine in an ancient and honorable task . . . whether we call this making the world safe for democracy, or saving our necks, or the maintenance of an American Empire . . . we may not need to draw on the spirit of the White Man's burden (tho its extraction from the shelf might do no harm."

To which the National Industrial Conference Board, leading monopoly research agency, adds: "America has embarked on a career of imperialism, both in world affairs and in every aspect of her life. . . ." And Barron's Magazine responds: "The U.S. has inherited an imperial mantle as order-keeper of the world."

Did you ever see such delusions of grandeur outside an insane asylum? Somewhat alarmed, the Wall Street Journal, veritable bible of the elite, tries to caution its own madmen by saying: "..., to assume that every non-Communist nation in the world is automatically to democracy and must be saved from communism is to begin to arrogate to oneself the prerogatives of diety. It is to say in effect that the rest of the people in the world are irresponsible, incapable of judging between what is good and bad."

Whom the Gods Would Destroy

But there's no restraining them . . for whom the gods would destroy they first make mad. . . .

The National Ass'n. of Manufacturers, thru its president, is reported to have told President Truman's Advisory Committee on Mobilization Policy: "This tension has to break sometime. . . . A preventive war would be one way to end this intolerable situation. Our country, and especially business, can't stand interminable mobilization."

While the Journal of Commerce, another authoritative monopoly publication, affirms that long-term propects for just that sort of program seems to be good, describing them as "reasonably optimistic as to the 1951 outlook for securities. Such views are based also on the assumption that the armament program will continue . . ." And Moody's Stock Survey gives the assurance: "There isn't any chance of returning to where we were before Korea."

In the face of the world-wide yearning for peace, the vultures gloat over American bodies in Asia, and declare in their Wall Street Journal: "They all (Administration leaders) say that we need a shooting-war, that for the task ahead of us a state of war is more desirable than a state of peace. . ..When you begin to say 'Peace, it's terrible!' you come at last to say 'War, it's wonderful!'"

To which the most fitting expression of current cannibalistic thinking is given by their Dun's Review.

"Quite apart from its tragic aspect, the effect of the Korean crisis on business was salutary in so far as increased government expenditures portend an indefinite continuation of current high level economic activity. Business was more assured of stability in the economy . . . than at any time in the past few years."

There we have the answers from their own mouths . . . to why we are being asked to give up our sons . . . to take food from our children . . . to consent to a police state.

LABOR ON THE MARCH

The Battle of Washington

A group of Negro veterans who work at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing in Washington, D. C., are finding the battle of Washington their toughest and most unrewarding campaign. Undisputed citadel of jimcrow American-ish, Washington has thus far refused to yield even a modicum of democracy to the veterans of World War II who fought for it at Anzio, Bougainville, Normandy and Okinawa.

John M. Lee

The elusive quality for which they fought was not for domestic purposes so far as they are concerned; their efforts and sacrifices went to maintain and further establish their second-class citizenship status. They discovered that only the dead are equal, and that the quick must die to prove they have lived.

When these men marched off to war, they left behind them a disheartening picture of their jobs and the opportunity for promotion to apprentice plate printers. Having all the skill and the know-how, in addition to years of experience in the department, they were denied promotions because they are Negroes.

Those who returned to their job in 1946 took an examination for apprenticeship in the plate printing department. They passed . . . many of them making marks that placed them high on the list, but the Bureau of Engraving and Printing refused to make a single appointment. The President's FEPC Board ruled in favor of the applicants in February of this year, yet the Bureau of Engraving and Printing held fast to its Un-American practice of not elevating Negro employees.

Numerous appeals to President Truman have been to no avail. It is only necessary for the President to order the Bureau to obey the FEPC ruling, and one of the flagrant abuses of civil rights would be wiped out. But the President has not issued that order, and he will not do so until he is confronted with the expressed wrath of the people.

Mr. Truman has it within his power to demonstrate leadership in the fight against racial discrimination. It should be impressed upon him that these men have earned the right to promotion, and that it is his responsibility to see that they get it.

There are more than 500 plate printers in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. The Negro employees are assigned to the lowest paid menial jobs. The apprentice plate printers make $24 a day . . . a sum that is almost equal to the salary paid Negro employees for a full week's work.

Subjected to humiliation and a denial of the jobs for which they have qualified ,these veterans again face military duty. They will be asked to forget that there was no democracy at home for them while they stake their lives on winning democracy for others.

It is difficult to reconcile what is happening to the Negro employees of the Bureau of Engraving with the promises being made to the non-white peoples of the world. The United States seeks allies among the Colored peoples abroad while it subjects its 16 million Negro citizens to the most vicious racial discrimination.

The president should be told by all fair-minded Americans that we should not continue to use bullets and bombs to impress our democratic ways on the people of other nations. We must tell him that while bombs will kill more people, it will take the influence of sincere action to regain the confidence we have lost all over the world because of our backward racial policy.

The Veterans in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing are employees of the government. They do not work for a private concern . . . they work for the people of the United States. If they are to be denied the right to promotion because of their color, then the people of the United States are responsible for the bigotry that makes this possible, and they should be so represented.

The city of Washington, D. C., is a national disgrace because it shows the way to other race-hating sections of the country. The Bureau of Engraving and Printing is just one of the many government agencies in Washington that jimcrows Negro em-

CALIENTE, Old Mexico—Lorice Grube who exercises horses at Bay Meadows and other places, captured the Powder Puff Derby on the longshot Hard Twist, beating the favored First Admiral by two lengths. Ten horses faced Wesley Neary for this annual special event. It was the largest field of girl riders in years. Hard Twist broke in front and was never headed, paying in the mutuels $39.20, $9.60, $6.60 across the board. Held at fifteen to one and the longest price horse in the race, Badge of Valor was the winner of the feature attraction of the afternon. It was "The Camden Handicap" at one mile and seventy yards. After trailing his field nearly to the home stretch Jockey T. Powell called on the son of For Valor Trample and he came charging down the home lane to gain a neck victory over the early pacemaker, Go Charm, who finished a neck in front of En Busca, a first starter at the border course. The winner paid $32.40. The daily-double combination of Haste Call, winner of the second race, and Dee Dee Did, victor of the third, rewarded its backers $67.20. While the nitecap called the Quniela paid $37.20, when Paani, the favorite, was the winner and Standpipe, third choice in the betting, was second. Only two favorites were able to visit the charmed circle. They were Haste Call, at $5.20 and Paani, also at $5.20. Jockeys Powell, White, Young and Petty scored doubles. This Sunday general manager Walter C. Marty's feature attraction will be "The Halloween" at one mile and one-sixteenth and carries added value of $1,500. "The Goblin" will be the secondary and "The Pumpkin" will start the day's events on the way. All in all, a grand program of twelve races has been lined up for the lovers of the sport of kings. As an extra feature for the Sunday program at match race has been added between Joyce Goldschmidt, eastern champion girl rider, and our own Wantha Davis, champion of the west. This race will be an outstanding feature and worth going miles to see these two champions battle it out—East-West Championship.

WITH THE GREYHOUNDS AT CALIENTE, Old Mexico — With the rich $10,000 Tijuana Derby to be run this Saturday night, October 28, much excitement prevails at the Tijuana Kennel Club. The field that will face the starting box are Tex's Bomb, Casey Swenson, Heilton Lad, Yarnell Bob, Sure Profit, K. C. Stoss, Picacho and Ollie Oliver. The distance will be over the long 7-16 mile course. Popular general manager William (Bill) Collier has everything in readiness for the event.

ELAJC Hosts Long Beach

The undefeated East Los Angeles Junior College Huskies play host to the unbeaten Long Beach City College Vikings Friday night, October 27, at Garfield high.

This promises to be the "Game of the Year" as far as Southland junior colleges are concerned.

Both teams are fresh from easy victories. East LAJC having thumped Santa Monica 55 to 6 while Long Beach was trouncing College of the Sequoias, 41 to 7.

Meeting for the first time, these two Metropolitan Conference teams should tax the capacity of Garfield high school field. The Norsemen from the beach city rank fourth nationally, while the Huskies, with a streak of fifteen straight victories, are rated ninth.

Therefore if any favorite is to be named, it should be Long Beach, whose Dewey Tompkins can break the school scoring record Friday night by juts counting once. He has averaged two td's per game in 1950. The East L.A. Huskies will enter the fray as underdogs for the first time this season. Huskie Coach Al Hunt will be banking on his fullbacks Lewis "Huskie" Williams and "Doc" Inman on the ground and Southpaw Ben Vartanian in the air.

Girl Scout Week in 1950 will be celebrated from Oct. 29th to Nov. 4th, by the largest membership in Girl Scout history, 1,525,000 girls of all races.

Hard Charging UCLA Bruins Slight Favorite Over Purdue

The belting Bruins of UCLA, 21-7 victors over favored Stanford last Saturday in the Coliseum, will play the Purdue Boilermakers this week at Lafayette, Ind., Purdue's home. It will be remembered that this is the Big Ten team that handed Notre Dame its first defeat in 39 games.

However, since handing that defeat to the Fighting Irish, Purdue has lost to Miami 20-14 and Iowa 33-21 and will probably enter the game with the Bruins as three-point underdogs.

The Bruins emerged from the Stanford game with no serious mishaps. Tackle Ed Miller, one of the four players of both teams helped from the field Saturday, was merely shaken by a jolt on the chin and is now reported to be in good condition.

The three Stanford players injured in the game are testimony to the fact that the Bruins are playing rock and sock football and will give no one an easy time the rest of the season.

With Donn Moomaw, Cappy Smith and Breck Stroschein stalwarts on defense, and with the plunging of Dave Williams, the running of Sophomores Johnny Florence and Ted Narleski, the sensational kicking of Bob Moore, and the pass-catching of Bob Wilkinson and Ernie Stockert on offense, the Bruins have the material to turn the trick Saturday and win their 14th game in intersectional play against 17 defeats.

Jeff Meets Undefeated Manual Arts

There's going to be a big explosion over at the Jefferson campus this Friday when undefeated Manual Arts meets head-on with a hot Democrat eleven. The entire Jefferson student body is out to erase Manual's undefeated Southern League record by rooting on their team. Jefferson has had the Indian sign on the Toilers for the past two seasons and expects to keep that jinx going. If Jeff gets by Manual and by some miracle Roosevelt trip Fremont (unpredictable Roosevelt could be the hero of the league), there will be a three way tie for the league lead between Jefferson, Manual Arts, and Fremont.

Last Friday's 14 to 7 win over Roosevelt was nifty to watch. Jerry Drew made his sixth TD in his sixth game; Corace Bailey had the stands shouting his name after a display of rugged definsive line-backing play, and sheer grit on offensive play; Thelton Henderson ran a punt back 80 yards for a TD only to have it called back; Jack Casonhua really looks like the ballplayer everyone has been waiting for; Henry "The Cat" Patterson made his per usual good showing; Rommie Loudd is more glue-fingered then ever; Tom Davis and Marvin McMahon look as cool as ever as they fire those long passes.

Chances are that the Manual Arts game will see a lot of TD's made as both teams feature speed as well as razzle-dazzle. Dick Nunis, Keith and Tsagalakis of Manual are expected to provide fireworks, while the Jefferson standbys are ready to do battle from start to finish. The "I told you so" boys are predicting a Fremont slaughter of Jeff just couldn't get over the fact that Jeff was taking Roosevelt to the cleaners last Friday. A large crowd of fans are expected to come out and see if Jefferson can do it again.

A new Los Angeles City Schools ruling states that all Board of Education employees may purchase student tickets at the general admission gate.

Nation's Top Horses To Run At Hollywood

The nation's turf champions are headed for Hollywood Park's 30-day meeting opening Tuesday, Nov. 7.

Convincing proof of this was given Tuesday when Racing Secretary John Maluvius announced a star-studded field of 57 nominees for the $100,000 Hollywood Gold Cup to be run Dec. 9.

Richest race in this country for 1950 with its $100,000 net guaranteed to the winner, the Hollywood Gold Cup has attracted representatives of the outstanding thoroughbred stables from California to the east coast, the nominations for the Inglewood track's classic including such top handicap performers as Noor, Hill Prince, Assault, Ponder, Loser Weeper, Your Host, Solidarity, Vulcan's Forge, On Trust, Miche, Next Move, Bed O' Roses, Bewitch and Wistful.

Mrs. C. S. Howard's Noor and C. T. Chenery's Hill Prince are currently considered by turf experts to be leading the race for 1950 "Horse of the Year" laurels. It is therefore likely that Hollywood Park's mile and one-quarter test will decide the issue of 1950 turf champion, with Ponder, Loser Weeper and others still close enough to the top to threaten Noor and Hill Prince for the honor.

Ponder is one of five outstanding stakes performers nominated by Calumet Farm for the Hollywood Gold Cup, the others being the fleet mares, Bewitch and Wistful, and the stable's speedy three-year-olds, Theory and All Blue.

King Ranch of Texas has nominated Assault, along with Curandero and Beau Max. Making his comeback at Hollywood Park after a year away from the races, the Triple Crown winner of 1940 holds the honor of being the highest all-time money winner in the world now in training with earnings of $672,520.

On Trust, who has been named with imported Iron Duke II by E. O. Stice and Sons, is the second highest money winner now racing with $537,870, while Ponder follows with $533,275.

The Hollywood Gold Cup has also attracted all four of the top money-winning horses of 1950 who are still racing. The earning stars of the year who are headed for the Inglewood track's big feature are Hill Prince, who recently brought his 1950 total to $263,715 by his victory in the Jockey Club Gold Cup over Noor, who is now second with $244,190; Ponder, $211,050, and Your Host, $202,575.

It is estimated that the total earned by the turf champions nominated for the Hollywood Gold Cup exceeds $5,000,000, making it one of the greatest money-winning fields of all time. Five of the first seven money-winning stables of the year—Calumet Farm, Vanderbilt, King Ranch, Chenery and the C. S. Howard Estate—are also represented in the big race.

Although Girl Scout Week is celebrated throughout the nation in thousands of communities where Girl Scouting exists, there is no major event scheduled for that time.

John L. Davis Vs. Big Duke At Olympic

John L. Davis, holder of both the California State Lightweight and Welterweight titles, will defend the latter crown against Bernard (Big Duke) Docusen next Tuesday night in a 12 round bout at the Olympic Auditorium.

Davis, whose recent wins over Carlos Chaviz and Art (Golden Boy) Aragon put him at the forefront of chalengers for Ike Williams, World's Lightweight crown, will have to go all out to defeat Docusen, who is on the comeback trail and must make a good showing here if his professional boxing life is to continue.

Prices for this Championship fight will scale from $5.00 top at Ringside down to $2.40.

Boys' Football Passing, Punting Contests Begin

The Los Angeles City Recreation and Park Department's big 1950 boys' football passing, receiving, and punting contests are now underway at more than 90 municipal playgrounds.

Competition is being conducted in two divisions—junior for boys 15 years of age and under, and senior for those 17 and under, according to the Recreation and Park Department.

Neighborhood playground contests will be completed by Saturday, November 4, and seven district finals will be held on Saturday, November 11, beginning at 10:30 a.m.

City-wide championship finals will be held Saturday, November 18, at Rancho Cienega Playground, beginning at 10:30 a.m.

Winners and runners-up in local playground and district contests and the city-wide finals will receive medals and trophies, and every boy entering the contests will be eligible to attend one of the Los Angeles Rams' home games at the Coliseum as guests of the Rams' management, the Recreation and Park Department reported.

Browns Seek Pay From Cards For Injured End Len Ford

The Cleveland Browns of the National Football League have made a move to have Chicago Cardinals pay the remaining salary and medical bills of End Len Ford who was injured last week in a game with the Cards.

Ford suffered a broken nose, fractured cheekbone and jaw, and lost several teeth in the game which Cleveland won 34-24.

"Ford was deliberately slugged by Pat Harder of the Cardinals," Arthur McBride, owner of the Browns, said. "Motion pictures of te game show our boy was blameless.

"Football is a rough game, and we wouldn't object if a boy was hurt on a legitimate play. But this was different. It not only injured one of our outstanding players, but it jeopardized our chances in the league," McBride said.

Coach Curly Lambeau of the Cardinals insists that it was a hard shoulder block and not fists which caused the injury to Ford.

"In that game, Ford slugged anybody who blocked for our ball carrier in sweeping his end," asserted Lambeau. "He hit Ed Bagdon in the mouth and drew a penalty for that and I cracked Harder's teeth earlier in the game."

"On the play where Ford was injured, Harder ducked a swing and then hit the end with a hard shoulder block which is legal," said Lambeau.

National Football League officials have "no comment" to make.

Pepperdine Set For San Jose Saturday Night

Pepperdine's Waves, who haven't beat some of the teams they were supposed to beat, face one they're not supposed to beat Saturday night at Gilmore Stadium.

San Jose State's Spartans are the team. Like Loyola, the northerners have achieved major football status with a big-time schedule this year and they're loaded.

Two comparative scores show right away why the Waves are underdogs. Loyola thumped Pepperdine, 50-14, but was happy enough with a 14-7 verdict over State.

Gen (the Magician) Menges, the Spartan quarterback who formerly starred at Anaheim High and Fullerton JC, was colder than a cucumber against the Lions as he completed only one pass. A gent who can throw a ball as he did against Stanford and Santa Clara just doesn't figure to have another dull night against the Waves.

"We hope to put together two halves of good football Saturday night," says Richards. "It's time we did. Maybe we can be Breakers instead of just Waves."

Southern Cal Still Seeking 1st Victory

The University of Southern California Trojans, seeking their first win of the 1950 season, will enter their game with the University of Oregon Saturday in the Coliseum at about a four touchdown favorite.

Oregon has managed to win but one game this year while losing four. They defeated Montana 21-13 while losing games to UCLA, California, Idaho, and St. Marys.

USC, seemingly loaded with talent at the beginning of the season, has already suffered its worst year since 1943 when they won only two games while losing six and tying one. If Troy by some hapchance dut fumbles Oregon this weekend, Coach Jeff Cravath, who is already under fire from the alumni, will probably start looking around for other means of support in the coming years.

GERTRUDE GIPSON

AN ASIDE TO LIONEL HAMPTON:

We've always enjoyed the singsational music of Lionel Hampton, and we still do. We've long admired his aggressiveness, his way of pushing talented youngsters forward, and we can't forget this. We've always liked the way he lets his light shine without always throwing the spot on himself . . . and always we "HAD" respected him for his courtesy and treatment of the Press, whether white or black, pink or purple. . . . Now please go back a line or two and notice we said "had respected him," but here's what we're getting at . . . Lionel, you need a little brushing up, you don't pick your people or spots nor do you let anybody else do "YOUR" picking for you . . . at least not with members of the Press with whom you are most familiar . . . and who certainly at all times have pushed you all the way. . . . Oh sure! we'll always print your releases (that is, as long as they send ads) and we'll continue to smile when you say hello . . . but when it comes to "selecting members of the Press," you of all people wouldn't do a thing like that, now would you? . . . You are never too famous nor too old to remember the old adage, "You've gotta be careful how you treat people when you're on top or on your way up . . . 'cause you just might meet those same people on your way down." . . . Dance lovers anxiously waiting the November 17 date at the Avodon when Percy Mayfield holds forth with his band. . . . Percy's "Two Years of Torture" selling like hot-cakes. . . . Jimmy Edwards looking not sooo handsome with his newly-grown beard for the flicker, "The Steel Helmet." . . . Lillian Randolph gets wonderful role in Paramount's "Dear Brat" . . . Bill Walker getting tonsilitis from sooo many recent roles in the many Hollywood flickers. . . . Dottie Dandridge being tabbed as another Lena Horne. . . . Pretty and shapely June Eckstine making a striking appearance at the reecnt Schenley's Press Party hosted by Ballenger Kemp with likeable Bill Chase (of Schenley's of course) on hand to greet his many friends. . . . Cute Alma Washington, she's Ches Washington's spouse, looking so unlike herself in a reeeel-purty off the shoulder thing. . . . The Cosmopolites present their annual "Champagne Soiree" this Sunday afternoon and they're really "doin' the thing up"—gotta even present cards at door . . . ahem' . . . Al Jolson's death carried in all of the major newspapers . . . "who's sorry now?"

IF IT'S NEWS, IT'S HERE:

Letter from Maria Cole . . .who says she's having a wonderful time and quite sure that I miss her very much. . . . Group will return around Santa Claus time. . . . Vocalist Larry Danrell received a gold-plated record from Regal record firm for his tune of "I'll Get Along Somehow.'" . . . Number sold over 500,000 copies. . . . SUDDEN THAWT: Wonder what has become of the old-fashioned lawyer who made a comfortable living suing the railroads. . . . Understand that "Elihu-Black Dot" McGee is no longer at the "Flame," swank after-hour spot. . . . If you think starlet Jane Russell has some something, then then you must notice the good points about Charlotte Charity. . . . Phil Moore has really started something with his weekly musical. . . . Jimmy Scott (he does the vocalin' on "Everybody's Somebody's Fool) was booked as a last-minute replacement on the show at New York's Apollo and he proved the hit of the show . . . well, if you think we're surprised, I'm sorry . . . he's hotter than hot right now and with only one hit record out. . . . Pearl Bailey scores again with another lead in "Bless You All." . . . Fred O'Neal on his way out from the apple to RKO for a lead in the Sol Lesser "Tarzan Peril," which also spotlights the talent of Dottie Dandridge. . . . Ruth Mars and Edwin Petty, who recently "told it to the preacher," received many lovely and useful gifts at their wedding reception and are now off to Mexico. . . . Eloise Davis is my impression of what a well-dressed doctor's wife should look like. . . . So maybe if you don't want my impression, but it's my column, so there! . . . Zeniths present their Introductory Dance this weekend. . . . Hazel Scott and her piano artistry holding down the headline attraction at Ciro's, with Herb Jeffries, we understand, to follow. . . . Angel Stratton always calling for second looks . . . wherever she goes. . . . Jules Haywood at the Philharmonic Sunday with a sell-out house anticipated. . . . Thomisina Ayers causing ohs and Ahs with her "beyootiful" new cape . . . we're not sure what it is but whatever it is, it's gorgeous. . . . Hear that our fave vocalist, Billy E., has added "75,000 more when he recently signed a new MGM contract. . . . Dorothy Bradley in the field of Real Estate . . . no reason why she won't do good. . . . Besides having a wonderful personality, Marie Cornish can cook, too. . . . Looks like time again, which reminds us to leave you with something that goes with this: "More politicians ought to stop quoting Lincoln's speeches and start imitating his actions."

SAY YOU SAW IT IN THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE!

SHE'S BUSY AND SHE LOVES IT . . . Lillian Randolph, whose name is synonymous in show business, really hasn't a moment to spare these days. Going into her 13th year in the Gildersleeve show, she is also one of the stellar attractions at Larry Potter's Supper Club and she was just recently signed by Paramount for a wonderful part in their forthcoming flicker, "Dear Brat."

DINAH DOES IT AGAIN—Singer Dinah Washington, 26, and Walter Buchanan, former bass player with Arnett Cobb's Orchestra, were wed in Baltimore last Friday at the home of Mrs. Ophelia Nickerson, 1506 McCulloh Street, by Reverend Frederick Jackson, of Fulton Baptist Church. The bride was attended by Mrs. Ike Jackson, and Councill Buchanan, brother of the groom was best man. The couple plan to live in St. Albans, N.Y., and will honeymoon at the completion of the singer's current road tour.

Orioles Are Flying High

BALTIMORE, Md.—The high-flying Orioles, who a mere two years ago were singing for $125 a week in an obscure night club in this city, are celebrating the second anniversary of the release of the record that skyrocketed them to overnight stardom as they headline this week on stage of Biltmore's Royal Theater.

Proof positive of the tremendous strides the Orioles have made in the past two years is evidenced by the fact that the five boys are being paid $5000 for their current week's engagement on the Royal stage, a far cry from the price they rated two years ago.

Because of the critical acclaim garnered by him at the Paramount Theatre, several television stations are negotiating for his services for a script show in which they would feature his comedy.

AT CIRO'S . . . Hazel Scott, an artist who really plays a piano like it should be played is without a single doubt the stellar attraction at Hollywood's swank Ciro's. Miss Scott sneaked into the city with only a few in the know of her present engagement. This will be the only Los Angeles date of the talented sepia artist.

"BEULAH" AND THE GALLOWAYS—Radio listeners heartily welcomed CBS' "Beulah" show starring Hattie McDaniel as queen of the kitchen back this fall. The jovial cook, pantry mixer, and bottle washer is seen surrounded by a quintet of Galloways—her godchildren. Hattie holds Raymond and on her left is Phoemie Anne. Front row, Romayne, Ronald and Michael. The "Beulah" show is heard Monday through Friday.—(ANP)

HE'S A HOT NUMBER . . . Erroll Garner as a "press praise agent" would put it is real hot right now. His waxing of "Six P. M." is selling like Hot Cakes. . . .

Gene Ammons at Broadway's Birdland

NEW YORK.—Gene Ammons is probably one of the few band leaders who was rocked to sleep with a boggie woogie beat when he was a cradle baby. And it was only natural since his dad was Albert Ammons, recognized as one of the country's top boogie keyboard artists.

Currently fulfilling an engagement at the Birdland Cafe on Broadway, with his band, Ammons says that when his late father had to baby sit with him, Ammons, Jr., would put him to sleep with a rolling bass full of rhythm. A product of Chicago's famous Southside High School, DuSable, Gene played with his bands, of Billy Eckstein and Woody Herman before forming his own.

Buddy Johnson On One-Niter Circuit

NEW YORK.—Buddy Johnson, the youthful creator of "Walk 'Em Rhythm," his blockbusting band and vocalists Ella Johnson and Arthur Prysock head for the hinterlands once again for a tour of one-night stands that will keep the Johnson crew on the one-niter circuit for the next three months.

Winding up a record-breaking three-week engagement at Harlem's famed Savoy Ballroom on Friday, October 27, Buddy will invade the southern states on the first leg of his tour with the kickoff date set for Saturday night at the Skating Rink, Baltimore, and Sunday night at Turner's Arena, Washington.

O'Day Is Back And the Oasis Nabbed Her

Anita O'Day is back! Bright red hair, flashing green eyes and freckles, "The Jezebel of Jazz" opens a two week engagement at the Club Oasis, 3801 S. Western, on Friday, October 27, where Scat Man Mrothers and the Lee Young Band are being held over.

Born in Chicago, Anita got her first break at Kitty Davis' famous club where she waited tables and gave out with songs between entree and dessert. A Down Beat editor, Carl Cons, got an earful of the vivacious singer who had just served his roast beef and potatoes.

By 1941 O'Day was a big name in Chicago and a young bandleader, Gene Krupa, heard her while he was appearing in Chicago. Krupa signed her to sing with his band and the combination proved very successful for both Anita and Gene.

In 1943 she went back to doing a single and after a very successful tour of the key cities, returned to Hollywood and joined the great Stan Kenton band, where again the Capitol recordings hit the number one brackets.

In 1945 Anita left the Kenton Band to go out on her own again and then returned to Hollywood for picture work and recordings. Now Anita O'Day is back for the Oasis engagement, which is her first Los Angeles appearance in a number of years.

JO IS BACK . . . Yeseeee! The toast of Paris, Josephine Baker, who at the present time is in Mexico with her husband, will very shortly be in New York where she has been booked for one of the swank and exclusive niteries there. It will be a great welcome planned for the exciting Jo who has been away from the States for many years.

WHEN you drink a glass of water from the faucet in your home, you can rely on one important fact: your Los Angeles water is pure. Your water is pure because your City-Owned Department of Water and Power is constantly on guard to keep it pure. Department technicians make daily chemical and bacteriological tests, totaling more than 50,000 annually. Last year your Department's Sanitary Engineering Division examined more than 21,000 samples of water for purity. To provide additional protection your water supply is continually disinfected by the latest types of automatic equipment. Because of these modern scientific safeguards, your Los Angeles water actually exceeds in purity the strict standards established by the Federal government for use on railroad, steamship, bus and airplane lines.

Surprise Fete Given for Mrs. Gammage

Mr. Robert W. Gammage played host for a recent informal Surprise Birthday Party which was given in the honor of his charming little wife, Mrs. Ann Gammage. The host was successful in keeping the party a secret from the honoree. This was clearly shown by the attire she was wearing when she was ushered into the dining room, and by the ahs and ohs and "who did this to me?"

Guests were served in the dining room. The table, laid with a beautiful lace cloth, was decorated in pink and green. At the head of the table was a large punch bowl, from which punch was served by Mrs. Duncan, mother of the honoree.

The table was covered with sandwiches and assorted cakes and cookies. The honoree received lovely gifts from all of her well wishers. Those present for the occasion included Mr. and Mrs. Fred Duncan and son, Mr. and Mrs. Todd Lightsey, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Moore, Miss Alice Clark; Messrs. John S. de Valentine, Eugene and Clarence Gammage and Buster Bougard.

YMCA Guests Public Schools

Principals of sixteen of the twenty public schools in the Area served by the 28th Street Branch YMCA were luncheon guests at the Branch building recently. Lloyd V. Prante, member of the Branch Board and principal of John Adams Junior High School, chaired the meeting. By skillful questioning of officers of the Branch, he brought to the attention of the educators present the financial situation facing the Branch, the effect of this condition upon program, especially for the youth of the community, and the need and possibility of school people helping the YMCA by using their community contacts to inform the public of the YMCA and its program and requirement of public support.

International Tea at Home of Mrs Charlotta Bass

Friends to the number of 60 or more crowded into the apartment home of Mrs Charlotta A. Bass, 4073 South Central Ave., last Sunday evening to enjoy an International Tea to wish Mrs. Bass "Good Luck" in her campaign for Congress in the 14th District, and best of all, to volunteer their services to make that campaign a success.

Following the theme of the evening several guests came in costumes, more or less accurate, representing various nations. Mrs. Bass graciously showed many of the gifts she brought home from her trip to countries she had visited during her European tour, recently concluded.

Adora Ulasi, former columnist for The California Eagle, spoke for the election of Mrs. Bass to Congress, and lauded her as one of the great women of the century. "One whom we can trust."

SOCIALITING WITH....

Vivian D. Johnson

"Halloween is a night for goblins
On October 31st they play,
They're shy; they're spry.
The gay little Jack-O-Lantern
Is there when the fun begins
He's cear and queer,
With a smile extremely wide."
—Jane Landon

To many of us this age-old holiday brings back memories of by-gone days; night with "trick or treat" as the major greeting as we scampered from house to house, comical and clever costumes, mystery stories, and tales of witches and black legends. To all of us I'm sure that this date is one that is traditional in itself and holds childhood memories for many.

To capture the spirit of the season, the local playgrounds and recreation centers are planning many varied types of celebrations to delight children and grownups of all ages. Many directors are working very hard to make this an unforgetable nite for those who choose to visit Halloween carnival. We believe that the playgrounds do a fine job of interesting children in Holiday activities that are full of fun and entertainment. Various communities should appreciate the hard work of directors who attempt to plan these activities, mainly in an effort to keep "our kids" of the streets and out of mischief. Community support and cooperation is much needed.

The Ball Is the Thing

And "Masquerade" is the idea that many clubs and private parties given by Angelenos adopt as a theme for this October celebration. One celebration that is strictly masquerade is the invitational planned by the Compass Club. The affair is to be held at the Alpha Bowling Club on Thursday night (tonight). Many prizes and lots of gayety is promised for the guests to enjoy. Under the leadership of Esther Worril, the club has planned a full year of activity, and this affair is one in which the plan is to entertain members of the club and their special guests. Deadrick F. Jenkins, club reporter, has been handling the publicity, and it to be commended for the fine job. If you're on the guest list, remember, you can't afford to miss!!!

Surely you'll not forget to remember that those dynamic women of DELTA will present their "Spooky Hollow" ball on Saturday night at the Elks Auditorium. With Jeep Smith and his Jeepsters providing the dance time rhythms, and the Pyramids furnishing the costume atmosphere ,the spirit of the holiday should be prevalent. Every attendant will be required to wear a mask, and midnight has been designated as the "Hour of Unveiling."

Week-end Review

To highlight the week-end's activities Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority takes the spotlight. Their Sunday event "An Afternoon at Ciro's" was really successfully presented, and quite a turnout of Los Angeles elite was on hand to enjoy the entertaining program that was given. There was quite an array of guest stars to sparkle an exciting event. Among some of the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hardy, Dr. Jay Moss, Mr. and Mrs. Crispus Wright, Mrs. Clora L. Wright, Leontyne King, Rev. and Mrs. Clayton D. Russell, to name a few. (See story).

Later the same evening, Sunday, the Los Angeles Press Club entertained their first annual Cocktail Party. The gay affair, held at the home of Lillian Cumber, was really well worth attending for this scribe. Meeting the staff of various other local papers was really interesting. A few guest stars and celebrities were on hand to greet the many guests. Among them was Jimmie Edwards of "Home of the Brave" fame. Also met Jamel Frazier who is recently appearing on the Gene Autry's TV show. Mr. Theodore Allbritton, distributor for Calverts, was also on hand to greet and meet. Enjoying the gay atmosphere also spotted Wini Orr Smith, looking very chic wearing a stunning short hairstyle. Marie Walls and hubby Fred, Helen Phillips, Peggy Cheatum wearing an attractive suit of taffeta with the changable color effect, Phyllis MacArthur sporting a navy blue suit with matching accessories, Henry Martin, Earnest Bufford, Zera Collier, Mrs. Ethel Moore, and many others. Coming up in the near future, the Press Club plans to have an Installation Dinner at which officers will be duly installed in official manner.

Birthdays, Past and Present

Approximately two weeks ago this coming Saturday night, Mrs. Rosalee Turner was hostess to a few guests at a Surprise Dinner Birthday fete honoring her husband Emery, who was really surprised. The decorations were very clever, and the complete house was adorned with golden chrysanthemums. A lovely ham dinner was served, and for entertainment very unique games and stunts were enjoyed. The guest list included Chester and Cecil Osborne, George and Rosemary Strode, Tom and Gloria Campbell, Zera and Louis Collier, and Charles and Betty Shaffer. Really an unforgettable affair.

And Friday past Mrs. Annie Froe was as surprised as the above mentioned for some of her dear relatives presented her with a birthday fete. Mrs. Froe was the recipient of many household and personal gifts among which was a beautiful sterling silver tea service given by the honoree's sister, Mrs. Beatrice Goodwin and family. Mrs. Beulah Taylor and Elsie Jackson were the hostesses assisted by Ethelene Smith, the honoree's daughter, and Mrs. Goodwin. The honoree's spouse, Mr. Robert Froe presented her with a very surprising and appreciated gift, a diamond ring and a one-hundred dollar bill. Rex. Baxter Duke and Rev. M. F. Mitchell assisted each other in giving a birthday blessing to the couple which was very impressive. Seen enjoying a tasty repast were such guests as Freddie Vaughn, niece of the honoree, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Pickett of the Metropolitan Mortuary, Mrs. Ruth Farris, Gertrude Jackson and brother Charles Smith, Mrs. Delores Ennis, Ernestine Meeks, Meeks, Lilly Mae Morgan, Robert and Mozella Ghant, Mrs. Essie Parker, Mattie and Robert Parker, Mrs. Harold Martin, Weldon Atkins, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Froe, Katherine Beal, Bertha and Howard Swinger, Jimmie Esther Givens, Mr. and Mrs. George Reynolds, Mrs. Alice Matlock, and Mrs. Leona Mason.

And of Things to Come

First let's not forget to mention the concert featuring Jules Haywood on Sunday afternoon at the Philharmonic. This event should bring some real fashionable outfits on the scene. Will have a complete report for you.

Understand that the Doll League Club is busily planning its fall events among which a formal dance is coming up sometime in November. The Les Beau Dames, up and coming social club is already planning its invitational New Year's Eve Breakfast. The Zenith Club really has some unique surprises and an evening of full entertainment planned for all of their expected guests when they present their formal dance in the Palm Room of the Royal Palms Hotel on Friday night, October 27.

Halloween Carnivals Scheduled At L. A. City Playgrounds

Spooks and hobo - globins, witches, ghosts, and a host of other eerie creatures once again are poised for their annual invasion of Los Angeles on Halloween, Tuesday, October 31, and their headquarters will again be municipal playgrounds in every part of town.

The Los Angeles City Recreation and Park Department and community civic groups who have been working with neighborhood playground directors in making plans for the giant community celebrations which will be held at the play centers the night of the 31st, expect record-breaking throngs of children, teen-agers, adults, and families to attend the events.

Groups joining the Recreation and Park Department in its efforts to make the 1950 playground Halloween carnivals bigger and better than those of last year which attracted more than 250,000 merrymakers include local P.T.A.'s, civic and service clubs, business, labor, and veterans organizations, property owners, parents, and youth agencies.

The big carnivals will get underway with the lighting of big bonfires at dusk on Halloween. Then will come the parade of small children in their "scary" costumes. Prizes will be given to the youngsters with the outfits judged the most original and weirdest.

Carnival fun will start after the tiny tots' parade. There'll be games, stunts, apple-bobbing contests and tugs-of-war, music, vaudeville, other attractions on outdoor stages, and trips through "haunted houses" will provide thrills and chills. A variety of contests and games will be offered in festive carnival booths, and amazing quantities of hot dogs, popcorn, candy cotton, and other edibles will be consumed.

After the younger children are tired of celebrating, teen-agers and grownups will join in square and modern dancing on lighted tennis cours and in colorfully decorated playground clubhouses.

"Take your whole family to the municipal playground nearest your home for Halloween fun on Tuesday night, October 31," was the hearty invitation extended by the groups sponsoring the community celebrations.

know you will heartily agree that at a time when we are calling upon every American in our fight for world peace, we defeat our purpose in the cause of democracy by permitting discrimination against the men of the 1401 and 1042 Engineers."

Among those who signed the letter to the President were Edward Roybal, Los Angeles City Councilman; Dr. J. A. Somerville, member of the L. A. oPlice Commission; Glenn M. Anderson, Chairman of the California State Democratic Committee; Augustus F .Hawkins, member of California Legislature; Leisa Bronson, vice-chairman, California State Democratic Committee; Henry Nava, president of Community Service Organization; Richard Richards, L. A. Democratic County Central Committee, and numerous others.

The President's attention was called to the quartering of Negro troops in a distant portion of the camp although facilities were available in the main area thereof. Numerous other incidents of discrimination at the camp were pointed out in the letter of the Citizens' Committee.

"Our country in this hour needs the active support of every American," wrote the committee, "and we believe that the men who are called upon to face tanks, guns and death to preserve democracy should at least enjoy the fruits of democracy in the Army of this country."

a leading member of the Young Progressives, who are working for the Election of Mrs. Charalso the arrest of William Cris in front of his own home.

Sonbonmatsu was arrested on his way home from a Bass for Congress meeting, and held in the 77th street jain on a battery charge. Cris was taken to the Watts police station. His case is being investigated by the Civil Rights Congress. Sonbonmatsu was later released on bail provided by the CRC.

The committee first visited the police department, but the chief of police was not in his office and an appointment was arranged for today (Thursday.)

The Committee then went to call on Mayor Fletcher Bowron. Mrs. Bass, who headed the committee, told of their mission, and strongly protested the action of the police officers inmolesting a worker in her election campaign.

"I have just recently returned from a trip to Europe in which I visited France, Belgium, Zzechoslovakia, and Russia," Mrs. Bass told him.

But Mrs. Bass got no further than the word "Russia" when Mayor Bowron jumped out of his chair.

"So," he yelled, "You like the Russian government better than the American?"

"I said no such thing," retorted Mrs. Bass calmly. "As an American citizen I have the right to visit others countries in the world If I choose to do so, and as a newspaper woman I have not only the right, but the duty to report to the American people what I see and what I learn from my travels. I have a right and the duty to make comparisons, and to point out where we in our government can better conditions if we choose to do so."

"In all the countries which I visited I found the people living together and working together for peace. This was especially true in the USSR and the other countries which you say are behind the 'Iron Curtain.' They are working for peace. They want peace, not war. And I want to say, Mayor," she added, "that here in America, and right here in Los Angeles, if you please, need to work harder and fight harder for peace, if we are not to drift and fast, too—into a third world war."

Other members of the committee also spoke, emphasizing the need for a stricter supervision of police activities. Virginia Ruiz told Mayor Bowron how the Mexican-Americans revered Mrs. Bass for the strong stand she has taken in favor of all minority groups, Mexican as well as Negro.

"We feel we have a friend in Mrs. Bass," she said.

Jackie Clack, Mina Muro, and Horace Alexander were other members of the committee who called on Mayor Bowron.

● Midnight Arrests

demanded that the arrested men be immediately admitted to bail in order to avoid further hardship to their wives and children. Members of the delegation, terming the McCarran-Wood law unconstitutional, also asked Landon why the men had not been arrested during the day-time, and why their attorneys had not been notified.

The arrests were carried out last Saturday night at midnight. The men were snatched from their families and taken to the County Jail. It is planned to send them to Ellis Island ,situated in the shadow of the Statue of Liberty, where they will be held for six months. They will be then given hearings, and should they not prove deportable, according to Landon, they will be released.

Without Power

All three of the men have been free under bond for more than a year as the result of previous immigration arrests. Landon told the delegation the men were arrested because of "conditions they created themelves." He said the order for their arrest came from Washington ,and he insisted he was powerless to admit them to bail.

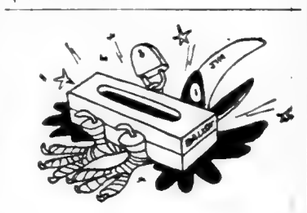
He did promise to convey the protests of the delegation to Attorney General McGrath, and he declined to express his opinion of the law he is enforcing by snatching fathers from their crying children in the dead of the night. The immigration official side-stepped direct questions as to reasons for the arrests, the source of the arrest order and whether or not there will be more arrests. He said to answer direct questions would reveal confidential information.

The three men, Frank Carlson, Harry Carlisle, novelist and David Hyun, architect, were described as decent, law-abiding Americans who were not citizens through no fault of their own. Their wives appealed to Landon to release their husbands in order to prevent hardship for their children.

Hyun is a Korean who lived for a number of years in Hawaii. Carlisle worked in British coal mines as a youth and wrote a best-selling novel about his experiences.

Rev. Fritchman told Landon, "The burden of proof in a democracy, is on the government." He called the midnight arrest of the three men, "shocking, Un-American action."

Woke Children



Mrs. Carlson told Landon that two days before his arrest her husband received a letter from Carlson's office telling him he would be notified of any further action to be taken against him. "They came at 11 o'clock, woke up and frightened my children and stayed until three."

Speaker after speaker demanded the release of the men until the constitutionality of the law under which they had been arrested was tested. Landon dodged all direct statements, promising repeatedly to convey the statements of the delegation to Washington.

Attorneys for the men, present with the delegation lindicated legal action will be started immediately to gain the reelase of their clients. The wives of the trio appealed for letters to McGrath and President Truman requesting bail for their husbands so that they can continue to provide for their families who will be without means of support so long as they are held in jail.

CHAMPION of women in their advancement to high places, Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune spoke in Los Angeles this week on behalf of Senatorial candidate Helen Gahagan Douglas. Mrs. Bethune termed 14th district Congressional candidate Charlotta A. Bass, 'well-qualified for the post she seeks.'

DR. C. V. TROUP, president of the Fort Valley State college in Fort Valley, Ga., has been invited by President Truman to participate in the Midcentury White House Conference on Children and Youth to be held in Washington, Dec. 3-7. Dr. Troup, who is vice-president of the conference of Presidents of the Negro Land Grant Colleges, will represent the conference at the meetings.—(ANP)

A PORTRAIT OF WESLEY WELLS

By Beulah Richardson

I have seen a man.

I have seen a great man.

A man, who without the warmth of family has stood alone in a fight for dignity, who without the confidence of friends has stood alone in a fight for justice; who in the midst of unrelenting opposition of prison administration, has stood alone in the fight for his life.

Stood and fought alone twenty-one years and nine months in prison, for it is only in the last three months that Wesley Wells has known the relief of the intercession of friends in his behalf and to these new found friends he says: I am very grateful for your help. I have often felt that I had a slim chance, that I was going down because I knew no one.

However, a letter to Mrs. Charlotta Bass, Editor and Publisher of the California Eagle, and her suggestion that he contact the Civil Rights Congress has brought a host of new friends: the Civil Rights Congress of Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland, and Sacramento, Elks Civil Liberties Committee, the Baptist Ministers Alliance, ILWU Number Two, and many other interested public and private citizens. From these friends he has already taken new hope and courage that expresses itself in action and humor. He says: I have painted my cell on Condemned Row. I thought it almost looks beautiful, then I thought, how could a cell on Condemned Row be beautiful. I must be cracking up.

Yes, I have seen a man. A great man. A great man whose presence bears out the disdom and integrity of the words spoken by Mrs. Francis Wililams to Governor Warren that: You must be very careful when you talk to me about the crimes and guilt of my people as they fight justice and human dignity—. For the figure of Wells that bears the scars of nine knife wounds inflicted upon it at Fulsom Prison and in the presence of a prison guard, stands tall, and the warm, firm grip of his hand, his fleeting smile and words and actions of wisdom are neither the handshake, smile, words or actions of a "killer who must be killed!"

Wells, aware of the Prison Administration's preoccupation with the phrase, "Model prisoner," explained what the phrase means, he said: "You see, the idea is not to rehabilitate a man but to break a mans' spirit. For a long time I had never heard of rehabilitation. In 1928 at Fulsom Prison the Negro prisoners were celled on the top floor known as the "Buzzard roost!" In the mess hall we were the last to go in, and had the scraps left by the white prisoners. One day I told the fellows when the bell rings for mess get in line, anywhere in line, all through the line. Well, we did and I got at the head of the line. The guards pulled me out of the line and were so busy with me the other fellows got in to eat. Larkin, the captain, said to me: "You think you're a smart so and so, don't you? Well, when we get through with you, we'll have you eating out of our hand." I knew I wasn't going to eat out of anybody's hand and I told him so. He kicked me on the shin . . . but I survived. And my so-called conviction is due to prison administration."

It was here that I felt the depth of this man who, at the age of fourteen, had experienced society's contempt for his person when he was forced to eat in the kitchen of a restaurant on Seventh Avenue in Los Angeles. A contempt that in the defenselessness of his youth kept him circling outside of life, a contempt so unrelentingly cruel and omnipresent that it warped his thinking and actions to the degree that at the age of eighteen he found himself in prison. No, it is no unreasonable to believe that an eighteen-year-old would conclude: If it's all right to steal one man's dignity which is his life, it's all right to steal another man's car which is his transportation. I knew that Wells realized that life without dignity is death when he said: "I know my actions often incur the animosity of the guards but I'll fight a losing fight if I'm right, and if a man treats me right I'll respond."

I have seen a man who had for four and one-half years been aware of the plot against his life. Despite the anxieties this knowledge must have cost him still under attack showed resource for the protection of himself and mercy for his attacker. He successfully dodged the two pots of scalding water thrown at him by Brown and with a coat warded off the slashing knife. After he had disarmed Brown and even though Wells had a knife HE DID NOT USE IT. He stood by till the guards came on the scene.

This is not the deed of a killer. Killers should be made of more demonstrative stuff. This is the deed of the man for whom Rev. Taylor (Ministers Alliance of Sacramento) asked of Governor Warren: Give him to me. I have had six such men in my care and they have not turned.

Of this situation that earned for Wells the five year to life sentence, he says: The guards asked me for my knife. I said, not until you pick up brown's. There it is on the floor. When they picked it up I gave up my knife. I only did this because I didn't want them to do away with Brown's knife. The guard said all he wanted to do was to get me to the captain with a knife.

I did not get a lawyer. I really didn't think I needed one. I thought it was a clear cut case of self-defense. I acted as my own lawyer and prepared and filed the opening brief. In court they said they weren't trying me on the case of self-defense but for my having the knife that few seconds while the guards picked up Brown's knife, although the coat I used to ward Brown off with never showed up in court as evidence. And if I hadn't kept my knife till they had Brown's, they would have done away with it just like they did the coat. Brown was never brought to trial. He went before the parole board the next month. In the middle of the hearing they confiscated all my papers and I didn't get a chance to file the closing brief.

I lost by default. Judge Glen (now practicing in Sacramento) recommended clemency but the Adult Authority set the indefinite sentence of from five years to life. I have appeared before them four times and they never set a definite sentence.

It was here that I felt a glowing admiration for this man who without the advantage of a formal education still comprehends the double talk of law and says of the one under which he now stands condemned to death for throwing a cuspidor at a guard: This law has only been used seven times. Five times against Negroes, once against a Mexican and once against a Portuguese. I don't want to exaggerate but I'd say that at least every two months there is an infraction of rules by a lifer but this law is not used. The prisoner is offered simple assault."

I felt the wisdom of Wells when he said of Walter Gordon, the Sygnman Ree of the Adult Authority who issued the statement that Wells was a dangerous man who must be killed, "he is another politician. He said to me right here in this room, "I won't forget you. I'll do all I can to see you get a fair deal, and a month later he issued the statement that I was a killer . . ."

I knew the leadership of Wells when he said of Governor Warren: I do not think it's right for him to use me to get at the Civil Rights Congress. And I remember that at last election when a Negro was sentenced to death for kidnapping and rape, he said: "I do not believe in taking a life when a life has not been taken. And I do not think that the death sentence would have been given had the prisoner been other than a Negro."

Wells is also a humanist, for he chose to tell the delegation, at what peril to himself I know not, of a new prisoner who has been brought in in a critical condition. Well said: "His name is

Dr. Geo. M. Leaf, D.C., also told of his work with the cound ray and its merits.

Mrs. Helen Reed told of being blind for seven years before receiving the Gravitonic Life treatments. After regaining her sight, she married the inventor and devoted her life to working with the ray.

Similar meetings will be held every Tuesday evening, 7 to 8 o'clock. Next meeting will be Tuesday, October 31st, when the germ destruction demonstration will be repeated. Each Tuesday night a new demonstration will be added showing the mysteries of sound and its vibrations.

A PINT OF BLOOD IS A GIFT OF LIFE

The greatest lifesaver in any war is bottled plasma. So once again the Red Cross is desperately calling for volunteers.

If you hesitate giving blood to the Red Cross because it seems to you to indicate some permanent loss, just remember that blood is quickly rebuilt by drinking additional liquids and eating protein and iron-rich foods.

Foods rich in protein are meat, fish, poultry, eggs, cheese, and milk, nuts, dry beans, and peas. As for iron, many foods we eat contain it in small quantities and a few foods are really rich in this important mineral. Liver heads the list of foods rich in iron which the body actually uses, and New Orleans molasses comes in second.

Before and after your trip to the Red Cross, drink lots of milk with some iron-rich New Orleans molasses stirred into each glass. It's a drink that gives you the requirements for quick blood rebuilding — protein, iron, calcium, and plenty of liquid.

And to go with the molasses milk, Bess Molasses cookies are perfect. Here's the recipe. You can make the cookies and keep them for weeks because they mellow with age. Or you can mix the cookie dough and keep it in the refrigerator and bake a few cookies each time the oven is on.

BRAN MOLASSES COOKIES

1 cup all-bran
1 cup New Orleans molasses
¾ cup melted shortening
3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon allspice
1½ teaspoons ginger

Mix together bran, molasses, and shortening. Sift and measure flour. Sift with soda, salt, and spices into molasses mixture. Mix well. Form into small balls by rolling in the palm of the hand. Put on cookie sheets and press flat with fingers or a fork. Bake in a moderate oven, 350°-375°F., about 10 minutes. Makes about 3 dozen cookies.

A letter from Langston Hughes this week finds enclosed that great poet's new collection printed on a mass basis at 25 cents a throw by the Negro Publication Society of America. It is called Jim Crow's Last Stand.

Hughes is the only member of that talented group of Negro poets and writers who blossomed during the Roaring Twenties who continues to grow as an artist and a human being. Claude McKay, whose mighty fury once put wings on words, has long since degenerated into a cheap salesman of the anti-Soviet lie. Countee Cullen's pen is strangely silent in these moments that cry aloud for his genius. Jean Toomer, whose promise surpassed them all, has retreated into the exclusive limits of Santa Barbara and the fancy mansion of his rich wife. None of the others is today putting its words the great movement for liberation which has swept through Negro America. None of them shouts the songs of freedom.

It is to Richard Wright and Langston Hughes that Negro America may look for the expression of their deep determination to fight through all obstacles toward equality on earth, now, this generation, this war, this blazing moment.

Mr. Hughes' epic poem, Freedom's Plow, is not included in the Jim Crow's Last Stand collection, but there is a striking work which nearly matches it.

It is called The Bitter River, and is dedicated to the memory of Charlie Lang and Ernest Green, each fourteen years old when lynched together beneath the Shubuta Bridge over Chicasahay River in Mississippi, October 12, 1942.

I have taken the liberty of reprinting it:

There is a bitter river
Too long has the taste of its water
Been in my mouth.
There is a bitter river
Dark with filth and mud.
Too long has its evil poison
Poisoned my blood.
We've drunk of the bitter river
And its gall cuts the red of my tongue.
Mixed with the blood of the lynched boys
From its iron bridge hung.
Mixed with the hopes that are drowned there
In the snake-like hiss of its stream
There I drank of the bitter river
That strangled my dream
The book studied—but useless.
Tools handled—but unsed
Knowledge acquired but thrown away
Ambition battered and bruised.
Oh, water of the bitter river
With your taste of blood and clay.
You reflect no stars by night,
No sun by day.

The bitter river reflects no stars—
It gives back only the glint of steel bars
And dark bitter faces behind steel bars
The Scottsboro boys behind steel bars,
Lewis Jones behind steel bars,
The voteless share-cropper behind steel bars,
The labor leader behind steel bars,
The soldier thrown from a Jim Crow bus behind steel bars,
The 15c mugger behind steel bars,
The girl who sells her body behind steel bars
And my grandfather's back with its ladder of scars.
Long ago, long ago—the whip and steel bars—
The bitter river reflects no scars.

"Wait, be patient," you say
"Your folks will have a better day."
But the swirl of the bitter river
Takes your words away.
"Work, education, patience
Will bring a better day."
The swirl of the bitter river
Carries your "patience" away.
"Disrupter! Agitator!
Trouble maker!" you say.
The swirl of the bitter river
Sweeps your lies away.

I did not ask for this river
Nor the taste of its bitter brew.
I was given its water
As a gift from you.
Yours has been the power
To force my back to the wall
And make me drink of the bitter cup
Mixed with blood and gall.

You have lynched my comrades
Where the iron bridge crosses the stream.
Underpaid me for my labor,
And spit in the face of my dream.
You forced me to the bitter river
With the hiss of its snake-like song—
Now your words no longer have meaning—
I have drunk of the river too long:
Deamer of dreams to be broken,
Builder of hopes to be smashed;
Loser from an empty pocket
Of my meager cash,
Bitter bearer of burdens
And singer of weary song,
I've druing at the bitter river
With its filth and its mud too long.
Tired now of the bitter river,
Tired now of the pat on the back,
Tired now of the steel bars
Because my face is black,
I'm tired of segregation,
Tired of filth and mud,
I've drung of the bitter river
And it's turned to steel my blood.

Oh, tragic bitter river
Where the lynched boys hung.
The gall of your bitter water
Coats my tongue.

THE SECOND CRUCIFIXION

By Rev. JOHN HENRY OWENS

First Episode

The good Christ walks the earth today, just as he did of yore,
You may find him on the battlefield where men are stained with fore;
I first met him in the wastelands, walking down the railroad tracks.
Among a group of working men with bundles on their backs—
All were laughing, joking, chatting and seemed without a care,
Their problem for the moment—how to get from here to there;
They came upon a likely spot—a few trees and some shade;
Their bundles dropped upon the ground and got a fire made.
The aroma of the midday meal was wafted on the air,
And each man felt he had a right, for each man gave his share:
Each man except the lowly Christ who sat away, apart.
For the fact that he gave nothing was a weight upon his heart;
But when the food was portioned and each man had his due,
They each one gave a part for Christ that he might have some too.

Second Episode

Christ had tried so many churches, but they wouldn't let Him in.
Some didn't like the clothes he wore—some didn't like His skin;
Some thought His clothes too shabby — some thought His skin too dark;
And when walking through the cities, Christ slept out in the park;
But God whispered Him encouragement—said He'd tried for forty years;
God told him that the church was built just forty years ago.
But from His own experience, just why, he didn't know.

Third Episode

Christ was walking through the Southland and the day was warm and bright;
He hadn't had His breakfast and He'd slept outdoors all night;
He was walking through the countryside where all nature was in tune,
For what can be so pretty as the countryside in June?
He was growing faint with hunger when he spied a Negro's shack,
And all around the clearing there was soil so rich and black;
There sitting in the bacin door was a man with wooly hair,
And he motioned for the fainting Christ to take an empty chair—
The good Christ humbly asked for food—a crust of bread would do;
The black man said he hadn't much, but that would share for two;
He gave the stranger of his bread and drink to quench His thirst,
And when they both knelt down in prayer, he asked Christ to pray first;
They both thanking God for food and drink and for His tender care;
God sent them both His spirit
He knew that they were fair;
Christ blessed His host, gave fond farewell, and started on His way,
For He must needs be up the road by eventide that day;
And just a little distance from His benefactor's shack,
A man was hanging from a tree because his skin was black.

Fourth Episode

Christ walked into the conference, an uninvited guest,
And sat down at the table along with all the rest;
At first He kept quite silent, and no one gave Him thought,
As they began discussing how much war stock each had bought;
And then with gentle meekness, Christ asked to have the floor;
Said due to rising prices workers needed five cents more—
"We thought you were a gentleman—you're nothing but a bo—, Why you must be a member of that G—— D—— C.I.O."
And all those worthy gentlemen rose from their seats in wrath;
"Why that dirty, lousy bastard ought to go and take a bath."

Conclusion

Christ knew he wasn't wanted so he meekly bowed His head,
And to the open exit by the watchman he was led;
And he raised His eyes to heaven and pdayer: "Dear God, I tried".
But God said: "Never mind, my Son," that's twice you're crucified."

PEN PALS CORNER

By BARBARA ANDERZA

Guest Columnist—Loraine Mouton

Dear Reader:

I have no greater pleasure then to be your guest columnist this week. I hope you enjoy reading the column as much as I enjoyed writing it.

I wonder who Barbara Anderza and Jody Clark think they are, flirting with all the boys they meet on the street! Barbara, I wonder what Reynold thinks about that. Remember it's suppose to be true love between you two love birds. . . . It must be true love between Gloria Evans and John Heary. Believe it or not, he called her all the way from New Orleans. What do you think about that situation? . . . Audrey Mae Springs has been walking around with a long face ever since she left Roy in New Orleans. Cheer up old girl, you'll be able to see him next year, that is, if he is not taken . . . Did you hear the latest news? Cecil Cor-Dova is home on furlough and is making a play for Phyllis Shaw. What happened to Goldie Toomes? . . . Victor Clark seems to think that all the girls will be married when he comes back from Korea. Never fear Victor, you'll find someone waiting for you, even if it is Barbara. . . . Richard Hudson and Louise Scott are hitting it off real well. She knitted him a beautiful pair of socks. He shows them off with great pride Louise. . . . Had it not been for that great Cathdrel star Leroy Williams, Cathdrel probably wouldn't have so victorous over Loyola. By the way the score was 18-13. . . . Donald McAllister claims that he only has eyes for Opal Wright now. He is letting all other little girls go, now and is trying to center his thoughts around Opal. . . . Judy Picou and Duquesne Dickie are beginning to tie the knot, tightly that is. . . . Wonder who Edith Lyons' new flame is these days?

Barbara

I hear that Leroy Williams still has his eyes set on Gwenne Burris. (With her fine brown little frame, who wouldn't???) . . . Jody Clark, actions speaks louder than words. Stop trying so hard to pluck Carl Yarber's heart strings. . . . Rosemarie Hartsfield (Hotfoot), is still in love with Clarence Carway. Love is wonderful Rose . . . Caught a glance at Frances Fort cruzing down 41st in a fine little ole convertible between two handsome male specimens . . . Spied a few of those ole, Conaty gals over at St. Odilia's bazaar last Sunday night. Looked like they were having their kicks . . . Haven't heard from last week's lover man, Leo Hamilton. Didn't even call and say, much oblige. But with his good looks, he can afford to be a wee bit snooty . . . Girls, if you want to see something worth while, be sure to get a good look at Landry DuPree. He is getting more handsome every day . . . Norma Jones certainly likes it over at L.A. Think you're high class now, don't you Norma? . . . Can you think of Leah Barnes taking tennis lessons! Well, she is doing right well. Keep up the good work, Leah . . . Haven't heard from Ynez Davidson lately. How goes it with you and Roland?

Calling All Boys

Little old Mammie Pitts is looking for a man to take to Conaty's dance. Spicifications are as follows: Beautiful 1950 convertible, must be tall, dark, and wierd looking. If any one fits these requirements, get in touch with the editor, CE. 2-9822.

Dance

Come one, come all! St. Odilia's is going to have a real fine dance Saturday. Not next Saturday, but this Saturday. Admission 50c at the door. Girls, if you would like to take one glimpse at our lover man I'll give you that much permission.

Personal

Leonard will you please tell Leah Jane what's happening. She talks about you excessively night and day. I'll give you a hint, she'll be at St. Odilia's dance Saturday night.

Mrs. Jessup Visits Fisk

While her husband was away for the historic Truman-MacArthur conference on Wake Island, Mrs. Philip C. Jessup, wife of the U. S. Ambassador at large, took advantage of his absence to visit Fisk University.

A member of the University board of trustees, Mrs. Jessup had never visited the campus before. She came by bus from Washington, she said, "because I wanted to see the scenery."

A former school teacher, Mrs. Jessup said she was particularly interested in the University nursery school and the new child development program now being initiated at Fisk.

Thursday night she attended the first session of the Fisk University students' "Town Meetings" at the student center.

Noting the recent arrival of television in the area, Mrs. Jessup favored a suggestion that a set be installed in the center.

"It would be interesting as well as instructive to have the opportunity to watch United Nations meetings over television."

COMPLETE WITH PROPS

HOLLYWOOD — Hollywood refers to Joel McCrea as the "package deal" actor. During the filming of Universal-International's Technicolor "Saddle Tramp," McCrea, in addition to his own services, furnished the following items: a complete wardrobe of boots, hats, denims, his own horse, and a sweat - stained, moth-eaten hat given to the actor by the late Will Rogers. Screen veteran Russell Simpson wears the former Rogers chapeau in the new film.

Ryan. That's all I know, just Ryan. They wanted to put him on condemned row but we wouldn't have him. Said he didn't belong up there. They put him in solitary confinement, on bread and water and he's sick. He ought to be in the hospital. Get busy and see about him."

I knew humility before a man who after twenty-two years in prison and one thousand, seven hundreds days plus on condemned row said: "Yes, I blow the tumpet. I can play anything straight right off but I'd like to get some solo arrangements. I'd like to riff a little. I'm unbeaten at chess and I'd like to play correspondence with someone who plays well. . . ."

This, then, is a portrail of Wesley Wells. The great man who by reason of his strength and will for justice has brought again to our attention first:

That the rule of "white supremacy" and the resulting contemptuousness this rule imposes on the minority peoples of this nation contradict all democratic principles and drive our youth in their search for dignity, justice and self-expression, to prison.

Second: That prison administration in concerning itself primarily with maintaining white supremacy and not at all with rehabilitation, practices upon minority prisoners crimes of such a brutal and inhuman character that adjustment of the prisoner is impossible.

Third: That our law-making bodies, so imbued are they with the poison of white supremacy, enact laws which are used expressly against Negro and other minority prisoners. Making justice impossible.

Fourth: That our government officials, elected by our vote and maintained by our payment of taxes, concern themselves not with the justice or injustice of an issue but lose themselves in a vacillation and procrastination that belies their leadership and earn for themselves the dubious title of "politician."

Therefore, it is up to us, the people, to so see to it that Wells does not die for throwing a cuspidor at a prison guard but also that the evils and poison in our society, the real culprit, be rooted out that America may be truthfully called a democratic nation.

Karol Uhl Injured

Karol Uhl, 14 years of age, the daughter of Dr. George M. Uhl, City Health Officer, was thrown from a horse last week while riding in griffith Park, and rather severely injured. She sprained her left ankle and fractured her left knee, and is now confined to a wheel chair.

Police said her horse, apparently became frightened at a piece of paper in the path and shied. The accident occurred on the bridle path between Zoo Road and Pepper Tree Lane. Karol was treated at the Lincoln Heights Receiving Hospital.

Monroe Acquitted Of Slaying Preston School Housekeeper

SACRAMENTO—A jury of eight men and four women, all white, acquitted Eugene Monroe, teenage Negro youth, in his third trial on charges he killed Mrs. Anna Corbin, Preston Reformatory housekeeper. Attorney Nathaniel S. Colley, who defended Monroe has sought and obtained a change of venue for the third trial from Amador County where an atmosphere of lynch-spirit had been created by the prevalent anti-Negro forces.

Young Monroe was an honor student in the Preston School of Industry and was soon to be released when he was accused of the murder by 17 year old William Mercer more than a week after the slaying was discovered. Mercer was a strong suspect, and he gave different versions of the three trials.

Night Riders

Attorney Colley charged that Monroe had been brutally beaten in the Amador County Jail in attempts to force a confession from him. In asking for a change of venue from Jackson, where the first two trials were held, Colley pointed out that night-raiders threatened and shot at a juror who held out against conviction of his young client. The motion for change of venue was denied, and the trial was moved from Jackson only because it was not possible to find twelve men who did not have anti-Negro prejudices.

Insulted by Albert H. Mundt, former Sacramento prosecutor who prosecuted the case, Colley triumphed over his race-baiting adversary in the final trial. Mundt had referred to the Negro attorney as . . . "loud and uncouth . . . flashing those big teeth. He's just as ugly as an alligator and he knows it," white supremist Mundt screamed at the jury.

A court-room packed with Negro spectators cheered lustily when Colley won acquittal for young Monroe. The Civil Rights Congress provided the defense for Monroe. The NAACP supported the defense through the case.

Short Sportslants

By Spears

Coach Felix Pennino's football team bounced back after two early defeats to trim the Spartans at H.P. last Friday by the score of 31-12. Vicious tackling and alert play throughout marked the game. Belmont on the second play from scrimmage, Mike Bell romped 54 yards on slant off tackle. Charles Powers' kick was far to the right and was called no good, and Belmont led, 6-0.

Belmont's second touchdown was also Bell's as he hit tackle again this time for 35 yards. Powers missed conversion number two. Neither side scored in the second quarter, but Belmont put up a strong defense in staving off a spirited Park drive which penetrated to the Sentinel five.

Belmont showed signs of weakening as the second half got under way. The Spartans moved to pay dirt after three plays from scrimmage with their All-City candidate, Jim Smith, smashing through center from three yards out. The Parkmen drove to the Hilltoppers' five-yard line, but could not go through, as the gun sounded for the half.

Huntington Park kicked off to Belmont to start the second half with Diaz bringing the ball back to his own 36-yard line. The Sentinels went a few yards on this but had to kick on downs. H.P. traveled 52 yards to pay dirt in five plays, with fullback Smith going through center. The try for the extra point was no good. Then the Black and Green came back and traveled 76 yards in three plays with Macias scoring on a run around right end for the Sentinels' third touchdown of the day. Powers' kick failed.

Second Score

As the fourth canto got under way, Smith went over for the Spartans' second touchdown, going through center. The play was good for 46 yards in nine plays, which made the score 18-12. Smith's kick was blocked by Belmont's hard-charging line.

Belmont then came back 55 yards to pay dirt with Bell throwing a pitchout to Dickie Macias who covered the remaining distance. Powers' kick was good for the extra point, which made the score 19-12. Diaz intercepted a pass thrown by Smith and raced a few yards until he was tackled; whereupon he lateraled to Bob Ewert who went the remaining distance. Powers' kick was no good.

Belmont then came back and went 83 yards with Macias going around left end for six more points. Espinosa's kick was no good. The score, 31-12, in the Hilltoppers' favor.

TO ASSIST YOU IN [illegible]

HOME SHOULD BE A PLACE . . .

Child Delinquency would be a small matter, if the "Home Life," was thorough and assumed the part that it should in every youngsters Life. Home should be a place where father and mother are one in heart, faith, and purpose. Where the bond of love and cheerful conservation brightens the hours, and the commandment "Honor Thy Father, and Mothers" . . . is practiced daily.

Economy and simplicity should also be practiced in the home. Tidiness and cleanliness should also be taught, for there the children get their first training, and the impression remains with them thru life. It is also necessary to teach children to work, thus preparing them for their future life's battles and responsibilities. The idea of getting everything they want the easy way, leads to crime and makes them a menace to society.

Parents let the home life be as near the right type as you can, and your children will make you proud of them, rather than ashamed.

C. R.—Dear Prof. Herman: I have been reading your column for several years and find it interesting and helpful. I am writing to you asking you to help me in my hour of need. Please tell me what should I do?

Answer: Probing into the matter, I am of the opinion that one of your greatest handicaps is your inferiority complex. I would suggest your trying to overcome this. You might also try associating with others thus improving your outlook on life. Remember that through your own personal efforts you may be able to achieve that which you most desire and be quite happy.

W. W.—Has this person told me the truth?

Answer: It appears that this person has been truthful and sincere in his statements. Since you love him it might be wise for you to accept his offer of marriage as I vision him being a very worthwhile and trustworthy person.

A. P.—What can I do to correct the situation in my home, as life has become unbearable.

Answer: Apparently your imagination is working over-time causing you to form the wrong opinion in this matter. I suggest that you be more understanding and accept things at their face-value, conditions in your home are not as you would have yourself believe them to be.

S. W. T.—Do you think it would be wise for my husband and I to fulfill our plans?

Answer: Your financial condition isn't such as to permit you and your husband to invest your savings in such a large real-estate transaction. Since you are not interested in a smaller home I suggest that you wait awhile until such time you might be able to go ahead with your plans.

Mrs. Bethune Speaks Here For Douglas

The National Council of Negro Women has sent an appeal [illegible] Lt. Leon Gilbert, condemned to die by a military court martial to President Truman. This was revealed by Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, founder of the Council Monday during a press conference held for her at the home of Dr. John Sommerville and his wife, Dr. Vada Sommerville.

Mrs. Bethune, on what she termed "a free-lance junket" in behalf of Democratic candidates was in Los Angeles to speak for senatorial candidate Helen Gahagen Douglas at a meeting held at the First A.M.E. Church. She said she was interested in the election of all Democrats and she paid tribute to gubernatorial candidate James Roosevelt as a "good liberal gentleman."

"I go where I want to, or speak for the candidates I want to speak for," Mrs. Bethune said. "I advocate pushing women into high places."

Mrs. Bass

Responding to a question asked regarding the candidacy of Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, Eagle editor-publisher, who is running for Congress in the 14th District, Mrs. Bethune said: "Any good woman fitted for her job should be elected. I have read Mrs. Bass's writings for years. I know the work she has done, and she is certainly qualified for the office she seeks."

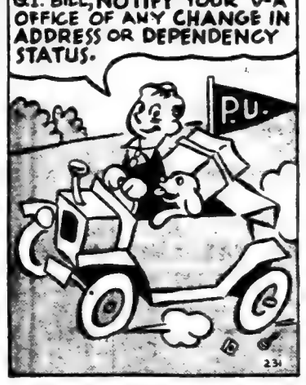
Ridiculing the charges made by Mrs. Douglas's opponent that she is a Communist, Mrs. Bethune termed them "a political smear." "Mrs. Douglas has been a strong fighter for civil rights and naturally anyone opposed to civil rights would call her a Communist, just as they would call me or have called Mrs. Roosevelt a Communist."

The eminent educator and leader paid tribute to Dr. DuBois as "possibly the greatest scholar on earth," but admitted she would not support him in his candidacy for the senate from New York. "I will support the Democratic candidate," she said. Ex-Gov. Herbert Lehman is the Democratic candidate.

For Roosevelt

Mrs. Bethune, who knows the Roosevelt family intimately, characterized James Roosevelt as "having the blood of a great father and a great mother." "This is his testing time," she said. "He has the background and he will prove that he also has the ability."

ASSEMBLYMEN HAWKINS, RUMFORD BACK YORTY



State Assemblyman Samuel William Yorty, center, Democratic nominee for Congress from the 14th District, confers with Assemblymen Augustus Hawkins, left, of Los Angeles and W. Byron Rumford of Berkeley. The three Assemblymen are preparing a letter to President Truman requesting him to enforce the intent of Executive Order 9808 which established the President's committee on Civil Rights. They plan to ask the President to insist that persons holding defense contracts employ workers of all races and creeds without discrimination. Yorty, Hawkins and Rumford have fought shoulder to shoulder in the State Legislature for F.E.P.C., Low Cost Housing, better Old Age Pensions, improved schools and other liberal measures. Both Hawkins and Rumford are urging their friends to elect Yorty to Congress.

RECENTLY ELECTED president of the Republic of Haiti was Col. Paul Magloire, member of the Garde de Haiti, lawyer and farmer. In what was Haiti's first popular election of the chief executive, Col. Magloire was voted into office by an overwhelming margin over his two opponents, Jean Belizaire, ex-president of the senate, and Feneleon Alphonse, ex-deputy. The new Haitian executive was a member of the member Military Junta which early this year ousted President Estime. Col. Magloire is extremely popular with the people. Under his regime, the nation is expected to write a more democratic constitution. It also is expected to continue improvement and development of backward areas through the aid of the UN.—(ANP)

The SIDEWALK

By C.A.B.

This is not an appeal, but a reminder that on Tuesday, November 7, you will have an opportunity to do what you have for a long time said you wanted to do: Send a Negro representative to Congress.

The apostle Paul said at one time, and I quote, "I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth."

Now I am not ashamed of my racial identity, nor my 40 years' conduct in this community.

But I do not solicit your support solely on the basis of being a Negro. I realize as you do that neither race, color nor creed make character.

I offer my service as your Congressional representative because I believe that due to my long years of residence in the Fourteenth District, I am better acquainted with the needs of the district than those who run in, get your votes, and run out again until the next time.

I have not lived on the border nor outside of this cauldron of racial mixtures known as the Eastside, and hurled my sympathy at you in your pain and distress in trying to combat police brutality, secure jobs, and find houses to live in. I have been a part of the struggle, and still am a fighting part. And I feel that as your Washington or Congressional representative I can do more on the national front than I have on the home front to bring to fruition your desires for peace and security.

Read this carefully. Certain people who believe in the doctrine of Rankin that "Negroes have no rights the white man is bound to respect," are parading around the Eastside tooting horns to arouse the interest of the voters. Their Negro hirelings are out in front, telling you not to vote for Bass because she is a pink.

Don't be fooled by these hate-mongers. They are using these tactics to keep you divided and poor.

Unfortunately they have needled some of our people, our churches, and organizations with this false propaganda about Communism.

Way back, 1950 years ago, when Jesus walked the earth ministering to the sick and the poor, they called Him the equivalent of a Communist.

Those who love the kind of life that provides fine automobiles and luxurious homes for themselves while the poor and needy live in poverty and despair, these are they

Urge Crusade to Save Martinsville 7

A call was issued jointly this week by the Virginia Committee to Save the Martinsville Seven and the Civil Rights Congress, for a nation-wide delegation and crusade to Virginia on November 15.

This delegation, which will come from the Far West, the Southwest, the Rockies, the Middle West, the South, the East and New England states will converge on Richmond, Virginia, for a meeting with Governor Battle, and other public officials.

The seven young Negroes who are now scheduled to be executed on November 17 and November 20, are being given the same kind of Jim Crow justice as were the Scottsboro boys, the Trenton Six, Mrs. Ingram and Willie McGee. There was a lynch spirit inside and outside of the court room during their assembly line, one-a-day trials; the main evidence against them was a forced confession, and they were given death sentences in the face of the fact that no white men (of the many convicted) has ever been executed for rape in Virginia, while a large number of Negroes have.

William L. Patterson, executive secretary of the Civil Rights Congress and James Smith, chairman of the Virginia Committee to Save the Martinsville Seven, are addressing this call to all organizations and individuals, Negro and white, who want to "do something about Jim Crow," to join this delegation. All who are interested should communicate immediately with the Civil Rights Congress, Suite A, 23 West 26th Street, New York 10, N. Y.

Modeled after the recent successful nation-wide delegation to Mississippi which saved the life of Willie McGee, this delegation, according to Mr. Patterson and Mr. Smith, can and must result in a full pardon for the Martinsville Seven.

During their first dinner together after re-uniting, Cynthia Sissle kisses her famous Daddy, Noble Sissle, as Paul Sissle, Noble's nephew, left, and Noble Jr., look on. The children arrived in N.Y. Ask Entry Ban On Nationalist South Africans

NEW YORK — The United States Department of Justice has been urged to invoke the Internal Security Act of 1950 to bar entry to this country of past and present members of the totalitarian and anti-Negro Nationalist party of the Union of South Africa.

In a wire to J. Howard McGrath, U. S. Attorney General, Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, asked the Justice Department.. "to.. add.. the.. Nationalist party of the Union of South Africa to the list of totalitarian parties whose members have already been barred under terms of the Internal Security Act."

No Restrictions

NEW YORK—"Today, a Negro child can enter any parochial school, any Catholic high school and any institution of higher learning" in the Catholic Archdiocese of New York," according to an article appearing this month in The Catholic World, published here.

Entitled "The Negro in the New York Archdiocese," the article was written by Emanuel A. Romero, prominent Catholic Negro who was recently honored by Pope Pius XII.

Release Under Bond Expected For McCarran Bill Victims

Four aliens, non-citizens through no fault of their own, are expected to be released on bond this week, following their arrest last week under the provisions of the catch-all McCarran-Wood Bill.

The four are: David Hyun, a Korean whose application for citizenship was denied because he is an Oriental, Luisa Bemis, a native of Guatamala, Harry Carlisle, British novelist and Frank Carlson, a native of Poland.

Federal Judge Ben Harrison indicated Tuesday that he would follow the pattern set in application for bond in other alient arrest cases in other parts of the nation this week. Bond has been granted despite the provisions of the McCarran-Wood Bill which gives the Attorney General authority to hold aliens for hearings without bond.

Throughout the nation protests have mounted against the mass arrests of aliens in dramatic midnight raids without warning. Under the McCarran-Wood Bill, aliens could be held without bond for six months without a hearing. Legal authorities hold the bill is unconstitutional, and the Committee for the Protection of the Foreign Born has announced it will carry its fight against the bill to the U. S. Supreme Court.

New Trial To Be Held In Pork Case

A jury of nine women and two men failed to agree last week in Judge Byron J. Walter's court, that Sam Pork, 2502 E. 115th Place, should be convicted of driving his automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. This unusual jury panel of 11 persons, instead of 12, was created by the sudden illness of one of the jurors who had heard half the case.

Pork's lawyer, Ray Lundy, agreed to waive the right to have the case tried by 12 jurors, and the case was heard by the 11 remaining persons.

According to the foreman, the vote was eight to three but they did not announce whether it was was conviction or acquittal.

The case was immediately reset for another jury trial on Monday, November 13, in Division 7. Pork contends that he was not the driver of the car, but that the officers after stopping the car came up and accused him of being the driver. He was at that time in the company of his mother and his father, who were taking him home because he had been drinking to an excess at Henry's Cafe on S. Wilmington.

In his argument to the jury, Attorney Lundy stated, "no innocent man should be found guilty merely upon speculations and mere accusations of a police officer."

The candidacy of Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, California Eagle publisher running for Congress from the 14th District received a tremendous boost over the weekend as several ministers including the president of the Interdenominational Ministers Alliance, Rev. S. H. Marion, came through with endorsements.

Rev. Marion made his voluntary endorsement at a ground-breaking ceremony for the new Abysinia Baptist church to be located at 137th Street and Avalon Blvd. and in the presence of Mrs. Bass who had spoken earlier.

The outspoken Negro minister declared that, "There is no one

Mother Charges Dr. Supported Hospital Bias

Papers will be filed Friday instituting an action by Jerome and Lois Rambo against the Queen of Angels Hospital over acts of alleged discrimination shown Mrs. Rambo last September 8 when she was a patient in that hospital's maternity ward. According to Mr. Rambo, the firm of Maddox and Goodwin will represent him and his wife in the suit for damages over allegedly willful and blatantly discriminatory treatment.

Mrs. Rambo, who is white, charges that she was denied semi-private accomodations reserved for her; that she was denied the opportunity to nurse her baby; that she was spoken to by representatives of the hospital in an unfriendly and insulting manner; and that she was told she could not have a semi-private room because her husband is a Negro.

Alleging that she became dis-

State Moves To Seize Singer's New Automobile

San Francisco is an unlucky place for sultry-voiced blues singer Billie Holiday. Victim of a dope pinch there last year of what those in the know was a hum rap, Miss Holiday, cut short an engagement there several weeks ago after her chauffeur, 34-year-old Amos Cook, was nabbed by narcotic officers and pinched for the possession of a vial of heroin.

Cook told arresting officers that Miss Holiday didn't know anything about the heroin. He was arrested while sitting in Miss Holiday's custom - built $5000 Lincoln sedan. The royal blue, cream-colored top sedan was taken into custody along with Cook and held.

This week, the State of California started action to seize the car, claiming it was used to transport narcotics. Some sources say Miss Holiday won't fret if the State should win, because she hadn't paid for the swank sedan when it was impounded.

Reported to be in New York, the high-salaried singer could have filled several engagements on the coast, had she not left hurriedly. Friends of Miss Holiday, annoyed by the over-zealous vigilance kept on her when she is on this coast, are asking why the narcotics agents don't make wholesale pinches in the movie colony where "users" are a dime a dozen.

Eastside Committee Of 100 To Campaign For Robert W. Kenny

Leading Democrats of the eastside have formed a committee of 100 in an all-out campaign for the recall of Mayor Bowron and the election of Robert W. Kenny as Mayor of Los Angeles.

The eastside committee of 100 is headed by Edward Hawkins, assistant treasurer of the Democratic Party and long prominent in civic and political affairs; the Rev. F. M. Mitchell, prominent minister and civic leader; attorney Roger Q. Mason, hotel owner and Democratic committeeman.

Kenny's outstanding work as attorney-general for fair employment practices and the training of police officers in race relations, his strong position for the integration of citizens of all community sectors into city administration and his vigorous opposition to all forms of segregation are noted by the committee of 100 in a statement of reasons for Bowron's recall and recommendations for Kenny's election. The statement follows:

"We urge voters to recall Mayor Bowron and we recommend the election of Robert W. Kenny as Mayor of Los Angeles:

"1. Because Mr. Kenny has been a consistent supporter of

Leo Johnson Says Negro People Demand Equal Representation

Leo 'Jimmy' Johnson, candidate for State Assembly in the 63rd A. D., believes that it is high time for the Negro people in his District to be represented in the State government. "It is ridiculous," says Mr. Johnson "that with at least 200,000 Negroes in Los Angeles county there should be only two of my people in the State Government." Leo Johnson son of a Baptist minister, is a small business man and community leader. He has played a prominent part in fair employment and anti-restrictive covenant campaigns in the southwest area.

As a member of the NAACP, former organizer for the Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union in New Orleans and former member of the Dining Car Waiters Local he is well equipped to understand the needs of the various people in his district. Mr. Johnson is registered in the Independent Progressive Party and his sole opponent in the November elections is Republican incumbent G. Delbert Morris.

For 5 years Mr. Johnson has lived in the community he intends to represent. He has had the opportunity offered to few candidates of visiting his neighbors and discussing his dry cleaning business. He has a direct personal knowledge of the problems of the average person.

Just to make sure that he is up to date on the attitudes of the people in the 63rd District, Leo Johnson has been spending his weekends ringing doorbells. He has found that with most of them the problems are the same. All are feeling insecure with the prospect of still higher rents facing them, they are angry about increased tax deductions, worried about employment possibilities, uncertain about a future containing war or peace, horrified by mounting police harrassment of minorities. In general there is a feeling of helplessness with no representative in government to whom they can appeal.

State FEPC

In answer to these appeals, Mr. Johnson is campaigning forcefully for a State FEPC law, a reduction in taxes for low-income families, greater benefits for senior citizens, a State-wide investigation of police mistreatment of minorities, the retention of equitable rent controls and full freedom of speech and belief. He believes that peace can and must be a reality through top-level negotiations of international differences.

"If the people in my district are acquainted with this program," says Leo Johnson, "I think they will take on new hope and go to the polls November 7th and declare themselves."

Robinson Says Mother's Faith Carried Him On

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Jackie Robinson, the National League's most valuable player of 1949, whose success story is the story of his mother's faith, learned from her the importance of faith in God. He and his wife, Rachel, are in turn teaching this to their children.

"The 'thing' which is more important than going to church is a problem familiar to many families," Jackie Says. My mother would say that religion is like a crop . . . it dries up if you don't tend it. That's why we take JaJckie, JrJ. to church with us, though he's only three. We want him to know the faith that will guide and help him all his life, as it helps and guides us. Being without the help of the friendly hand of God is something we cannot imagine."

JJackie Robinson is one of nine celebrities endorsing church attendance in a newspaper advertising campaign on Religion in American Life being conducted during November by The Advertising Council and 21 country-wide religious groups. Bill Downs, Oveta Culp Hobby, Eddie Cantor, Roger W. Strauss, Gene Autry, Maureen O'Sullivan, Dr. Harry Tiebout, and James Farley also give their personal reasons for attending church. Each of the messages carries the campaign's theme, "Take your problems to Church this week—millions leave them there."

Pat Brown Says Shattuck Tries To Evade Truth

District Attorney Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, Democratic nominee for attorney general today described his Republican opponent's statement on the famed Shattuck letters as hysterical evasion of the fact.

"Shattuck is trying to evade the pertinent issues involved in the letters—the proof that Shattuck used his military career in an effort to further his political career—and he sounds a little hysterical in his attempt to cover up," Brown said.

Brown pointed out that Shattuck's principal defense seemed to rest on his assertion that the letters were sent to a major party official and not to a political press agent.

Recall Election Finds Aldrich In Close Pursuit of Bowron

With the recall election of Mayor Bowron but a few days away, political prognosticators were predicting today that Lloyd Aldriche's whirlwing campaign will place him at the top of the field seeking to replace the present chief executive.

Strong evidence in support of this belief can be found in this community following the Monday night meeting at the Crystal Room, 4818 Avalon Boulevard where more than a hundred leaders of the community met to hear Aldrich's program and to recommend a YES vote on the recall and a vote for Aldrich for Mayor.

In addressing the civic minded group of citizens, Aldrich stated:

"When I am elected Mayor of Los Angeles, equal opportunity for all races, creeds and religions will return to Los Angeles. I pledge that my appointments to proper city posts will give representation to every section—and every walk of life. I place only two conditions on any appointment I might make. These are that the appointee must be capable, and he must be honest."

Attorney Everett Porter, executive secretary of the Committee of One Hundred to Elect Aldrich, had this to say:

"Lloyd Aldrich has demonstrated that he is far and away the best qualified of all the seven candidates for Mayor. His past record bespeaks fairness, and we, of this community, can rest assured that he will give fair and honest treatment to all of the people of Los Angeles."

Other evidences of strong community support for Aldrich were seen today with his endorsement by the Women's Political Study Club.

Celebrating its 21st state conference this group selected Aldrich for Mayor after an exhaustive study of all candidates' qualifications.

In announcing the endorsement, Catherine Goodpasture A. Mitchem, assistant executive secretary stated:

"From years of experience in evaluting the qualities of candidates for public office, our group feels that Lloyd Aldrich will prove to be the fairest and most considerate Mayor that Los Angeles has ever had."

Officers of the Political Study Group are: Carrie Brown, Bell Riley, Josie Johnson, Alese Washington, Thelma Scruggs, Audrey Evans, Laura Armstrong and Estelle Blogett.

Also climbing aboard the Aldrich bandwagon was the Five and Over Charity Club as Lillian Rutledge, president of the group announced her personal support and pledged action on the part of the group's membership.

Said Mrs. Rutledge:

"The massing of support for Aldrich in all walks of life cannot be ignored. Ministerial, civic fraternal, business and labor groups are going solidly down the line. I join in the belief that Lloyd Aldrich is the right man for the job as next Mayor of Los Angeles."

EUROPE AS I SAW IT

The following is the fifth installment of a series of articles to be printed by THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE, describing the experiences, impressions, and first-hand knowledge gained by Charlotta Bass on a two-months' tour of three European countries—France, Czechoslovakia, and Russia.

In my previous installments on what I saw in Europe, I stated that aside from the Defenders of the Peace Committee meeting to which I went as a delegate ,and the World Youth Conference which I attended as a guest, I visited many points and places of historic interest and educational value in Czechoslovakia, particularly in Prague.

Like Lidice in Czechoslovakia, many cities and villages had been wiped out by German Fascists in World War II.

The people of Lidice who remain remember these German atrocities, still tell the story of that deed of terror in which all the male inhabitants of the village from fourteen year-old boys to men of seventy-two were mowed down, and the women were driven into concentration camps and their children dispersed all over Germany, without a trace of them left anywhere.

This treatment of the Czech people differed very little from the treatment of the Negro during that dreadful period of slavery in this country.

A survey of Czechoslovakia under the present Socialist regime shows a far different picture from the Negro American plight after nearly eighty years of so-called liberation from slavery.

In this land of the free the American Negro fought the enemy in Germany, Japan, and now is busy, so says the news, "helping to mop up" in Korea, while in the meantime he is lynched without legal trial in Georgia, Mississippi, and Alabama.

The government of the Czechosloval Republic under a five-year uniform economic plan is building state and collective farms, factories, and better homes for its people than they have ever enjoyed before.

The collective farm idea is teaching people how to live and work together in peace and harmony. Already the standard of living under the present plan has been raised in the country, and productivity is on the increase.

They are doing all this work and upward climb to a higher level of culture, without any help from any outside source. They refused the offer of Marshall Plan aid from the United States. They did not wish to have anything to do with money lenders. "The interest demanded on the loans under the Marshall Plan," they said, "took the form of a surrender of our political and economic independence: we should have had to reconstruct not in accordance with our own needs and plans, but in accordance with the plans and requirements of our creditor." . . .

"To accept American loans means in effect, to become a vassal of American capital, and of American capitalists. And this involves the final surrender of all plans of industrial expansion and of a raising of living and cultural standards."

So completely independent the Czech farmer, factory worker, and home builder are working out their own salvation, without the help of anyone and without being beholden to anyone.

The Czechs themselves can't help but notice the difference in the progress they are making, and the result of Marshall Plan aid as shown in France. There there is a restriction of the French films industry, with the result that thousands of cultural and technical workers are now unemployed. There is also a restriction of the production of automobiles, airplanes, etc. causing the dismissal of other thousands of workers in these industrial centers. The only reason given was that French production must not interfere with the capitalists' production in America.

The Czech Republic wisely refused to be placed in the same situation as that of France, Belgium, and other Marshall Plan countries. As a result there is no unemployment in Czechoslovakia. There are no beggars or tramps, even though the planned amount of food the Czech farmer hoped to raise, did not quite materialize. All drew in their belts a notch a two. All voluntarily rationed the food they bought and ate. This economizing was not imposed from above on the workers and the "lower classes" as is done in our United States of America. It was gladly entered into by all the people of Czechoslovakia.

As a result the people of Czechoslovakia love their government with an intense devotion. Nothing on earth could ever tempt them to go back to their old capitalist system again. They would fight to the last drop of blood to prevent that. You can see that in their eyes and the tone of their voice whenever they discuss what was and what is today.

News From Europe: The Fight for Peace

WFDY APPEAL TO WORLD YOUTH

PARIS, France—"At the time when all over the world men of good will who desire peace are taking a stand, the World Federation of Democratic Youth calls upon you to devote all your courage and enthusiasm to help bar the way to war"—thus reads a portion of the appeal to world youth just issued by the WFDY for the fifth anniversary of the WFDY on November 10th.

The message recalls that the founding of the WFDY cemeted the unity of youth that was forged on the battlefields against fascist agression, and states that today 70 million young people of 74 countries are united in the WFDY ranks and are participating with all their strength in the struggle for peace.

The WFDY calls on youth to hold numerous manifestations on November 10th, to contribute actively to the success of the Second World Peace Congress and to denounce aggression wherever it occurs, and particularly the armed intervention in the affairs of the Korean people.

Pointing out that "war strikes all indiscriminately," the WFDY asks youth to insist on the settlement of the Korean conflict by the implementation of the United Nations Charter banning war propaganda in all countries.

INTERNATIONAL PEACE RELAYS

PARIS—The two great international peace relays organized by the World Federation of Democratic Youth are continuing their route towards the Second World Peace Congress.

The first branch which started October 9th in Bulgaria crossed Rumania and was taken over by the Hungarian youth on October 17th. The relay crossed the Hungarian-Austrian frontier October 21st. After Austria, the relay will go through Switzerland and France and then Great Britain.

The second branch which left Helsinki October 15th is continuing its route through Finland and is being welcomed on its way by important demonstrations On October 29th, the relay will be handed over to the youth of Norway and Sweden, and then to the youth of Denmark who will continue to Great Britain.

From Belgium came news of the preparation to continue in two branches the relay which will come from Poland, Germany and Holland, one through Flanders and the other through Wallonia, both joining at Ostend before crossing the British Channel. Many meetings will be held in as many cities as the relay goes through, and each meeting will be greeted by the setting of new goals among youth for the collection of signatures to the Stockholm Appeal.

TOKYO—Over 3,700,000 signatures for the Stockholm peace petition were collected by October 22nd, the Japanese Peace Committee announced this week.

AMERICAN HELL IN KOREA

LONDON—The hell which the Americans and their South Korean stooges are making out of Korea is described in yesterday's "Times" by its correspondent in Seoul. He writes: "Seoul should be a dead city. Large areas have been devastated with a thoroughness that equals the bombing of Hamburg and Coventry. Public services such as transport, light and power no longer exist. Water trickles from the few remaining taps but its consumption could be as deadly as bombs and rockets. It is believed that 300,000 of Seoul's population remain unaccounted for."

This scene, the correspondent points out, "is still being repeated throughout Korea." He concludes, "Most of the non-Korean members of the United Nations forces are aware of this but feel either too helpless to intervene or believe the attention drawn to the reprisals would be excellent material for Communist propaganda."

FOUR VIET NAM TOWNS LIBERATED

PEKING—Four towns and 23 districts in North Viet Nam have been liberated and 10,000 French troops killed, wounded or captured by units of the Vietnames People's Army during the month ending October 13th, the Viet Nam News Agency states.

Seven French strongholds were wiped out in the Red River basin and in the Cao Bac Lang sector four towns and five outposts were liberated. During the first 13 days of this month nearly 6,000 enemy troops, including men of several crack battalions, were killed or taken prisoners on this sector.

Captured war material include a number of large guns, mortars, machine-guns, and rifles sufficient to equip 10 battalions.

CHINA APPOINTS AMBASSADOR FOR UNO SECURITY COUNCIL

PEKING—In a cable to the United Nations Secretary General Trygve Lie, the Foreign Minister of the Chinese People's Republic, Chou en Lai, has given notificatio of the appointment of a representative with ambassadorial rank to attend meetings of the Security Council which will discuss the question of armed aggression against Taiwan (Formosa).

Chou En-Lai's telegram states that all nine hold diplomatic passports of the People's Republic of China and requests that arrangements for granting entry visas (to be obtained at Prague) be immediately made.

The telegram concludes: "In view of the non-existence of diplomatic relations between the People's Republic of China and the United States, please also arrange for the privileges and immunities due to diplomatic persons."

DIRECTIVE TO CHINESE PLA ON LIBERTION OF TIBET

CHUNGKING—A political mobilization directive to the People's Army units which have been ordered to advance into Tibet to free 3 million Tibetans from imperialist oppression and to consolidate the national defenses of the western borders of China, has been issued jointly by the Southwest China Bureau of the Communist Party of China, the Southwest Military Area and headquarters of the Second Field Army.

The directive salutes the People's Army units advancing toward Tibet and says that it is their glorious task to liberate the people of Tibet, to complete the unification of the whole of China to prevent the imperialists from invading an inch of the territory of the fatherland and to safeguard and build up the frontier regions of the country.

The directive calls on army men to unite closely with the Tibetan people, to realise faithfully and correctly the policy towards national minorities laid down in a common programme. It also calls on them to adhere strictly to all disciplinary measures, to carry out thorough investigations and propaganda work, to learn the dialects of the local inhabitants and to help them overcome their sufferings and difficulties.

The directive tells the army men that the biulding up of Tibet will be a long-term task, and that they must make up their minds accordingly. They must economise in manpower and materials during the advance and speedily build bridges to develop communications. Every effort must be made to enhance the economic and cultural development of Tibet as soon as hostilities come to an end.

The directive concludes by stressing the importance of army men in working shoulder to shoulder with the Tibetans to build up a democratic and prosperous new Tibet, so that the flowers of freedom, happiness and civilization may blossom everywhere in the frontier regions of the fatherland.

HAVANA—The inter-American press conference recently held in New York was absolutely controlled by the United States State Department and its stooges in the United States and Latin-American newspaper circles. This conference represented a complete reversal of the democratic policies which had characterized the previous meetings of the Inter-American Press Society held in Caracas, Bogata and Quito.

Imperialist control of the conference was evidenced even before the session began when the Cuban delegate, Dr. Carlos Rafael Rodriguez, a well-known Communist journalist and publicist, was detained by the United States immigration authorities at Ellis Island and not allowed to enter the United States.

The culmination of imperialist control over the conference was the appointment of three Americans for key posts of president, general secretary and treasurer in the executive board of the IPS. The Latin-Americans got two unimportant posts of vice-presidents. Finally, the site of the IPS was changed from Havana to New York.

MEXICO CITY—The Mexican Committee of Defenders of Peace has decided to send 12 delegates to the Second World Peace Congress to be held in Sheffield, England, in November. Among the delegates are Vicente Lombardo Toledano, president of the Confederation of Latin-American Workers and vice-president of the WFTU; Gen. Heriberto Jara, former Minister of the Republic; Dr. Carlos Noble, general secretary of the Mexican Peace Committee, and other notables.

The latest number of signatures for the peace appeal announced in Mexico is 500,000.

LONDON—A banner inscribed "return Paul Robeson's passport" was unfurled and displayed on the balcony at the "American 1950" exhibition when it was opened at Bristol in the presence of the Lord Mayor of Bristol and American embassy officials. The exhibition is organized by the United States Information Service and the Marshall Aid Mission.

DUBLIN—The British navy was obliged to cancel the proposed visit to Waterford of a patrol-boat flotilla following protest meetings of the citizens of that town.

Meetings and parades through the town expressed opposition to the British naval craft visiting Irish ports, especially as Britain still occupies six counties of Irish territory in the north.

NEW YORK—When Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vyshinsky proposed Big Five consultations for peace in the United Nations Assembly, he got a United States and British challenge to "show by deeds, not words" that his country's intentions were indeed peaceful.

Vyshinsky, in his turn, issued a counter-challenge. He asked his critics to point out also not by words what the Western governments had recently performed to prove their peaceful outlook and desires.

SYDNEY—In response to mass protests the Australian High Court has extended for an indefinite period the injunction against the putting into operation of the Menzies government's legislation which attacks the Communist Party, trade unions and democratic rights. The Australian Communist Party and seven of Australia's leading trade unions have filed interim appeals challenging the constitutional validity of the legislation.

NEW YORK—The Indian chiefs representing the "Six Nations League of the Iroquois Tribe," one of the most advanced and largest remaining organized groups of North American Indians, this week handed to Soviet representative Andrei Vyshinsky at the United Nations here a copy of their grievances against the United States government for its acts of discrimination which continue to impoverish and destroy tribal life of all the surviving North American Indians.

The memorandus, which was also handed to the other United Nations representatives, stated that a number of bills are now being prepared in Congress which, when adopted, will disrupt tribal life and inflict irreparable social and economic damage on the Indian people.

WARSAW—A number of prominent Polish Catholic scientists and writers have appealed in a letter to French Catholic intellectuals "in the name of traditional friendship between Poland and France," to join in the fight against the militarization of Western Germany.

Warning of the immediate threat to both France and, Poland contained in the return to power of steel magnates and Nazi generals in Western Germany, the letters says: "For centuries, the cloud of German aggression and expansion has loomed over our countries. Repeatedly they have been invaded and devastated by German militarism, which the imperialists are now again trying to strengthen.

BUDAPEST — About 5,836,755 votes were cast for the Hungarian Popular Front of Independence in last Sunday's elections to the local Popular Councils, it was announced this week.

This figure represents 97.8 per cent of the total votes cast and altogether 5,967,877 electors or 96.9 percent of the electorate went to the polls.

There were 46,277 votes against the Popular Front and 84,845 spoiled ballots.

BUDAPEST—A group of 90 Hungarians arrived here on Tuesday from Canada. Most of them are workers and peasants who emigrated under the Horthy regime to escape from misery and political persecution.

The Hungarian authorities gave them a cordial welcome and all facilities to return to their old homes. They will be employed on the construction of factories.

SOFIA—The Communist Party organ "Rabotnichesko Delo" has published many cables received by Premier Chervenkov in which cooperative farms, state farms and private farmers report the completion, ahead of schedule, of their sowing campaign. The success was achieved despite the lack of rain which had hardened the soil.

BUDAPEST—A new film entitled "Underground" has just been issued by the Hungarian film studios. The film denounces the attempts at sabotage of the American imperialists, Tito agents and right wing Social Democrats in order to prevent an increase in oil production. The theme of the film is the well-known "Maort Affair" and the ensuing trial which had worldwide repercussions.

Discrimination

traught and hysterical and was compelled to leave the hospital several days earlier because of the hostility shown her, Mrs. Rambo also charges that her doctor, Sidney Kolodny, failed to protect her from the hostile and discriminatory treatment, and that he sided with the hospital when the incidents were called to his attention.

"You should have told me your husband was a Negro," Dr. Kolodny allegedly told Mrs. Rambo, "and I would have arranged for a private room."

No Comment

Dr. Kolodny refused to discuss the matter with a California Eagle reporter, responding to all questions with a curt, "no comment." Dr. Kolodny is associated with the Community Medical Center, and he is also connected with the Queen of Angels Hospital.

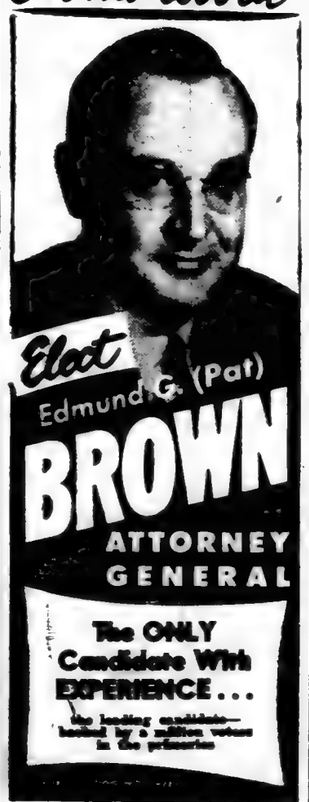
It was learned that Dr. Kolodny allegedly said, "He lost all respect" for Mrs. Rambo when she asked him to designate her baby as white on the birth report. It was pointed out that Mrs. Rambo's request was based on the fact that her baby was as much white as he is Negro.

Protest

The Rambo case, first reported by the California Eagle has stirred considerable comment. Dr. Murray Abowitz, secretary of the medical division of the ASP has written letters to the hospital, the Community Medical Center, and to Dr. Kolodny protesting the treatment of Mrs. Rambo. His letter to Dr. Kolodny follows:

Dr. Sidney M. Kolodny
4036 Wilshire Boulevard
Los Angeles, California
Dear Dr. Kolodny:

We have been deeply shocked to learn of the episode concerning Mrs. Rambo, the discrimination practised against her at the Queen of Angels Hospital, and of your own conduct in relation to this event.



That such an institution, professed to be established on the basis of Christian principles, should permit a mother to be treated, is almost unbelievable. Second only to such behaviour from an institution, is the fact that you, as her physician, failed to support a patient in her time of need. Not only did you fail to support her, but according to the patient's own words you participated in the current of abuse and invective that was hurled at her.

We hope that you will respond to our call requesting that you apologize openly and sincerely to Mr. and Mrs. Rambo for the damage which was done to them and for your own failure to support them in the way that a physician should support his patient under such circumstances.

Sincerely yours,
MURRAY ABOWITZ, M.D.

Soviet Films At The Embassy Sun.

An evening of distinctively important films is scheduled for Sunday, November 5 ,at the Embassy auditorium. There will be two showings, at 6 and 8:30 p.m. Admission is $1 including tax, and half price for students and children.

The program consists of "Ivan Pavlov," an historical and inspirational setory of a great Soviet scientist. The film depicts the doggett perseverance in the face of bitter prejudice and self denial under severe hardships.

The second film will be the charming full length Soviet animated cartoon, "The Magic Horse." It is a fabulous adventure, appealing to both young and old. The color is delicate and natural, and the story is a glamorous and amusing novelty.

The third film is a musical short on a timely subject, "Speak Your Peace," a new production by the Arts, Sciences, and Professional Council of Southern California. It is a first downtown showing, and is a clever, entertaining and purposeful story.

The evening is under the joint auspices of the Los Angeles Ambijan Committee, and the American-Russian Institute. For information and tickets for the November 5th showing at the Embassy, contact either organization sponsoring the affair, MAdison 9-3876, or GRanite 4377. Tickets will be on sale at the box office the evening of the showing—opening at 5 p.m.

Overseas Xmas Gifts

Postmaster Michael D. Fanning stated this week that Christmas parcels for members of the armed forces overseas should be mailed before November 15 in order to insure their delivery before Christmas.

Fanning urged that parcels destined for delivery to Armed Forces Overseas in Japan, Korea and the islands in the Pacific should be mailed immediately because of the distances involved.

Packages destined for overseas military personnel must not exceed 70 pounds in weight or more than 100 inches in combined length and girth, except those packages for delivery to A.P.O's. 124 and 125, care of Postmatser, New York, which must not exceed 50 pounds.

They Admit It

DETROIT—City housing officials here have admitted that they segregate Negro and white tenants in all of their public housing projects, as charged in a complaint filed by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Veterans Will Get Out Votes For Douglas

After a meeting of Southeast Democratic Veterans, at which the Democratic slate for the coming election was unanimously endorsed, plans were initiated for a big "get-out-the-vote" drive which is expected to assure victory for senatorial candidate Helen Gahagan Douglas and gubernatorial candidate James Roosevelt.

Final preparations for this drive will be perfected at a meeting called for 7:30 p.m., Sunday, November 5, at 3429½ S. Central Avenue:

In addition to the members of the veterans group, any interested Democrats who want to help in the drive will be welcome to attend this meeting. Particularly welcome will be those citizens who are willing to donate the use of their automobiles on Election Day to the common cause.

Chairman of Southeast Democratic Veterans is Ted Ecton; Vice-chairman is Henry Johnson; Secretary is Hugh Goodwin; treasurer is Lee Merriwether and publicity director is William Black.

Members of the Executive committee include Webb Moore, Royce Kimble, Jim Clark, Ronald Thompson, Wesley Brazier.

GUSTELLA ANDERSON, of 1827 East 102nd street, is exhibiting aggravated head wounds to her attorney, Curtis C. Taylor. Mrs. Anderson has on file a $5000 damage suit against the Rev. J. D. Campaign for Kenny for Mayor liberal type program such as sponsored by Franklin D. Roosevelt and President Truman, as against Mayor Bowron's program of Hoover-like reaction. If Robert W. Kenny is elected he will bring to the city administration a New Fair Deal program by which our City of the Angeles may take its rightful place with the forward-looking cities of America.

"2. Because Mr. Kenny advocates a concrete program of thorough in-service training for peace officers in the problems of race relations, and the establishment of a Human Relations Detail in the police department. His policy is in strong contrast to Bowron's weak in-service training ideas, his indefinite public relations attitude, his lack of positive action to improve police-public relations.

"3. Because Mr. Kenny will support a fair employment practice ordinance for Los Angeles, in contrast to Mayor Bowron's soft-pedaling of FEPC and the defeat of the ordinance in city council by Bowron's supporters.

"4. Because Mr. Kenny actively fought against restrictive covenants and vigorously opposed residential segregation and segregation in public housing projects—completely opposite to the Mayor's 'silent treatment' and failure to take a stand to abolish public housing segregation.

"5. Because Mr. Kenny ,if elected, will appoint men who are in sympathy with the program which they are expected to administer—quite opposite to Bowron's appointment of men whose viewpoints are at variance or wholly inconsistent with the program entrusted to them.

"6. Because Mr. Kenny believes in integrating all citizens without regard to race, color, creed, or national origin into city jobs and commissions, in higher policy-making positions as well as in lower bracket jobs—opposed to Bowron's failure to appoint qualified minority group representatives on paying commissions and policy-making positions.

Strong Committee

Citizens joining the eastside committee calling for recall of Bowron and election of Robert W. Kenny as Mayor include the following: the Rev. Paul Marshal, the Rev. S. H. Marion, Mrs. Clyde Howell, attorney R. Q. Mason, Johnson Maner, C. Ross, Dr. P. Price Cobbs, Mrs. M. L. Payne, Mrs. E. Garcia, Mrs. Agnes Davis, Harold Markham, C. W. Stafford, Holly Kelley, A. who live by the sword and shall perish by the sword.

Martin Luther in his time, because he called upon the people to correct the abuses in the church was rejected and denied the privilege of bringing his message to the people. So he wrote his message in seven theses and nailed them on the door of the church in his town, in order that the people might read them.

Reformers are despised because the rulers of the wealth and political power, in whatever period in the world's history these reformers appear, are always loath to relinquish their power and will fight to the bitter end for their control over the people.

Now I am neither a reformer nor a political ideologist. I believe simply as did Lincoln and Franklin D. Roosevelt, and as our Constitution provides: That life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness should be granted to every American. This means that 16 million Negro Americans should enjoy the same standard of citizenship enjoyed by other Americans.

In my fight for this sort of life for myself and my fellowman who believe as I do in peace and security for all — Jew, Gentile, red, yellow, Mongolian, black, and white—makes me an alien to the Christian principles you advocate, I ask you, in the name of Jesus, to examine not only the church record in all ages, but your own hearts also.

If you believe I am honest in my convictions, vote for my election to Congress in the coming November 7 election, and give me an opportunity to prove my sincerity.

who staked their own freedom in defense of constitutional freedom.

Copies of this open letter which is now being printed for mass distribution throughout the United States, are being rushed to President Truman, Attorney General McGrath, all members of Congress, and to thousands of ministers, educators, civic and public opinion leaders.

The letter concerns the group now known throughout the world as the Hollywood Ten, the writers and motion picture creators who in 1947 chose to make a test case of the constitutional right of J. Parnell Thomas and his Un-American Activities Committee, to force them to disclose their union and political affiliations.

All in Jail

All ten of these noted American writers and film makers are now in federal prisons. They are Alvah Bessie, Herbert Biberman, Lester Cole, Edward Dmytryk, John Howard Lawson, Ring Lardner, Jr., Samuel Ornitz, Albert Maltz, Adrian Scott and Dalton Trumbo.

In their open letter to the American people eight of the wives of the Hollywood Ten say: "We have heard the handcuffs click on the wrists of our husbands. It was a small sound, but symbolic. It still reverberates around the world. It will always echo in our hearts and in the hearts of our children."

To protect wallpaper while washing woodwork, hold a flat strip of tin against the board as you sponge with the sudsy water. An old auto license plate works fine to guard against splashes. But wash it first with hot soapsuds to remove oily grime from its surface.

The new baby can be bathed in the family tub right from the beginning, if no special tub or bathinette is readily available. Using only about an inch of fater, wash baby at the drain end of the tub. Then, for rinsing, transfer him to the far end of the tub where the water remains cleaner.

Community Donations Aid Success Of Halloween Fun

Hallowe'en is quite a day for the kids in many cities and towns, and Los Angeles is no exception. Many of the playgrounds of the city and housing areas staged mammoth carnivals and parties to make the kids happy for the first holiday of the fall season.

Of these recreation areas, Corregidor Park and Annex Playground held a Carnival that was enjoyed by many of the children. This, being a housing area, includes branches at 27th Street and 48th Street at Long Beach Avenue. Entertainment was provided for the children that were not able to get out to larger playgrounds or other parties given.

The many games and booths were truly enjoyed by the children! The children's party got underway at 4:00 p.m. at the Annex and Carnival time began promptly at 6:30 p.m. with a mammoth bon-fire to start the activities. The Park had a clever Hallowe'en play as part of its evening's entertainment. Both sections had costume parades and a prize for the best dressed costumes among the children.

The recreation department is under the capable leadership of Lawrence A. Palmer, chief director, and assisting him as directors of girls' and womens' activities are Mrs. Clora L. Wright at the 18th Street Branch, and Miss Vivian D. Johnson at the 27th Street Branch.

Corregidor Park and Annex, being primarily a Housing Project area, was assisted by many business concerns by their donations, to aid the mammoth Hallowe'en Carnivals that were presented. The communities were very cooperative. Giving donations in the Jefferson and San Pedro areas were Swartz Salvage, Mullins Grocery, Stanley's Market, Rancho Grande Market, Flemmings Cleaners, Mr. Gilbert, Mgr. of the San Pedro Club ,and Caldwell's Cement Co. In the Long Beach area contributions were made by C and B Market, Mickey's Liquor Store, Eddie's Market, Ostrove and Grasman of Shell Oil, and Richards Market. The Commonwealth Loan Company under the management of Mr. Hargraves, was very cooperative with a generous donation, as was Mrs. O. M. Rhodes of the American Woodmen, Los Angeles Branch. The directors extend many thanks to these contributors. The Housing area is under the management of Mr. Ewing.

Plastics Course For Adults At Evening School

A new course in plastics is being planned at the Roosevelt Evening High School. The popularity of plastics has grown greatly because of the ease of fabrication. Many people learn to handle it as a hobby and derive much pleasure in creating objects of beauty and usefulness.

This class will open on November 7 and will meet each Tuesday and Thursday, 7 to 9:30 p.m. Those interested in entering should report to the evening school office giving name and address, or mail a post card to Mr. R. Peterson, Principal, Roosevelt Evening High School, 450 South Fickett Street, Los Angeles 33.

Labor Backs Bass

After due consideration of the three candidates for Congress in the 14th Congressional District, we as trade unionists are convinced that the backing of Charlotta A. Bass is a must.

We find that over a period of years, Mrs. Bass has given full support to the labor movement. She has fought consistently for all liberal legislation both locally and nationally, and is known the country over as a champion of the rights of minority groups.

We therefore urge all trade unionists and friends of labor to support the candidacy of Charlotta A. Bass.

NAACP Demands Dismissal Of Charges Against Gilbert

WASHINGTON—Complete dismissal of all charges against Lieut. Leon Gilbert, who faces a death sentence for alleged misconduct under fire in Korea, was asked by NAACP and other attorneys representing the accused officer in a hearing before the Judicial Council of the Judge Advocate General's office.

Dismissal of the charges was urged on the grounds (1) that the original court-martial had committed an error in that the country was not technically at war and accordingly the 75th Article of War could not be invoked to impose the death sentence, (2) that by the Army's own definitions the accused officer was not responsible for his alleged misconduct, and (3) that he had not been given a fair trial.

It was also pointed out at the hearing, held on October 24, that the record of the court-martial failed to include available evidence favorable to Lieut. Gilbert and that this failure suggested the need for investigation. The Judical Council was further reminded that racial discrimination in the Army makes the case one of grave importance.

Representing Lieut. Gilbert at the hearing were Judson Ruch and William Wogan, attorneys of York, Pa., and Frank Reeves of Washington, NAACP attorney.

Also present at the hearings were Congressman James F. Lind of York, Lieut. Gilbert's home town, and Clarence Mitchell, director of the NAACP Washington bureau.

● Bass Spends Busy Sunday

friends about the issues involved in the present campaign and urged each and everyone to be sure to get out and vote next Tuesday, Nov. 7.

Mrs. Bass' first appearance was at the Wesley Chapel of the Methodist Church at the 11 a.m. service. Rev. E. W. Rakestraw, pastor of the church, introduced her and spoke highly of the part she has taken during her forty years' residence in the 14th CD in the betterment of the community.

In the afternoon Mrs. Bass was a guest speaker at the groundbreaking ceremony at the New Abyssinia Baptist Church site, 137th Street and Avalon Blvd.

Among the many pastors of the various churches of Los Angeles who attended the ceremony with their congregations, the Rev. S. H. Marion, president of the Interdenominational Ministers Alliance, was outspoken in his endorsement of Mrs. Bass for Congress.

"There is no one in Los Angeles," declared Rev. Marion, whose remarks were entirely voluntary, "who has given as as much for her community as Mrs. Bass has done. And I urge everyone to vote for her and to get his friends to vote for her election on November 7."

The Neighborhood Community Church, of which Rev. Mansfield Collins is pastor, was visited by Mrs. Bass at the evening service, and she again received the hearty endorsement of both pastor and congregation.

Later in the evening Mrs. Bass was a speaker at the St. John Methodist Church, of which Rev. Hicks is pastor. Re. Hicks said he had implicit faith in Mrs. Bass' ability, integrity, and honesty. We now have the chance to send one of our own number to Congress who will sincerely represent us, and whose interest will always be the interest of the people in her community and her country."

Mrs. Bass also attended the 25th wedding anniversary reception for Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Moore on Wall Street, and the "Bon Voyage" given for Mrs. Jackie Clack at Park View Manor. Mrs. Clack will leave shortly for the second World Congress of the Defenders of Peace to be held in Sheffield, England, November 13-19.

Mrs. Bass, at all of her appearances, stressed the need of a member of Congress in the 14th Congressional District who will represent ALL of the people. She mentioned a few of her many activities in that district and the part she has taken in the development of the community. During her forty years' residence in the 14th CD, she said, she has always lent her support in the struggle for the rights and liberties for all people, especially all minority groups.

She has returned only recently from a tour of four European countries, where she studied their political and economic activities.

"In all of those countries," she said, "I found the people interested only in peace. Nowhere did I find anyone planning for war against the United States. Instead, they sent messages of peace and goodwill to the people of America. We should have the same feeling toward our neighbors in Europe ,and I pledge to work for the peaceful settlement of all disputes among nations, and for world peace, if I am elected to Congress," she promised.

Mrs. Bass has always been a church woman, from the days of her childhood. She is also a member of the Order of Elks, of the Eastern Star, and other organizations, and has always consistently worked for the betterment of the people of the community.

An Old Trick In New Garb

That old trick of getting a prominent Negro to declaim in high-sounding phrases what wonderful freedom the Negro race enjoys in the United States of America, is being played over and over again. It has been given a different dress for each different occasion. But it is the same old trick. And it is used not only to fool the white people, some of whom are beginning to wonder if things are not what they seem as told by these Negro leaders, but also to lull Negroes themselves into complacency and apathy.

The appointment of Mrs. Edith Sampson as the first Negro to serve with the U. S. delegation to the UN General Assembly, is one of these tricks. She is one of the Negro apologists for the lynch law of the South, for the discrimination in the nation's capital. She is one of the Negro leaders (?) who tell their people to "Wait. Have patience. All will come in due time."

But says an article in the Pittsburgh Courier, "If Mrs. Sampson should use the stage of the General Assembly as a platform for double-talk in which the injustices her people suffer will be glossed over, she will rue the day the appointment came to her."

The General Assembly of the United Nations is now meeting in New York. It remains to be seen how Mrs Sampson uses her high office.

But in any case, the fact she was appointed the fact that Dr. Ralph Bunche was awarded the Nobel peace prize, that a few other Negroes have been honored, does not minimize the fact that Negro people are being deprived of their right to first class American citizenship — a right every man, woman and child born on American soil, or who has taken the oath of American citizenship should have, as he has the right to breathe in freely the air of America.

"The whites have repudiated Paul Robeson," writes P. L. Prattis in the Courier, "but the masses of Negroes, brooding in their hearts have not."

Along this same line of hypocritical pretense that the American Negro is a citizen is on exactly the same level as his white neighbor is the discrimination practiced in the U. S. Army, where there is supposed to be absolutely no discrimination.

There are two army units in every field of occupation. The Negro troops in Korea bore the brunt of the bloody assaults. And a Negro lieutenant is under sentence of death today because he refused to send his men to what was certain death.

There is a Negro army of occupation in Germany. And the people of Germany are asking "Why do they say that America is such a free, liberal and democratic country, so good to their people that we should copy its way of life, when you maintain two separate armies of soldiers, when you segregate your soldiers?"

Why indeed? The people of America, the people of the world, are beginning to wake up. Slowly. The sop of appointing a prominent Negro to some high position, will no longer be swallowed either by the Negro people themselves, or by their friends. That trick has been exposed in whatever guise it appears. And it will no longer work.

Negroes who are awake, ALL Americans who are awake, will repudiate their farce. And especially at this election, when we, the people, have the choice in our own hands, they will vote for candidates who recognize things as they are and who demand real justice and liberty for all.

Vote for Charlotta Bass for Congress in the 14th District.

Advice to Voters

The greatest danger to free American institutions is the good citizen who elects bad candidates by not voting. There will be many on next Tuesday who wil say, "Oh, one vote won't count." Before they do, they ought to read the following facts:

Rutherford B. Hayes was elected President of the United States by ONE VOTE. That vote was cast on the Electoral Commission by an Indian Congressman who had been elected by ONE VOTE.

Some of the most important decisions in American history have been made by ONE VOTE. California was admitted as a State, one hundred years ago, by ONE VOTE. Selective Service was extended in 1941, just two months before Pearl Harbor, by ONE VOTE.

In 1946, less than 40 per cent of the eligible voters went to the polls. In 1950, with important national and international issues hanging in the balance, 100 per cent of all eligible voters should go to the polls. Every citizen, able and quaified to determine his own future by casting his ballot, who through indifference refuses to cast that ballot, weakens democracy by his action.

This newspaper will not attempt to dictate how and for whom you should vote, except to advise you that you study carefully the men and the measures you vote for in the coming November 7 election.

Men who shape measures such as the Mundt-Nixon Bill, or the McCarran Act, robbing you of your freedom to write, speak, to assemble, or even to think for yourselves, who sit in Congress year after year and refuse to support the passage of an anti-lynch bill, anti-poll tax or the Truman Civil Rights Bill, are your enemies. Even though they pay other men and women to parade through your churches, fraternities and clubs and make fine speeches, they are still your enemies.

DON'T SEND THEM BACK TO WASHINGTON TO DO MORE DAMAGE TO YOUR CIVIL RIGHTS! Send the men and women who will work for those rights! Send your friends, not your enemies!

Be a Patriotic American Citizen

More than shouting aloud that you love your country more than displaying the American flag, more than swearing you'll obey the Constitution of the United States, is the simple duty next Tuesday, November 9, of helping to elect the men and women who will constitute our governing body in the state of California the next two or four years.

Under our Constitution and our form of government, we the people of the United States can have anything at all we want, ANYTHING. If we want it badly enough and will work hard enough to get it. And IF WE VOTE FOR IT.

No, perhaps the candidates on the ballot are not exactly the ones you would like to have. They may not stand wholeheartedly for what you believe in. Whose fault is it? Did YOU do all in your power to see that the right candidates were nominated last June? You have no "kick" coming to you, if you did not.

But no one in the 14th Congressional District need complain he has no one to vote for. That all candidates are alike.

Mrs. Charlotta Bass has been drafted by the people of that district to represent not only the Negro people but ALL the people of California in the Congress of the United States. If you vote for no one else, you can surely vote for her.

Remember the day, Tuesday, November 7, Election Day. "It's your day to go to the polls and vote . . . vote for the people and vote for the principles you believe in. Your vote is your voice in the government of your country and your community."

That is the plea of the Citizens Committee to Get Out the Vote. Be a patriotic American citizen and heed that plea.

Opposition To Prop. No. 1 Is Voiced

C. W. Parcher, Publisher
Glendale News-Press
Gelndale, Calif.

One recent poll shows Proposition No. 1 has excellent chance to pass despite opposition of your newspaper and almost every newspaper, Chamber of Commerce, Labor Union, farm bureau, trade association, and other major group. We ascribe this to public misinterpretation of proposed tax shift plus phychology of resistance to present high taxes. This makes Proposition No. 1 most dangerous threat on November ballot and emphasizes need for redoubled effort to inform public how this tax shift scheme will disrupt schools and local government and add to the burden of every family.

A Vote for Bass Is a Vote For Peace

DO YOU KNOW HIM?

Anyone knowing the whereabouts of a young man who would be between 28 and 33 years of age, who was brought to Los Angeles between 1925 and 1930 by his aunt, Anna Daisie Coleman (now deceased) would perform a public service by calling the California Eagle, CE. 2-0033.

The young man was about 8 years old when he was brought to Los Angeles. His father, who was the brother of Mrs. Paralee Johnson Adams, is also deceased.

The Eagle seeks to locate the young man in connection with important information.

Dear Sirs:

Thanks very much for your paper's publication of my poems.

I am indeed grateful for the extreme cooperation that the Eagle has offered by giving to young writers and others an outlet for their material.

I am enclosing three short poems. I hope to be honored by their appearance in your nearest publication.

It is my extreme desire that Mrs. Bass is successful in her bid for Congresswoman of the fourteenth distrist.

Thanking you in advance for the publication of my poetry.

Dear Mr. Wherry:

In answer to your request I am very delighted to help in any way that I can. During President Franklin D. Roosevelt's term in office, he proved that he was loyal, capable and well equipped, b ythe outstanding events that he performed and—especially the help for the poor.

During the latter part of World War II, while strife was still at hand, there were many unemployed men and my husband (Esse Osborne) was among the unfortunate. And Pres. Roosevelt secured work for him on the WPA, and many others. His kindness shall never be forgotten. GONE BUT NOT FORGOTTEN.

Since the same blood exists in James Roosevelt, I'm sure he has the same desire and is capable of doing the same or even greater works.

Yours truly,
MRS. F. B. OSBORNE.

Dear Mrs. Bass:

Just received my California Eagle issue of October 19. Do want to express to you my deep and sincere appreciation for the very fine write-up and photograph on the front page that you gave to me. I haven't words to tell you how much I did appreciate the colossal effort you made to make the train the night we entrained.

I do hope I can continue to receive The California Eagle in Africa. My address will be: Monrovia, Liberia, West Africa.

I only wish I could cast 10,000, votes for you to be elected to Congress from the 14th District. You are indeed a "Great American" with a truly democratic spirit for all. Long Live Charlotta Bass!

Very sincerely yours,
LU VOILIE WILLIAMS

P.S. We will be 17 days at sea. We sail October 31. Will write you from Africa.

Excerpts From Radio Addresses by Dr. DuBois, McManus, ALP Candidates

John T. McManus, ALP candidate for Governor, and Dr. William E. B. DuBois, ALP candidate for U. S. Senator, in New York, shared a statewide broadcast over the Mutual Broadcasting System in radio addresses made last Sunday, Oct. 22. Excerpts are being passed on to our readers.

The pattern runs through our politics: the giving of large sums from rich men or corporations to politicians; the coincidence that these politicians support the policies of the donors; the distribution of public offices as gifts and not as duties; with the net result that our elections cost huge sums and our offices of power tend to go to those backed by the largest election funds. This is government by bribery and graft and not by democracy.

Men of character cannot ask your vote simply for that reason. You must be assured that the powers of the office which they seek are going to be used for the best interests of the nation.

It is no excuse for an official who helps plunge his country into an unjust war, killing and maiming thousands of its most promising youth, that this official was a man of good character and meant well.

What brought this about-face on the part of so many Liberals? Why do they suddenly regard the spread of Communism to Poland and Czechoslovakia, the Balkans and China as Russian imperialism? It is clearly because this was the complaint of Big Business and in the Senate the influence of Big Business is supreme.

Foreign investment is a form of imperialism. When labor unions and the labor vote begin to increase in power, capital, to increase profits and avoid taxation, seeks escape to countries where labor is half-slave; where there are no unions, few public services and no elections. In this way, the British and French empires were built up. Germany's effort to share the loot brought war.

When the British Empire fell, France reeled and Germany died, certain Americans wanted to fall heir to this imperialism. They let Russia assume chief role in crushing Hitler but were aghast when Communism threatened to keep Western business methods not only out of Russia, but out of the Balkans and even out of China. Thereupon they accused the Soviets of an imperialism which threatened the plans of American business in Asia and Africa. To enforce their own imperialism. Big Business drove the United States into the Korean war.

We have talked to rank and file working men and women—to steel workers, street car employes, too makers, civil service people, farmers, small business men, newspaper editors. And we have learned from them their hope, their most earnest desire, yet, their firm determination to get back to normal American lives. They are greatly burdened, just as we all are with very heavy taxes. Their incomes are shrinking every day in buying power, as prices head for the skies, and they see no end to this as long as the war crowd continues to control our country—as long as the two old parties, the Republicans and the Democrats, continue to be as alike as two peas in a pod in their subservience to Wall Street's war aims.

As one newspaper editor put it out in the Finger Lakes area. "The candidate who comes before the people of this area with an out and out peace program is going to roll up an astonishing vote:" A Buffalo steel worker told us "The men in my shop are fed up with double talk and double crosses. They say they have been sold out on repeal of the Taft Hartley law and by threatened wage freezes when the pay envelope even now doesn't come close to meeting the most of food, rent and clothes for the kids. They say 'Now it's all coming true just the way the OLP said. The Democrats and the Republicans are going to get some rough surprise when the votes are counted this year."

Yes, friends, the people of this state in all levels of all communities are fed up with the burdens of supporting big business' war. They are finding out things which big business would like to keep the lid on: that General Electric, for example, is going to collect a cool billion dollars in profits after taxes in 1950, while the workers in the plants can't make both ends meet.

The farmers are fed up with sky-high prices for feed and equipment, as against dead-low returns for their products. And there is no relief in sight, for farmer or worker.

In last week's papers, Economic Mobilizer W. Stuart Symington let the cat out of the bag for the Truman bipartisan administration. The newspaper

Ballot Propositions

No. 4. YES. Eligibility to Vote. Preserves voting eligibility of registered voters who move from one California county to another.

No. 5. NO. Legislators. Would permit members of the Legislature to serve as members of commissions to apportion state funds to other state or local agencies. Would give such members too much power.

No. 6. NO. Legalizing and Licensing Gambling. Although funds would be used for a pension fund, this method of raising money for welfare work is entirely unsatisfactory. Will only lead to spread of corruption.

No. 7. YES. Chiropractors. Permits blind persons to enter chiropractic school.

8. YES. Compensation of Local Officers. Gives Legislature right to regulate salaries during the term of office of the office-holders.

No. 9. NO. State Civil Service. Exempts employes of agricultural associations, the California Racing Board, employed on part time basis, from civil service examination. Would weaken civil service.

No. 10. NO. Public Housing Projects. Require Election to Establish. Would require a special election for any low-rent housing project by the state, county, city or any other public body. Would be a death blow for veterans housing, any public housing project for low income groups. Initiated by the real estate interests.

No. 11. YES. Land Titles. Permits owners of land registered under "Torrens" Act to withdraw such land from registration and place it under conventional recording system.

The above recommendations for the propositions on the ballot to be voted on Nov. 7, were given by The California Legislative Conference. The recommendations for the first three were given in a previous issue of the California Eagle. They were No. 1 and 2. YES on 3.

Negroes Should Note Criticism of U.S. Policy

Negro Americans would do well to note the sharp variance between the critical views of American foreign policy being expressed by the peoples of Africa, India, and other Asian countries and the support of that policy by Negro spokesmen in the U. S. such as the leaders of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People who recently endorsed American intervention in Korea, the Council on African Affairs states in reviewing the international conference of the Institute of Pacific Relations held in Lucknow, India last month.

As reported by the New York Times correspondent, Robert Trumbull, the Indian and Pawistani professors, editors, and other intellectuals present at the Lucknow conference maintained "that the United States at best was bent upon some sort of economic imperialism and at worst hoped to use Asian lives as cannon fodder in a war against the Soviet Union of whichc Asia, they said, wanted no part."

Concretely the Asian representatives condemned the continuing manifestations of Anglo-Saxon racial superiority, particularly in Africa; the maintenance of imperialist power in Southeast Asia and Africa, and the threat of military and economic domination in these areas as a new form of imperialism; the intervention of the U. S. in Korea because of its own strategic self-interest and because the South Koreans accepted U. S. domination; the conversion of the United Nations into a "U. S. stooge;" and the intention of the U. S. to fight Russia on Asian soil with the atomic bomb and with indifference to the loss of Asian lives.

U. S. S. AFRICAN MILITARY ALLIANCE

Officers of the Council on African Affairs in New York charged that as a result of the recent top level military discussions between American and South African officials in Washington, the U. S. government had "apparently decided to give military support to the fascist South African regime in order to maintain foreign domination over that continent, just as it has supported the corrupt Kuomintang and other puppets in striving to maintain imperialist control over Asia."

On completion of a tour to London and Washington, South Africa's Defense Minister, F. C. Erasmus, announced that he was "well satisfied" with the talks he had had, and that both Britain and the U. S. realized the strategic importance of the South African Union, and were prepared to provide modern military equipment for his country's armed forces.

GOVERNMENT AT U. N. DOES NOT AEPRESENT UP— SAYS AFRICAN LEADER

Addressing the 19th session of the South Indian Congress, Dr. J. S. Moroka, President General of the African National Congress, declared: "We want direct representation in the councils of the State of South Africa. The South African Government at U. N. does not represent us. The opinions it expresses about us are not our opinions. We are not represented on the councils of U. N. The world hears so much about us. But we would like to tell the world ourselves. We want to put our case ourselves; and our stand at U. N. is a plea for peace and harmony in this country.

"The South African Government must not look upon us as their internal and private business. We are not the private property of White South Africa. We should be looked upon as citizens of South Africa."

WHITE TRADE UNIONS IN S. A. BAW TO MALAN

The South African Trades and Labor Council, with seven members dissenting, proposes the exclusion of African trade unions from its membership, establishment of "a separate consultative committee" for such unions. The proposal will come before the next general conference of the S. A. T. L. C. in 1951.

The South African labor body has never before had a color bar. Africans have been free to attend conferences and take part in discussion on an equal basis with whites although only three African unions are affiliated with the national body. The present move is clearly the result of pressure from the Malan Government with its policy of racial segregation in all spheres, including the trade unions. It has been attacked as such by progressive labor leaders who point out that there can be no future for a "Europeans Only" Trades and Labor Council.

The labor body has also capitulated to the government by vacillating on the question of whether it will defend all trade unionists whom the government attempts to purge by means of the Suppression of Communism Act or only those who are considered "non-Communist" and therefore, "innocent victims."

Selected as organizer of the Nationalist Party, headed by Prime Minister Malan, in the Natal Province of South Africa is Louis T. Weichardt, veteran of the German Army in World War I, rabid racialist and anti-Semite, and leader of the Greyshirts and other fascist organizations on South Africa.

THE PROFITS OF WAR
Part III

Two weeks ago we discussed the obvious fact that the military expedition of American imperialists in Asia has increased our cost of living, decreased our liberties, and brought us higher taxes and death—while it brings the greatest profits in all history to the United States corporations.

Last week, in answer to the question, "Why are such sacrifices, and greater ones, being demanded of the American people?" the ruling class spokesmen told us: "The forces which control our nation are engaged in an imperialistic conspiracy to force other nations to "live our way" since we are the "order-keepers of the world.

Translated, this means that we have to smash in blood if need be the efforts of the world's colored peoples, and all peoples, to liberate themselves. Since this means war, they say, war is wonderful, and peace is terrible!

We come now to the third leg of the triangle, as it were: Why did the Truman Administration and the monopolies for which it is the agent decide to make war at this time?

Since history teaches us that ruling classes in the past have resorted to war to "solve" the economic crises which their own greed and incompetence have driven their nations into, we should examine the condition of the United States economy in the months preceding the intervention in Korea last June. Let's look at some of the symptoms which generally reflect a country's economic health or illness.

Unemployment

In February, 1950, unemployment in the U.S.A. had reached 4,684,000—the highest point in nine years. Almost two million more than the year before, and it was growing at an increasing rate.

These are United States census figures, which notoriously underestimate the true situation always. They deliberately exclude workers who are "temporarily" laid off, part-time workers, and those on the fringe of the labor market (women, many Negroes, etc.) who are willing and able to work. The United Electrical Workers Union estimated that there were 1,483,000 workers in these three groups.

Official unemployment statistics also exclude those persons who are out of the labor force because of age or disability, but who could do useful work in a sane economy. These were estimated by the Federal Security Agency to number some 5½ million in April, 1949.

We may assert therefore that four months before the Korean war began there were at least 10 million unemployed persons in the United States. And, of the Negro labor force, 14.7% were unemployed, as against 6.8% for the non-Negroes.

In some major cities 25% of the labor force was unemployed in April, 1950—as bad as it was in the depression days. In California, Gov. Warren admitted to at least 474,000 unemployed last January.

Relief and Income

In Los Angeles County there were 52,033 persons on direct indigent relief last January, compared to 39,901 in January, 1949. As far back as June, 1949, a survey of 38 states showed that five had already put depression-style relief laws back on the books and seven cities had work relief programs.

When the workers' share of the national income falls too low, depression is inevitable. A Congressional committee reported that "In June, 1948, income for workers was 58.9% of the national income (compared to) the 55.9% level of 1929" which set off the big depression. (Imagine what it was in April, 1950.)

Between 1945 and 1948 the buying power of your wages fell 16%—the worst decline since 1914. This so reduced the nation's buying power that United States consumers could buy back only 70% of the nation's output—the lowest proportion in history. By contrast, national income rose 22% between 1949 and 1949, while net corporate profits rose 96%, and total wages only 16%.

But, the real wages of workers in manufacturing industries fell 12% between 1944 and 1949, while the corporations averaged $1481 profits per worker in 1948 as compared to $470 per worker in 1939. Farmers' net income dropped 13% in the first nine months of 1949 alone, and the prices they were receiving were 20% below their post-war peak.

In the fact of this sharp decrease in workers' income, the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics reported that the average family needed at least $57.50 per week to maintain a minimum standard of living (just to keep alive), last spring. But official statements showed that nearly half the American families had less than that to live on.

POTPOURRI

FAUNTLEROY FOR STATE SENATOR

BERKELEY, Calif.—The campaign committee for the election of Rev. G. Linwood Fauntleroy as State Senator today issued a statement scoring the anti-labor and anti-civil rights policies of the present incumbent, Arthur H. Breed, Republican.

During the vote on such vital issues as the bill to prohibit discrimination in state application forms, the bil lto increase workmen's compensation, and a bill to memorialize Congress to enact a 75c national minimum wage, Mr. Breed was absent.

In the same session, Mr. Breed voted for the Tenney bills calling for restriction of academic freedom and for the loyalty oath for attorneys and all candidates at the direct primary; and he voted against the county power projects, a bill which would have allowed counties to develop and sell hydro-electric power in their areas.

The record of the IPP candidate, Rev. Fauntleroy, the Fauntleroy Campaign Committee points out, is in startling contract to that of the present incumbent. Rev. Fauntleroy, a respected leader of the East Bay Negro community, has long been a foe of discrimination and segregation. He calls for a workable State Fair Employment Practices Act; he is pledged to support labor's rights to organize and bargain collectively, to a program of jobs, fair taxation, and public housing. And, as a clergyman, Rev. Fauntleroy calls for the outlawing of the atomic bomb, and for a stable peace won at the council table and through an effective United Nations.

AGAINST PROPOSITION X

Proposition 10 provides that no low-rent housing project shall be developed by any state public body until it is approved by a majority of the voters in a special election.

There are at least five potent arguments aaginst passage of Proposition 10.

The American Legion is definitely opposed to Proposition X.

Demo Candidates

James Roosevelt, Democratic candidate for Governor, was within 3 per cent of overtaking Republican candidate Earl Warren two weeks before the November 7 election, according to information based on 1842 personal interviews conducted by the George J. Seros organization of Woodland Hills.

District Attorney Edmund G. (Pat) Brown has received the added support of a new group of attorneys who declared that the letters written by Brown's opponent shows the necessity of casting a vote for Brown. Brown led all candidates for attorney general in the June primary.

U. S. SUPREME TO REVIEW CONTEMPT CASE

The U. S. Supreme Court will review the case of Mrs. Jane Rogers, Denver, Colo., who was cited for contempt of Congress because she refused to answer the questions put to her by the Un-American Activities Committee. The case will be heard the week of November 6.

Seven cases were originally on the docket. The Circuit Court of Appeals found one not in contempt, and the government dropped the prosecution of three. The case of Mrs. Rogers and two other witnesses still remain to be decided.

LABOR ON THE MARCH

The End of An Era

I suppose a job is a job and it has to be done. Most men work for money, and few for anything else. The passing of Al Jolson, and the eulogistic evaluation placed on his career of a "mammy singer" presents a challenge to the Negro people and to the artists and entertainers who would interpret their culture.

John M. Lee

To the late Al Jolson, Negro culture was fundamentally a face full of burnt cork out of which bulged two abnormally white eyes and a pair of prominent lips. The songs he sang were, in many cases, written especially for him, and they reflected little, if anything of the rich musical heritage of the Negro people. I cannot recall that Al Jolson ever thrilled an audience with the rendition of one of the many Negro spirituals that were devised in slavery as an ingenious means of protest and communication.

It is significant that Jolson was able to amass a fortune of four million dollars pretending to be an exaggerated type of Negro singer, while a Negro singer couldn't make a dollar being himself.

Some Jolson eulogists made much of the late entertainer's influence for good-will and interracial and intercultural understanding. It is not possible that a personality such as his could have inhabited the earth without its having achieved some measure of those things, but what a fuller measure he might have achieved had he appeared before the public as a Jew who had found unity with the Negro people on a level higher than carricature and stereotyped humor.

Having come from a people who also know the heavy bitterness of having once been held in slavery, he should have known how doubly unkind it is to exploit those from whom the shackles of bondage have not been fully cut away.

From an humble beginning in a black-face minstrel show, Al Jolson soared to the top of a profession that made a black face on a white man an asset while it established the brown face of a Negro as an insurmountable liability. However great he considered his art, it consisted only of his ability to disguise himself.

Al Jolson has gone to a higher judgment than ours. Certainly none of these words are set down in judgment of him, for he was merely the product of a system that was stronger than he. He was a conformist, and he was grateful that in America it was posible for him to begin as an immigrant and to end as a celebrated entertainer blessed with millions.

His passing marks the end of an era that will not be missed. The ridiculous portrayal of the American Negro as a dull-black, pop-eyed gesturing clown, is showing less and less profit, and when it doesn't pay it won't play.

But there is more to the Jolson story than a public performance. There is the matter of the great entertainer's objection to living as a neighbor to Negroes in Encino. The kinship he expressed when his face was blackened did not extend to his private life. A potential victim of the vicious American institution of restrictive covenants, he was not above invoking the spirit of that race-baiting practice to humiliate others.

And those who remain behind to sing his praises; they too must be told that there is greater profit in real brotherhood, intercultural association and interracial cooperation than can be had from the applause and money given for telling jokes about or caricaturing a people to whom they bear more than a passing relationship.

Someone has said that it is typical of America's greatness that a Jewish immigrant could become rich and famous singing of "mammy." Perhaps, but in America, to sing of "mammy" is to revive the memory of a Negro mother suckling a white baby at her breasts even as she nurses her own child, only to have the white baby grow to manhood and claim superiority.

Al Jolson has earned the rest to which he has gone. He worked hard, and he never let an audience down. He borrowed lightly from the rich treasures of a great people. There was much he might have learned, much he might have been able to interpret had he examined more deeply. He made his niche on a superfiical representation, and however much we dislike the chauvinism that inspired his every public performance, we are content to let him keep it. And we hope that those who say there will never be another Jolson, are correct.

headlines said: "Symington makes plea for boost in taxes, longer working hours." The same old Stuart Symington, President of Emerson Electric, the same old Symington singing the same old big business tune: "Lower wages, longer hours."

These sacrifices which labor, farmer and consumer are being called upon to make are demanded so that arms and billion dollar handouts can be offered by the Republican-Democratic administration to every corrupt regime, every enemy of labor and farmer throughout the whole world. In the campaign in our state the Republicans and Democrats are seeking your votes for candidates who support these policies of high taxes, low wages and war to the hilt. There is scarcely the difference of an eyelash—or perhaps I should say mustache—between a Dewey and a Lynch.

On behalf of the American Labor party—the party of peace and civil rights, and a square deal for farmer, labor and consumer—I urge you not to be taken in by the Democrat-Tammany dirty dealers. Vote for the ALP when November 7th rolls around—and get your friends, neighbors and shopmates to vote with you.

Negro Lawyers Back Prop. 3

The Langston Law Club, composed of Negro attorneys of the City of Los Angeles, endorses and recommends the adoption of Proposition 3 which is designed to reduce the confusion now existing in the lower court system by eliminating all courts below Superior Courts except Municipal and Justice Courts.

This will be done, it is proposed, by dividing the State into judicial districts and by providing a Municipal Court in all Judicial Districts having a population 40,000 and over, and for Justice Courts in districts of less than 40,000 population.

This will completely eliminate police, city and any other now existing form of inferior court other than municipal and justice. Each county will still have a Superior Court, with as many branches of this Superior Court as the population of the county demands. Only matters involving above $3,000 and chancery cases may be heard in Superior Courts. Matters not in chancery or $3,000 and less must be heard in the inferior courts and under Proposition 3 will be heard in Municipal Courts if it arises in a district of 40,000 population or above and in Justice Courts if in a district of less than 40,000 population.

If this proposition is passed, and the Langston Law Club strongly recommends that persons voting consider this proposition favorably and indicate same by their vote, it will cut down duplication and confusion and will make the court system easier to understand by all litigants or persons who find it necessary to resort to the courts. The adoption of this proposition will establish a clear-cut pattern of courts that will simplify judicial procedure and relief sought by litigants who must resort to the courts.

KON-TIKI by Thor Heyerdahl

Forty-three hundred miles on a raft! Here is the present day saga of an incredible journey across the South Pacific. The author, to prove his theory that the Polynesian Islands could have been settled from ancient Peru, put to sea abroad the Kon-Tiki, a replica of the Perucian balsam wood raft, accompanied by five fellow-adventurers and a parrot. Theirs is a thrilling story of modern men in the most primitive surroundings, of vast surging waters, and of the tantalizing strange creatures of the ocean.

A FEARFUL JOY by Joyce Cary

Ever since The Horse's Mouth, Mr. Cary's following in this country has grown by leaps and bounds. This gifted Anglo-Irish writer's new novel perhaps lacks a little of the brilliance and insight of his earlier works; but what a glorious hymn to life's savor and variety! He tells the ups and downs of still another rowdy heroine, such as would have delighted Fielding and Defoe; in our neurotic century only Mr. Cary can create such figures. The book is a broad panorama stretching from the Victorial age to Socialist England, imbued with that hearty laughter and warm humanity that have not been met with since Dickens. We recommend the book to everyone who remembers Pickwick as a red-letter event in his life.

MAHATMA GANDI by Louis Fischer

An admirer and personal friend, Louis Fischer is probably the American best qualified to write the life of Mahatma Gandi. Here is the extraordinary career of the little man in a loin cloth who became one of that handful of figures who have changed history.

QUIET LIGHT by Louis de Wohl

An exquisite medieval portrait of St. Thomas Aquinas, the great philosopher who, after Aristotle, was one of the few thinkers who have systematized the beliefs and values of a future civilization. The struggle between Church and State is dramatized through the figure of the Emperor Frederick, implacable enemy of St. Thomas.

THE DECLINE AND FALL OF PRACTICALLY EVERYBODY by Will Cuppy

The author of "How to Tell Your Friends from the Apes" seems to have brooded long on the dilemma of being a human being. Anyhow, in this, his last book, he turns his gentle wit to some of the key figures of history. You will find highly unorthodox accounts (and illustrations) of Queen Elizabeth, Miles Standish, Nero and Lady Godiva. There is a hilariously funny chapter on Catherine the Great which musn't be spoiled by advance information.

ENTERTAINING IS FUN By Dorothy Draper

This informal boog supports the pleasant thesis that the best way to make your guests have fun in your home is to have fun yourself. The author suggests many ways in which a gay and pleasant atmosphere can be maintained, whether you are giving an elaborate party or if a few old friends happen to drop in during the evening. Many party ideas, both as to entertainment and its important acompaniment, food, are presented by means of "personal histories" of what actually happened to real people.

Xmas Seals Save Lives

"The Christmas Seal, which will go on sale for the 44th year November 20, is a major factor in the reduction of deaths from tuberculosis and TB incidence."

These were the words of Leigh Mitchell Hodges, Philadelphia columnist, Tuesday, as he told the story of the Christmas Seal to an audience of campaign volunteers and civic leaders at the Elks club, Los Angeles.

Hodges, "father" of the annual campaign, told of its beginnings in 1907 when the late Miss Emily Bissell sought a way to raise funds for the support of a small tuberculosis sanatorium near Baltimore. Having read an article by Jacob Riis which described the sale of Christmas stamps in Denmark, she sought to use a similar device, with a goal of $300.

"She came into the office of the Philadelphia North American," Hodges explained, "and asked for help in publicizing the sale. Turned down, she sought me out to talk about by column, 'The Optimist.'

"When I learned her story, I sped to our great editor, E. A. Van Valkenburgh, who immediately saw the power hidden in the tiny Christmas Seal. The paper backed the campaign, and $3,000 was raised that first year."

Today, Hodges said, the tiny Christmas Seal raises more than $20,000,000 each year for the fight against tuberculosis.

"The Christmas Seal," he said, "is truly every man's weapon in this war against disease, for nearly all of our funds come from small purchases—one and two dollars, and sometimes even a few cents. The American people saw the need for better tuberculosis control and prevention, and they rose to meet the need, slowly but surely, over the years, adding their dollars to support the work. I know that they will continue until the battle is won."

Preceding Hodges on the platform were Jean Hersholt, who told of the original Christmas Seal sale in Denmark; Betty Hutton, who outlined the role of the volunteer worker in the annual campaign, and William H. Green, general superintendent of mails for the Los Angeles post office, who told of the huge mail sale which makes up the bulk of the drive. Sherman Asche, president of the Los Angeles County Tuberculosis and Health Association, and Kenneth Hartzell, secretary-treasurer of the Combined Christmas Seal Fund, also spoke, and Charles Coburn acted as chairman.

Mari Lynn Makes Debut At Flame

Chanteuse Mari Lynn, a newcomer to Angel City night club circles, opened for a limited engagement at the Flame Supper Club Wednesday night.

Miss Lynn is a former New Yorker and sang with the late Jimmy Lunceford's orchestra shortly before the maestro's demise.

She was discovered locally by Benny Carter, internationally known band leader and arranger.

Miss Lynn's sole local appearance was last summer in the Greek theater production, "Finian's Rainbow," which starred Ella Logan.

She sang "Necessity" and all but stopped the show.

Carter is grooming Miss Lynn. He believes she has the potentials for stardom.

The Flame management has announced there will no longer be a door admission. Instead, a small minimum charge will be made per person.

Lawrence Sweetwine, popular bartender and hotel manager, is the club's new host.

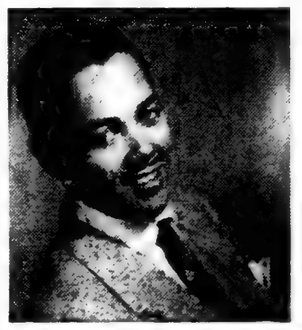
Battle Of Bands Set For Avodon Thursday, Nov. 9

Avodon ballroom will be the scene of the swing titanic of the year when Lowell Fulson and Bull Moose Jackson's Buffalo Bearcats tangle in a battle of bands next Thursday night, Nov. 9.

The two crack aggregations staged a similar duel at Oakland Auditorium Halloween night before 7,300 howling fans.

They are slated to renew their duel Sunday, the 5th, at Pacific Square Ballroom in San Diego.

Just back from a sensational tour of the nation, Fulson is the reigning king of the juke boxes . . . with three recordings on the hit parade.



It's a toss up whether "Blue Shadows," "Every Day I Have the Blues" or "Sinner's Prayer" is the best seller.

Fulson records exclusively for Swing Time.

His is a double-barrel attraction with Ray Charles, the gifted blind pianist, doubling on the vocals and tickling the ivories.

Bull Moose has a hard hitting combo that can take care of themselves in any company.

They proved it in Oakland when they battled Fulson to a standstill. Despite the red hot twin attraction—battle of bands, there will be no advance in prices.

TO OPEN AT MOCAMBO . . . Mr. "B" the idol of thousands, brings the voice that has caused many to "lend an ear," to the swank Hollywood Mocambo around the middle of next week. Also slated for an opening is Billy Daniels.

Mr. 'B' Signs 10 Year Contract With MGM

Top-flight vocal star Billy Eckstine signed a new ten-year contract with MGM Records, continuing his association with the label that first brought him to wide-spread fame. Full terms of the new contract were not announced, bue MGM officials stated that it included a large yearly guarantee and a special film contract with MGM Pictures sister-company of the disk-ery. The signing came as the result of several weeks of negotiations, during which Eckstine hid been approached with rival deals by several major competitive labels.

MGM Records originally signed Eckstine in 1947, shortly after the organization of the company. Several of his first recordings for the label drew unusual attention from the public and he finally hit the top with his waxing of "Caravan," which hit well over the million mark in sales and has become an MGM catalogue standard. Since that time, Eckstine's string of hit recordings has been unbroken.

No one will recognize me in this outfit otherwise."

Roy Brown In Accident

NEW ORLEANS — Bandleader Roy Brown is confined to his home heer as the result of an accident suffered in a football game—of all things—at Muskogee, Oklahoma. It seems that the boys in the band are all former grid players, from one college or another—and it was a beautiful day, so, football it was. Brown suffered no internal injuries but, he did break his right ankle and right foot. That would seem to be enough. And it was enough to cause the postponement of at least a dozen band dates.

THE SADLER'S WELLS BALLET

When the Sadler's Wells closed its three-week season at the Metropolitan Opera House on the evening of October 1, the box office receipts were reported to have exceeded $300,000 for the period. This figure may represent some kind of a record for a ballet season, as it is impossible to recall any similar boast — during the last decade, at any rate. It is interesting to note that the relatively few changes in the program made no damaging effect on the financial return.

What puzzles one is why the New York audiences demand a different program every night, with novelty after novelty, from their own native companies while a visiting company can be a complete sell out pursuing the policy of repetition.

The latter, of course, is far more sensible as it is much easier on the dancers, as well as all those who take part in the production. It also makes for a more secure performance all the way around. That is why one is always assured of a smooth finished evening of ballet by the Sadler's Wells, whereas, with our companies back breaking schedule performances are apt to become a bit better skelter.

It would be comforting to feel that the American public would support a policy for its own companies similar to that of the English organization.

Los Angelenos were on hand last week at the Shrine Auditorium performances of the Sadler's Wells Troupe. The gala opening was complete with Klieg lights and shiny cars, as well as the gaze of the elegantly-costumed men and women. "Sleeping Beauty" was the vehicle the company used to present its unusually talented group of ballerinas, all of whom seem equally talented. Obviously stardom here can be chosen at random. Margot Fonteyn and Robert Helpmann brought both dignity and character to their respective roles.

Unquestionably the British troupe under Ninette de Valois' direction enlarged the scope of ballet experience for Los Angeles. The company is in every respect a unified group sincere in its aspirations and often distinguished by the quality of its artistry.

Discussing any ballet with the stellar status the organization nonetheless has one and only one prima ballerina, Margot Fonteyn, in whose radiant artistry the ballerine tradition is upheld.

TIBBETT AND RAHN OPEN IN THE CAPITAL

Lawrence Tibbett's venture into the theater aroused considerable expectation at the new Gayety Theater here September 26 with the pre-Broadway presentation of "The Barrier," the Langston Hughes-Jan Meyerowitz musical with a race relations theme. Muriel Rahn is Tibbett's co-star.

Opening night enthusiasm, however, gave way to box-office doldrums, and Producer Michael Myerberg slashed a scheduled two-week stand to five days and took the production straight to New York for revision, skipping a slated Baltimore stop altogether. Myerberg blamed "lack of public acceptance" of the play's subject matter.

During the production as presented here, Tibbett had but one outstanding lyrical episode. Miss Rahn easily stole the musical spotlight. Tibbett, as a white-suited planter, wedded to Georgia tradition, also perforce surrendered acting honors to Miss Rahn. She played the devoted and humble Negro housekeeper who had borne his children only to see them rejected. She gave the role as much reality as possible (states our source of information) within the confines of a painful story—which involves the rebellion and killing by her son of his father in a quarrel.

Except for Miss Rahn's best moments, the show proved far from satisfying musically. In part, this may have been due to inadequacy of the orchestral forces, but there were more basic problems in the relative difficulty of the musical line and unintelligibility of the text.

Wilton Clary sang adequately the role of the rebellious son. Others in the cast were Lorenzo Herrera Charlotte Holloman, Dolores Bowman, Laurence Watson (our good friend formerly of Detroit and formerly a member of the Board of Directors of NANM), Victor Thorley, Richard Dennis, Robert Kernsley, Jesse Jacobs and Stuart Hodes.

JULES HAYWOOD, PIANIST, IN RECITAL

Another Horatio Alger story seemed in the making Sunday afternoon in Los Angeles' cultural center, the Philharmonic, when Jules Haywood, born Julius Jackson, recently returned from study in France, was presented in piano recital. Only rarely do we find individuals whose advancement musically are in large measure due to the unselfish devotion of foster parents. Such is the case with the Haywood story. A little over 10 years ago this young man's future was dubious, now he has every reason to attempt higher levels of perfection.

The concert Sunday was in good taste. The pianist included the works of Corelli, Haydn, Beethoven, Chopin, Debussey and Schutt. Haywood has almost an innate sensitivity to the works of Beethoven. His rendition of the famous "Waldstein Sonata" was almost flawless.

We cannot understand, however, the obvious loss of control evidenced in the Chopin Scherzo, so popular with pianists. Haywood seemed to lose sight here of the need for weaving if not delicately, at least coherently, the dramatic floridity of the running passages. The tempi was not conducive to coherence.

His rendition of the Debussey Les Terraces des audiences de Clair de Lune was likened unto a finely-woven garment; the musical textures created were of superb composition.

Credit is due members of the local chapters of Kappa Alpha Psi who sponsored the presentation. The presence of several thousands certainly attest to the organization's drawing power. We hope Kappa will continue, through this type of experience, to aid the cause of serious music and musicians by including in their future calendars such artistic expressions. Thomasena Ayers was the able promoter who engineered this event and proved to locals that it is not necessary to secure an Irvin Parnes or any other cross-town publicists to make for the success of a Philharmonic presentation.

Appegios AND Gussandos

Giuseppe Verdi between the years 1842 and 1867 produced 24 operas, among them is "La Traviata" and "Aida." La Traviata is a striking example of failure turned into triumph. At the height of his creative powers when he composed the work, Verdi was thirty-nine years old and had already given the world eighteen operas. Only six weeks before the first performance of La Traviata, March 6, 1853, had occurred the premiere of Il Trovatore. Two years earlier Rigoletto had been launched successfully and in the same house in Venice. Another success was taken for granted. The exact reverse is what happened. La Traviata was literally laughed off the stage.

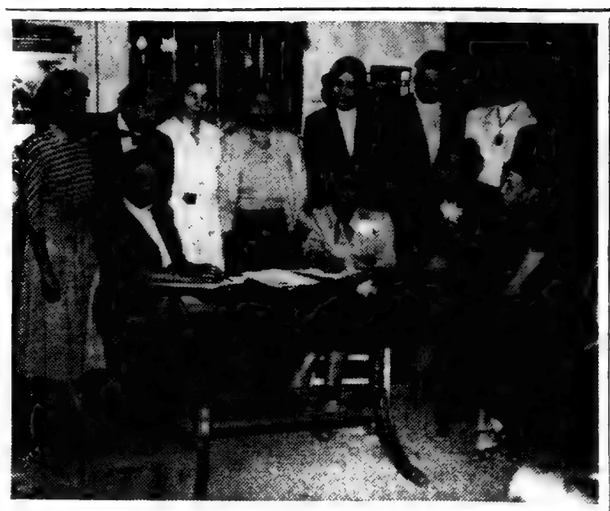
The tenor at that luckless premiere had been hoarse, the baritone not blessed with the sense to realize that in the elder Germont's "Di Provenza" he had an aria which would be a test for baritones ever after, had regarded his role as laking proper importance and had declined to exert himself. But the real trouble was the soprano, a certain Madame Donatelli. She is said to have possessed an excellent voice but she was also one of the most robust singers in an age of hefty prima donnas, tipping the scales at near 300. When in the last act this flourishing lady announced that she was on the bring of a consumptive's grave it was too much for the Venetians and the house shook with such laughter as had never been heard in a theater.

Later when the story of Violetta was presented in London it became the greatest success of the standard repertoire.

AIDA

For the opening of the new Cairo Opera House Verdi was asked to write a new work. Verdi stangely enough did not care to write an opera at this time, and was embarrassed when his offer of an exorbitant fee was accepted.

At La Scala, February 7, 1872 the first performance of Aida under the direction of Verdi himself was presented. This magnificent and brilliant opera is staged in four acts. The first scene is set in the hall of the King's palace in Memphis. Ramphis the High Priest of Isis, and Radames a young captain of the guard are discussing the insuing war. Radames is chosen to lead the Egyptian army against Ethiopia. It is here that Radames breaks his aria "Celeste Aida" as he thinks of capturing the beautiful Aida daughter of the Ethiopian king.



Aida is the slave of the King's daughter Amneris who is also in love with Radames. This plot is much like the love plots of today's everyday life, two women and one man.

Amneris as the King's daughter always takes advantage of her title as she does in the duet with Aida. Here Amneris contrives to find out if Aida really is in love with Radames. After finding this out she in a jealous rage plots to get Aida out of the way. Many brilliant and extravagant scenes occur before the end of this opera. One of the favorite dances to the audience is the dance of the Nubian (Negro) slaves. The triumphant scene where the warriors return with slaves from Ethiopia brings Amonasro the king and the father of Aida. The Nile scene is certainly the most brilliant and is one in which many plots come to life. At the end Radames and Aida are sentenced to death of suffocation by the King. Amneris is the cause of all this and is heartily sorry, for her sin has brought death to the man she loves.

In order to appreciate this great work see this opera which will be presented on Nov. 11 at Shrine Auditorium. The cast will include Greek contralto Eleda Nicolaidi as Amneris.

On Nov. 3 Andre Green and his Symphonic Choristers will appear at Hamilton Methodist Church in concert. Georgia Laster is advancing by leaps and bounds.

—Jeanne Jackson.

DAWSON SAYS "ELECT YORTY"

Congressman William Dawson of Chicago (left) and Assemblyman Sam Yorty, Democratic Congressional Candidate, are shown discussing Yorty's letter to President Truman requesting immediate action to insure non-discriminatory hiring by companies obtaining defense contracts. The Congressman, who urged all liberals to UNITE BEHIND YORTY, praised Yorty's long fight for civil rights, his liberal record in the State Legislature, and said he would personally see the President as soon as possible to back up Yorty's request for implementation of the President's Executive Order establishing a civil rights committee. During his visit in Los Angeles, Dawson warned 14th District voters not to be misled by third party attempts to split the liberal vote. "All liberals must support Yorty," he said. Clubs The Social Scene Parties

THE DELTA'S MASQUERADE BALL at the Elks Auditorium on last Saturday night was quite a colorful affair. Guests were attired in full costume or masks to keep the spirit of Hallowe'en alive. And the above twosome really caused many a stare! The well dressed gentleman in the picture is that jolly good fellow Howard Morehead as he performs one of his many comical antics on the dance floor with Pledge Connie McAllister who portrays a Spanish senorita. The Omega-man won the prize for the best costume.

"Thirty days hath September, April, June, and November."

AND NOVEMBER is now starting all of us in the face which means that 1950, the half century year is slowly but surely ebbing away. We can easily begin counting the days until Christmas, and soon begin to look forward to Spring fashions. You think that's a far fetched idea? Well, turn around about twice, say "Jack Frost" and presto! It's here.

BUT BEFORE we skip too far over into the future let's glance into present happenings! Although time marches on, we must not forget that it's necessary to live from day to day to finally work our way into future decisions.

Concert Highlights

SUNDAY AFTERNOON, the 29th day of October finally arrived for the men of Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity when the numbers of socialite Angelenos turned out in full force to hear the beautifully performed concert artistry of pianist Jules Haywood at downtown's Philharmonic Auditorium. At the appointed hour of three o'clock the first number was begun. This we think was very fine. So many functions have a tendency of not starting on the hour, but not this one! Although many latecomers filled the various entrances waiting for the end of the program's first number, this is one function at which "time waited for no one!"

The audience was completely engrossed as the program progressed. To make very fine listening, the selections chosen consisted of such familiar names in the realm of the symphonic as Mozart, Haydn, Chopin, Debussy, and Beethoven. It was our opinion that the artist is very promising in his field, this being his first concert since his return from studies abroad. Must say that such poise and grace as is possessed by Mr. Haywood is rarely seen in modern young performers. All of these fine qualities merge together toward the development of refined stage personality, of which the ratist has acquired to a great degree.

Not being a complete sell-out audience, there was, nevertheless, a large turnout which was very receptive in its applause.

THE RECEPTION following the concert was held at the spacious home of Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Bailey for patrons only. And a very exclusive and elaborate affair it was, for admission by admit card only! The receiving line consisted of Dr. Bailey, Mrs. Barbara Mounts, National Secretary of the Kappa Silhouettes, Mrs. Haywood, the artist's mother, Mr. Jules Haywood, Kenneth [illegible], Bob Green, polemarch of the Alumni Chapter, Tom Bradley, Western provincial polemarch, Mrs. oLttie Dunning of the Kappa Mothers Club. And a ver yhandsome group it was, full of dignitaries, in their own right. They were all smiles as their many friends passed through for a word of greeting.

With the assistance of the Kappa Silhouettes, this was truly a lovely and fashionable gathering. The publicity committee, under the leadership of Tomi Ayres and Horace Clark are to be congratulated for aiding the success of an afternoon of entertainment that will be long remembered.

Halloween Fun

AND THE THEME was really carried out to the letter when the big sisters of Delta presented the Masquerade Ball to end all at the Elks Aud on Saturday night past. Together with unique decors and clever costumes of the guests, the atmosphere had the spirit of real Halloween mirth. It's a fact that the guests were really taken by surprise when the revealing of the "Mystery Man" came to light who was in the person of Chester Wood. He and his antics were really comical to the extent of hilarity! Prize for the best dressed couple was awarded to Howard Moorehead (see picture), Omega man, and Signora Howard, who wore authentic Hawaiian attire, and really looked the part! During the parade of costumes for choice of the best dressed couple, spotted Ed Johnosn and his girl Friday wearing duplicate blue jean outfits. Gerald Strange and Jane Miller were clowns of the first order. Janice Fortier and Winston Wright were cleverly dressed in amusing and colorful costume, as were all the Big Sisters and Pledges (See Story). The crowds are still raving about the "ball" which may probably become an annual affair, so says the girls of the two undergrad chapters. Music, and very danceable it was, was provided by Jeep Smith and his rollicking Jeepsters.

TO FURTHER the seasonal atmosphere, the Happy Hearts Social and Charity Club of the American Woodmen had its last October meeting of the month on Saturday night past at the home of Miss Anna Gardener. After business matters were settled, the club honored Mrs. Annie Mae Bradley, guest of the evening, with a social, using the Halloween theme. Exciting stunts were performed and games played, which were in keeping with the motif. The repast also followed the theme, which included beautifully decorated cake topped with pumpkin head made up of orange colored icing, really a clever display. Apple cider, as is the age-old custom for this date, was served with colorful candies and nuts to set the appetite right. Chatting between games spotted Mrs. O. M. Rhodes, Mrs. Opal Moore, Rosa Hill, L. N. Ross, Ben John-

Ciro's Setting For Sorority Big Success

Mr. Joe Harris served as master f ceremonies for the Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority's grand affair out at Ciro's on the Sunset Strip last Sunday eve. The Sigma Girls were really out there pitching for the inimitable Josh White, internationally Josh White, internationally known folk singer, a great entertainer, the 'Mello Moods', fine up and coming vocal quintet, sensational Betty Hall Jones, piano playing comediene, Little Gloria Jeter son and dance star, Harriet Flowers, Delta President for the UCLA chapter was vivacious and vibrant in her song and dance exponent, also a teacher of the dance at Lauretta Butler's dance school. Fun Time For The Deltas At Spooky Hollow Ball

And gaiety prevailed as the evening of fun and frolic progressed for the women of Delta Sorority, undergrad chapters, on Saturday night past. They presented their 'Spooky Hollow' Masquerade ball at the Elks Auditorium. Jeep Smith and his rollicking Jeepsters played for the crowds as many tripped the light fantastic during the course of the evening.

The ballroom was cleverly decorated with skeletons, witches, and ghosts floating around the walls. As the guests entered they had to step through the huge clown's mouth. Masks and souvenir noise-makers were sold by the pledges as they migrated through the crowd. Un-masking took place at the appointed hour of twelve which really revealed some surprising sights.

Unique costumes was the order of the evening, not forgetting to mention some of the clever masks worn by some. Floyd Wilson wore a devil's face, while Earl Pierson chose that of a wolf. Gerald Stevens was really strange in a clowns face that covered the complete head. All the sorors and pledges wore complete costumes. Shirley Williams was very charming as a Spanish Senorita, while Eleanor Finlayson, Eula Lee Narcisse, Retey Bradford, Harriet Flowers and Geneva Waller turned Chinese. Virgina Pillow and Bernice Banks made very convincing pirates as did Lois Banks. Gypsies were wearing those Golden Earrings in the persons of Janice Fortier, Janez Lawson, and Vivian D. Johnson.

The contest of guessing who the Mysterious Mystery Man was and the choosing of the best dressed couple was part of the evening's activities. With Howard Morehead (see picture) and Signora Howard, in Hawaiian attire, winning the first prize, Jane Miller and Gerald Stevens were a close second dressed as clowns. The Mystery Man, so every one thought was Chester Wood who came disguished as a girl, and really upset the place.

Many are still talking about the fun that was had, and are beginning to look forward to the next affair which will probably be annual, so says the women of Delta.

Willowbrook School Board

Attorney Rayfield Lundy and Mrs. Honora M. Fox, members of the Willowbrook School Board, were administered the new State Loyalty Oath, by Clifford G. Riddlebarger, Superintendent of Schools, last Wednesday night. The oath was taken in a simple ceremony just prior to the regular bi-monthly meeting of the board. Although School Board Members are not required to take the oath by law, since they are elected officials, Attorney Lundy recommended that all board members take the oath anyway.

Attorney Lundy then administered the oath to Mr. Riddlebarger, who will in turn, give the oath to all teachers and other employees of the district. The Willowbrook School Board becomes the first school board to go on record, as having taken the loyalty oath.

Flowers Shown At Charm Center

With so many beautiful flowers being grown in sunny Los Angeles, and so many women with absolutely no knowledge of the correct way to show them, Charles Williams, director of the Charm Center, arranged with Mr. H. Alberga, owner and operator of the Helen Jane Floral House to demonstrate the fine art of flower design to the students of the Charm Center on Friday night last. Mr. Alberga expertly and efficiently instructed the students in center piece, bouquet, and vase arrangements and techniques. All were amazed with the ease in which their homes may henceforth be decked with flowers of all hues.

It is noteworthy that the public is invited to all these extra activities. Next on the Charm Center screule is a manicure and pedicure demonstration by Mrs. Lucy Sharpe, instructor for the Henrietta Beauty School.

Future Happenings

THOSE ACTIVE women of the female division of the Medical Research Association of California has by this time had their Garden Tea which was held on Wednesday afternoon, November first, from two to four in the afternoon. Prominent community leaders were in attendance including Mrs. Doris Penland. The members are strongly suppotring the "yes" vote on proposition "C" in the coming November 7th election. This proposition concerns the Medical Research Association to a great extent in that it provides for the release of unclaimed, unwanted pound animals for medical research.

TO TURN the date book for the month of November, we see that there are many cultural and social activities on their way to be presented to the public in the very near future. To start the ball rolling, the IVIES of AKA Sorority, UCLA chapter, have chosen Saturday night, November 4, and the Omega house as their setting for their little clambake entitled "Ivy Incident."

ON THE following Sunday, November 5, the exclusive TOWN AND GOWN CLUB is presenting "Fantasy in Furs," a fashion review, at the Alpha Bowling Club, and should be very entertaining It is to be an afternoon affair for the fashionwise woman.

RECENT RELEASE has reached us that the popular annual Kappa Black and White is to be a Dawn Dance this year to come about on the Wednesday night before Thanksgiving. Many have been looking forward to this announcement and some were beginning to wonder whether the frat was really going to give their annual fling or skip it for the year in view of the fact that "house buying" has become overwhelmingly important to Los Angeles Greek chapters here of late.

AND FOOTBALL still holds its own as it attracts some of the populace out USC way (who incidentally won their first victory at long last) have decided to go up to the Stanford-USC game this Saturday. Chuck McArthur, Johnny Weems, and Chester Hill plan to make the sojourn.

THE FOLLOWING week-end brings the UCLA-Cal game-tussle at the northern section of dear old California. Heresay has it that this is the game to see, either by being present of TV-ing. People, Here and There

GLAD TO KNOW that Jack Low, the man with the tantalizing voice, is back on the radio with a midnight show over KGFJ. The "Sweet and Low Show" comes on six nights per week. His record selections are good choices plus the news briefs that are given. Really fine entertainment!

SOMETHING NEW in entertainment is the After-Hour spot at 2363 Atlantic Blvd., especially on the week-end. The place is really gaiety itself and has featured floor shows! "Nightcap" is the name; Robin Bruin is the announcer and disc jockey between shows, and really a terrific personality.

MR. HARGRAVES, manager of the Commonwealth Loan Company, and Mr. Conrad Miller are really congenial in their manner when dealing with the public! It's really a pleasure to do business with such congeniality.

THE ZENITH CLUB really had a successful affair this past week-end when they entertained with their fall formal. Reports have it that before and after parties were numerous, among which Serman Warters entertained the club and guests at a before party. Merion and Jessie Harvey served breakfast afterwards.

AT THIS POINT we'll close until next time with this thought: Recently heard some clever lyrics to a song which included this line, "Everybody wants to go to Heaven but nobody wants to die." We think truth was spoken here!

CRIME LABORATORY

The crime laboratory and not bigger and better penitentiaries is the answer to improved law enforcement, Edmund G. (Pat) Brown told the joint convention of the County Supervisors and County Engineers Association in Long Beach last week.

Speaking in municipal auditorium, Brown, two-term district attorney of San Francisco and Democratic nominee for attorney general pointed out that California spends 16 million dollars annually merely to detain criminals in state prisons.

"It all adds up to a mighty big bill for the taxpayer," Brown continued, "and it seems to me that we must find a new solution to the problem at the jail level. In most of the counties of this state there is no rehabilitation program in the jails. Prisoners are left to sweat out their sentences, and then released to run afoul of the law again.

"The laboratory should be used to probe the causes why these offenders get into trouble when they are first placed under arrest."

Proposition No. 1 is a misleading proposal which endangers the school system and all other local government services. Under the guise of repealing the personal property tax, it removes a huge tax burden from a few big taxpayers and transfers that burden to the average citizen.

The average taxpayer today pays a personal property tax of $6.00—rarely more than $10. Certain big taxpayers pay personal property taxes in the millions. Should the tax be repealed, the $203 million dollars of revenue it provides schools and local governments must be raised in higher sales taxes—increased nuisance taxes—increased taxes on homes.

For example: If all the loss should be made up by the sales tax, it would mean a 50% increase, bringing the sales tax to 5½% IN MOST LOCALITIES.

If all the loss should be made up by the tax on real estate, it would add 30% to your tax bill, or an average of $45 ON EVERY HOME in the State.

Savory Vegetable Dishes

By BETTY BARCLAY

Don't allow yourself to get into a cooking rut where you serve the same meat, vegetable or fruit in the same old way, day after day and week after week. Unfortunately, far too many women have fallen into such a rut.

Baked tomatoes are delicious. So are tomatoes in many other forms. Get into the habit of serving them in as many ways as possible. You'll be surprised at the reaction of your family and your guests.

Seek new ways of adding tang or flavor to your vegetables. If you have no Lea & Perrins Sauce at home, by all means get a bottle. Place it on the table with your salt and pepper and use it with soups, fish, and meats, as well as vegetables.

Here are two recipes of vegetables served in ways that might be unusual in your home. Incidentally, you will note that the sauce mentioned above, has been called upon for that added tang.

Stuffed Baked Tomatoes

Remove the tops from firm tomatoes and scoop out the pulp. Moisten bread crumbs with milk or stock. If you have a little left-over meat or fish, grind it and mix with the crumbs. Add a little minced parsley and onion and the pulp that was scooped out and season well with salt and Worcestershire Sauce. Fill the tomato shells with the mixture, cover the top with dry crumbs, add a bit of butter and bake in a hot oven (400° - 450° F.) until the tomatoes are cooked.

Corn Fritters

2 eggs, beaten
2 cups canned or fresh corn
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
¾ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons Worcestershire Sauce
½ teaspoon soda
Fine cracker crumbs

Mix beaten eggs, corn, parsley and seasonings. Stir in soda, dissolved in a little warm water. Add just enough fine cracker crumbs so you can shape the mixture into cakes. Melt enough butter or other fat to well cover the bottom of frying pan. Fry about 4 minutes on each side, till golden brown. Makes 12 fritters. Or drop by tablespoons in deep fat and fry 2 minutes. Use less crumbs when frying this way.

Easy As Pie—or Pudding!

It's just a matter of minutes to make a luscious lemon pie filling the modern way—with a new, dual-use mix.

Easy as ABC, delicious lemon pie or pudding is a cinch for any young cook when she uses a brand new pudding-and-pie-filling-mix just arrived on the market. A few simple ingredients, a few minutes' preparation — and a creamy, smooth mixture with a rich, tangy, lemon flavor is all ready to pop into a baked pie shell or dessert dishes. Easy? Why, it's easy as pie — and pudding, too!

Lemon Meringue Pie

2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
2 cups water
1 package lemon pudding and pie filling mix
⅓ cup sugar
1 baked 8- or 9-inch pie shell
2 egg whites
4 tablespoons sugar

Mix egg yolks with ¼ cup of the water in saucepan. Add pudding and pie filling powder and ⅓ cup sugar; mix well. Then add remaining water gradually, stirring constantly. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a boil and is thickened. Cook slightly (about 5 minutes), stirring once or twice. Turn into pie shell.

Beat egg whites until foamy throughout. Add 4 tablespoons sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time, beating after each addition until sugar is blended. Then continue beating until mixture will stand in peaks. Pile lightly on filling. Bake in moderate oven (425° F.) 5 to 10 minutes or until meringue is delicately browned.

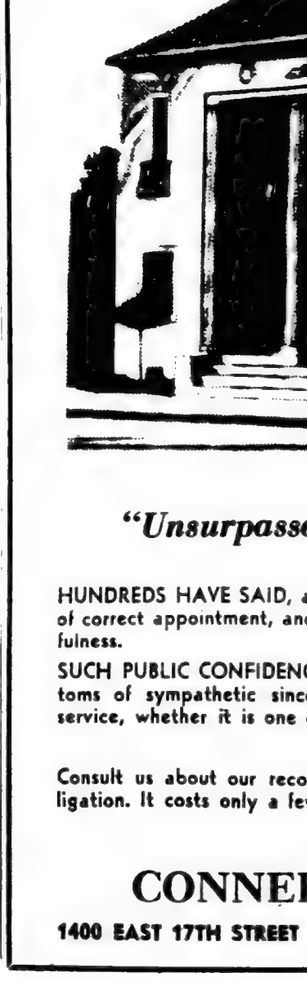
The Fall of the year, when Hallowe'en brings trick-or-treats and Thanksgiving and Christmas loom ahead, is a time of parties and home entertainments for young and old. If you have been wondering how to entertain for your children and their friends and rather dreading the prospect, or if you have run out of ideas for social events in your home, your public library has many books that offer new and different suggestions for parties, games, stunts, and surefire entertainment.

PARTY GAMES
By Maggi McNellis and Hubie Boscowitz

Something new in party games is emphasized in this amusing and cleverly illustrated book. Presented are the favorite pastimes of stage, screen adi radio celebrities. Perhaps it will add to your enjoyment of a parlor sport to know that it is being hilariously pursued in the Beverly Hills home of your favorite star. At any rate, the games depicted are varied, including some that will probably be new to you and others that are perennial favorites. They fall into three types: games for starting a party, games to follow, and games to keep the party going. Perhaps a sequel will include games to make the guests think about going hme.

SHOWER PARTIES FOR ALL OCCASIONS



June may be the month of brides, but showers of one sort or another go on all the year round. Perhaps you are running out of ideas for bridal showers, baby showers and the like; in that case we recommend this book to inspire you to new approaches which will delight the guest of honor at your shower as well as everyone else.

THE JUNIOR PARTY BOOK
By Bernice Carlson

A guide to stimulate the giving of simpler, easier parties for children. The parties are presented in a seasonal arrangement so that entertainment appropriate for every time of year is available. The book is written so that children as well as parents can use it. In these days of Hopalong Cassidy, the cowboy party and the Indian party should be especially popular.

SPRINGTIME IN PARIS, by Elliot Paul.

The mod of Paris in the spring, 1949, has been captured in the author's return to that lovely city 10 years after he wrote his memorable book, The Last Time I Saw Paris. The street he knew, a little grimmer now, he found to have retained its gaiety and a certain loveable madness, while its inhabitants were still as beguiling as they were somewhat incredible.

Elks Urge "No" Vote On Proposition 10

LOS ANGELES — California's efforts toward construction of low-rent housing for its families of low income may be sabotaged if the so-called "Public Housing Initiative" proposal—known as "Proposition 10" on the November 7 ballot—is passed by the voters.

This conclusion was reached following exhaustive discussion by members of the Independent Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, at a meeting last week representing all lodges in the southern California area. The meeting was conducted by president Robert B. Strather and Adolphus B. Clay, vice-president and director.

In an official statement, the fraternal order declared strongly against Proposition 10, which is sponsored by real estate groups and so-called speculative builders, on two grounds: first, it would start a "chain reaction" of local elections which would seriously delay completion of the law-rent public housing projects now being undertaken by 70 California communities ;and second, it is contrary to the principles of our American representative system of government, which delegates certain powers to elected officials in the interests of efficient administration.

The Elk's statement pointed out that on the surface, "No. 10" simply appears to require a vote of the electors before a public low-rent housing project could be undertaken in any locality. But this harmless-appearing provision is merely an additional hurdle which would have to be jumped before any city or county could participate in the 810,000 rental units which Congress last year authorized to be built for families of low income

As it is, the statement continued, city officials already have the power under California's State constitution to create a local housing authority and build a low-rent project. Federal aid then is available. There are adequate safeguards to protect the taxpayer—the Federal Government will not advance the money unless need for low-rent housing is fully proved, and unless the designs of the projects permit economical and sound construction.

"To require the additional difficulty of an election on each and every site proposed for a housing project," declared the BPOE statement, "would create interminable delays and cost the taxpayers many thousands of dollars which had better be put into more housing."

The statement added that Proposition 10, to quote the words of California's Governor Earl Warren, would be "a road-block in the path of civilian defense," since a city, in case of a bombing raid or an atomic bomb explosion, would be unable to erect emergency housing for its people without first holding an election—which would delay action anywhere from three months to two years .

James Roosevelt, opposing candidate for Governor, likewise is strongly condemning Proposition 10, as well as the League of Women Voters, NAACP, Urban League, virtually all major veterans organizations, and all branches or organized labor.

In challenging Proposition 10 as a departure from the traditional American representative form of Government, the BPOE group took note of the League of California Cities' recent bulletin to all city officials throughout California, stating that "if this method of direct legislation without giving a legislative body an opportunity to act in the first instance is adopted, it may establish a precedent which would snowball.

26th Annual Session Of S. C. Conference Greatest of All

The 26th session of the Southern California annual conference hailed by many as the greatest in the history of the A.M.E. Church is now history. Promptly at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Sept. 6, at Bethel A.M.E. Church, San Diego, Calif.

Rev. T. L. Thornhill, pastor, the Rt. Rev. D. Ormande Walker, flanked by their graces, Rt. Rev. W. R. Wilks, Carey A. Gibbs, Rev. Fred A. Hughes.

Bishop Walker called the conference to order. The organization of the conference took place with speed seldom, if ever, witnessed before. In the absence of the Bishop's secretary, Mrs. Evonne Roberts, Mrs. Artista Jordan served the Bishop efficiently. At 12 noon the Bishop presented the Rev. Therion Cobb, pastor of Riverside, to deliver the sermon. The brilliant young doctor and orator set the conference on fire, and had them breathing with gasps of oh's and ah's. It was apparent to all that youth had the day.

Cobb was followed the next day by that young Demosthenes from Berkeley, the Rev. Alvia Shaw, who in turn passed the flame to that logician and scholar, Rev. H. Solomon Hill of Oakland. Never in our history in California have we had such preaching, the thrill is heightened because of their scholarly preparations and deep spiritual power in the language of the late Mayor R. R. Wright: "Tell them we African Methodists in California are rising."

Laymen Take Over

At the close of the Saturday afternoon session Bishop Walker called district vice president Mrs. Georgia Marshall of Oakland and Pres. Coley W. Stafford of Los Angeles to the platform to the Laymen's Conference. The Pres. with a short statement regarding the historic significance of the occasion called on Mrs. Lucy Minor, lay chaplain of the 5th district and Mrs. Pinkie Wilson, lay chaplain of the conference, to conduct the devotional.

Mrs. Mabel Norman, lay conference secretary, called the roll. It was a thrill to watch the large number of league presidents in making their reports. Probably the highlight of the Lay session was the dramatic description of the struggle and sacrifice made by Pres. Stafford and assistants, painted by that Lay preacher.

Bro. Benjamin W. Ingraham of San Bernardino, Calif. told of trips requiring all night and all day driving, carry the torch of Jesus to the mission charges of the desert, also including Bro. L. W. Philips, Henry H. Pettigrew and Moses E. Webb, which $234 was raised and turned in to the congregation to help with their conference claims.

All conference officers were re-elected. The Laymen's Voice, a newspaper carrying church news of particular interest to laymen, was well received at the conference. We urge all laymen to subscribe to the Voice.

I trust as we close our first Lay Annual Conference we have been made aware of the larger opportunity accorded us to render a greater service to God and man. Let us ever remember the lines of the song: "A charge to keep, I love a God to Glorify."

Lay Executive Board Meet

Spurred by the interest manifested at our recent annual contime in calling a board meeting ference, Pres. Stafford lost no time in calling a board meeting to plan the year's work. Committees were appointed to make preparations for the winter session of Conventional Lay Council.

Mr. John R. Wright of Pasadena was appointed to head the Lay Educational staff. Bro. Wright is an able conscientious churchman possessed of high ideals, his selection was an ideal one.

We were honored with the presence of Mr. Henry Glass of Kansas City, district secretary who was called to our city on the passing of his uncle. Mr. Glass brought greetings from the South and West Missions Conference, and promised a more coordinated dissemination of suggestions from the district office.

Mr. Laurence V. Clem of 2nd Church took his seat as a member of the executive board and made some very fine and helpful remarks.

Ministers and Rabbis Urge Citizens Vote for Principles

Eighty-five Christian ministers and Jewish rabbis in the Los Angeles area have issued a joint statement deploring the smear labels being used in the present political campaign and exhorting their fellow citizens to place principles above personalities. Their statement calls for more adequate housing, health, and education measures, for freedom of speech, for the elimination of racial discrimination, and for an intelligent and realistic foreign policy. It reads:

"We, a group of ministers and rabbis, deplore the smear labels used in the present political campaign. We believe the enemies of democracy should be identified, but we are alarmed at the practice of calling liberals "communists" or conservatives "fascists." This undermines democracy and diverts attention from the real issues.

The moral requirements of our faiths and sound Americanism now demand more adequate measures for the housing, health, and education of our people; for the protection of freedom of expression and the legitimate rights of labor; for the elimination of racial discrimination; and for an intelligent and realistic foreign policy.

We, therefore, issue this appeal to all citizens:

(1) Let us not be misled by inaccurate labels.

(2) Let us cast our ballots on the basis of the real issues in this campaign."

"Problem of Authority"

"The Problem of Authority" is the subject on which Mr. Charles Wolcott will address the public meeting of Baha'i World Faith to be held at Los Angeles Headquarters, 331 South Hampshire Avenue, on Sunday afternoon November 5th, at 3:30 p.m.

Baha'u'llah's spiritual teachings confirm all previous revelation, and he assures that this is the Promised Day, the Millenium Day of God, anticipated by people through all the ages; the day promised in all the Holy Books

A review of fundamental subjects including Arithmetic, English and History is now being offered at the Roosevelt Eevening High School for adults.

Christian Science Topic

"Adam and Fallen Man" will be the Sunday Lesson-Sermon subject in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston. The Golden Text, chosen from Hosea, reads, "O Israel, return unto the Lord thy God; for thou has fallen by thine iniquity."

According to John's Gospel, when the disciples saw the man that was born blind, they said unto Jesus, "Master, who did sin, this man, or his parents, that he was born blind? Jesus answered, Neither hath this man sinned, nor his his parents: but that the works of God should be made manifest in him. . . . And he anointed the eyes of the blind man with clay. And said unto him, Go, wash in the pool of Siloam . . . He went his way therefore, and washed, and came seeing."

In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures: Mary Baker Eddy says, "Knowing that Soul and its attributes were forever manifested through man, the Master healed the sick, gave sight to the blind, hearing to the deaf, feet to the lame, thus bringing to light the scientific action of the divine Mind on human minds and bodies and giving a better understanding of Soul and salvation."

Gems of Thought

TRUTH ETERNAL

The ideals of primitive Christianity are nigh, even at our door. Truth is not lost in the mists of remoteness or the barbarisms of spiritless codes.

—Mary Baker Eddy.

To this end was I (Jesus) born, and for this cause came I into the world, that I should bear witness unto the truth.—John 18-37.

Falsehood is in a hurry; it may be at any moment detected and punished; truth is calm, serene; its judgment is on high; its king cometh out of the chambers of eternity. —Joseph Parker.

It does not require great learning to be a Christian and be convinced of the truth of the Bible. It requires only an honest heart and a willingness to obey God. —Albert Barnes.

Truth is the summit of being; justice is the application of it to affairs. —Emerson.

• • •

Religious truth, touch what points of it you will, has always to do iwth the being and government of God, and is, of course, illimitable in its reach.

Community Ministers Endorse Publisher And Work Actively for Her Election

Coming from behind as a late entry in the 14th District Congressional race, Charlotta A. Bass, candidate of a wide coalition of church, civic and labor forces, is shown to have better than an even chance to win next Tuesday.

Campaigning on a platform of peace, jobs and security, based on a drive for equal representation now for Negro and other minority groups, Mrs. Bass has spoken before thousands of voters in the 14th Congressional district.

Outspokenly opposed to the sameness and do-nothingness of the candidates running on the two old party tickets, Mrs. Bass has impressed upon the community the necessity to vote for her election as a sure means of having a voice in the national government.

Church Supports

Leading ministers, representing several thousand voters have endorsed Mrs. Bass' candidacy and they have spoken out unreservedly for her election.

Among the more recent endorsements received from ministers in the community are those of the Rev. E. W. Rakestraw, the Rev. Mansfield Collins, the Rev. S. H. Marion, who is president of the Interdenominational Ministers' Alliance, the Rev. A. A. Peters and the Rev. L. D. Stevens.

Each of the ministers supporting Mrs. Bass is the spiritual leader of a church that stands out in the community. Their support indicates the esteem in which Mrs. Bass' leadership is held by the vital leadership forces in the community.

Entering the last week of her campaign, Mrs. Bass will fill speaking engagements and make several radio addresses. Sunday, a group of "Bass Minute Men" will speak in many of the churches in the 14th Congressional district.

Known internationally for her long service to the causes of the people, Mrs. Bass, it is predicted, will receive the commission from the people in the 14th District next Tuesday.

"Ride your bike in the street close to the right hand curb." In Los Angeles, bicycles are ruled off the sidewalks because sidewalks were made for pedestrians. Boys and girls who are learning to ride should go to a park or some other safe place to do their practice riding. Sidewalks are for pedestrians—not for bike riders.

CALIENTE. Old Mexico.—Wantha Davis, the petite saddle queen from Liberal, Kans., again showed the lovers of the sport of kings the are of horsebacking by defeating the champion girl rider from the east in a match race last Sunday.

Breaking on top with her mount, Go Charm, she never looked back, Altho Joyce Goldschmidt who had the mount on another fast breaker jumped in the air at the start and lost all chances her mount was Bruit. The winner ran the six furlongs in 1 13 4 5 and paid $2 80 as the shortest price favorite in months.

Another match race is in the making between Lorice Grube, winner of the Powder Puff Derby and Wantha Dayis. The feature attraction was won by My Suzy Bell beating the favored King Bull by a half length to pay in the mutuel $10 60. Again the formplayer took a lacing when only two favorites were able to visit the charmed circle.

Altho many well played horses scored for the fans and the book had a bad day. Another good daily double payoff was had for the lucky holder of Glenn T. winner of the second race and Guard Up, victor of the third. They received $280.80.

The Quniela backers of Aratal and Vain Cousin, who finished in that order, collected $70.80. Jockey E. Young was the star of the day, having three winners.

General Manager Walter C. Marty has arranged three features for this Sunday. The main event will be "The Mexicali" secondary "The San Ysidro" third "The Riverside" the popular Russ Alessio and his pretty and charming wife will leave for a much needed vacation November 6th. They will fly to New York and then take the boat for Honolulu. Russ as his many friends call him is one of the official family and the personality director of the Caliente Race track. In other words just a jovial big hearted good fellow with friends to numerous to mention. Bon voyage Russ and Countess Alessio may your trip be very enjoyable. We'll all miss you so God speed.

With the Greyhounds at Caliente. Withonly two more weeks of Greyhounds racing the season will close Sunday, November 12th. More big stakes are yet to be run. The Armistice Day Handicap will be run Saturday night, November 11th and the grand final the Au Revoir cap Sunday, November 12th. Heiton Lad owned and trained by Harold Ives of San Diego, captured the classic of the season, the $10,000 Tijuana Derby that thrilled a near record crowd. General Manager William (Bill) Collier was all smiles after the big race. It was the first of it's kind in the West.

Sport Briefs

Luke Easter, Cleveland Indian's first baseman, was injured last week in Houston after colliding with catcher Louis Louden as his barnstorming All-Stars were defeated by the Negro American League All-Stars, 11-7.

A gash was opened over Easter's right eye that required four stitches to close.

Ollie Matson, swift 203 pound fullback of the U. of San Francisco Dons, leads his team in scoring with nine touchdowns, two of which he scored in last Saturday's 21-14 loss to the Fordham Rams in N. Y.—yes the Rams and Dons finally met but not the L. A. variety of the same.

In voting recently for the American League's most valuable player which Phil Rizzuto of the Yankees won with 284 points. Larry Doby of Cleveland was eighth on the list with 57 points.

Art Fletcher was released last week by the Baltimore Colts because in the words of Coach Clem Crowe he "just isn't a good pass receiver."

Fletcher, a 215-pound end, was the first Negro to play for the Colts.

Cesar Brion, Joe Louis' opponent the latter part of this month, scored a unanimous decision Monday night over Keene Simmons of Brooklyn in a 10-round bout in Baltimore.

Brion, the Argentinian who fights Louis in Chicago Nov. 29, weighed 194½ to his opponent's 202½.

A name to watch is that of Coley Wallace. This Harlem heavyweight has scored four straight knockouts in Washington, D. C.

Bob Mann, traded by the Detroit Lions to the New York Yanks this fall after he failed to come to contract terms with the Lions and later cut loose from the Yanks after a couple of exhibition games, claims he "was never given a fair chance to make the New York team."

Mann is a former star end of the University of Michigan.

Bowling Notes

By Lewis Russ

Floyd Lawrence, wood chucking president of the Los Angeles Senate of the National Bowling Association is doing a masterful job organizing and is a real credit to the organization. He tops the leagues, tumbling the sticks for a 190 or better average and is shooting 600 series consistently, shot a 603 Monday night in the Atomic Mixed Foursome League to dazzle the Kibitzers at the Harlem Sports Center. He comments, "Bowling is like a successful business making money. Just keep your stuff in the pocket."

Katherine Porter, rookie flinging, wood tumbling bowlerette, president of the Atomic League, tops the women with best average in twenty-one games of league play. She shot a 502 series Monday night. Her team, Shelton Bail Bonds, downed Fleishman's Clothiers two games to one.

Garcia's Super Service rolled over Busy Needle two games to one. Ed McFall had a 549 series.

Team 5 dumped the Temptationers two games to one. Arthur Harold and Cleo Chung shooting well.

Roberson Motel Tied for Top Spot

The power driving, wood pounding, maple hurdling Rogers Credit walloped Personal Linen three games to none Friday night moving into a tie for top spot in the Sunset League. Harold Johnson belted the loks for a 212 game and a 577 high series. Chuck Downs racked up the stuff for a high 234 game and a 563 series. Bob Williams also chucking for a 559 series.

Roberson Motel had to hustle to hold on squeezing by hard hitting Benjamin's Cleaners two games to one. Floyd Lawrence and Alvin Griffin delivering when the punch was needed. However, in winning, Roberson lost ground as league leaders.

Garetts Sports trims Empire Furniture two games to one, Ed Benson tipping the timber for a 230 game and a 553 series. Herman Jones rolled a 203 and a 534 series. Ernest Kirkwood of Empire shot a 228 game.

The people of wisdom say tough going strengthens and the road has been bumpy for our bowling starts. So I say to these promising timber tilters keep on aiming and let your destinaton be the A.B.C.

John L. Davis Scores 3rd Round TKO Over Docusen

By ART LEWIS

John L. Davis defended his State Welterweight title Tuesday night at the Olympic Auditorium when he scored a third round TKO over Bernard (Big Duke) Docusen before 5300 fans.

After the first round which saw Davis moving ever forward, taking numerous blows on the forehead from his taller and heavier opponent, both fighters opened up in the second and began mixing it up in the center of the ring. After a flurry of hard blows from both fighters. Docusen went down but was up after a count of two. Davis came in to finish him and down went the Big Duke again from a left hook. He got up at the count of six and was staggering along the ropes as the bell sounded.

The third round saw the end of the fight as John L. threw a left and Docusen's manager threw a towel signifying defeat as his boy, never having recovered from the 2nd round, was reeling about the ring.

Davis weighed 136, and Docusen, 146.

Davis, who also holds the State Lightweight title, by virtue of his win has moved a step closer to a fight with Ike Williams, World's Lightweight Champion.

Pepperdine Set For Gauchos Saturday Night

Leading the California Collegiate Athletic Association grid race with two victories and no defeats, the Santa Barbara College Gauchos will show up at Gilmore Stadium Saturday night (Nov. 4) primed to spoil Pepperdine College's Homecoming.

The Gauchos have added punch as the season progressed and now boast five wins and a single loss, a 14-10 upset by Occidental. Roy Engle's team beat Caltech, 47-7; Pomona, 35-7; Idaho State, 12-0; Fresno State, 13-7; and Cal Poly, 20-7, the last two being CCAA league opponents.

The Waves, with a 1-1 conference record off defeating Cal Poly and losing to San Diego State, can jumble the CCAA standings by topping Santa Barbara Saturday night. San Diego State has been tied by Fresno State.

For their homecoming event the Waves return to their own class of competition after a 7-48 drubbing by San Jose State last week. Only bright note in that game from a Pepperdine point of view was the continued functioning of the Eddie Hyduke-Jack Bighead combination, the nation's leading small college pitch-and-catch pair statistically. Bighead made a sensational catch between two defenders for the lone Wave score and also hauled in seven other passes in the game.

In six games the big Indian has snared 35 passes for 489 yds. and six TD's. Mel Embree, playing the opposite end, has caught 15 for 285 yards, yet has failed to score.

Jackie Willing to Play Under Any Dodger Manager

In reply to the rumor that Dixie Walker, former Dodger outfielder, may be in line for the Brooklyn managerial position next season, Jackie Robinson said that he would not mind playing under Walker. "As long as he's a good manager, it's all right with me. All I'm interested in is us having a good manager," he said.

Jackie, who is presently barnstorming through the South with teammates Roy Campanella and Don Newcombe and Lary Doby of the Cleveland Indians as members of the Indianapolis Clowns, also stated that he is sure that he will not be traded and will return to the Dodgers next spring.

Jethroe Named Nat'l League's Leading Rookie

Sam Jethroe, fleet outfielder of the Boston Braves, was this week named National League's outstanding rookie by the U. P. sportswriters of the major league cities.

Jethroe was purchased by the Braves for more than $100,000 this year from the Brooklyn Dodgers' farm system and proved that he was worth this price to the sportswriters who named him on 14 ballots out of a possible 24. Others receiving votes were pitcher Bob Miller of the Phillies with 5, shortstop Danny O'Connell of the Pirates with 3, and first baseman Monte Irvin of the Giants and third baseman Bill Serena of the Cubs with one each.

Walt Dropo, first baseman of the Boston Red Sox won the award in the American League.

Loyola Eyeing Possible Bowl Bid Tackles Hardin-Simmons

The Roaring Lions of Loyola Univ., among the nine major undefeated and untied football teams of the nation, lay their perfect record on the line this Friday night as they play hosts to the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys at Gilmore Stadium.

This is homecoming week for the Lions and all the old grads and students will be out to root the team on to victory and a possible Bowl bid at season's end.

Loyola this year is led by a sparkling quarterback. Don Klosterman, who by his passing has been responsible for 964 yards in five games and a total of 11 touchdowns, and fullback George "Socko" Musacco who recently set a new national record for ball carrying as a fullback when he carried the ball 45 times for 202 yards against San Jose State.

It is believed that the Lions can be boosted into the Orange Bowl in Florida if they finish the season strongly. The eastern reprsentative will probably be home town Univ. of Miami. The Lions meet after Hardin-Simmons, Fresno State, Santa Clara, and San Francisco.

Dave Williams, UCLA Fullback, May Miss Oregon State Game

Dave Williams, UCLA's hard plunging number one fullback, may miss the Oregon State game this Saturday in the Coliseum due to shoulder injuries received last week, head coach Red Sanders said this week.

Williams was shaken up in the second quarter of the Purdue game last week and was replaced by Luther Keyes. Later when Keyes was also injured, big Dave got back in the game but was not himself as he missed a block that would have permitted Ted Narleski to score another Bruin touchdown. UCLA won the game 20-6 as Whitney Arceneaux finished the game at fullback.

Both Keyes and Arceneaux, a converted 180 pound halfback have been replacing Williams at fullback in scrimmage this week. Arceneaux is 6 ft. tall and it is said, is a good long ball passer. If so, this is just what the doctor ordered since the Bruins have had no effective passing game since Bob Moore was injured.

Even if Williams sits this one out the Uclans should have no trouble from the Beavers who like Oregon last week have won only one game this season and that a 20-1 conquest of the same team, Montana.

ELAJC Flys To San Francisco Game

The East Los Angeles Junior College Huskies will fly to San Francisco for a Friday night gridiron date in Kezar Stadium with San Francisco city college.

The aerial excursion may prove to be just what the doctor ordered for the bewildered Huskies who are just beginning to realize that the Long Beach Vikings shattered the ELAJC winning streak last week.

Long Beach by intercepting 8 Huskie passes last Friday stopped Coach Al Hunt's charges cold and on three occasions started drives of their own which were enough to give the visiting Vikings a 19 to 0 victory.

Both teams appeared over anxious at the start, but Long Beach quickly settled down to a steady game while only flashes of a previously brilliant Huskie attack could be seen.

Approximately 450 Eagle Scouts and their sponsors attended the 6th Annual Eagle Dinner of the Los Angeles Area Boy Scout Council, held Thursday evening in the Biltmore Ballroom.

L.A. Schools Use Film On Traffic Safety

Thirty-eight Los Angeles city high schools became the first in the nation to use a special series of traffic safety films as an audio-visual adjunct to its driver training courses, on November 1, it was announced by Dr. Alexander E. Stoddard, Superintendent of Schools.

Disclosure of the film project was made by Dr. Stoddard at a Biltmore Hotel preview attended by Mayor Bowron, Police Chief Parker and other civic, educationon and Safety Council executives.

The film series, titled "Sergeant Bruce Reporting," consists of 13 dramatic documentaries dealing with the most prevalent accident causes locally and throughout the nation.

The films were made primarily for school use under the supervision of the film, analytical and statistical units of the Police Department's Traffic Education division, in cooperation with the Lumbermen's Mutual Casualty Company.

More than 20,000 high school students yearly will see the "Sergeant Bruce" series as a regular part of their driver training studies for which they are given school credits. The films, each of which runs approximately six minutes, will be used to induce class discussions under the guidance of a certified teacher who has had special training in driver education.

Los Angeles schools will be used as a testing ground for this type of audio-visual education, according to L. W. Van Aken, vice-president of Lumbermen's, who will make the films available nationally.

"If the 'Sergeant Bruce' series achieves the desired results," Van Aken said, "we plan to make the films available to other school systems throughout the country in February."

Perfect Baby In Coronation Show

WHEELING, W. Va. — Baby Sharon Clifford, 8-months-old daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. R. L. Clifford, won first prize in the Fairyland Coronation Pageant sponsored by the Dramatic Order Knights of Khorassan, Dahna Temple No. 164, here recently.

Adjudged a perfect baby, with an average of 100%, Sharon ran away from the field in the tiny tot class. She was crowned amid the cheers of the throngs in attendance at the pageant.

Not content with winning first place in the health division, Sharon also won second place in the "mots beautiful baby" division. She was the only colored baby to win a prize in this year's show. The Rev. Mr. Clifford is pastor of the Simpson Methodist Church, Wheeling.

Negro Trade Week

HOUSTON, Texas — The Division of Business Administration of Texas State Unicersity in cooperation with the Houston Chamber of Commerce, will observe Negro Trade Week with an assembly being held Friday, November 3, 1950, at 11:05 in the University Auditorium in the New Administration Building.

YOUTH LOOKS AT

New Mexico and Texas

By Richard Paine

A trip on the Greyhound bus can be much more enlightening than one would think. A few hours away from Los Angeles, a Negro soldier boarded the bus at Oceanside and through the course of the journey we got to know each other. He was on his way to New Orleans before going overseas, to visit his mother. We stayed at Las Cruces, New Mexico for one day. There we met many Mexicans, since they don't speak any English I exercised my Spanish to learn many interesting facts. These poor Mexican peons come over the border to work on the big ranches picking cotton or digging roads and railroads. They are paid the sum of 40c per hour for their hard labor. They do not work the same hours every day, therefore they receive their 40c in accordance with the hours they put in. When I think of all the Americans that need work and can't find it but of course any American can work for 40c per hour picking cotton. If Americans would do so there wouldn't be a need for Mexican workers to come over the border.

We continued by bus to Texas, passing rich and picturesque land. Then we came to the "38th Paralell" where Democracy seems to stop as the bus driver informed all Negro people to move to the back of the bus, so my good friend and I were separated, and to think soon he will be going overseas to defend "our way of life."

Every public place in El Paso partices Jim Crow, on arrival at the bus station it hits you in the eye on seing the rest rooms for men, "Colored Men"; women, "Colored Women." If you happen to be a very dark Mexican or Indian the segregation opens its arms further, prejudice doesn't stop at one place. We must learn from each other and be friends and not help those who would build walls between us, all people have so much to contribute to make life just for us all.

There is a woman who is working and striving for the unity of us all, Charlotta A. Bass, and by all of us supporting her the words hopes and desires of the common men and women the working people will be heard and will have more representation in a place where it is so very badly needed.

WE BELIEVE THAT NOW MORE THAN EVER ALL YOUNG WRITERS MUST BE ENCOURAGED—AND HELP BUILD OUR PEOPLE'S CULTURE. TO ENCOURAGE THEM, WE WILL DEVOTE A FULL PAGE IN EACH ISSUE OF THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE FOR PUBLISHING THEIR WORKS.

COME YE WRITERS! SEND US YOUR ESSAYS, ARTICLES, POEMS, STORIES, SKETCHES—WHATEVER YOU FEEL YOU MUST SAY. KEEP THEM UNDER 1000 WORDS. SEND THEM TO THE EAGLE'S NEST, c/o CALIFORNIA EAGLE, 1065 EAST 41ST STREET, LOS ANGELES.

We are an army. We are an army which must live, think, move, breathe, and fight.

Who's an army?

We are

And who the hell are WE?

We are all of us. Shipyard workers and aircrafters, college students, high school student, civil service workers, the youth of Los Angeles.

We have come pouring out of the deep South into the pounding heart-beat of a city whose labor sails the seven seas and roars 20,000 feet over Berlin.

Or we we are those who have lived here all our lives and we can remember when Lockheed Aircraft was an alfalfa field and Calship a gosh town. We are the hands of America building for victory.

And we are an army.

But at the moment we are disorganized. Our power is lying around on everybody's kitchen shelf. It is dissipated in ten thousand of us operating all by our lonesomes. It is split up among me and my gang and you and yours.

The first thing about an army is that it must be TOGETHER. It's got to fight the same enemy in the same place at the same time and an army is no stronger than the single soldier who thinks maybe he can sit this one out.

There are battlefronts before our eyes. They stand up and plead for a fight. They say: NOW is the moment! If you are worth your salt . . . If your army has on ounce of fighting spirit . . . NOW is the moment! NOW!

Well, if we are to mobilize our army, we'd better start with the parts of it that are already together. They are church bodies, social clubs and our single pressure group—the Junior Council of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

By far the biggest responsibility rests upon that council. It's got a bugle in its lips and the duty to toot like hell.

A great scattered army of thousands must hear this bugle and know it is a call to arms. There are some curious ways for blowing assembly. The country has developed an entirely NEW wrinkle in that department. Instead of blowing assembly, it is CALLING assembly.

The council has launched a series of dances, a YOUTH JAMboree. First one is on Labor Day at the Alpha Bowling Social Club, 28th and Western avenue. Others follow at the same place for four succeeding Saturdays. Guest stars will invest in the joint with the King Cole Trio, Labor Day's special drawing card.

So from a distant corner we hear a gripe. What has FOUR Dances got to do with a battlefield? How do you struggle for the rights of your people in a jam session?

Well, chum, the battle ain't started. This is the call-to-arms. This is the recruiting drive, the Membership Drive of the council. We are counting heads. We are lining up reserves. We are strengthening our numbers so that when our army marches its colors will fly above a thousand troops.

And the battlefields. These talking battlefields—where are they?

Grab your nose, chum. There they are. Dead ahead. A battlefield is where the Los Angeles Railway Company Still Won't Employ Negro Conductors and Motormen.

A battle is where the Las Angeles grade schools, junior high schools, high schools and college continue to lie about reconstruction and the heroic role of Negro-Americans in the Civil War.

A battle field is where some jerk tells a Negro or a Mexican, "Sorry, but we don't serve you here."

A battle field is wherever the Four Freedoms drag in the dust.

Could be a good idea, I think for you to join our army. How about it?

California Desert

Listen O brown, kind mother!
I am weary and I would rest;
Put your warm soft arms about me—
Let me lie on your withered breast.

I am sick of the man-made cities,
With their misery, sin and pain;
I long for your sun-washed spaces,
Blue skies and wind-swept plain.

Rev. John Henry Owens.

NOTHING LEFT

By Bobby Reedsburg

You are gone now, there's nothing left,
Nothing but thoughts of you lingering with every breath.
No nothing, but heartaches, memories and tears.
Nothing but the sting of your lips,
echoing through the years.
The tenderness of your voice, in a moment of bliss.
Led me to love but denied me to kiss.
The love we shared has withered away,
The vows you made has past with the day.

CHALLENGE TO YOUTH

By Bobby Reedsburg

Give all to life and spare not the cost,
For a moments delay is an eternal loss.
Give heart, body, nerve and sinew,
The challenge is our and we must see it through.

HEARTS

By Bobby Reedsburg

Hearts are such funny things.
They always sense their plight.
Just give them half a chance.
And you know wrong from right.

CONFUSION

By Bobby Reedburg

Each star is a kiss for night and the dew its sigh.
Yet when morning comes there romance seems to die.

TO ASSIST YOU IN MAKING WISE DECISIONS

Before making a choice of your life's work, keen self-analysis and an appreciation of your relation to the world of action is essential.

If a certain field of work appears attractive, it does not necessarily follow that it must be selected. Its advantages and disadvantages should be surveyed, and the possibilities of that particular field being overcrowded thus limiting the number of people who might obtain constant employment and a good wage.

Innumerable occupations and professions beckon, the task lies however, in fitting oneself into the proper niche in this vast field of human activity.

Mrs. W.K.E. Dear Sir: I read your column weekly and find it helpful and interesting . . . perhaps you can help me with my domestic problem.

ANSWER: After carefully analyzing your question, I feel you are right in assuming your companion has ceased to show interest in the home. On the other hand, I find you are somewhat responsible for his actions. I shall be delighted to enlighten you on this matter if you will write me in care of this paper. Questions are answered 3 for 25c, 6 for 50c, etc.

A.Q.—What shall I do about my baby?

ANSWER—A careful analysis of your case indicates that you are undecided whether to give your child to its father or keep it. I am of the opinion it would be best to let the father take care of it, since you do not wish to marry him and are financially unable to support the child yourself.

L.T.O.—What is my father's trouble?

ANSWER — Probing into the matter, I find your father needs special medical attention. Sometimes home remedies can be harmful, so try to persuade him to go to one of the clinics for an examination soon.

Z.E.—My home is upset, please advise me what steps to take.

ANSWER—Your lucky stars indicate this is only an infatuation between your husband and this friend of yours. You have nothing to fear, as no woman can steal the true love of your husband has for you. It will, of course, take a little time for him to see what he is doing to his home, but it may not be too late to rectify the mistake.

Democrats And Labor Suffer Election Loss

BULLETIN

As we go to press, ALP candidate W. E. B. DuBois, head of the Council of African Affairs, is reported leading the field in the race for U.S. Senator from New York. Marcantonio lost his Congressional seat by the small margin of 13,000 votes.

If the prognisticators are to be believed, the Fair Deal, successor to the New Deal, has been thoroughly repudiated on a nation-wide basis. According to latest semi-official returns, the Democrats are in control of Congress by the slimmest of margins, and then only on the barren hope that the Dixiecrats will stay in line and not vote with the Republicans.

The defeat of Senator Tydings of Maryland, Senator Meyers in Pennsylvania, and candidate Helen Gahagan Douglas in California was a severe blow to the administration hopes. The defalcation of hundreds of Democrats in California, making it possible the victory of Republican Governor Warren and Senate candidate Nixon, leaves the Truman forces with a big question mark for 1952.

Reaction

Throughout the nation, the voters followed the reactionary lead of the Truman administration and voted down every liberal and progressive candidate.

Organized labor, unleashing its greatest effort in Ohio against Senator Taft, suffered a crushing defeat when Taft won early and impressive victory over Democratic Candidate Ferguson.

The Democrats lost two Governors, and failed to make a telling fight against New York Governor Dewey who won handily after waging the toughest campaign in his career.

Few of the candidates campaigned on issues. The Republicans red-baited the Democrats, and the Democrats, on the defensive, red-baited at random.

Bass Candidacy Opens Drive For Equal Representation

Showing a possible final total of considerably more than 15,000 votes cast for her, Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, Independent Progressive Party candidate for Congress from the 14th District, early Wednesday morning extended her appreciation to the small army of Negro and white citizens who worked for her election and supported her with their votes.

Entering the campaign in its final three weeks, Mrs. Bass, who had been on an extended trip to Europe, aroused the voters in the 14th District to the need for equal representation in government on all levels.

Endorsements

Endorsed by leading ministers and supported by the Negro and other minority people in the district, Mrs. Bass put forth the only program based on issues. Her two opponents followed the old party lines on confusing the vot-

Cabrillo Homes Protest Discrimination

The Committee to End Segregation in Cabrillo Homes a public housing project in Long Beach, Mark Cowsett chairman, has sent letters to Helen Gahagan Douglas and to Clyde Doyle, concerning the facts in the housing project and the firing of Mrs. Elsy Sibrie only Negro clerk in the project.

The facts show that there are four units in the project Annex No. 3 [illegible] 600 permanent homes [illegible] modern improvements [illegible] Negro families live. The majority of Negro families, some 240 of them live in Annex No. 3 with houses built [illegible] cement floors and little or no accomodations.

When the tenants complained of conditions to John Dawson, manager of Cabrillo Homes, his answer was: "If you don't like the present housing why don't you move out of the project?"

The committee is urging for the removal of Mr. Dawson from office and is circulating a petition to that effect.

On September 20 Mrs. Elsy Sibrie only Negro clerk in the Cabrillo Homes office received notice of dismissal. The committee feels that her dismissal is a retaliation against the activities of the committee and because of her husband's activities against discrimination. It is opposing said discharge.

The hearing date for the trial is December 4, 1950.

YMCA Support Fund Campaign Goal $18,000

The Board of Managers of 28th Street Branch YMCA at a recent meeting under the leadership of Branch Chairman Lorenzo Bowdoin set the goal for the 1951 Support Fund Campaign at $18,000. Since the YMCA is not a participant in the Community Chest, this goal is seen as a minimum if the Branch if to recover any of the ground lost this year by enforced retrenchments.

In order to secure the funds needed next year a campaign organization of two hundred and fifty workers is taking shape around Dr. R. Price Cobbs, General Campaign Chairman, and the Rev. P. D. Lehaman of St. Paul Lutheran Church as chairman of Initial Gifts Division.

Albright Wins Decoration For World War Duty

The Department of the Air Force has decorated Joseph F. Albright, Special Assistant to the Administrator of Veterans Affairs, with the Commendation Ribbon for distinguished and meritorious service during his World War II tour of duty. The citation says in part:

"The keen perceptive nature, initiative, and leadership displayed by Sergeant Albright contributed immeasurably to migh morale and harmonious relationship between civilian and military personnel. Sergeant Albright's outstanding achievements reflect credit upon himself, his organization, and the United States military service."

Albright, as a Public Relations Specialist and Confidential Investigator for the Office of the Commanding General (the late Hap Arnold), distinguished himself in the field of building interracial civilian-military programs. Much of the credit for the initial integration in the Armed Forces has been given to these programs Albright launched on various Air Bases and their respective localities.

Albright has served for five years in his present position in the Veterans Administration, where he has continued his work in carrying out racial integration.

Lt. Col. Fisher Disclaims Any Connection With False Report

An attempt by a local weekly to whitewash the charges made by several outstanding leaders in the Negro and white community, that Negro troops were discriminated against at Camp Roberts, was exposed this week when Lt. Col. Frank W. Cleveland and Lt. Col Wilbert D. Fisher, Commanding officer of the 1401st Engineer Combat Battalion, accused that newspaper of deliberately falsifying and distorting statements attributed to them.

The California Eagle published a report of the discrimination charges and a statement to President Truman signed by such notables as: James Roosevelt, Gahagan Douglas, Assemblyman Augustus Hawkins, Councilman Edward Roybal and Dr. John Somerville. The account carried in the local weekly ridiculed the charges and accused the makers of the charges of 'mud-slinging for political purposes.'

Resentment

A wave of resentment against the attempted whitewash, and the obvious attempt to use a statement and a posed photograph of Lt. Col. Cleveland in the process brought statements from both Cleveland and Lt. Fisher, both denying that they had said anything to a reporter for that

Traffic Deaths Of Pedestrians Cause Alarm

New traffic signals were placed in operation last week at the intersection of Vernon and Long Beach Aves. on the Pacific Electric rail line.

Kenneth Hahn, Los Angeles city councilman, and T. L. Wagenbach, Pacific Electric general manager, officially turned on the signals for the first time as part of a brief ceremony.

At a cost of approximately $8000, Pacific Electric installed track circuits to coordinate traffic lights with train movements.

Deny New Trial To Plaintiffs In Ivy Anderson Estate Suit

A new trial was denied the plaintiffs in a court action brought in an effort to partition the property estate of the late Ivie Anderson, noted singing entertainer, here this week. Walter Collins, third husband of the former Duke Ellington singing star, who died here in August of 1948, made an unsuccessful bid to inherit the portion of property she owned with a second husband, Marque Neal.

Atty. Crispus A. Wright, who represented Neal throughout the novel litigation since its inception by Miss Anderson in December of 1948, successfully contended throughout the several court tilts that the property owned by Neal and Miss Anderson during their married life was held in joint tenancy. As such, it was not community property.

Miss Anderson died while the matter she brought to "quiet title, establish trust and partition of real property was still before the courts. Her third husband, Walter Collins, was named by the court, plaintiff in fact, and carried on the action to compel partition of the property in an effort to inherit it as surviving heir.

The courts, however, sustained

Conviction of Youth for Mail Theft Reversed

A 20-year sentence meted out to 23-year-old Herman Hayman a year ago by Federal Judge Mathes here, following his conviction on charges of mail theft and forgery, was reversed this week by a federal district appellate court. At the time of his trial, Hayman asserted he had been "framed" by one or both women before the courts with him. The young man was represented at the trial by a downtown law firm.

Atty. Crispus A. Wright, who later entered the case for the purpose of appealing Hayman's conviction, raised the point which was considered by the appellate court, that "it is required at a trial facts dehors the record of the trial on which the defendant was convicted." This element was apparently overlooked by the trial court.

Wright further pointed out to the higher tribunal that certain

The SIDEWALK

By C.A.B.

The depth of my appreciation for Horace Alexander, the young people of this district, the Independent Progressive Party, my church and fraternal brothers and sisters who promoted my campaign for Congress in the 14th Congressional District, cannot be expressed in words.

Now that the campaign is ended, I must settle down to a task that I have felt for a long time had to be done.

I don't mean by this statement that certain responsibilities rest entirely upon my shoulders.

I mean that new vistas showing needs and responsibilities for the political education of my own racial group, were opened during my less than five weeks' campaign for Congress.

In many places I am unpopular now. I am sure after pointing out more of the bulwarks blocking the political, religious, and even human freedoms of the Negro people in this district, I shall be even more unpopular.

As I stated and re-stated during my campaign, I am interested in human progress. In the liberation of peoples in all parts of the world, subjected to any form of slavery or serfdom.

I shall continue my fight for decent living conditions for my people, and for all the little plain people in this city and all the cities of your and my country—the United States of America.

I shall continue to fight for a Federal FEPC law, and against the McCarran law as "An Act to Repeal the American Bill of Rights."

I shall point out that it is as much the duty of the church to educate its members politically as religiously. And that certain newspapers, individuals, and organizations are misleading, misdirecting and are deliberately selling the untrained, uneducated among them to the highest political bidder.

There were but a few churches that opened their doors to me during the campaign, and fewer ministers who stood up before their people and spoke a word in the interest of my effort to get recognition in the U.S. Congress for my people. Among them were Revs. Stevens, Merriam, Collins, Wade, Harris, Hicks, Capers and Rakestraw.

Some brothers of the cloth against whom I refused to be a part of a mud-slinging brigade, tried to smear me in the Ministerial Alliance with what they called "Red Mud," a figment of the imagination.

I have heard it said many times, "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."

In order to drive back into oblivion the clouds of potical poison already injected into the people's minds, I shall, as I have said, continue to fight for the truth. I shall tell the truth. And if the people will hear the truth, they shall be made free.

Councilman Roybal Cited for Service To Community

A scroll citing Edward R. Roybal, member of the Los Angeles City Council, for outstanding service to the community was presented to him at a testimonial dinner held in his honor last Sunday at the Los Angeles Breakfast Club. The presentation was made by John Anson Ford, member of the County Board of Supervisors.

Carey McWilliams, noted author on social problems, remarked pointedly that all talk of war should be changed to talk of peace. "Peace," he said, "should be established in our relationship with the governments of the world."

ASP Division Regrets Error In Rambo Case

The Arts, Sciences and Professions Council Medical Division has determined that they were misinformed in a particular in the case of Mrs. Lois Rambo, a victim of outrageous discrimination at the Queen of Angeles hospital recently.

Mrs. Rambo was quoted by us as having said that Dr. Kolodny, her physician, participated in the current abuse and invective that was hurled at her. We regret this misrepresentation.

Dr. Kolodny did not defend or support Mrs. Rambo—but he did not join with the hospital staff in reviling Mrs. Rambo.

Victim of Mysterious Poison Is Buried

Funeral arrangements were completed Tuesday for the burial of Joseph W. Robinson, 23, who died mysteriously November 2 of the effects of a poison he swallowed. The victim, rushed to the hospital by his brother, LeRoy Mendez, was dead on arrival at Georgia Street Emergency Hospital.

Mendez, who lives at 3011 S. Hobart, said he believes his brother was already dead when he picked him up at 911 S. Hobart. Freddie Fields, Mandez said, told him he and Robinson had burglarized a drug store on Jefferson boulevard and that the dead youth had taken something he found there.

Since no date had been set by the coroner's office for an in-

Jealous Husband Slays Wife Over Attention To Other Men

Police are holding Paul Medlock for the fatal shooting of his 31-year-old wife, Jasie, in their home, 2062 E. 105th street, Sunday night.

Mrs. Medlock died as the result of a bullet that entered her forehead just above the right eye. According to police, Medlock admitted ownership of the gun which fired the fatal shot.

The deceased woman's sister, Christine Caldwell, told police she heard Medlock and his wife arguing Sunday night over the slain woman's attentions to other men.

Later the sister said she heard Mrs. Medlock talking on the telephone. Still later Mrs. Medlock came to her room, the sister said, and her husband called her.

Shortly thereafter, Mrs. Caldwell heard two shots and rushed from her room to find her sister lying on the floor and Medlock standing over her with smoking gun. An inquest into the slaying will be held Friday.

Waiter May Beat Rap for Rape

Because of the many flukes and flaws in the statutory rape charges against Joseph Lawton, a waiter, the case may be thrown out when it comes up in Superior Court on November 30 in Department 44. Lawton was held to answer in municipal court on October 18 when he appeared before Judge Leroy Dawson.

Atty. H. Leonard Richardson, who represented Lawton at the preliminary examination, said his client was innocent of any wrongdoing. Testimony introduced during the trial drew from the alleged victim, 17-year-old Barbara Winston of 616 E. 118th street, the admission that she was engaged to marry the man she accused of attacking her last September.

The stepfather of the girl indicated he might not be certain of her exact age under questioning. Miss Winston said she was a part-time student of Jefferson high school. Lawton denied ever being intimate with the young woman.

Numbers King Served Divorce Papers; Wife Charges Cruelty

William Pierson, 52-year-old former numbers king of Cleveland, Ohio, who has been residing here for the past year with his wife, Laura, 48, and daughter, Paula Lou, 14, was surprised here last week when he was served with papers indicating his presence would soon be required in court to answer a divorce complain filed by his wife. The Piersons were married in June of 1928 and separated on October of 1950.

The complaint, drawn up in the law offices of Atty. Crispus A. Wright, cites numerous instances of cruelty, humility and miseration suffered by Mrs. Pierson over a period of a year at the hands and voice of her wealthy husband. Pierson has been variously represented as being one of the wealthiest in the numbers racket history. He is reputed to

World Indignation Aroused Over Martinsville Seven

"Widespread indignation in every country of the world has been aroused over the forthcoming execution of seven Martinsville, Va., men," according to William L. Patterson, national executive secretary of the Civil Rights Congress, who has just returned from Europe.

These seven young Negro men have been convicted of rape after a trial that was a mockery of justice. They are scheduled to die beginning on November 17; yet official records show that no white man has ever been executed for rape in Virginia while many have been convicted of attacks upon Negro and white woman. No Negro has ever escaped execution in such a case regardless of how flimsy the evidence.

Originally these men were scheduled to die last July, but world protests, together with the

MCS Protest Coast Guard Blacklist; Votes to Support Seamen

Three hundred MCS crew members in a two-hour stop-work meeting this week voted unanimously to protest the Coast Guard's latest "Blacklist," which is now being imposed on ships running between the mainland and Hawaii, according to Hugh Bryson, National President of the Marine Cooks and Stewards Union. Bryson declared, "The unanimous sentiment of the Stewards Department of the SS Lurline is against this added attack against our Union. The 'blacklist' program is intended to eliminate the hardest fighters for the Union, and it is completely discriminatory, and biased against MCS. It is contrary to the founding principles of our great American Constitution and Bill of Rights."

In explaining how the "blacklist" works President Bryson stated: "In America we are supposed to be innocent until proven guilty. This fundamental and guaranteed right belongs to all Americans including Merchant Seamen. But the Coast Guard has reversed that process, and today Seamen are removed from ships, denied the right to work, and no reason is given. They are found guilty ,and they can't even prove they are innocent, because there is no hearing process, and a democratic 'trial' will not be allowed."

MCS has been demanding for 4 months that the Coast Guard conduct democratic hearings; that a bill of particulars be provided; that the accused have the right to face his accuser; that he be represented by the Union or his counsel; and that he be allowed to present witnesses, and to cross examine his accuser and any witnesses that might be found against the accused. They have been joined by many democracy loving organizations, including the American Civil Liberties Union, nationally, in this position.

"The Union will continue to support the blacklisted seamen until there's proof that they are guilty," said Bryson. "They have preference on the shipping list on any vessels not covered by the "blacklist," and they will remain in the industry."

Election News Roundup

The recall of Mayor Bowron lost heavily in Tuesday's elections with voters giving the Mayor a heavy vote of confidence. Confined to the hospital, Bowron termed the result a victory for good government.

City Engineer Lloyd Aldrich polled the largest number of votes to succeed Bowron had the recall carried.

The gambling proposition lost and the proposition on vivisection was in doubt at press time, although its passage was indicated.

Pat Brown appeared to be in as State Attorney General, and Congressman Nixon was out in front in his race with Representative Helen Gahagan Douglas.

The personal property tax will not be repealed, and county proposition "A" seemed doomed to defeat.

Proposition 10 is still in doubt although its passage seems indicated.

In New York Herbert Lehman was reelected to the U. S. Senate, and FDR Jr was reelected to the House.

Sen. Taft beat heavy labor opposition to win in Ohio and Senator Lucas was defeated in Illinois. The local Assembly races seemed to be going to the Republicans.

C'm'ty Medics Meet

Rev. Stephen Fritchman, guest speaker, will use as his subject, "Doctored Words and Undoctored People." Entertainment will be furnished by Earl Robinson, Les Pine, Sol Matlin, and others. There will be a short discussion on the Prepay Medical Plan, and the annual elections.

No admission charge.

Douglas Defeat Not Complete, Manager Says

Representative Helen Gahagan Douglas went down to apparent defeat in Tuesday's elections, losing to Rep. Richard Nixon by a two to one margin on the basis of partial and semi-official returns.

Conceded a better than even chance to defeat Nixon in the early stages of the campaign, Mrs. Douglas was estimated to be out in front until the final weeks of the drive when she dropped her fight on the issues and took up red-baiting as a defense against charges hurled at her by Nixon and his supporters.

No Statement

Harold Tipton, campaign manager for Mrs. Douglas, at a late hour Wednesday, announced that he would advise her not to concede her defeat, nor to make any statement until the final votes had been counted. At that time, she was trailing Nixon by more than 100,000 votes on the basis of incomplete reports.

Bass Candidacy

ers with a campaign based on jimcrow American precepts. Speaking endlessly in meetings all over the district, Mrs. Bass succeeded in awakening a spirit of interest in the needs of the district.

Horace Alexander, campaign manager for Mrs. Bass, issued the following statement Wednesday morning:

"Mrs. Bass's candidacy in the 14th made a great contribution toward unifying the various national and racial groups in the district, and it heightened considerably the growing demand for real democracy and peace.

"The main issue in the campaign to elect Mrs. Bass, and the main issue still confronting Negro Americans is the democratic right of representation on all levels of government.

Basic Desire

"The nearly 15,000 votes cast for Mrs. Bass with a high percentage of that vote cast by Negro voters, demonstrates conclusively the basic desire and demand for Negro representation. It further shows a growing support by many other forces, including white Americans, for this just and democratic demand. If there were real proportional representation, there would be 53 Negroes in Congress instead of two.

"The large Negro vote for Mrs. Bass also make it plain that in most districts where there is a large Negro community, the big business politicians have chopped up the political boundaries so as to make it extremely difficult for Negroes to elect representatives.

"Thus the disenfranchisement of Negro Americans is still with us in various forms in the north and south. Historically, the grandfather clause, the poll tax, and a campaign of terror, and today in the north, a combination of various forms of intimidation and gerrymandering.

"The answer of course is more and more of what was demonstrated in the Bass campaign: 'UNITY OF ALL PEOPLE.'

"The Independent Progressive Party's fight for Negro representation did not end on November 7. We have just begun to fight. In addition to our fight for jobs, FEPC, world peace, and against police brutality, we the people must begin to demand that our 14th Congressional district be reapportioned so as not to disfranchise Negro Americans . . . but rather to guarantee Negro representation."

Legal defense of the men is being handled by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. The campaign to bring the frame-up facts to public attention and stimulate protest is, however, being organized by the Civil Rights Congress and the Virginia Committee to Save the Martinsville Seven.

"The Supreme Court of Virginia having recently refused to review the case, other courts will be appealed to by the NAACP, but the decision is really in the hands of the people," said Patterson.

proceedings permitted by the lower court indicated that the appellant Hayman was not properly represented by counsel. It developed that the lawyer who was handling Hayman's defense was also handling the case of a convicted woman who was permitted to testify against him while she was awaiting sentence.

Atty. Wright, in his brief, insisted that this act indicated an apparent conflict of interest insofar as counsel was concerned. The court in handing down its decision reversing the decision of the trial court held with the appellant's lawyers when it upheld the contention that "defendant was not properly represented by counsel and therefore did not 'enjoy' the effective assistance of the Sixth Amendment to the Constitution."

The woman involved in the trial case was Juanita Jackson. It was pointed out counsel for Hayman did not question this witness concerning her fitness before the court. It was further revealed that he should have asked her was she convicted and then awaiting sentence before the same court. A habeas corpus proceeding will bring Hayman back from McNeil Island federal prison to face a new trial.

Superior Judge Walter R. Evans, sitting in Department 55, who heard the original trial arguments, last Friday denied Collins' arguments for a new trial. Marque Neal is thus permitted to take all of the late singer's share in the $70.000 estate intact. Neal has of late been active in Republican party politics. Pending the outcome of the litigation he has been denied use, or occupancy of the attractive apartment building owned jointly by him and Miss Anderson.

Friendship Center Breakfast Club Invites Participation

The Friendship Center Breakfast Club is almost four years old and the work accomplished by this intercultural group merits a great deal of recognition. The pattern of practice has been to educate our racial mixtures of culture by getting acquainted and communing together toward a better understanding of each other.

Such a program has brought about greater results than one anticipated, therefore the board of directors have decided that this coming year the program must be larger and better.

Sunday, November 12, at 8:30 a.m. in the cafeteria of the Jefferson High School, all members, officers and friends are urged to be present. The program is one of educational value, speakers for the morning are the surprise offer.

The music has always been pleasing and this program is so stuffed full of surprises it will pay you not to miss it. The doors stand open to all who wish to add to their program of understanding and information of what is going on in our city, county, state and national governments among all peoples to make our world a better place in which to live.

Friendship Center as an organization is 13 years old, the Breakfast Club idea originated to give more persons a chance to gain benefits from the program. Judge Benjamin Scheinman has steered the group for 12 of those years. Dr. Paul Fisher is now the president, formerly principal of Jefferson High and now principal of Washington High School. Program chairman for Sunday will be Mrs. Faustina N. Johnson former program chairman, and Mrs. Mary Hunt, prominent social worker will assist. The combination of Hunt and Johnson has always prompted interesting programs and we feel sure this one will keep up their standard.

Do come out and have a cup of coffee and a breakfast roll with us that we might meet you and you meet us that we might carry out the plan and program of the United Nations, that all people will gain the peace we crave through a better understanding of each other and a deep respect for their cultural contribution to our nation. Let us see you there, Jefferson High School, corner of Hooper Ave. and 41st St.

EUROPE AS I SAW IT

The following is the fifth installment of a series of articles to be printed by THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE, describing the experiences, impressions, and first-hand knowledge gained by Charlotta Bass on a two-months' tour of three European countries—France, Czechoslovakia, and Russia.

Prague, Czechoslovakia, seems to be the home of palaces. I can scarcely describe to you how splendid they are, how beautiful. Yet they tell a tale that is sad—of the profits from serfdom in feudal times although they show at the same time the high individual standard of the builders who were for centuries apart from the citizen the only examples of the nobility and progress in art.

In Prague it was the palaces as well as the churches that made her imposing and establishing her architectural fame. Prague, says one admirer, was built of stone and mortar.

The Prague Castle is one you are sure to be shown. The Gothic Hall on the ground floor of the western part of the main block was built about 1400 A.D. Although its Romanesque subterranian hall was constructed during the second part of the 12th century. Its second story with its windows looking upon the town from the south was built in the nineties of the 15th century.

The Horsemen's Staircase of this same Prague Castle was built in the 16th century. It is approached from the outside through a portal on the Church of All Saints and enabled horsemen to ride directly into the hall on festal occasions.

The Schwarzenberg Palace is now the Czechoslovakia Military Museum. It was built by an Italian master of architecture, beginning in 15—. There is a throng of buildings consisting of the main block with its perpendicular wing which together with the flanking buildings close the courtyard to the palace.

The ceiling of the corner hall on the second floor has many paintings. In the middle are Jupiter and Juno and in the four panels symbolic figures representing the four seasons. They are the work of an unknown artist around 17—.

The Archbishop's Palace contains the private chapel of St. John the Baptist, built in the 16th century. The paintings on the ceiling illustrate the story of St. John the Baptist.

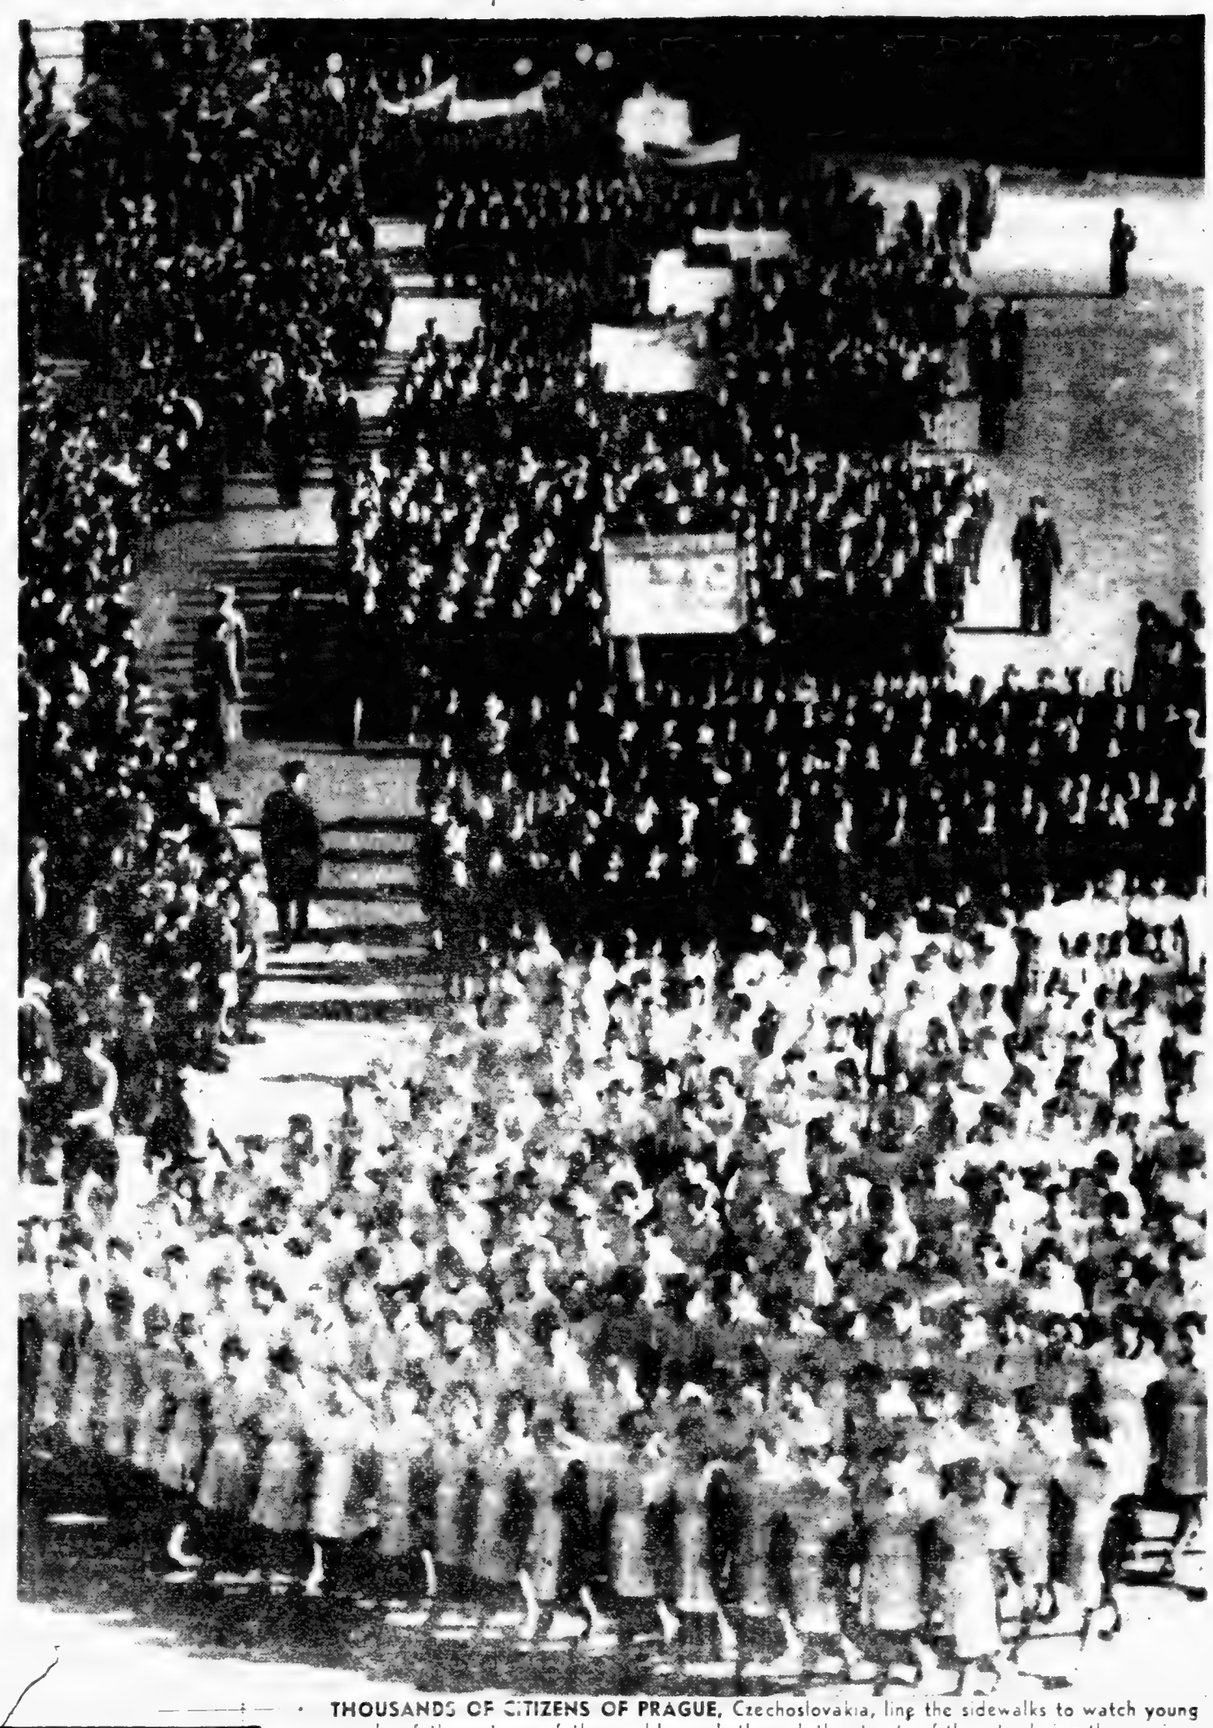
The Hrzan Palace is now a block of flats. It was built about 1585. The irregular three winged building is a combination of elements taken from both Italian and Dutch architecture of the 16th century. The portal dates from about 1600.

The Thun Palace is now the Italian Palace in Prague. It is a terraced building with a courtyard connecting it with the other part of the palace facing the street. The ground floor rooms in this part of the palace were restored in the seventies of the 17th century.

The Martinic Palace is also a block of flats in Prague. It was built in the 16th century for the noble family of Martinic. It is a four-winged corner house. On the eastern wall of the courtyard can be seen remnants of the work from the period around 1600.

The Valdstein Palace is a single building of colossal dimensions containing five courtyards, extensive gardens. It is the oldest example of baroque secular architecture in Prague. The Great Hall occupies two floors of the building.

The Michna Palace is now the property of the Sokol organization. It was built in the 17th century, but it remained unfinished for a long time because of the lack of money. In the halls there are many rich stucco decorations, for the most part incomplete. On the ground floor are the joint emblems of Vaclav Michna and his wife. Over the first floor windows are busts of Roman emperors.



The Cernin Palace is today occupied by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in Prague. It was built in the late 17th century, but the portals and balcony were built in the 18th century. In 1851 the palace was converted into a barracks, and in 1928-34 was restored and enlarged for the Czechoslovak state. There are 30 pillars in the main front.

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia — On the 28th of October Czechoslovakia marked the 32nd anniversary of its existence. It was then that the Czech and Slovak people threw off the yoke of 300 years of foreign oppression, that of the Hapsburg rulers.

CHUNGKING—The commander of the 9th regiment of the Tinen-tan army, and his whole regiment revolted against their reactionary rulers October 11, New China News Agency disclosed.

ROME, Italy — Two million children are unable to attend school in Italy because of the lack of school rooms. Over 200,000 orphan children are deprived of all assistance, and 300,000 children predisposed to tuberculosis are not receiving care.

These facts were disclosed in Parliament last week by the member from Naples.

THOUSANDS OF CITIZENS OF PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, line the sidewalks to watch young people of the nations of the world march through the streets of the city during the sessions of the World's Students Congress last August. Keynote of the Congress was world peace and cooperation between all men of all nations.

VIENNESE ELECT DELEGATES

Delegates elected to represent the Austrian people at the World Peace Congress include peasants, workers, teachers and others. Among them is Communist Deputy Ernest Fischer. The Congress will be held in Sheffield, England, November 13-19.

Following the conference a torchlight parade of tens of thousands of Austrian youth marched to the Town Square where the famous bass fighter and film director Pudovkin addressed the gathering bringing greetings from the Soviet Union and the World Peace Council.

The Austrian Peace Council announced that 829,655 Austrians have signed the Stockholm Appeal so far.

GERMAN QUESTION

SOFIA—Describing the communique of the Prague Conference of Foreign Ministers as a document of "great importance," Bulgarian Communist Party organ "Rabotnichesko Delo" comments: "The German would not exist today if the governments of the United States and Britain as well as that of France had been guided in the course of the past five years by the Yalta and Potsdam Agreements."

Referring to the transformation of West Germany into an Anglo-American colony and "manoeuvring-ground for war," the paper says that the German Democratic Republic is a model for all honest Germans of the road by which Western Germany can find the way out of the deperate situation into which the Western powers have led her.

BASES IN INDIAN OCEAN

SIDNEY—The Australian government is cooperating with the South African government in setting up a chain of air bases in the Indian Ocean.

The Australian government is negotiating for the establishment of an "air station" on the Cocos Keeling islands in the mid-Indian Ocean. These islands already posses an airstrip built during the last war.

Last week the South African government sent an airforce detachment to Diego Garcia island to establish an airbase. The South African government is also developing similar bases on the islands of Tristan de Cunha in the South Atlantic Ocean and Marion and Prince Edward islands in the Indian Ocean.

AUSTRALIAN ANTI-COMMUNIST LAW

MELBOURNE, Tuesday — The first raids under Australia's new anti-Communist law were made on the Communist offices in Melbourne, Sydney and Darwin when quantities of books and papers were seized. The Sydney offices were subjected to a two-hour search, employees were questioned and police guards mounted at the entrances.

The anti-Communist law has already led to large-scale strike action and the threat of nation-wide tie ups should the government attempt to use it against Communist trade union leaders.

VIETNAMESE SUPPORT APPEAL

RANGOON—Even within the French-occupied areas of Viet Nam large gatherings have supported the Stockholm Appeal. In one occupied district of Viet Nam 6,000 people have signed the Appeal and in a district of Haidnong province 5,000 signed.

In the liberated areas all government departments have passed a resolution endorsing the Appeal and all staffs have signed. Then thousand people, including representatives of the Chinese and Indian communities, at a mass meeting in the Fourth inter-zone signed the appeal. Over 1,800 members of the headquarters of the Viet Minh League have put their signatures to the Appeal.

ROME—After 32 days of struggle the strike of the farmworkers in Pavia province has ended, an agreement having been signed with the landowners regarding land improvement, work projects, free medical assistance, and the withdrawal of eviction notices.

The victory of Pavia province farmworkers came a week after similar victories had been obtained by farmworkers who struck in three other provinces. At the height of the struggle approximately 200,000 farmworkers were involved.

NAZI WAR CRIMINALS TO BE RELEASED

Do We Need Such An Organiation?

This is an important question asked in an editorial printed in the November 4 issue of the Courier, reprinted and circulated by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The purport of the editorial is to call attention to the NAACP's effective work in making our government democratic to the end that every citizen regardless of color or race may enjoy the rights of citizenship guaranteed by the Federal Constitution. And also to make known its financial needs.

The National Association was born out of the need for Negro representation in labor, living conditions, and civil liberty.

Progressive whites who real[illegible] there could not be a free America in reality as long as one-tenth of the population remained in slavery, joined with Dr. W. E. B. DuBois in organizing the National Association with the hope as stated by the Courier, of [illegible] our society nearer to the goal of which our Constitution [illegible] "A more perfect [illegible] with liberty and justice for all."

For many years the whole Negro population looked to the National Association not as a political machine but the guiding [illegible] class citizenship and dignity for [illegible] citizens.

There is no stinting of support to the NAACP so long as this was the attitude of the organization. And it is outside of order to criticize in a derogatory way the NAACP that we suggest that this falling off of a whole-hearted support to the Association is due to its departure from a non-partisan to a belligerent side in political matters, both local and national.

Not only the National Association, but also Negro leaders in church, politics, and business who bid for Negro support in whatever line they are engaged, must show themselves ready to sacrifice selfishness for principle.

Such a position taken by the Association will insure it the support of all the people who will take pride in a fighting organization [illegible] the Negro people fighting for [illegible] and know such an organization.

The Fight Goes On

[illegible] matter who won what in [illegible] last Tuesday, the [illegible] in prison and [illegible] them still [illegible] may be a [illegible] now, since [illegible] not familiar with [illegible] seems to have [illegible] their voting [illegible] the Red-baiting [illegible] the persecution of [illegible] inaugurated four years ago.

But [illegible] not down. The ten men of Hollywood who went to prison because of their beliefs [illegible] as certain as [illegible] Penn or Roger Williams [illegible] even the martyrs who died because of their belief in God.

And they must be freed. Part of the campaign to free these men consists in writing letters to President Truman, in distributing literature telling their story, in showing films, in holding meetings, etc.

If you are interested, write the Committee to Free the Hollywood Ten, 1586 Crossroads of the World, Hollywood 28. Volunteer your services. Ask for literature. Write President Truman. Don't let them down. The fight must go on.

PLIGHT OF TANGANYIKA PEOPLE REVEALED

LONDON—In one area of Tanganyika alone, the Singside district, 1000 Africans died of starvation last winter.

This is just now revealed in a statement issued by the Northern Province Labour Utilization Board, covering the period between October 1949 and April 1950. In the same period the British authorities in Tanganyike admitted only 96 deaths due to famine.

75-Year-Old Janitor Dispenses Truth

Joesph Schaffer, of San Diego, recently sent a most moving communication to The California Eagle office — the kind that makes you feel life is worthwhile and the things we believe in are worth fighting for.

Mr. Schaffer is a retired janitor, 75 years old, living on a pension of $75 per month. But he has not retired so far as working for the benefit of mankind is concerned. During the last 30 years he has distributed over a million reprints! Walked up and down the streets of San Diego, talked to people, sent them by mail—little articles, as he said, "to help Americans to think straight and live right."

They are taken from magazines, newspapers, from anything he saw he thought would be worthwhile. And would help "Americans to think." They were reprinted on newspaper stock, and on each one Mr. Schaffer pasted a warning to all Americans: "America, Wake Up! Eternal Vigilance is the Price of Liberty!"

"My aim in life," says Mr. Schaffer, "is to help make civilization more civilized, and humanity more human and humane. My religion—the best way to serve God is to help our fellowman. For a servant of God must be a friend of man."

This friend to man keeps pounding away at the evils that seem to be overwhelming our government, and our responsibility in fighting those evils. Apropos of the present loyalty oath hysteria, the smear campaigns against anyone who dares to say we should have a government that cares a bit for the people of America, that we should have homes, jobs for all—an America where we have real freedom of speech and of the press, Mr. Schaffer circulates a story about Thomas Jefferson.

An editor who had libelled Jefferson was arrested. But as soon as Jefferson heard of it, he ordered him to be released at once. "It is much better that I be libeled, even infamously," said Jefferson, "than that the rights granted all of our people should be jeopardized in the slightest degree."

Wouldn't that be something for our judges and members of the board of regents for California universities, to think about.

Another story one of of Mr. Schaffer's leaflets tells is that of a judge in Philadelphia who ordered the arrest of some Dies Committee agents anda detective for raiding Communist headquarters in that city!

Of course that happened several years ago when the hysteria wasn't quite so bad. Nevertheless the comment of the judge is as good for today as it was then: "Tolerance. Tolerance on all sides is what we need today. We know the hatreds, both class and racial, that have been engendered. We see many terrible things being done today. We see editors being jailed for upholding the freedom of the press. I can only fervently hope that we in this country do not sacrifice liberty on the altar of patriotism.

"Not to issue the warrants (for the arrest of the Dies' Committee agents) in this case would be to put the seal of approval on what has ben done."

Finally Mr. Schaffer has issued an admonition all America should heed. He says: Americans! Remember Your Rights! But Don't Forget Your Duties! To Vote is more than a Right. It is a Duty!"

The danger to America is not from without so much as it is from within—in the apathy and indifference of the American people to their duty to vote and thus take a part in American government.

Were there more of us, old or young, who were like this 75-year-old sage of San Diego! May he enjoy many more years of usefulness, and may his tribe increase!

The Democrats Are Out

According to election returns, which are coming in slowly, the 82nd Congress will be controlled by Republicans.

Although the Republicans have not won a majority of seats in either the House or the Senate, the margin is so close that with the help of their friends, the Dixiecrats of the South, they can put over any legislation they choose. They were virtually doing that the past year anyway. Now it will be far easier. At this writing the Democrats have 49 seats in the Senate, the Republicans 47. In the House there will be 237 Democrats and 197 Republicans.

Not enough of a majority to do business.

The Republicans are taking these election results as a mandate from the people to increase their Red-baiting, and to persecute even more the progressive forces in America.

We differ with them very much. We feel that the Democratic candidates should have ignored the Red-baiting tactics of their opponents. Instead of that they shouted louder even than the Republicans, in some cases, that they were "against Communism" and "against anything leftish."

Of course the people were confused. And having been told that Communism is a product of the devil, that is atheistic, and scores of other lies, by both parties, they naturally decided in favor of those candidates who promised the biggest fight in getting rid of this evil.

Being on the outside now, the Democrats will have time within the next two years to revise their teachings, to go back once more to the principles of Jefferson and Madison and Jackson, of Woodrow Wilson and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

We believe if these principles are given to the people, not as propaganda, but as truths that form a part of the fundamentals of our Constitution and our government, the Democrats may win as sweeping a victory in 1952 as the Republicans did this year of 1950.

The people of America are not interested in their government. They must be made interested. But they will not care a whoop which side wins so long as each simply tries to outdo the other in slinging mud.

China's Greatest Need—Peace

Can Communist China win a war against United Nations? Will she fight one? Or can she be induced to stay out?

These questions, vital to avoidance of World War III, can be answered. Not by a MacArthur scorn for "Oriental mentality" and not by the myth of an omnipresent Moscow devil pulling all strings. The answer lies in cool analysis of recent facts and China's interests, as they appear to a Mao Tse-tung.

Salient military facts which at first seem contradictory are:

1. Mao Tse-tung was all set to take Formosa last summer; he disassembled his invading force under American threat.

2. Mao might have intervened in Korea much earlier and with, it seems, easier success. Commentators agreed that Chinese armies, reinforcing North Koreans when these were closing around Pusan, might have pushed MacArthur's small expedition into the sea. Mao refrained; why and how far does he intervene now?

3. Mao's armies were poised on Tibetan borders a year ago when the Dalai Lama was expelling Chinese lamas and closing the Chinese schools and when India's armies were policing Tibet's trade-routes. Peking's radio shrieked of the "Indian plot to annex Tibet," which was part of the Chinese empire for centuries. Why did Mao's army wait a year to invade the world's highest mountain in the teeth of winter snows?

The military mind thinks these things contradictory. "Nehru's negotiations failed; Moscow gave orders," they explain. But a simpler explanation may lie in other facts which to Mao Tse-tung condition all military facts. They are China's economic and political needs.

China's first need is peace. She has been torn by wars for forty years, since the Empire fell in 1911. She needs peace to reconstruct her land. For only one thing would it pay to jeopardize peace, for the integrity and independence of the Chinese land in its right to build. If this is lost, then peace is eventually lost too.

So Mao Tse-tung accepted loss of face over Formosa, which is not essential to China's economy; he stopped armies on the edge of Tibet and kept out of adventures in Korea. For peace was more needed by China than any of these.

But when MacArthur's armies came to the big power plants on the Yalu River that serve the Manchurian industry, they ran into a "Chinese ambush." This surprised MacArthur, whose distain for the "Oriental mind" doubtless precluded a study of Mao's book on strategy written some fifteen years ago. Any revolutionary leader in Asia, for whom that book is a classic, could have predicted the American debacle at the Yalu plants.

Did MacArthur really think a Peking government could watch idly while those powerplants fell into his hands? Did he think Mao Tse-tung had not noticed that while MacArthur was destroying all of North Korean industrial establishments, those power plants were spared? Would Mao be unduly suspicious if he thought America spared those plants in order to use them later—to control Manchurian industry? This was a normal American technique in both recent big wars.

Could Peking rely on the benevolence of an America which had not recognized her government, but which had spent four to six billion dollars in trying to keep Mao Tse-tung from power? Could Peking trust assurances from a United Nations—these have not been given—which did not admit her to membership? The answer, from Mao Tse-tung's standpoint, must be: "Certainly not!"

Even then Peking did not intervene officially. There were merely noted many Chinese "volunteer." This tactics, which the out-general led and irate MacArthur called "one of the most offensive acts of international lawlessness in history," may have been seen by Peking as a last attempt to keep from all-out war. To hope to keep those power plants without having to fight World War III for them may be offensive "Oriental mentality" but it has precedents in many Occidental acts. No doubt Peking hopes the business may yet be negotiated through United Nations, but its decisions have not encouraged her. So she keeps her hand on the power-plants, just in case.

In any case negotiation is still in order; Mao saw to that by avoiding a declared intervention. And the matter is up to the United Nations still. Nehru saw this months ago when he said China must be admitted to the Security Council before Korea could be settled properly.

If war widens, who will win in Manchuria? The U.N. which in practise means the forces America can commit plus Japan and some help from a reluctant Europe? Or China with five million armed men on the ground? This brings us to consider China's economy, as it has developed in the past year.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Dear Mr. Anonymous Letter Writer:

This is in reply to a letter that was received in this office, not signed, but whose author evidently objects to having the EAGLE run ads such as "Buy More Bonds" in its advertising columns.

This, "you must know," says Mr. or Mrs. or Miss Anonymous, "means lending money to the filthy war. Makes you profess to be working against that which is working directly against the welfare of all Ameriacns, especially of the colored people of all the world."

That's a subject ALL newspapers must face. Advertising is the life-blood of a newspaper. Unless it is fortunate enough to have someone who will be responsible for ist existence without advertising. The EAGLE, unfortunately, is not one of those newspapers which has some "Good Angel" responsible for its debts, and it has no one who will go out on the streets and solicit funds to keep it going.

Therefore it must depend upon the "filthy lucre" it can collect through its advertising media.

In its editorial columns, however, the EAGLE, as do all newspapers, acquaint its readers of its position on the important questions of the day.

Read the editorials if you wish to know what any newspaper thinks. How it tries to influence it's readers' thinking. Read the editorials of The Times, The Examiner, for instance. Then compare these with what the EAGLE says. They are as different as midnight is from noon. Read, and act accordingly.

We sincerely wish we could restrict our advertising only to those people who agree in every detail with us. But since we cannot do so, and since Mr. or Mrs. or Miss Anonymous has offered us no suggestions, we fear we shall have to struggle along even as we have done before.

Dear Mrs. Bass:

The minority groups within our country, and the Negro people in particular have been for generations subjected to the indignities and insults of a National Jim Crow policy. This has resulted into keeping the Negro people in the lowest rung of the economic, political and social ladder, which means that we, more than any other people must remain in that one-third of the nation which is poorly clothed, poorly fed and poorly housed, and finally it means poor health and a life which is ten years short of the American Standard of life's span.

This vicious Jim Crow system is fostered, advocated and protected by our National government. Among the examples of the National government carrying on Jim Crow is the city government in Washington, D. C., the discrimination in the several government agencies, in the Armed Forces, in the Panama Canal Zone, etc.

We therefore have organized th National Committee to Abolish Jim Crow. This committee shall be a committe of individuals whose aim and purpose shall be to organize and mobilize all of the anti-Jim Crow forces for a continuous and increasing effort to have the government abolish its national Jim Crow policy. Our efforts shall neither stop nor cease until the Negro people have been freed from this Jim Crow system and accorded full citizenship.

We will soon start a campaign to secure millions of signatures demanding that Congress act to end Jim Crow now.

Commission in Western Germany. They include 16 who were originally sentenced to death but whose execution was constantly being postponed by their American patrons.

MORGAN MAGNATE IN INDONESIA

CALCUTTA — The Indonesian government of Dr. Mohammed Natsir is under heavy criticism from Indonesian industrial circles for continuing the policy of his predecessor Hatta ,the present Vice President, of complete subjugation of Indonesia's economy to the interests of American capital.

Particular heavy storms of criticism have now been raging for some time around the person of Matthew Fox, an American big business man, described as the "finanial power behind the Jakarta throne."

A former Hollywood film chief and a high executive in the mammoth and vastly influential Morgan-controlled "Chase National Bank," Fox has managed to become virtual economic dictator of Indonesia through his trade contract with the government of the United States of Indonesia of 1948.

ROME — About 14 families, comprising 64 persons, were evicted Monday in Rome from the improvised shelters which have been their home for the last eight months.

They have been thrown out to make way for the building of new shops.

Among those victimised are 31 children and four war-disabled veterans.

WAR PREPARATIONS IN SPAIN

PARIS—In the village of Almugnecar in Cramada, Spain, the Civil Guard recently murdered two peasants whom they suspected of being liaison agents of the guerrillas, "L" Humanite" reports. Inthe Province of Corunna, 33 anti-fascists were arrested.

The paper also reports that war preparations in Spain are being speeded up. Important work has been begun in the port of Bilba involving credits of 47 million pesetas.

KINGSTON, Jamaica—A bill has been introduced in Jamaica's legislature which empowers the government of that British colony to imprison people without trial. A largely-attended protest meeting under the auspices of the Committee on Human Rights was recently held here. It is understood that the trade union movement and the People's National Party are backing the protest.

GUATEMALA—Colonel Elfego Monzon, who suppressed the Communist weekly "Octubre" and closed down the Marxist school "Jacobo Sanchez," has been forced to resign following an overwhelming censure vote by the Guatemalan congress. Workers organizations have also been demanding Monzon's resignation.

RIO DE JANEIRO — [illegible] from Santiago [illegible] that several [illegible] parties, have signed an agreement against the policies of Dictator Gonzalez Videla's Government.

The parties involved are the Socialist Party of Chile, the National Democratic Party, the Movement of Radical Doctrine, and the Communist Party.

The agreement demands the annulment of the reactionary laws, especially the anti-Communist bill which bans the Communist Party and other progressive organizations. The four parties will form a "bloc" of "People's Political Parties."

2000 DELEGATES TO ATTEND SHEFFIELD PEACE CONGRESS

LONDON—Over 2000 delegates from all parts of the world are expected to attend the World Peace Congress at Sheffield.

Ivor Montagu stated on behalf of the committee that many famous personalities would be attending, among them Soviet composer Shostakovitch, Chilean poet Pablo Neruda, Professor Haverman, pianist Halina Stefanska, Professor Kulcinski rector of Wroclaw University, the Chinese Minister of Culture, Brazilian poet Amlo Wodow, Czechoslovak resistance heroines Madame Fuchikova and Madame Hodinova and ten Mongolian delegates, the first Mongolians to visit Britain.

Delegates from 20 countries have already applied for visas.

LABOR —ON— THE MARCH

MR. CIO HIMSELF.

Phil Murray is out in front, and he absorbs most of the prestitge and some of the work, but the real kingpin in the CIO is Allan Hayward. As vice-president and director of organization of the CIO, Haywood scoots all over the nation, doing the dirty work that has earned him the title of "director of the sewer department."

John M. Lee

Proud of his dubious title, Haywood recently submitted to a profile in a national magazine. The cold words of the article, set down with some levity and much license, give a clear impression of what happened to the CIO. In essence it points out that what most workers considered to be a well-knit labor force, is in reality a cozy little dictatorial dynasty set up for the benefit of four or five men.

Characterized as the "CIO's Hatchet Man," Haywood exists only for frequent swigs of Scotch whisky, and a juicy little job of cracking down on "intra-union fights and too-ambitious labor leaders." Haywood believes, according to the magazine article, "that the labor movement will die with him."

And well it might. For the strange machinery of that labor organization is geared to operate solely on a personal basis. There is no feeling of affinity with the rank and file—no flavor of sweating workers in the deathless prose set down in the name of Allan Haywood.

On the payroll for $12,500 a year, in addition to an expense account that could easily triple that amount, Haywood has on his staff of 235 men a large number of old and worn-out assistants who have only a sentimental value to him. Their pay checks come out of the dues paid by the wage-slaves whom Haywood jockeys and manipulates as though they were little men fashioned out of putty.

An inveterate traveler (at union expense, naturally), Haywood is either talking ceaselessly as he heads for his destination—or just talking. Distance is no obstacle to him, and he boasts of his 10 to 15 cross-country telephone calls daily. He has permitted it to be written in this capsule biography of his trade union life and usefulness, that he once called from London (at $3.75 a minute) to give boss-man Phil Murray a detailed report on a "nice turkey-and-stuffing dinner" he had just eaten.

Coming out of the hide of hard-pressed workers, as does every dime that Haywood collects for salary and spends out of his impressive expense account, it is a tribute to the man's brazen contemptuousness for the workers that he allows such evidence of his self-indulgence to appear on the record.

Much of Haywood's talents are employed in bringing back into the CIO fold the many thousands of formerly CIO rank and filers who have been expelled with their unions on the old fascist-devised red-baiting charge. Actually, Haywood is trying to capture the masses without their leaders, who have long been wise to the country club aspect of top CIO officialdom.

A "hack" by his own admission, Haywood is admirably suited for the task of handing Phil Murray a laugh between union-busting and patching-up assignments. But there are laughs for Haywood, too, and not the least of his mirth-provokers is one Michael Mann, a member of the hatchet man's staff. Haywood gets a big laugh out of Mann because, as the magazine article states, "Mann is a subject of great hilarity in the CIO because he is an authentic Dublin-born Irish Jew." That's the punch line. "He's an authentic Dublin-born Jew."

Tongue-in-cheek, I am sure, Haywood's slick-magazine biographer tells the world that the "director of the sewer department" operates by what an intellectual associate calls "the Pavlov-dog, or conditioned reflex theory of trade unionism." It can be said here parenthetically that few rank and filers can make that claim.

Expounding further on the great trade unionist, the magazine writer continues: "If Phil Murray told Allan (Haywood) he could best benefit the labor movement by jumping off the Fourteenth Street bridge at 6 o'clock tomorrow morning, Haywood would be there at 6 and ready to jump."

It is a great temptation to request Murray to give the order and hold his devoted hatchet man's hand while it was being carried out. Or maybe he'd do it for a group of workers if they asked him. It's worth trying.

POTPOURRI

MISS LIBERTY

A folder, "Should Miss Liberty Be Deported?", dealing with the case of Peter Harisiades, Greek-American, who is facing deportation, has been issued by the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born, it was announced last week by the Committee.

"Miss Liberty is a 'foreigner.' She was born in France and came to the United States in 1868. She symbolizes the ideals which the Department of Justice today regards as 'subversive' and grounds for deportation," the folder states. "She represents the ideas of freedom and equality which the Justice Department is trying to make illegal for non-citizens and naturalized citizens to advocate.

"AMERICAN SLAVERY AUCTIONS STILL EXIST

99 per cent of all defense jobs are being sold at high excessive fees by private employment agencies who claim to believe in the Constitution and the Bill of Rights. No American can believe in the American "Way of Life," if he is required to buy his right and honor to work in behalf of national defense. All employment agencies that charge for defense jobs should be closed up for the duration of our national defense program.

METHODIST EDITOR PRAISES RIDOUT WORK

Medical Foundation Calls For United Campaign Against Bias

In a letter to the Medical Council of the Arts, Sciences and Professions referring to acts of bias against Mr. and Mrs. J. Rambo by the Queen of Angels Hospital, the Community Medical Foundation this week urged ASP to embark on "a united campaign of all liberal and progressive medical people to once and for all break down the evils of segregation and discrimination which exist in every hospital in Los Angeles County." The Foundation is the parent organization of the Community Medical Center located at 5503 S. Broadway, Los Angeles.

The letter from the Foundation, which was signed by Ken Hartford, executive director, pointed out that "the fight against discrimination cannot end with the Queen of Angels Hospital and the discrimination against Mrs. Rambo. Every member and every officer of your organization practicing medicine in a Los Angeles hospital is by that practice associated with a hospital that discriminates against minority group people in one way or another. Your organization is thus in a position to carry a program against discrimination into these hospitals. A firm stand by the doctors connected with these institutions would be very effecting in convincing the institutions to take another look at their policies in regard to minority group patients and minority group staff members."

The letter indicated that all too often doctors failed to take such a stand, and that a program of education among doctors in regard to discrimination was essential.

Hartford stated that he was aware that the Medical Council of ASP had been for some time compiling information regarding discrimination in health agencies in Los Angeles, and hoped that once it is compiled it will be used as the basis for launching a campaign against the county-wide evil of discrimination in health agencies.

He stated that "while the Community Medical Foundation was established solely to provide good medical care at low cost and without discrimination as to race, color or creed, it will find the means to be of practical assistance in any real program against discrimination in health agencies which your organization, or any other, choses to develop."

"To this end, the letter continued, we propose that representatives of both organizations get together to take this matter out of the letter-writing stage and into the stage of practical cooperation in relation to a program of mutual interest and concern."

IS THIS THE TRUTH?

William L. Patterson, National Executive Secretary of the Civil Rights Congress and outstanding Negro leader, made the following broadcast recently over the Prague, Czechoslovakia, radio. He called it, "The Truth Has Made Them Free."

President Lincoln, one of the truly great presidents of the United States once said that "you can fool some of the people all of the time, and all of the people some of the time, but you can't fool all of the people all of the time." This truism holds exceedingly good in so far as the facts of life in Eastern Europe are concerned. Millions of people, particularly in the United States are now being fooled at a terrible cost to them about economic, political and social developments and conditions in the People's Republics of Hungary and Czechoslovakia. When they wake up, those who have fooled them will pay dearly.

I speak significantly of Hungary and Czechoslovakia because I have spent the last few weeks in these marvelously-changed and growing countries. I say that the people of the West are being deceived at a terrible cost to themselves; because if they knew the truth they could only demand the immediate resumption of the most peaceful and friendly relations. If normal peaceful relations were resumed (not the kind exposed by the trials of the British and American saboteurs and spies, Criger and Vogeler in Hungary) these Republics now controlled by the people would provide markets for billions of dollars worth of machinery as well as of consumer goods. This and not a war program is the secret of full and lasting employment.

These countries are free and they are in the hands of governments controlled by the people. There is abundant proof of these facts. Homes are being built everywhere and they are being built for the workers, for those

Hollywood String Quartet In Opening Concert This Sunday

The Hollywood String Quartet, which comprises four of the Southland's most outstanding instrumentalists—Felix Slatkin and Paul Shure, violins; Paul Robyn, viola; Eleanor Aller, cello — begins its 1950-51 season with the firstof three concerts in the Assistance League Playhouse on Sunday evening, November 12.

The program to be presented by this unique ensemble will be highlighted by the West Coast premiere performance of the Quartet No. 2 by the contemporary French composer Henri Sauget.

The concert will open with a performance by the Hollywood String Quartet with Beethoven's Quartet Op. 18 No. 1, which was the first work in this form ever written by the great German master. Final work of the evening will be the Brahms Quartet in C minor, Op. 51, No. 1.

Appegios AND Gussandos

The story is told of the man who saw Hamlet for the first time. When asked how he had liked the performance, he replied, "Oh ,all right, I suppose, but the play seems to be made up of nothing but familiar quotations." This could easily apply to Rigoletto. At first glance this lovable old opera, Verdi's first to win him a cornerstone in the standard repertoire, appears to be no more than a succession of favorite tunes, La Donna e Mobile, Caro Nome, and the Quartet heading the list.

On March 11, 1851, Rigoletto, on its first performance, was a tremendous success. The first American performance was less than four years after its premiere, Feb. 9, 1855, at the Academy of Music in New York. It entered the repertoire of the Metropolitan when the opera house was less than a month old, Nov. 17, 1883. Caruso made his North American debut ,opening the Metropolitan season of 1903-04, as the gay and unprincipled Duke.

RIGOLETTO

In the first act the Duke comes forward accompanied by one of his courtiers, Borsa, whom he tells of the pretty girl he has lately been pursuing, who lives in an obscure by-way, in a house to which a mysterious man is admitted each evening. The Duke sings a gay song, in which he professes his contempt for the lovers who remain faithful to one love, his own rele is that of the bee who goes sipping from flower to flower: Then to the courtly strains of a minuet the Duke makes love to the Countess of Ceprano, and as the pair go out arm in-arm, Rigoletto makes malicious sport of the fretful Ceprano, the husband. The Duke warns Rigoletto that some day his mocking tongue will get him into trobule; the "Vendetta" is the cry of the courtiers.

LET'S GO BOWLING

Now is the time that almost everyone is trying to surmise just who will play in the big bowl out in Pasadena next January 1st. Glancing at the schedule of the teams who have a chance to make the grade, we come up with the not so startling prediction that The California Golden Bears will face the Badgers of Wisconsin in a game which should finally see the Westerners victorious. California has defeated Wisconsin soundly in each of the past two years.

It is not assumed that the Badgers will win the Big Ten title, however. That honor should go to Ohio State for the second straight year. The Buckeyes, who are now leading the nation in scoring with 257 points for an average of 43 per game, are not eligible to make the trip two years in succession due to Big Ten regulations. The desirability of this rule has been discussed at length elsewhere and probably will be changed somewhat when the negotiations are made for renewal of the pact.

Along with Wisconsin, Illinois and Michigan also have a chance at the Rose Bowl assignment. All three at the present have lost one game and figure to lose at least one more as each must still play Ohio State. Assuming that all other games are won, Wisconsin will finish with a 5-2 record, Illinois with a 4-2 and Michigan with a 3-2-1. The Badgers will therefore sport the best record percentage wise and what is more they also hold a 7-6 victory over Illinois. Hence Wisconsin will be the choice unless the representatives decide that one of the other schools should go. This is possible since there is no rule stating that any particular team must be chosen.

Wisconsin must still get by Minnesota, Illinois by Iowa and Northwestern, and Michigan by Indiana and Northwestern; each in addition to playing Ohio State for the above situation to exist. Inasmuch as Illinois and Michigan have already made the trip once and the general tendency seems to be spread the games around, it looks from this corner that Wisconsin has the inside track.

IT'S CAL ON THIS END

On the Pacific Coast only U. C. L. A. and Stanford stand in the way of California taking its second straight trip to Pasadena. Should the Bears lose one of these games, it is doubtful that they would make it since the race could end in a two or three way tie for first place and the Bears would probably lose out in the voting. This due to the fact that Washington would be one of these tied, if they get by SC and in a vote would probably control all of the Northwest's five votes. Another factor in the voting which would favor the Huskies also is that in case of a tie vote the team away from home the longest would get the bid. In this case Washington U. C. L. A. got into the voting by defeating both the Bears and Stanford, something they don't usually do. However, for the above reasons they too would lose out in the voting. Washington has not been to the Rose Bowl since 1944.

Looking at the standings we find Idaho in second place at the present time but they only play three Conference games this year and would not be voted in under those circumstances. Oregon State plays the Vandals this week and should eliminate the possibility of Idaho in the Rose Bowl. Perhaps it isn't such a bad idea at that. Since the Big Ten doesn't send their best, why should we? The game wouldn't make any money, but that would show 'em, wouldn't it?

UCLA faces UCLA this week at Berkeley and with the return of Dave Williams returning to the starting lineup the Bears should have no end of trouble from the Uclans. However, other injuries to the Bruins will minimize their chances of victory.

Look for the Bears to roll over the Bruins Saturday and over Stanford two weeks later and then into the Rose Bowl for a third try at the Big Ten. This time they should turn the trick.

Johnny Bright Close To Record

Johnny Bright, Drake University's sensational Negro halfback, came to within 17 yards of a new national record for total offense Saturday as he accounted for 436 yards as his team defeated Bradley 42-14.

The 200-pound junior boosted his total yardage gained to 2171, only 16 short of the record 2187 set by Frankie Sinkwich of Georgie in 11 games in 1942. Drake has played only eight games thus far this season and with one more game to go, Bright is certain to set a new record.

Jim Knight Presented Kentucky AAU Trophy

James Knight, Kentucky State College Sophomore from Milwaukee was awarded the Kentucky AAU Trophy as the outstanding athlete of the year from Kentucky at ceremonies held Tuesday in Hume Hall at the college. Earl Ruby, Sports Editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal in making the presentation, said that the award was made not by fan mail as a popularity feature but had to be earned by the man himself. The award was given to Knight for his outstanding achievement during the year. He was one of the high scorers in basket ball among the nation's small colleges. He was top Basket Ball Scorer in the Mid-west Athletic Association. Knight won the Midwest Conference Broad Jump Championship, the Ohio AAU Broad Jump Championship, the National Championship Junior Broad Jump Championship and was fifth in the National Senior Broad Jump.

Walter Kalish, President of Kentucky AAU and general manager of the Reynolds Aluminites Basket Ball team, in praising Knight, paid tribute to Coach C. "Randy" Taylor for his part in developing Knight. Ruby also complimented the coach and the school for the spirit exhibited.

Knight in accepting the trophy thanked the committee and pledged to work harder to the end that he might bring yet greater honors to the State of Kentucky and to Kentucky State College.

Bowling Notes
By Lewis Russ

It was upset after upset in the Atomic Mixed Foursome League Monday night at the Harlem Sport Center. Top teams were left sprawling all over the place as the underdogs came through with some slam bang games.

Shelton Ball Bonds pounded but not shining and could as an ice berg in sub zero weather were walloped and tumbled out of the League lead. Team 5 pounding the wood and spilling the sticks upset Sheltons three games to none to move up in top spot. Art Harold tore up timber and piled up the stiff shooting a 231 game and a 556 series. Cleo Ching grooved the logs for a good 539 series.

Busy Needle got busy and piped off the lumber to upset Fleishman's clothiers two games to one. Harold Johnson burning up the lanes topped the league with a 245 high game and a 596 high series. Bob Williams of Fleishman's tried with a 212 game and a 573 series.

Tommy Brown, Garcia's Super Service Bowlerette, was in super form. She spilled the maple and stacked it up to top the women with a 207 high game and a 561 high series. Her team scooted over temptation Drive Inn two games to one.

Rogers Credit Tops the Sunset League

In the thriller diller games the hard hitting Rogers Credit team mowing down the lumber tripped over power house Roberson Motel two games to one Friday night to take possession of top spot. Chuck Downs chucked down the timber for a 212 game and a high 562 series. Ed McFall of Roberson rolled a good 223 game.

Benjamin's Cleaners in a dull series downed Empire Furniture two games to one. Lloyd Henry sparked the win shooting a 221 game and a 534 series.

Eddie Benson of Garrett's Sports blasted the logs for a high 225 game and a 534 series. However, his team lost to Personal Linen two games to one. Arthur Harold rolled a 528 series.

It looked like a bunch of tired bowlers Friday night as scores were low and average wilted. It could have been either the heat or the five cent (.05) boost per game the management has mentioned. Floyd Lawrence, Los Angeles President of the National Bowling Association says, "The raise is ridiculous and the leagues will not pay the increase."

OFFENSIVE STAR: Frank Ensley, a scatting half-pint getaway man whose brilliant dashes early in the season made the first down payment on Glum Eddie Robinson's rose colored glasses, will spark Grambling's "T"-formation attack in the Prairie View game Nov. 11. Now in his senior year, "Frisky" Frank is a change-of-pace-nifty who should hit the jackpot plenty before he's through.

Freeze On For Pan-Pacific Ice Skating

Jack Frost, the mythical character who goes about freezing the exposed portions of mankind's anatomy as well as producing the world's supply of ice and snow, is coming to Los Angeles.

To be more specific and not to confuse this news with a weather report, Mr. Frost is coming to Pan Pacific Auditorium where he will freeze an ice surface measuring 110 by 300 feet, which makes it the world's largest sheet of artificial ice. Mr. Frost's effort will then be used for ice skating by the general public.

Following the grand opening on Friday evening, Nov. 10 daily sessions will be held at 2:30 and 8 p.m. with special morning sessions on Saturday, Sunday and holidays at 10 a.m.

Sugar Ray May Fight in Paris

Ray Robinson, world welterweight champion, has agreed to sail for Paris to fight Jean Stock, French middleweight states Gilbert Denaro, Parisian matchmaker.

The fight will be held at the Sports Palace on Nov. 27. Benaim said and Robinson is to sail from New York Nov. 11 on the French liner Liberte. Robinson's manager, George Gainsford was said to have cabled acceptance of terms last week.

Detroit's Triplett Called By Army

Wally Triplett, the Detroit Lion halfback who made so many long kickoff and punt returns against the L. A. Rams two weeks ago, has been ordered to report to his draftboard in Jenkintown, Pa. for induction into the Army. He had previously passed his physical examination in September.

The Joe Louis, James Braddock world's Heavyweight Championship fight in 1937 will be shown on Television tonight at 10:45 following the Wrestling matches on station KTLA, channel 5.

Florida A and M Ranked as One of Top Negro Teams

TALLAHASSEE—Florida A and M College is currently riding the crest of a six game winning streak, and is ranked as one of the top Negro gridiron teams in the country.

Texas College, Genedict College, Ft. Valley, Morris Brown, North Carolina A and T College, and Bethune-Cookman College have fallen before the mighty Rattlers. The Orange and Green toppled four previously unbeaten teams on successive weekends—Benedict, A and T, Morris Brown and Bethune.

The key to this year's highly successive record is thought by sports writers to stem from the terrific line play—both defensive and offensive. Giant Rattler Captain Charles Maloney of West Palm Beach, rated the number one tackle in Negro football, has spearheaded the vicious onslaughts of the defensive line. And on the other hand Alphonso Varner, who doubles on both offense and defense, another West Palm Beach product, has opened the gates for the speedy backs of Coach A. S. Gaither.

Globetrotter Ace Was Only Acting

CHICAGO—Answering sympathetic inquiries from thousands of television fans who saw Bill (Rookie) Brown make what appeared to be a painful exit from the game in which the Harlem Globetrotters defeated the New York Celtics at Madison Square Garden, Owner Abe Saperstein has pinned a bulletin on his door which reads:

"Bill Brown's 'relapse' was not a physical collapse.
He is in perfect condition."

The bulletin is really a testimonial to Brown's ability as a movie actor.

In the fourth quarter of the Garden game, 18,000 fans, plus thousands more via television, saw Brown go sprawling on the floor, his face wracked with pain. He was carried off the floor, cringing in agony while the spectators in the jam-packed Garden looked on in utter silence.

There was, of course, considerable anxiety over Brown's condition afterward. It was not his fault, however. It must be laid to the ingenuity of the crack cameramen from Columbia Pictures who are following the Globetrotters around the country shooting realistic scenes for the forthcoming movie on the famous team.

Brown has the leading male role in the script. Before the game he was instructed to give a dramatic interpretation of an injured player. He was told to pretend he was injured. He did such an excellent job that it fooled everyone, including Saperstein. The Hollywood camermen, however, had a field day, getting some of their best shots for the movie.

After the game, Saperstein said: "He even fooled me. I thought Brown was really hurt. He certainly is a good actor. The fans will see what I mean when the movie is shown around the country."

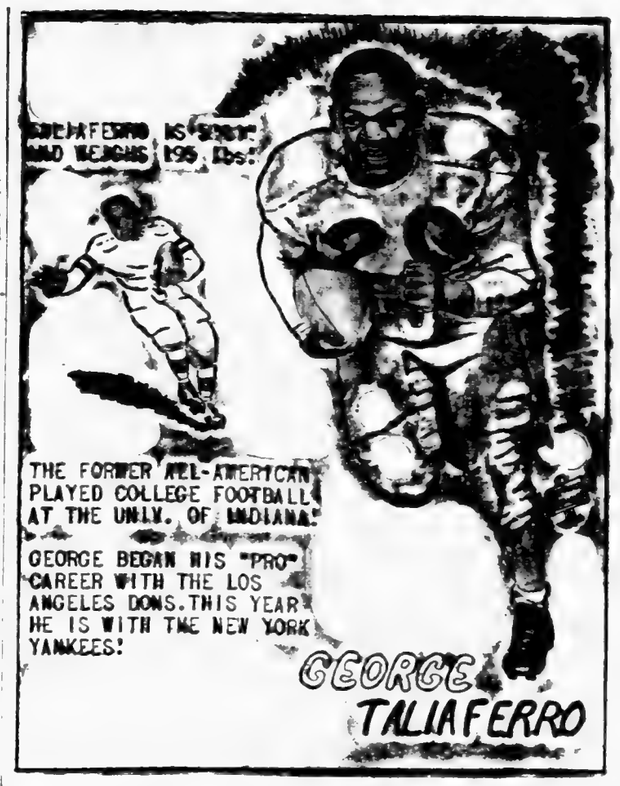
Pan Again Opens For Public Skating

Public ice skating, on the world's largest indoor surface, will be resumed at Pan Pacific Auditorium tomorrow night, the first time in ten years that the entire area has been given over to the blade sport.

Measuring 110 by 300 feet, the 33,000 square feet artificial pond is more than double the area used for ice shows or ice hockey.

Following tomorrow's grand opening at 8 p.m. daily sessions will be held at 2:30 and 8 p.m., with special morning sessions on Saturday, Sunday and holidays at 10.

Lyman H. Johnson, executive vice-president of Pan Pacific, points out that ice making has been going on for the past three days and the thickness is now close to two inches. He also said that special concessions will be given groups wishing to skate.



Red Cross Services

Red Cross financial assistance to wives and families of active servicemen during the month of September "almost tripled that reported a year ago," Chapter Chairman Clarence S. Beesemyer reported last week.

"Military action in Korea, involving the induction of reservists and a speed-up in drafting men into service, has been clearly reflected in the Home Service Department's month-by-month report covering the past year," Beesemyer said.

Red Cross' financial assistance includes payment of rent, food, clothing, and other basic needs, as well as such emergency costs as doctor and hospital bills where the need is proven, Beesemyer explained.

Basic need expenditures are carried by Red Cross until Government family allotment checks are received—"usually several weeks after induction."

Negro Players Help Pro Footall Teams

Professional football team owners are cashing in on the popularity of Negro players, who draw thousands of fans through the turnstiles whenever they carry the ball. Like the baseball owners, the color line was smashed in pro gridiron circles a few years ago, and today 18 Negroes are playing on seven league teams, while six teams still are lily-white.

Claiming that Negro players can be found in hundreds of small colored colleges in the south, Al White, writing in the December issue of OUR WORLD points out that this is a fertile field, if properly exploited by big team owners. Two decades ago, White says, the Chicago Cardinals signed All-American tackle Duke Slater, and Oregon's famous Joe Lillard.

Not until 1944 did Negroes get another chance to crash the color line, and that was when the All-American Conference was organized. Buddy Young was installed on the Yankee backfield and Cleveland Browns hired big Marion Motley, Horace Gillom and Bill Willis. Several other teams in this league hired Negro college stars.

Many small white semi-pro teams have engaged Negro players. White reports. The Rebels in Richmond, Va., featured Freddie "Cannonball" Cooper last year. Before white teams would hire sepia players, many all-Negro league existed but in recent times they have died out.

When Buddy Young retires he will have a nice pile of money, as his $20,000 yearly salary with the New York Yankees, makes him the highest paid Negro player in the game. Other rookie players usually start in at $5,000 and if they make the grade, get yearly increases in keeping up with their gate popularity, White concludes.

BELMONT SPORTS
by Tip Bailey

Belmont Sentinels swept to a 26-11 victory over the Wilson Mules last Friday night at Belmont Stadium. Hilltoppers who were plenty upset over the Poly-Belmont game, really showed the public what they could do.

Their first T.D. came when Mike Bell gave the ball to Rudy Diaz on an end around. Then Bell handed the ball to Rop Espinosa on another end around. Third Hilltop touchdown came when Bell threw a 25-yard pass to halfback Dickie Macias who ran the remaining yards to pay dirt.

Last and final T.D. came when Bell went over from 6 yards out. Caccavale converted for two out of four.

The Mules' lone score came when their right halfback went over from the 2-yard line to make the score 26-7. The extra points came on two safeties; once when they grabbed Macias and threw him into the end zone; the other when their line broke through to block a Sentinel kick.

BIG RACE COMING UP: BAILEY VS. MACIAS

That long-anticipated race between Eddie Macias, twice All-Northern and twice fifth All-City in 880, and Allen "Koby" Bailey, who as a B-10 took the All-Northern and took the City 1320, is at last to materialize. Bailey, who is out for cross country, has broken two records thus far this season. One was at Narbone and the other at E.L.A.J.C.

Macias, who is now playing football and who is going out for the cross-country team as soon as football season is over, will face Bailey as Belmont's first man. The race between them should prove better than the team race, as a whole.

The December issue of Ring magazine has named John L. Davis the No. 2 challenger to Ike Williams, lightweight crown with Freddie Dawson named No. 1. Davis fights Dawson next Wednesday night in Oakland.

Art Aragon, who was rated fifth in November, is now down to eight. Carlos Chavez is tenth.

Junior Rose Bowl Selections Made Soon

Eastern and Western selections for the fifth annual Junior Rose Bowl game that will be played Saturday, December 9th will be made November 28th. That is the tentative date set by the committee of Junior College officials and Pasadena Chamber of Commerce members.

With a dozen undefeated teams throughout the east the committee will have a difficult task in selecting the visiting squad.

Heavy schedules have played havoc with top Western clubs during the past few weeks. Such schools as Compton, and Mt. San Antonio went down to defeat.

Palo Verde, one of the undefeated squads, will meet a severe test November 11 Armistice Day, when it plays Citrus, a once defeated outfit.

Major L. B. Chapman, publisher of the All American Gridiron Index reports that Boise, Idaho; Wharton Texas; Olympic, Washington; LaSalle-Peru, Indiana; Graceland, Iowa; Joplin, Missouri; and El Dorado, Texas, are among the undefeated junior college teams.

Interest in the annual Junior Rose Bowl classic is so high this year that the advance sale is 50 per cent ahead of a year ago. Seats for the intersectional contest are priced at $2.00 and the tickets are on sale at Mutual ticket agencies and the Pasadena Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The coming game is the fifth annual affair sponsored by the Pasadena Junior Chamber of Commerce to carry on its charitable work.

Western teams won the first three Little Rose Bowl games with Little Rock defeating Santa Ana, 25 to 19 in last year's battle. Compton defeated Kilgore, 19 to 0 in 1946; Chaffey won a thriller from Cameron, 39 to 26 the next year while Compton ran over Duluth, 47 to 14 in 1948.

Automobile drivers killed, maimed for life, or injured over 30,000 people in Los Angeles County in 1949. This is equal to the total population of Beverly Hills.

Jeff In Do Or Die Effort Tomorrow At Washington

It's do or die for Jefferson against Washington this Friday afternoon at the Generals' home grounds. It's do or die for two reasons: (1) there is still a faint hope that the Demos can catch Fremont and tie for the league title if Manual Arts beats Fremont in the last tussle of the Southern League; (2) a victory over Washington will assure Jeff a place in the Milk Bowl on Thanksgiving Day morning at the Coliseum.

Jeff dropped last year's contest to the Generals 17-7, and two years before that when Washington had McElhenny and Cameron. This year Jeff wants to blast the Washington jinx to oblivion. The Demos are out to beat Washington by a bigger score than did Fremont (21-0).

Waging all out war against the Generals will be Jerry Drew, Thelton Henderson, Horace Bailey, James Carey and Rommie Loudd, all candidates for league and city honors. Kick-off time is 2:30. Get there by all means as it will be one of your last opportunities to see one of the best teams in Jeff's history.

Jerry Drew fell far behind in the scoring race when Smith of Huntington Park scored 22 points last week to lead his team to victory over Poly. Following are the leading scorers in the city:

NAME	TD's	PAT's	FG's	Te.
Smith, H. Park	11	4	1	72
Decker, San Pedro	10	2	0	62
Drew, Jefferson	9	0	0	54

Babe Herman vs. Don Rogers At Olympic Tues.

Freddie "Babe" Herman will fight Irish Don Rogers in the ten round main event at the Olympic Auditorium next Tuesday night.

Herman who along with Art Aragon is managed by Jimmy Roche, holds a win over Babe Face Jones who in turn defeated John L. Davis earlier this year back east.

Rogers is an unknown quantity in these parts having previously fought in the Northwest. This will be his first Los Angeles appearance.

Both boys are lightweights.

ELAJC Meets Bakersfield

Fresh from a pleasant excursion to San Francisco, the East Los Angeles Junior College gridders find in their path this Friday night a completely rejuvenated band of Renegades from Bakersfield college.

The Hussies play host to the Renegades at 8 p.m. Friday, on the Garfield high school field.

Coach Jack Frost is downright enthusiastic about the chances of his Bakersfield eleven.

This optimism stems not only from the 39-7 victory over L. A. Valley last week but mainly from the fact that his ace triple threater, Don Johnson, will be back in harness. Johnson ran wild his last time out over a month ago and figures to make the Renegades at least two touchdowns stronger.

Last Friday night at Kezar Stadium, San Francisco, the Huskies were almost ambushed. It took two long passes with 30 seconds of play remaining to pull out a 20-14 win over the City College of San Francisco Rams.

It has been found that drinking drivers are three or four times more likely to have an accident than those who have not consumed alcohol.

Mother Church Bible Lesson For Sunday

"Mortals and Immortals" will be the subject of the Sunday Bible Lesson in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston. The Golden Text is from I Corinthians:

"As is the earthy, such are they also that are earthy: and as is the heavenly, such are they also that are heavenly."

The following sermon selections are from the Psalms: "In God have I put my trust: I will not be afraid what man can do unto me . . . For thou hast delivered my soul from death: wilt not thou deliver my feet from falling, that I may walk before God in the light of the living?"

In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" Mary Baker Eddy declares: "Mortals have a very imperfect sense of the spiritual man and of the infinite range of his though. To him belongs eternal Life. Never born and never dying, it were impossible for man, under the government of God in eternal Science, to fall from his high estate."

Automobile accidents caused over $200,000,000 in property damage in 1949. This would build over 20,000 three-bedroom homes at today's prices.

DISCRETION

The greatest parts, without discretion, may be fatal to their owner.—Hume

Be sure that God directs your way; then, hasten to follow under every circumstance.—Mary Baker Eddy

How little do they see what realy is, who fame their hasty judgment upon that which seems.—Southey

Discretion in speech is more than eloquence; and to speak agreeably to him with whom we deal is more than to speak in good words or in good order.—Becon

as walking through long ets in very lonely places, king for a young departed
e, but found no traces.
here was no moon in sight,
stars to be found.
vas cold and dreary
a street that was hell-
bound.
I longed to see a flower,
a small bit of light.
ished I could hear laughter,
ee a smile which to me would invite.

I reached the center of the street
h no end (Life)
w a young tender smile made it my friend. (You)
as we walk, this smile
I, we walk very fast
we know though we had er forever, our close pany would soon come an end.

grew to be a part of me,
much as my heart or hand.
your hold, everlasting
, is what my heart demands. en I awake, not able to d you by my side, I hate dream that makes me your sleepy lips on mine,

I'll thank my God

GOOD MORNING, STALINGRAD

Good morning, Stalingrad!
Lots of folks who don't like you
Had give you up for dead.
But you ain't dead!

Good morning, Stalingrad!
Where I live down in Dixie things is bad——
But they're not so bad
I still can't say
Good morning, Stalingrad!
And I'm not so dumb
I still don't know
That as long as your red star
Lights the sky
We won't die.
Good morning, Stalingrad!
You're half a world away or more
But when your guns roar,
They roar for me— —
And for everybody
Who wants to be free.

Good morning, Stalingrad!
Some folks try to tell me down down this way
That you're our ally just for today.
That may be so—for those who want it so.
But as for me—you're my ally
Until we all are free.

Good morning, Stalingrad!
When crooks and klansmen
Lift their heads and things is bad
I can look away across the sea
And see where simple working folks like me
Lift their heads, too, with gun in hand
To drive the fascists from the land.
You've stood between us well,
Stalingrad!
The folks who hate you'd
Done give you up for read—
They were glad.

But you ain't dead!

And you won't be
As long as I am you
And you are me— —
For you have allies everywhere,
All over the world, who care.
And they
Are with you more
Than just today.

Listen! I don't own no radio— —
Can't send no messages through the air.
But I reckon you can hear me,
Anyhow, away off there.
And I know you know
I mean it when I say,
(Maybe in a whisper
To keep the klan away)
Good morning, Stalingrad!

I'm glad
You ain't dead!

Good morning, Stalingrad!

Other participants include James Abrecht, principal of the Lou Henry Hoover School in Whittier; George Maurer, instructor at Samuel Gompers Junior High School in Los Angeles; Richard Petherbridge, Los Angeles attorney, and Paul B. Johnson, executive secretary of the Pasadena regional office of the American Friends Service Committee.

The conference is designed particularly for teachers and public employees but is open to all concerned citizens. Programs can be secured from the American Friends Service Committee, 426 North Raymond Avenue, Pasadena 3, California.

The Ta-Yi-To Camp Fire Girls of Carver Junior High School enjoyed a hike up the mountainside recently, with a three-meal cook-out. They had lots of fun at their Hallowe'en party, too—bobbing for apples, biting apples off a string, dancing, etc. Mrs. Johnson is their leader.

LITERARY DISCUSSION

Taste in books once ran to Chaucer.
Now they're mostly about the saucer.

On the cover of the California Roundup Anniversary Edition of a commercial daily was the picture of a fetching movie starlet in extreme decollete, depicting the "girl of the golden west." Just picture the periols of the pioneers, oaken bucket in one hand, cap 'n' ball rifle in the other, and sohulder starps falling down.

As an added attraction to two reissue films featuring those paragons of femininity, Rita Hayworth and Jean Harlow, was Chapter 15 of Superman. Shouldn't that have been Superwoman?

Ky. Jr. College Open to Negroes

PADUCAH, Ky.—Federal District Judge Roy M. Shelbourne ruled last week that Negro citizens of Paducah are entitled to admission to municipally-maintained Paducah Junior College, whose enrollment has heretofore been restricted to white students.

In his finding of fact, Judge Shelbourne concurred in the position of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, which represented plaintiffs Fred A. Wilson, Jr., and Henry L. Powell in their suit for admission to the college.

"The plaintiffs," said the court, 'and any and all other persons situated similarly . . . are entitled to admission to Paducah Junior College as students, upon the same terms and conditions as . . . members of the white race." Barring their admission constitutes denying their, Constitutional rights under the 14th Amendment, Judge Shelbourne said.

Attorneys handling the case for the NAACP were Joseph Freland of Paducah and Assistant Special Counsel Robert L. Carter of the national office in New York.

ELAJC Women's Wk.

Mothers, fathers, boy friends, and teachers will be feted by the women students of East Los Angeles Junior College during the week of November 13 to 19.

The occasion is the semi-annual Women's Week during which the women will take over the running of the campus in everything from assemblies and luncheons to editing the Campus News, college newspaper.

A "most poular male" will be chosen king of the campus at the cotton and cord dance Saturday night, November 18.

The Junior College will take on an appearance of an elementary school on Wednesday as the coeds celebrate "kiddie day." They become grown-up ladies again that evening, however, when they play hostess to their mothers at a Mother-Daughter banquet on campus.

The Father-Daughter Hi Jinks on Sunday afternoon, November 19, will give the women an opportunity to entertain their dads at a spaghetti feed.

"Pedestrian Safety Month," sponsored by the Boy Scouts of America each November in cooperation with the National Safety Council, rolled into high gear this week as units of the Los Angeles Area Boy Scout Council started blanketing the city with 20,000 pamphlets on safe walking habits.

Deputy Police Chief Lee C. German and Scouter Clem C. Glass, are co-chairmen.

With the slogan "Watch Your Step, Pardner! Don't Die With Your Boots On!" pacing their campaign, Scouts carrying colorful signs will be a familiar sight on street corners during Pedestrian Safety Month. The Scout unit putting on the best stunt during the month will receive a special award.

Last year 161 pedestrians were killed on Los Angeles streets, according to police department statistics, and this year 106 persons died in pedestrian accidents to October 30.

Thrifty Drugs In Month-Long Sale Of Century Celebration

A gigantic value-packed Sale of the Century will "kick off" a gala month-long celebration honoring Thrifty Drug Stores' forthcoming 100th Store in California, which will open this month in Studio City at Ventura and Laurel Canyon Boulevards.

All Thrifty Drug stores in California will participate in the Sale of the Century by offering outstanding values in all departments.

Thrifty has been doing business in California for over twenty-one years. A single pine-board store that opened in downtown Los Angeles in the year 1929 was the beginning of this great California organization.

22,000 Items

The immediate acceptance of this first Thrifty Drug Store has been attributed to the Thrifty creed of "offering the utmost for the purchasing dollar." Today Thrifty offers over 22,000 separate items to the public as against the few hundred items that made up the stock of the original store.

Thrifty pioneered super drug store operation, and modern innovations in today's drug store have been largely credited to the merchandising ideals of the Thrifty executives. New styles of store layouts, exterior displays, interior design and merchandising creativeness were all part of this transformation from the old-fashioned drug store of yesterday to the new Thrifty "super deluxe drug store of tomorrow."

Basic Policy Cited

"During its twenty-one years, the Thrifty Drug Store Co. has continued its basic policy of giving the people of California more for their money," said Vice-President Manny Borun. "Based on the simple formula of buying in carload quantities and taking every advantage of its tremendous purchasing power, Thrifty has been able to offer unprecedented values during their 21 years. Thrifty extends thanks to their many customers for making this 100th Store in California possible."

Adult Program Series Opens At 28th YMCA

On November 26, the last Sunday in the month, the Adult Program Committee of the Board of Managers of the 28th Street YMCA will begin a series of Sunday afternoon meetings.

The committee includes: the Rev. M. Frederick Mitchell, chairman; Dr. J. A. Somerville and Lawrence B. Wilson. The series of meetings will bring to the platform at the YMCA qualified local speakers on timely topics, outstanding musical talent, and on occasion, nationally known personalities.

Adult Choruses To Appear in Festival

The second of two fall adult chorus festivals sponsored by the Los Angeles Bureau of Music is scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 14, at 8:15 p.m. at Horace Mann Junior High School, 7001 South St. Andrews Place. Eight choruses numbering more than 200 singers, chiefly from the southern and harbor areas of Los Angeles, will be heard in the free program, which is under the supervision of Allen C. Lannom.

Folk songs, excerpts from larger choral works, novelty songs and spirituals will be among the popular fare to be sung by the city-sponsored choruses.

In America, the outdoor privy is generally considered as belonging to bygone era—but in the majority of the California localities, at least two out of every three occupied substandard dwellings have no private indoor flush toilet.

Expect Ruling Freeing Howard On All Counts

Federal Judge Harry Westover is expected to rule tomorrow on the motion to set aside the guilty verdict handed up by a jury last Thursday on two minor counts of a 24-count indictment under which H. A. Howard, founder and former president of the Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Association, was tried.

Attys. Bernard Jefferson and Eric Rose, who defended Howard, appeared before Judge Westover Monday afternoon with oral arguments in favor of dismissal. They pointed out that count 22 was faulty, and that both counts 22 and 24 dealt with an "illegal entry" in a report sent to the district Home Loan Bank. It is their contention that no evidence had been introduced to show that Howard made the entry or submitted the report to the Home Loan Bank in Washington, D. C.

Brother of Local Pastor Is Killed in St. Louis by Auto

Alderman Jasper C. Caston, first Negro to be elected to the Board of Aldermen of St. Louis, Mo., and recent candidate for the U. S. Congress from the 12th District, was instantly killed in an automobile accident near Monroe City, Mo., last Monday afternoon. Undertaker William Love and Mrs. Elizabeth Howard, who were with him, were taken to the hospital in Hannibal, Mo., where they are in critical condition. The trio were en route to Omaha, Neb.

Alderman Caston was also the pastor of Memorial Baptist Church in St. Louis, where he was in service all day last Sunday. He is the brother of Dr. J. L. Caston, pastor of the Trinity Baptist Church of this city. Dr. Caston left for St. Louis immediately where the funeral will be held next Tuesday.

Both ministers are the sons of the late Dr. J. T. Caston, pioneer physician and minister in Missouri and Mrs. L. Leota Caston, who will be remembered for her visits to her son here.

Wide Career

Alderman Caston was completing his second term as one of the "city fathers" and was 51 years of age. Since his election to the Board, two other Negro aldermen have been elected and are now serving their terms. In his early life he was a missionary to Africa, serving under the

Martinsville 7 Appeals Again To High Court

NEW YORK—In a continuing zero-hour effort to save the lives of the seven Martinsville, Va., youths whose death sentence was twice affirmed by the Supreme Court of Virginia, attorneys for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People are preparing the case for its second presentation to the United States Supreme Court.

Preparation was under way this week of a petition for writ of certiorari, asking the Supreme Court to review the refusal of the Virginia Supreme Court to grant a writ of habeas corpus in the case. Electrocutions for the seven have been scheduled for November 17 and November 20. A stay of execution of the men has been granted by Governor Battle of Virginia, pending the filing of the petition for certiorari.

Urge Armistice In Korea; Admit New China To UN

An urgent recommendation for an immediate armistice in Korea and admission of the Chinese People's Republic to the UN was forwarded this week to President Truman, Trygve Lie and member nations of the UN Security Council by Dr. Harry F. Ward, professor emeritus of the Union Theological Seminary, on behalf of an emergency conference last Saturday in New York City on world peace and China.

In his wire Dr. Ward declared that the United States government and the UN "have tried everything except mediation and conciliation." Denial of China's rightful role and interests, he charged, has led us to the "brink of world upheaval." "Act before it is too late," he pleaded.

The telegram was one of several actions voted by delegates from 26 states meeting in the Hotel Brevoort, which Dr. Ward and Dr. Lucius Porter, for many years a leader of missionary work in China and professor of philosophy at Yenching University, made the principal addresses.

The conference opened a nation-wide campaign for "peace through friendship, trade and recognition of New China." It also approved a plan to send hundreds of bouquets of flowers symbolizing friendship and peace with China on the occasion of the arrival of the nine-man Chinese delegation, scheduled to appear at Lake Success this Friday.

"JEW" ETCHED ON SIDEWALK

ETCHED IN ACID on the sidewalk at the foot of the steps leading to the main entrance of City Hall on the Spring Street side are the letters JEW, written there, it is believed, by the same organized gang of anti-Semistic hoodlums who recently spread their hate on the campus at UCLA. John Lee, managing editor of the CALIFORNIA EAGLE, discovered the message of hate and called it to the attention of the Mayor's office. Police are investigating. (See story.)

Anti-Semitic Scrawl Burned Into Concrete With Acid

Police are searching for the gang of race-hating hoodlums responsible for etching the letters JEW four feet high, in acid, on the sidewalk at the Spring street entrance to City Hall. The letters, bearing a close resemblance to those found on the UCLA campus a short time ago were discovered by a California Eagle reporter Monday afternoon. He reported the desecration to Dave Apter, assistant to Mayor Fletcher Bowron, who immediately notified the police.

Tuesday a crew of maintenance men were at work scrubbing the letters from the concrete walk. The police, Apter said, were conducting an investigation based on the theory that the lettering is the work of anti-Semitic and anti-American forces.

He pointed out that the mayor's office is resentful of any attempts by individuals or organized groups to create disharmony and racial antagonisms by such acts of vandalism and bigotry.

Growing

In recent weeks, such expressions of anti-Jewish feelings have become more frequent. Scurrilous, anti-Semitic publications have been found tacked on poles in several sections of the city, and there is reason to believe an organized group is re-

Al Trice Freed Of Bookmaking Rap In Superior Court Trial

Al Trice, well known local businessman, was freed of the charge of bookmaking in Superior court last Thursday. Trice who owns a liquor store and delicatessen near Fifty first and Central Avenue, was arrested on August 14 by members of the police vice squad.

Atty. Earl C. Broady, who defended Trice tore to shreds the prosecution's case in winning his client his freedom. Superior Judge Otto J. Emme before whom the case was tried, dismissed the action after listening to the police testimony.

Sgt. William R. Pinkston, of the Newton division vice squad, testified he observed Trice thru the aid of binoculars while seated in his car a block away, with a scratch sheet, entry blanks and other gambling parphernalia passing objects to several persons. He said his quarry left the store before he could apprehend him.

The officer said he chased the expensive Lincoln sedan of Trice to 53rd and Broadway before he was able to overtake and arrest him. He said the man had in his Equal Representation Forces Won Real Victory In 62nd A. D.

With the official tabulation yet to be determined, the vote cast for Charlotta A. Bass, candidate for Congress in the 14th District, already indicates that the Negro and Progressive voters in the 62nd Assembly District do not share the views of the Los Angeles Sentinel which claimed a personal victory on the basis of the election of Warren and Nixon.

Preponderantly Negro in character, the 62nd A.D. is the pulse of the Negro community. Mrs. Bass won handily in the 62nd, showing the solid support of the Negro people, a support that gave expression to the growing demand for equal representation.

Douglas Won

Congresswoman Helen Gahagan Douglas and gubernatorial candidate James Roosevelt also ran ahead of their opponents in the 62nd A.D. Voters in the 62nd cannot understand the Sentinel's claim of victory, since they, by their votes, repudiated the very candidates which the Sentinel, supposedly reflecting their views, holds up as victors.

Leading the determined drive for equal representation, Mrs. Bass this week urged the voters in the 62nd to hold the line and to increase their strength for the next election drive.

Pointing out that solidarity of Negro voters with the other minority and white voters in the district is the only way to defeat the lily-white policy of the two old parties, she pledged herself to continue the fight on behalf of the 15,000 voters who supported her, and for the thousands of misrepresented citizens in the district.

Real Victory

Reiterating her program position on peace jobs and security, Mrs. Bass stated that her campaign was a victory for the people who sincerely seek equal representation.

Wholesale Courts Martial Of Negroes Alarming, Says NAACP

NEW YORK—Alarmed by published reports of large-scale arrests and courts martial of Negro soldiers in Korea, Thurgood Marshall, NAACP special counsel, this week directed Frank Reeves, the NAACP's Washington attorney, to make inquiries at the Department of the Army as to the validity of these reports.

At the same time, Mr. Marshall, noting that there have been no similar reports of courts martial of white soldiers, announced that "the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is ready to defend, with all of its resources, any of these servicemen upon determination that they are victims of racial discrimination." The NAACP attorney emphasized the fact that the Association can act only in cases where requested to do so b ythe soldier or a close relative.

South Losing The Battle For Segregation

Althuogh most Southerners are firm believers in the policy of Negro-white segregation, few realize that the outlines of segregation are becoming blurred by everyday practices of both Negroes and whites.

In the South today Jim Crow is a bewildering hodgepodge of amazing paradoxes, according to an article in the just-out December issue of Pageant magazine entitled, "Is Segregation Doomed Down South?" The article is written by Bern Keating, a Southern journalist from Greenville, Mississippi who decided to take a look at the situation in his hometown—and discovered with surprise that something is happening to old-fashioned segregation in the Deep South.

28th Street YM Swimming Pool Open All Year

There is no "closed" season in the big swimming pool at 28th Street Branch YMCA. Summer and Winter boys, young men and coed groups find this white tiled pool and its crystal clear water "just what the doctor ordered." Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings from eight to ten p.m. is scheduled for mixed swimming for adults.

Tuesdays have been reserved for Aquatic Safety classes. Walter L. Hutcherson, Charles E. Jones, David Flynn, Egbert James and Joseph Lewis are active in promoting an outstanding program in the "Y" pool and furnish the leadership as guards and instructors. Incidentally the YMCA pool is the only indoor swimming pool in the district that is open all year, filtered and heated both summer and winter.

Peace Congress in Sheffield Stopped by Prime Minister Attlee

The United States and other countries of the world, parties or condoners to Britain's plot to stop the Defenders of the Peace Second World Congress, scheduled to be held in Sheffield, England, November 13-19, are no doubt congratulating each other in a united unsuccessful attempt to stop the Peace movement.

British Prime Minister Clement Attlee played a brilliant role of Judas in the stop the Congress drama at Sheffield. His sensational secret document revealing the background of the British government's machinations with regard to the Second World Congress, is now the property of the people who must decide whether they want peace or war.

Attlee circulated his poison pen sheet last September to the British government representatives in many countries, telling them in detail what steps to take to prevent holding the Congress in Sheffield.

Stopping the Congress is the clearest evidence needed to prove who is promoting the Korean war and is willing to fight a

The SIDEWALK

By C.A.B.

During the short time I had for electioneering I worked hard, because I believed that the large numbers of colored people residing in the 14th Congressional District were entitled to recognition in the Congress of the United States.

Assemblyman Hawkins' message to the people on the eve of the election was that Sam Yorty was his and the people's friend.

And now that you are elected to the Congress, Mr. Yorty, we are expecting you to make good that statement issued by Assemblyman Hawkins.

To the Negro people in the 14th District that mens that you, Mr. Yorty, will work for a Federal Fair Employment law, for legislation to abolish the unwritten lynch law, the poll tax and all discriminatory measures that keep Negro Americans second class citizens.

Congratulations, and success in office.

CHARLOTTA A. BASS.

I am meandering. Sitting here, looking out of my front window, seeing Central Avenue go by. It's beginning to look like World War II. Soldiers and sailors and church-goers flood the sidewalk. They all seem to be in a hurry—at least for the soldier and sailor boys not going anywhere in particular.

I am thinking of John Kinloch during those years of 1943 and 1944. How he would often say to me, "Let's go down the line," meaning Central Avenue in the vicinity of the Dunbar Hotel, and talk to some of these boys, our boys, coming in here on ships, bound for the battle fields of Europe.

Down the line and to the Dunbar we would go, and worm our way in. That was the only way we could get in, those days, for the boys—soldiers, I mean—and the girls who came to greet them were thicker than flies. However, we made contacts, and impressions that seared my heart to the core were made upon me.

Often I picked a little sailor who appeared to be not

Miss Georgia Bell Awarded Extension Club Scholarship

Miss Georgie Bell, freshman in the graduate school of law at the University of Michigan, is the recipient of the first scholarship given by the Educational Extension Club of Orange County.

Miss Bell, a native of Oklahoma, received her B.A. in government from Samuel Houston college. While there she was chosen by the United Negro College fund as the most outstanding student of the 31 Negro colleges and universities participating in the fund. Last year she attended Boston University, where she received her master of arts degree in international law.

The Educational Extension Club was organized about 18 months ago for the purpose of making scholarships available to deserving students. Each more than 14 or 15 years old, but said he was 18, for questioning. He had come from one of the Southern States, could neither read nor write, but the government needed him to fight.

I had seen soldiers and sailors certainly before, but this was my first real knowledge of the government's neglect of its Negro citizens along the educational lines.

Here were these youthful Black Americans, dressed out in soldier and sailor uniforms, of which they seemed duly proud, but handicapped by their lack of knowledge and educational training even in the "Three R'S."

I understand that it was from such people emerged Robert Brooks and Dorrie Miller, first American soldier to die in World War II and first to defend Pearl Harbor.

A background of such bravery and valor of Negroes in the American navy and army, dating back to the Revolution of 1776 when the new country fought to break the chains of Great Britain's tyranny, is the undisputed heritage of the Negro soldier.

Is the Negro soldier getting just reward for his services and loyalty to the government?

My answer to this question is "No." And "No" by virtue of the fact that he is not willing to pull himself by his own bootstraps up from the economic slough into which he has been dumped by his political seducers in the Republican and Democratic parties.

A striking example of betrayal of Negroes by the Negroes in positions of leadership, was the November 7 election.

The 14th Congressional District, unlike other districts, had one Negro candidate, a woman, and two white candidates (men), running. An aggregation of youth from all walks of life and political views, covered the District making a passionate appeal for the Negro candidate whom they believed would best represent them in the Congress.

The little plain people and many of the churches responded.

But some of the larger churches with radio connections, broadcast their recommendation and their support for one or the other of the white opponents.

While most of the top business and professional folk with a gentle wave of the hand, commented in this fashion, "We can't win. Why waste a vote?"

We can't win the battle against discrimination in education in the army, the navy, and in civilian life, divided and weak.

Even the people whose political purposes we serve, as in the November 7 election, in the final analysis have less respect for us because of our apathy and indifference. They are our friends only in the proportion that they are able to use us to defeat the desires and ambitions of others of us who sacrifice and fight for human dignity and first-class citizenship.

Next week I am going to ask, and try to answer this question: Can the church help uproot and destroy racial discrimination without involving politics?

Non-Citizens Held in Jail Without Bail

Two more non-citizens, James Papandreou and Henry Podolski, of Detroit, who had been illegally arrested and held without bail since October 23, were released by order of District Court Judges, in Detroit, on the original bail.

Sixteen non-citizens have been released by Court orders but thirty-one are still being held without bail in New York, Gary, Inda., Detroit, Minneapolis, Superior, Seattle and Los Angeles.

Those now being held in Los Angeles are:

Harry Carlisle, 53, native of Wales, 32 years in the United States, author, and film writer.

Frank Carlson, 34, native of Poland, 33 years in the United States, married to an American citizen, father of two American-born children, educational director of Communist Party in Los Angeles.

David Hyun, 31, native of Korea, resident of the United States for 27 years, architect, married and has two American-born sons.

Miriam Stevenson, 40, native of England, resident of the United States for 26 years, married to an American citizen, has one American-born son.

In a statement issued this week, Abner Green, executive secretary of the American committee for Protection of Foreign Born, condemned the action by the Immigration and Naturalization Service in scheduling 19 deportation hearings in 10 consecutive days as "an attempt to railroad non-citizens as a display of indecent haste to rush through deportation hearings."

"This attempt to rush deportation hearings is an indecent display of scorn for the democratic process. Once again, the American people are being shown the meaning of the McCarran Law as the Justice Department tries to use it for a second time in one month to deprive honest and decent non-citizens of their rights and liberties in this country.

2 Years Old

Atty. Broady put Trice on the witness stand and under skillful questioning drew from his an explanation of what actually transpired in the vice officers thinking. Trice said the so-called "owe sheet" represented legitimate credit extended customers for goods sold in his store and that the scratch sheet was two years old. He said he formerly played a "system" on horse racing, and kept is merely for reference.

Local Siamese Twins Offered Contract; Mother Undecided

The Siamese twins, born joined head to head 17 months ago in Los Angeles County General Hospital, to Mrs. Willa Jones, are being sought by a showman for exhibition purposes. Mrs. Jones has been approached by Harry Golub, who would remove the twins from General Hospital and place them in a private nursing home immediately. He would provide them with the care and attention recommended by Dr. Phoebus Berman, medical director of General Hospital, who has supervised the reportedly excellent care given the twins since their birth.

The court would be asked to approve the contract offered by Golub, who said he would have a nurse and physiotherapist to attend the babies at all times, and that he would transport them in a special railroad car converted into a nursery, with accommodations for doctors, nurses and attendants.

In addition, Golub said he will make a $1000 down payment on a home for Mrs. Jones and her five other children, and he will pay up to $60 a month against the mortgage.

Undecided

Mrs. Jones, who recently stated she wanted the twins, Yvonne and Yvette, home with her "for a while," has not indicated that she will accept Golub's offer. It is known that she is having financial difficulties, but she considers the welfare of the twins, and her love for them above financial advantage. However, it is being pointed out to her that a contract such as Golub offers will provide the care and attention the twins need.

What will develop out of the police investigation is not known, but leaders in the Negro and Jewish community plan to request the police and city officials to exert extra vigilance, and to prosecute fully all persons responsible.

he had seen on a train in Japan 11 members of the 24th Infantry who had been convicted by general courts martial of "misconduct before the enemy" and had been sentenced to long terms of imprisonment at hard labor. Mr. Hicks said he was not permitted to talk to the men, who were under heavy guard.

Frank Whisonant reporting from Taejon, Korea, in The Courier of November 11 said that "ninety-nine and nine-tenths per cent of the men tried" before martial boards were Negro troops from the 24th Infantry. One man, he said, had been convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment after a three-hour trial. He observed "two long lines of Negroes going through the two military courts of 'justice' set up in Taejon."

"Coming on the heels of the conviction of Lt. Leon Gilbert and Hanson W. Baldwin's sneer at Negro troops in The New York TIMES of November 3, the reports of these cases seem to fit into a pattern designed to discredit the heroic performance of Negro soldiers in Korea," Mr. Marshall said.

They All Ran

"It should not be forgotten," he continued, "that throughout the early phases of the war, American troops, white as well as Negro, were retreating precipitously before the onslaught of the North Koreans. Yet I have seen no reports indicating wholesale arrests and convictions of white troops."

Statement by Alameda County IPP Candidate

The Alameda County Independent Progressive Party released the following statement of Rev. G. Linwood Fauntleroy, the party candidate for State Senate.

"I consider it a distinct honor to have been the Independent Progressive Party candidate for the office of State Senate.

"Those who voted for me expressed a deep consciousness regarding the issues which we face today.

"May the Independent Progressive Party diligently seek to secure its position, not only in the state of California but in the nation as a direct challenge to the bi-partisan policies of the war hysteria democrats and republicans.

"The people of this nation want peace, not by blood but by conciliation, and the Independent Progressive Party is the only active political instrument working towards this end.

"I want to express my appreciation to those who expressed their confidence in my leadership for public service."

Third World War for profit for the Wall Streeters in colonial Africa and India, and who would deny the free Chinese people to shape their own destinies.

Attlee's statement in his secret communications that the peace Congress would "create a certain apprehension among public opinion states" and raise doubts on the part of the British government as to whether signing of the North Atlantic Pact had been of prime importance may be given an opposite construction.

The people, especially those who fight the wars and who suffer as a result of wars, may ask Mr. Attlee why is it that they are not permitted to meet, discuss and plan the peace that is the crying need of the world today.

Not only the people of Britain but likewise sincere advocates of peace in this country are greatly disturbed over Prime Minister Attlee's attitude.

Los Angeles sent as its delegate to the Sheffield meeting Mrs. Jackie Clack, who at present is no doubt nearing Sheffield only to be appraised of no entrance order.

Foreign Mission Board of the National Baptist Convention as superintendent of the Suehn Mission Station on the west coast of Africa near Liberia.

Upon contracting fever he returned to the United States and accepted the pastorate of the Memorial Baptist Church, 2726 Pine street, where persons desiring to send a message to his brother, Dr. Jonathan L. Caston, may do so.

Alderman Caston was a colorful figure in St. Louis politics, a staunch Republican and crusader for civil rights. He was also a great sportsman, loving to hunt and fish. It is believed he was on his way to one of his favorite pheasant hunting grounds without proper rest when he, seeking to avoid a bus which had stopped on the highway, crashed into a narrow bridge.

In addition to his brother here, he is survived by his mother, a sister and a younger brother, who operates his own market in St. Louis.

counts of the indictment that had to do with embezzlement, fraud and misapplication of funds. Howard is fighting to clear his name and to prove his contention that an attempt to railroad him out of the presidency of the organization he founded and built into a $3,000,000 enterprise in three years, is the direct cause of the indictment and subsequent trial.

The case against Howard was more than a year in preparation and was marked by an indicated weakness of the government's case from the beginning. Two of the 24 indictments were dismissed during the trial.

Attorneys for Howard and the government submitted written arguments on the motion to set aside Wednesday, and it is being freely predicted that Judge Westover will grant the reversal.

Rumor

It is rumored that Howard would have won a clean dismissal on all counts had not one member of the jury of nine women and three men, held out for a guilty verdict on some count because she believed the defendant was "guilty of something."

The charges against Howard were first heard when he announced plans for the forming of a national bank.

When a husband needs a haircut his wife will certainly remind him of the fact.

Rent Control

ment Tuesday night while speaking to an assemblage of Florida real estate tycoons.

President Truman has indicated that he will ask the special session of Congress to vote a continuation of rent controls. Unless public pressure forces Maybank and his committee to act, there is little likelihood that the question will be considered before next year.

EUROPE AS I SAW IT

The following is the sixth installment of a series of articles to be printed by THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE, describing the experiences, impressions, and first-hand knowledge gained by Charlotta Bass on a two-months' tour of three European countries—France, Czechoslovakia, and Russia.

This is the sixth article on the things I observed in Europe. My opinions are my own. I have not collaborated with anyone, nor has anything that I have written, been censored.

Like the average American, until a few months ago Russia for me seemed so far away. I did not think I would ever be privileged to visit it. But when the desire is strong enough, it is usually fulfilled.

At the end of my stay in Prague, where I went as a delegate to the committee meeting to make plans for the Second World Peace Conference which was to have met in Great Britain in the month of November, but has now been changed to Warsaw, I made inquiries and found that it was possible to visit the Soviet Union.

After all I had heard about this godless country with its Iron Curtain barring entrance to it, I lost no time in making reservations for the trip.

The trip from Prague to Moscow was across the Ukraine, making several stops. Unlike the climate in Prague, it was beginning to blow cool in the great stretch of land and pretty seashore resorts in the Ukraine.

When we stopped at various airports, we noticed a difference here than in other parts of the world, especially the United States. The people in this portion of the Soviet Union seemed busy. There are no idle people sitting around the ports.

The planes that are landing are, as a rule, met by young women in uniforms. They direct you as to time for the stop-over, and also take time off to assist you to the waiting-room which is usually a polite distance from the landing point.

The farm land in the Ukraine is heavy black soil, and there appears to be a sufficient water supply.

In all the cities and towns over which I passed, I observed huge skeletons of factories and buildings that had been bombed and shattered by the Germans in the last war.

It was Sunday, in late afternoon, Sept. 19, when my plane sat odnw in Moscow, a group of Soviet women, members of the Defenders of the Peace Committee, met me, presenting a huge bouquet of flowers resembling our California flowers, and accompanied me to the National hotel in the very heart of Moscow.

After a sumptuous dinner, which after so many weeks I am not able to describe, except to say it started with caviar and ended with turkey, I washed up and was invited to take a stroll.

It being Sunday evening great crowds of men, women and children formed a human stream that appeared to be endless, that swarmed along the streets of Moscow.

A little Russian lady, teacher in the Public School System in Moscow, volunteered to be my interpreter. She accompanied me to the monument of Alexander Pushkin, the celebrated Russian poet whose anniversary was being celebrated.

The Russian school children brought great loads of flowers, and placed them at the foot of the tomb. Old men and women stood near by and gazed reverently at the towering marble statue that marked the resting place of Poushkin.

Pushkin was born of an African mother and a Russian father in the city of Moscow, June 7, 1799.

Pushkin's history, according to encyclopaedia Britannica, is as follows. "He belonged to an ancient family of boyars, and in a clever poem, many of the sallies of which were too trenchant to pass the censorship, he has sketched some of the more important of his progenitors. A strange ancestor was his maternal great-grandfather, a favorite Negro ennobled by Peter the Great, who bequeathed to him the only hair of his race (curly) and a somewhat darker complexion than falls to the lot of the ordinary Russian."

I took great pride in being a part of this Sunday Pushkin anniversary celebration for more reasons than one. First, because the great Russian poet was my kin—blood of my blood. And second, I discovered that there is absolutely no color bar nor race prejudice in Russia, and from all appearances, there never has been.

As a student Pushkin studied at the Lyceum of Tzarakoe selo, situated near St. Petersburg, now Petrograd. One of his outstanding literary offerings was "The Ode to Liberty," circulated in manuscript in St. Petersburg, but which came near costing him his freedom and liberty.

This visit to the tomb of Russia's greatest and most beloved poet, and this brief sketch of his history is but the beginning of the most interesting ten days of my life.

Pushkin was a vital link in the chain of historic events in Russia that laid the ground work for the overthrow of the Tzarist regime of terror in Russia, the 1917 Revolution, and the establishment of the Soviet Union, consisting of sixteen free republics.

I was a stranger in a strange land in Russia.

I went to the Soviet Union with an open mind. I wanted to see and know for myself if the things I had heard about a country so different politically and socially from my own, was so diametrically opposed to the United States government that it stood ready to attack us at the drop of a hat.

So in order to test the validity of the Iron Curtain I asked if I could visit the churches, homes, nurseries, schools, factories, Red Square and the Kremlin.

My request was granted. So Monday morning after my Sunday evening visit to Poushkin's monument, I was off on the first leg of my Moscow survey.

I had heard from the American press and pulpit that there were no churches in Russia. You will see the fallacy of such a statement when you observe the picture on this page taken in a Greek Orthodox church.

I shall tell more, much more of my visit to the churches of Moscow, of the many other wonderful things I observed there, and of the warm, heartfelt hospitality of the people in future issues of the EAGLE.

News From Europe – The Fight for Peace

SEEN IN THIS PICTURE IS A YOUNG WOMAN OPERATING LOOMS in one of Moscow's largest textile factories where 3000 workers are employed. Here all types of training may be had—industrial, academic, and scientific. Women are found in top positions in all departments of the plant.

All of the world, and especially the countries of Europe, were excitedly preparing for the World Peace Conference scheduled to have been held in Sheffield, England this week. As you may have heard over your radio, or read in some of the metropolitan papers, the English government refused to permit some 500 delegates from countries which it termed "Communistic" to enter England. The conference was therefore transferred to Warsaw, Poland.

The following "News from Europe" tells some of the thoughts of the delegates from those countries on the subject of peace. This news was received before the English government issued its mandate of "Do Not Enter Here."

FINLAND

Women in the most remote villages have held meetings to draw up instructions for their delegates going to the World Peace Congress. Here are some of their statements:

From Ruhinaansalmi:

"We women living near the frontier in Northern Finland know from experience what it is to go through evacuations and war atrocities . . . what it is to return to the cold ruins of our homes. We have had to leave our homes four times and to move sometimes here, sometimes there. With our own eyes we have seen war's destruction."

From Ko'ka:

". . . We will not give up our sons and husbands to war. We want to protect the lives of our children."

From Keljo Valorinne: from the audience of an evening's entertainment arranged for strikers:

". . . Our struggle is the struggle of the great majority of the nation for peace and a decent standard of living. We need work and bread. We do not want war. Only under peaceful conditions can we safeguard our primitive needs. . . ."

BRAZIL

The president of the Federation of Brazilian Women and four other women delegates will be present at the World Peace Congress. The Brazilian women have already collected 103,061 signatures. Two women, "champion signature collectors," who have collected more than 15,000 and a girl university student who has herself collected more than 20,000 signatures, have won the prize of a journey to England.

All this has been achieved in spite of ever-increasing police terror, resulting from the October 3rd General Elections, which has been carried to such a pitch that a worker called Lafaiete has been brutally murdered by the police when he was sticking electoral posters. Mme. Elisa Branco is still in prison in Sao Paulo for having protested against the sending of Brazilian troops to Korea.

CANADA

The Congress of Canadian Women has issued an appeal, in connection with the World Peace Congress, warning the women against all attempts to drag Canada into the Korean war. This appeal salutes the calling of the World Peace Congress, which Mrs. Rae L. Luckock will attend as president of the organization, accompanied by three other women who will form part of the Canadian delegation. In the name of her organization, Mrs. Rae L. Luckock will support the following proposals before the World Peace Conference: the banning of atomic weapons, reduction of the armaments of all countries, the condemning of all war propaganda and the punishment of those responsible for it, the strengthening of the Security Council.

PARIS, FRANCE

Grieved at all the suffering inflicted upon their Korean sisters and their martyred children, women throughout the world are seeking a means to end the war which is devastating that country and to enable the women to emerge from their nightmare—to begin to live and smile again.

Further clarification of this is given in the French newspaper "LE MONDE," which states:

". . . The United Nations has asked the commanders of the troops which will occupy the different parts of North Korea to be very prudent in abolishing the principal Marxist reforms and for the moment, to make no changes in the nationalized industry, land distribution and the emancipation of women."

Thereby, the imperialists admit that the People's Republic of Korea is the form of government, of democracy, desired by the people, and that it has brought about improvements that the people had ardently hoped for.

Writing about Chiang Kai-chek and Syngman Rhee, the British paper "Reynold's News" said:

"These two men are two perfect symbols of all that Asia has risen up to destroy. In India and elsewhere, Synghman Rhee is looked upon with loathing . . . Rhee is neither a democrat nor a pacifist. He ensured himself victory in the elections by throwing his opponents in prison or by suppressing them. Synghman Rhee would represent a striking provocation. He must be evicted."

NORWEGIAN M.P. LAUDS SOVIET UNION

CYPRIOTS PLEDGE RENEWED STRUGGLE

NCOSIA—Mass meetings were held in all towns of Cyprus to celebrate the October Revolution anniversary. In several places the government refused permission for open-air meetings to be held, and for the use of loudspeakers. The Cypriot working people pledged to fight against the imperialist plans for a third world war, and their use of Cyprus as a war base.

HAVANA—The Cuban House of Representatives passed a resolution demanding complete national independence for the United States colony of Puerto Rico. The action of the government—all the more significant because of its previous record of extreme servility toward the United States—has beeen denounced in the American bi-business press. This has only served to further incense the Cuban public.

At the same time, the Atomic Energy Commission revealed that the U. S. Army is training for an atom war with bombs "loaned" by the Atomic Energy Commission.

"A GLIMPE OF NEW CHINA"

PEKING—F. C. Weiskopf, well-known novelist who is now Czechoslovak Ambassador to China, writes about life in China for "People's Literature," organ of the All-China Association of Writers and Artists. Extracts from his arcle follow.

For one who has lived in Peking during the past nine months, as I have, the streets have been an exciting book readable even for an illiterate in Chinese ideographs. To give only a few examples of what I jotted down in my writer's diary as characteristic items read in this "book of Peking streets":

The police protecting a bookshop from complete inundation by a crowd of about 200 eager buyers . . . the disappearance of beggar children, whom one meets later on in a school for destitute children . . . a resting pedicab driver reading a book which turns out to be a translation of Gorki . . . an old peasant squatting beside a young soldier who teaches him a few Chinese characters, using a stick as a pencil and the dust of the street (near the old wall around the city) as a sheet of paper.

Children teaching the grown-ups a dance . . . village folk coming out of a state store with newly bought fountain pens, pencils and notebooks . . . four new bookshops in one street (sharply contrasting with some memories of a stay in the United States, where one might walk for hours in the streets of a city of a hundred thousand and more inhabitants without finding a single real bookstore) . . . people jamming the entrance of an exposition of Chinese art to be shown in a war-weary country."

CZECHOSLOVAK-SOVIET AGREEMENT

PRAGUE—The five-year economic agreement signed between the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia, which was announced during the celebrations of the 33rd anniversary of the Great October Socialist Revolution, provides for an increase in annual turnover amounting to 50 percent of the 1948-50 annual average and guarantees to Czechoslovakia large supplies of raw materials and highly-important investment goods.

Cotton, wool and other textile raw materials, basic raw materials for the chemical, rubber, woodworking, ceramic and other branches of industry will be received from the Soviet Union.

The large deliveries of Soviet foodstuffs, especially wheat, fats, meat, oil seeds and rice will means a further increase in living standards for the Czechoslovak people, creating sufficient food reserves in the event of harvest failure.

The greatest increase during the next year will be in the delivery of investment goods from the Soviet Union. Czechoslovakia will mostly import machines and equipment which are indispensable for her reconstruction.

ALEXANDER PUSHKIN, the most celebrated of Russian poets, whose life and fight for the liberation of Russia was commemorated recently in Moscow. Pushkin was of Russian and African lineage. He was born in 1799, and his poetry to this day is read and studied not only by the Russian people, but all over the world wherever poetry is studied. His early poem, "Ode to Liberty," brought him fame and placed him in the category of the early advocates in the liberation movement.

Tito Sells Yugoslav Blood for U. S. Dollars

NEW YORK—Ten days the N. Y. Times gave front page notice to the speech Tito made before anti-Fascist Women's Congress at Zagreb. He bragged of a deal swung with his American visitors who had been stopping off so frequently at Belgrade as if it were their Balkan country club; which, in fact, it has become.

He said: "We started discussions with the United States government for a long term credit . . . to feed those districts that suffered heavily from the drought.

"I can openly state here that the United States has set no conditions."

The proposed $105 million worth of food aid is still only a promise and if fulfilled will mean less than $6.00 for every hungry mouth of 16 million starving Yugoslavs.

When Tito belabors the drought as the main cause for the country's misfortune, the Yugoslav knows better. The weather's been dry, but the robber regime has sucked the people drier and it has the gall to blame the weather.

After all, Balkan people have a lot of common sense and peasant shrewdness. Is Yugoslavia so big that the dryness didn't come to Albania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Roumania? In those countries the people are eating.

Tito can't answer that one.

What he said in his big speech is more food for thought than food for the belly, so the peasant reasons. He knows bankers well enough to understand that very little aid will come once they get through deducting commissions, rebates, general floating costs and a little something on old debts. Tito's reputation is now pretty well known and he'll slice himself a big hunk with his Lieutenants following the leader. What's left will end in the black market and into the hands of the speculators, landowners and rich merchants.

What's the price for this 'aid'? What's the deal? Money or food is not lent without security. No matter what Tito may shout, just what kind of deal did he make with the men of New York and Washington?

Did he promise troops? If so, whom shall they fight? There can be no question that this is uppermost in the minds of the Yugoslavs. The army is semi-starved and in tatters. And American bankers like blood as the best security.

Of course, Tito must have promised troops to fight the Soviet Union and probably boasted to the bankers in words like these:

"Just think, I'll furnish you Slavs to fight Slavs."

The proposition was an empty one and the bankers knew it. Memories are not so short that Yugoslavs have forgotten that it was the Soviet Union which liberated their country—and furthermore the Russian people are blood relations of the Yugoslavs. Tito was offering a people and an army which would not fight the Soviet Union.

But a deal was made and one with plenty of strings tied to the Tito government, but will a hungry and robbed people accept them?

For the news comes out today: N. Y World-Telegram, Nov. 10—Marshall Tito told his people through the newspapers that Yugoslavia soon may contribute an armed forces unit to the UN for use against aggressors.

The flesh of Yugoslavia is to be torn open in the 7,000 mile distant and cold mountains of Korea in exchange for wheat, sugar, fats and canned foods.

This is the kind of unconditional aid that Tito has lied about and if the Yugoslav is to eat foreign bread he must drop his guts in a faroff land.

I've a pretty good idea what the Yugoslav peasant is muttering, for my father and mother were peasants. But, most of all the peasant is merely saying, "I hope there is enough string tied to the deal to stretch necks."

And the Tito clique knows best whose necks are meant.

Indian Criticism of U.S. Foreign Policy

Negro Americans would do well to note the sharp variance between the critical views of American foriegn policy being expressed by the peoples of Africa, India, and other Asian countries and the support of that policy by Negro spokesmen in the U. S. such as the leaders of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People who recently endorsed American intervention in Korea, the Council on African Affairs states in reviewing international conference of the Institute of Pacific Relations held in Lucknow, India earlier this month.

As reported by the New York Times correspondent, Robert Trumbull, Indan and Pakistani professors, editors, and other intellectuals present at the Lucknow conference maintained "that the United States at best was bent upon some sort of economic imperialism and at worst hoped to use Asian lives as cannon fodder in a war against the Soviet Union of which Asia, they said, wanted no part."

Concretely the Asian representatives condemned the continuing manifestations of Anglo-Saxon racial superiority, particularly in Africa; the maintenance of imperialist power in Southeast Asia and Africa, and the threat of military and economic domination in these areas as a new form of imperialism; the intervention of the U.S. in Korea because of its own strategic self-interest and because the South Koreans accepted U.S. domination; the conversion of the United Nations into a "U.S. stooge";

Nero Fiddled While Rome Burned

The present national situation certainly is reminiscent of the ancient saying, "Nero fiddled while Rome burned."

While we are busy spending the government's revenue collected from the tax-burdened people, to hire special agents to circulate loyalty test blanks, look for Communists, etc., we overlook the real threats to our security, peace, and happiness.

Who or what are the threats?

In the opinion of this newspaper which had its birth in Los Angeles more than 70 years ago, the real enemies to the peace of our nation and to world peace, are most of the newspaper columnists and radio commentators who pen and belch forth such expressions as, "Korea is a fourth-rate military theater. . . . The ragged hordes of Mao Tsetung. . . . We might call on Nationalist China. They would, with UN backing, enter the Korean war at the drop of a hat. . . . The UN might authorize MacArthur to rearm the Japs. . . . A mild step would be to blockade the entire Chinese coast. . . ."

There is no question but that such expressions are offensive and insulting to the people we try to make ourselves believe we are fighting for.

The brown and yellow peoples of Korea, Indo-China, Malaya, Burma, China, and even Japan no longer trust the white man as a friend. Hence his presence even in South Korea is not by invitation from the Koreans, from either the northern or southern section, but from a few national traitors found everywhere in Europe, Asia, Africa, and the United States.

If we, the American people, desire peace and security we must build it at home by building our defenses from within.

Loyalty is not obtained by force. Security will not be found in Korea or Indo-China or Formosa, but at home. Loyalty and security are acres of diamonds at our feet, if we will but stoop to pick them up.

They are the eradication of hatreds of one nation against another, of racial dislikes, of color prejudice, of religious antagonisms. They are all the things that keep us from living together in one world as one family. They are the wild imaginations, the impelling forces that drive us to Korea where we leave great rows of dead Americans, black and white, to be devoured by hungry vultures, because there is no discrimination in death valley.

Neither bloodshed in Korea nor loyalty tests at home will insure peace to a wild, hysterical people. Only faith in God, and trust in man to man will insure peace.

Our Rome is burning while we fiddle a war tune, and lose sight of the peace that is within our grasp.

Render Unto Caesar The Things That Are Caesar's

The matter of taxation is not new in the world. In early Bible times some Hebrew politicians wanting to destroy Jesus' influence with the people, one day questioned Him (Jesus) on the legality of paying tribute to Caesar.

Jesus asked them to show Him a government coin. On the face of this piece of money was the profile of Caesar, with a Roman inscription.

Jesus looked at it, passed it back to His tempters, with these words: Give unto Caesar what is Caesar's.

The war lords of today could take a long-lasting lesson from this historic event. This 1950 Thanksgiving celebration might be made history's landmark for peace.

Geographically, lines have been drawn for a peaceful separation of nations. These divisions, however, do not mean that nations should not have friendly relations with each other.

But taking soldiers into Korea, China, or any other country in domestic disputes is out of bounds with a good-neighbor policy.

Korea is the home of the Korean people. When the UN, the USA, Russia, or such as the so-called Western countries gang up in a murder plot and march in with instruments of destruction, kill off men, women, and babies, giving as an excuse for such acts of aggression as the staving off of North Korea invasion of South Korea, it is about time we examine the Master's saying and meaning: "Give unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's."

Korea is closer and nearer of kin to China than to us. If we demand an explanation of China for the presence of Chinese troops in Korea—hasn't China also the right to ask us to explain the presence of U.S. troops in Korea?

Render unto Korea the things that are Korea's, unto China the things that are China's. And let America beware that she does not trespass beyond that boundary and in her arrogance relegate unto herself the office of who shall say what belongs to whom.

Who Lost What?

We talk about losing China and Korea as if they were ours in the first place.

The truth of the matter about the "Red invasion of Korea" and our policy in the Far East is so much hocus-pocus. The Republicans are accusing the Democrats for losing China, while the Democrats retort that a Republican would not only lose China, but all the rest of the world as well.

This sort of double talk might easily be called national arrogance. Because we have a foreign policy that furnishes military aid to nations that take dictation from us, thereby ensuring their voting support in the Security Council of the United Nations and in our position towards Korea and the Far East, is no assurance of a Big-Stick lasting power over certain countries left weak after Hitler's war.

There is a question in the minds of even some Americans as to the sincerity of some of these nations accepting Marshall Plan aid from us.

On the other hand the workers receiving low wages and paying higher prices for food and shelter in countries under the Marshall Plan do not hesitate to ask questions about its benefits.

What they, the people, want is food at such prices that they are able to pay and an outlook for peace at home and abroad. They are tired of wars.

They have heard that there are hungry people in the United States, and a great need for better housing and education of the people.

Hearing about these home necessities they sometimes wonder how it is that Uncle Sam has time to cross to the other side of the ocean to settle the domestic affairs of Korea and to grow hysterical over conditions in the Far East with such crying needs unheeded at home.

The American people are not so concerned about the ragged hordes of China as they are with the cringing, cowering, ragged, uneducated American citizens of Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, and even in our own state of California out in the San Joaquin Valley.

We are spending billions to prevent the spread of Communism. So we are told. Well, if we want to prevent the spread of Communism in America as well as in Europe and Asia, we'd better see to it that the causes of Communism—poverty, hunger, cold, and all the evils so prevalent in too many of our cities as well as in the South—are eradicated.

Of what avail will it be to gain Europe and Asia and lose our own America in the process?

Lawyers Condemn Committee Report

Characterizing the committee report as "intemperate" and "one-sided," the lawyers' group declared: "The report cites at every point the position of alleged Communist organizations coinciding with the Guild's position, but ignores the fact that on every major issue mentioned numerous organizations and individuals not charged with Communist sympathies have publicly adopted the same position as the Guild."

Acknowledging its participation in a meeting held in 1945 in the office of Rep. Hugh De Lacy to discuss non-intervention in China, which is cited in the committee report as "Communistic," the Guild questioned why the report did not enumerate the 15 other organizations which participated in the session—The AFL, the CIO, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, the National Farmers' Union, the League of Women Voters, the NAACP, the YMCA, Americans United for World Government and the Federation of Churches.

As another example of the "misrepresentation and distortion with which the Un-American Activities Committee report is riddled," the Lawyers' Guild statement cites a quotation that in 1939, Earl Browder "admitted" that the Guild was a "Communist transmission belt," although Browder's testimony, as found in the Congressional Record, had also cited the AFL, the CIO and "every organization which stands for any sort of concerted effort to maintain peace in the world."

The refusal of the Committee's report to appraise the merits of the positions taken by the Guild, such as their criticism of the FBI and their opposition to the Federal Loyalty Program abrogates "the essence of the democratic process," the Guild Board charged. It further accused the Committee of the failure to mention at all Guild efforts "to improve our system of justice, promote better standards in the legal profession, furnish legal services for those too poor to pay for them, and help solve legal problems in the field of social welfare, housing and labor relations."

Other undemocratic techniques ascribed to the Un-American Activities Committee in the Guild report include: guilt by association, unsupported generalizations, innuendos and a consistent indictment of the liberal movement as a whole.

In addition to the policy statement, the complete report to be published shortly by the National Lawyers' Guild under the title "Bulwark of Democracy" will include a documented analysis of the methods and techniques of the Un-American Activities Committee and a detailed refutation of the Committee's report on the Guild.

THE PROFITS OF WAR

Since history teaches us that the ruling classes of many nations have in the past resorted to war to "solve" the economic crisis into which their own greed and incompetence have plunged their countries, we asked the question last week whether this might have been a factor in causing America's financial powers to declare war at this time on the liberation movements in Asia.

In examining the USA's economic condition in the months preceding the intervention in Korea, we found that there were approximately 10 million unemployed in the land, that in some cities the percentage of unemployed was as bad as in the depression, that relief loads were increasing, that the level of income going to the workers was approaching the dangerous low level that preceded that 1929 crash, that a worker's real wages had dropped at least 12 per cent since 1944—and profits were the highest in history, and going up.

Other serious symtoms of America's economic illness just before the instigation of the Korean war were the following.

SMALL BUSINESS AND MONOPOLY

Small business was feeling the crisis too. More and more were being wiped out. For the first time since pre-war depression days, more small businesses were being abandoned than were being started.

But monopoly was getting bigger and bigger; the nation's wealth was being concentrated in fewer and fewer hands. Of all the corporate taxable net income in the U.S., 13 per cent of the corporations received 90 per cent of that income.

It is not surprising therefore that the Federal Reserve Board found that one-third of all American families in 1949 spent more than they were earning—just to stay alive. Food consumption was falling—and food prices were still going up. While tons of "surplus food" were being stored in caves.

SALES, PRODUCTION, FOREIGN TRADE

What is especially significant about conditions preceding the Korean "gamble" is that the invading corporations were making the greatest profits in history—on a decreasing volume of business. Just imagine the profits they made on what little you did buy!

Retail sales were down 5% in 1949, from the previous year—though the national population had gone up 2%.

Industrial production had also declined 17% from December, 1948, to July, 1949, and economists were predicting a further decrease of 17% in 1950. Corporations were curtailing their investment in new plants and equipment by about 15%.

Foreign trade had fallen sharply, nearly 20% from April, 1949, to September, 1949. This was 30% less than the monthly average during 1947. The sharpest drop in imports during this period was from the Marshall Plan countries.

SUMMARY

The U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics reported in December, 1949, that the economic trend in 1950 would be down—with gradually rising unemployment, due to increasing productivity per worker and a falling consumer demand at home and abroad.

It was also reported that unemployment would be further increased by declining production, and as industries introduced more "speed-up" and "incentive wage plans," etc. It was estimated that in 1950 about one million more persons would be added to the labor force.

Leon Keyserling, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, admitted in April, 1950, that the outstanding economic problem before the country was the "rising level of unemployment in the face of business prosperity." He warned that unemployment would reach 10 million in 1954 unless the nation's economy expanded each year.

Baxter's International Economic Research Bureau, a private agency, warned its wealthy customers as far back as August, 1949, "We are in the greatest depression in our history. Study the break-even point of the average American family in our cities today and you will find their plight even more serious than that of the agricultural population prior to the crash of 1929."

The United Nation's Economic Report, released in July, 1949, admitted in remarkably polite and guarded language that "A depression is developing in the United States . . . and as a result . . . a depression is developing in other capitalist countries. In non-capitalist countries these economic difficulties have not appeared."

Can we conclude, therefore ,that there was a relation between the economic crisis in the U.S.A. in the months preceding the outbreak of war in Korea and the manufacture of that colossal tragedy?

CORRECTION: In last week's column, the statement that the national income rose 22%, between 1949 and 1949 should have read "between 1945 and 1949."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

AMERICAN LABOR PARTY
ONONDAGO COUNTY
COMMITTEE
Syracuse, N. Y.

Dear Mrs. Bass:

The California Eagle, Thursday edition, has been coming to me for two months. We all find it a wonderful paper, so full of content and so well edited.

Many of us in Syracuse were concerned about the fate of the Martinsville 7 and had been trying to find some recent documentation on the case in the press. One of the co-eds on the hill (Syracuse University) found a small item on page 24 of the New York Times, November 5th—and that was all. Then the November 2nd California Eagle arrived with excellent front page article on the crusade to Save the Martinsville 7.

Mrs. Bornholz and some others went into action. We called some thirty ministers and community leaders; all were interested in taking action but wanted documentation. So we ran some hundreds of copies of the enclosed piece. Distributions are taking place in the neighborhoods, at a plant, we hope; and a mailing.

It is doubtful whether we can get anyone to go to Richmond at this short notice but at least a sizeable number of telegrams will be sent to Governor Battle.

Thanks again for your excellent paper and for the very real help it will have been to Syracusans who want equal justice for all.

Sincerely,
LILLIAN E. REINER
(Mrs. Howard L. Reiner, Secy.)

(The article Mrs. Reiner, secretary of the Onondago County Committee of the American ter was headed, "Urge Crusade to Save Martinsville Seven" on the front page of the EAGLE. The ALP used that article to stir up the people of Syracuse to write and wire Governor Battle to save the Martinsville Seven.

The California Eagle circulates to all parts of the world—to Africa as well as New York. We appreciate the splendid letter Mrs. Reiner has written us. It is something that makes one feel like going on fighting. She and all members of the ALP in Syracuse will be happy to learn that the execution of the Martinsville 7 has been stayed. The letters and telegrams coming from all parts of America surely influenced Gov. Battle to make that decision.)

TO THE PRESS, RADIO, COMMUNITY CIVIC LEADERS, AND COMMUNITY ORGANIZATIONS OF LOS ANGELES:

The Los Angeles City Recreation and Park Department desires at this time to express its sincere appreciation for your outstanding help and cooperation in making the Halloween carnivals held at all Los Angeles municipal playgrounds on Tuesday night, October 31, conspicuously successful.

Without the fine publicity given by the press and radio, it would have been impossible to attract so many Halloween participants to the playgrounds on the night of the carnivals.

The many who contributed to this year's successful playground Halloween carnivals can take pride in the knowledge that they helped to bring happiness to a vast number of children, youth, and families, and also assisted in making this year's observance of Halloween one of the quitest and most orderly in the city's history.

City of Los Angeles Recreation and Park Department.

Dear Charlotta Bass:

It is a wonderful experience to have worked in a political campaign with a person of so rich and deep a faith as yours.

I refer specifically to your revealing front-page editorial (Eagle, Nov. 9, '50). My congratulations on your victory and the real victory of the people of the fourteenth congressional district in possessing a Charlotta Bass.

Fraternally yours,
RUBEN W. BOROUGH.

And let me add my "me too,"
Affectionately,
MADILINE.

Mrs. Charlotta Bass,
Publisher, The California Eagle
My dear Mrs. Bass:

This is to congratulate you on your sincerity, honesty, and determination to represent the minority groups in California. You should take the large number of votes as an encouragement of your best efforts. Mrs. Schaffer and I sincerely hope that you keep up the good work, and in our small way we are behind you 100%, and in any undertaking you strive for in behalf of the minority groups, especially the colored groups.

Very sincerely yours,
Mr. and Mrs. James Schaffer.

LABOR ON THE MARCH

Hurrah for Nothing!

The architects of the much-heralded jubilation being expressed by the Republicans over the November 7 elections, are the same clever propagandists who stampeded the Democratic party into its frightened reactionary position, and helped bust the labor movement wide open.

John M. Lee

What the Republicans won is certainly not what the Democrats lost, and the mandate talked about is nothing more than an off-year Republican victory that in no way will be sustained in '52. The Republicans did not take a diametrically opposed position to the Democrats' war-madness, and the voters were not given a clear opportunity to distinguish between them on this point.

Actually, the little more than ordinary Republican victories, if they have any especial significance at all, can be claimed only as a stamp of approval for Republican "me-too-ism" which was the essential basis of the Republican campaign. The Democrats red-baited, but the Republicans claimed they forced them to do it. Brightest symbol of the Republican victories is "McCarthyism," a strange kind of super-hysterical patriotism that accuses a government fighting Russian ideals on Asiatic soil with the lives and blood of flowering young Americans, of being shot through with Russian spies.

The Democrats, wailing loudly over the loss of a senatorial seat in California, expected the result they got, and even worked for it. Paradoxical Quaker-Senator-elect Nixon is neither flesh nor fowl. He is a creature that found it necessary to abandon the Quaker position on peace and join the hysterical, spy-chasing war mongers. He also abandoned his party and majestically declared himself a new-day nonpartisan, elected by all the people. Actually, he was elected by all the money in California, or so it would seem from the billboards and extensive printed propaganda.

The people can take little solace from the so-called Republican sweep. All it means is a few new posteriors will be ensconced on the knee of reaction. The voice will be the same. No peace in our time can be expected, and neither of the major parties will deal openly and honestly with that question.

Twice before in recent history the Republicans have come through with what they called "off-year mandates," only to get a thorough shellacking in the presidential elections. Careful analysis will show that the future is still in the hands of the same forces.

More significant than the general election outcome is the come-uppance given to the cocky labor politicians. Where they stood solidly together, they got the daylights lambasted out of them; where they went off on their own, they fared just as badly. The self-confident, big-talking labor bosses set out to take over the country, but they forget one thing. They didn't have the workers with them.

The CIO labor statesmen had Senator Taft all wrapped up for retirement, but it may be that their retirement will come first. Both of the old parties know now that labor, as it is presently constituted, is not a potent factor. Weakened by the same kind of political witch-hunting that has harrassed the Democratic party, the CIO must henceforth be content with making threatening noises as it spends millions of dollars out of collected dues to buy political prestige.

None of the big brains who break down and analyze the election results seem to care about the millions of voters who cast their ballots for the losers. If it is true that the Republican victories spell a demand for more curtailment of civil liberties and a more head-long plunge into war, then it must be also true that there are millions of Americans who are just as positively opposed to that program.

There is also the undeniable fact that citizens who carry out their duty to vote, must vote for someone. The two old parties didn't offer much choice in most cases, but someone had to be elected. Had there been a real choice, it would now be possible to say that the American people had expressed themselves on vital issues.

As matters stand, the Democrats are still playing the leading role of paving the way for fascism. One or two of the front-running fascists have been elected and their job will be to force the Truman administration to open the door wider. And it will be opened wider unless the labor rank and file and the people start putting checks on the program that is already being drawn up.

Un-American Activities Comm. Called Chief Instrument for Undermining United States

"Throughout the period of its existence, the Committee on Un-American Activities has functioned as the chief instrument for undermining the whole democratic process in the United States," the National Lawyers Guild declared last Friday in a statement approved on October 21st at a special meeting of its Executive Board held in New York City and endorsed at a meeting of the local chapters Wednesday evening, November 8th, at the Hollywood-Roosevelt Hotel, to reply to the Congressional Committee's assertion that the lawyers association is 'subversive.'

"Our associations have at all times been directed toward furnishing legal leadership and assistance to those forces in American life which are working for economic and social progress and for the advancement of democracy," the statement declares. "We will not be deterred from pursuing our objectives by the incidental fact of whether or not our position happens at any point to be similar to or dissimilar from that of anyone else."

"The National Lawyers Guild is not a Communist organization, not a Communist front organization, nor dominated by Communists," the Guild asserted, charging that the report of the Un-American Activities Committee is full of "misstatements, half-truths and distortions" and is based on methods which "flagrantly violated the basic rules of fair play. History will record that the Committee on Un-American Activities, more than any other group or force in the United States, has twisted and corrupted the time-honored methods of democracy."

In a brief summary of its 13-year record, the professional organization enumerated its objectives as: the betterment of the legal profession; making justice and legal services available to all regardless of financial ability; the extension of social welfare; a sensible labor policy to "assure labor a place and a responsibility in our society"; the solution of economic problems such as full employment and production, wage-price policy and taxation; the support of a foreign policy "worthy of a great democratic state and capable of achieving the over-riding objective of peace."
